These precautionary clauses may of course be read as weighting the engagement undertaken with an obstructive purpose. I did not overlook this, but I believe that I am correct in stating that a clause to the same effect has been introduced in passports granted to foreigners of other nationalities travelling into these or other districts of what is termed extra provincial China. I have also reason to think that, although the Grand Secretary did not employ the argument when discussing this provision with me, his anxiety to have it inserted was more or less due to an apprehension that in the far-off regions to be crossed evil might befall the travellers, for which the Chinese Government would be held responsible. I allude more particularly to the country of Tsing-hai or Koko Nor, should a journey by that route be attempted. I consented finally to the insertion of the words in question, but on condition that there should be added to my first proposition which regarded the Indian side only, the alternative of a Mission by way Ssu Ch'uan.

From the subjoined it will be seen that Sir Thos. Wade holds himself responsible for the letter from the Emperor of China, as regards its form and substance :—

The despatch of a mission to England, with an Imperial letter expressing regret for what had happened in Yun Nan had long been agreed to. Rumours of a possible change in the personnel of the mission as at first composed induced me to require that I should be formally apprised of its constitution. I required also that the text of the Imperial letter should be communicated to me. This was done, and as certain modifications in the phraseology were adopted at my request, I must be regarded as responsible for the letter both in form and in substance.

The special distinction of the missive is at the same time not due to my negotiations. I mean the fact that it accredits a permanent mission from the Chinese Government to the Court of Her Majesty. The letter does not set forth that the mission is to be established in permanence. It is none the less true that it is so, and as the first letter of Credence issued by the Court of Peking to a Minister so conditioned it must be held to mark an era of singular importance in the foreign relations of China.

The Audience question and other like matters are dealt with at some length, as under :—

I have not the slightest wish to see it precipitately asserted, and, as I have earlier stated, in the late discussions I never formulated anything upon the subject of an Audience. But I more than once allowed it to be understood that, whether as an amende for the past, or as a guarantee for the future, I should be prepared to regard the concession of an Audience as a most important measure of satisfaction. And I did this with a full knowledge of the objections that were sure to be raised against its concession; to wit, the tender age of the Emperor and the sex of the Regents; conditions, I admit, by no means to be lightly ignored. I knew, at the same time, that on neither ground were their Majesties respectively inaccessible to ministers of their own nation, when their attendance was required whether for purposes of business or ceremony; that those who had reports to submit to the Throne were heard by the Empresses Regent, but partially concealed by screens, and, on State occasions were received by the Emperor; his Majesty being seated in front of the screens, behind which the Regents were enthroned. The real difficulty, I could not but feel, was of a political character; I have so often adverted to it that I not here define it more precisely. Believing it to be what I believe it, I should certainly have welcomed its disappearance as an augury of the highest significance.

Yet, I repeat, I never made the Audience in any way a demand, and when in my agreement I employed the term "code of etiquette," as a term implying deliberate regulation of intercourse, nothing was farther from my intentions than inclusion in it of the Audience question. The most I should have advocated in relation to it would have been, I say, an intimation, either singly, or in concert with others, that audience of the Emperor of China is a privilege which, under Treaty, it is at any time open to the Government of any Treaty Power to claim. This, looking to the past, might not have been without its utility. For the present, I should be quite content to leave it unmentioned. When reporting the Audience of 1873, the minimum of concession, as I have elsewhere called it, I was unable to say more than that it was a first step in retreat from an untenable position. Without optimising, I imagine that I see signs of progress that, in a question of the kind, may justify our patience.

As to official intercourse in the capital, what was immediately in my mind was the imperfectness with which the Imperial Decree of Sept. 28, 1875, had been obeyed. (See Blue Book, China, No. 1, 1876, page 86.) That Decree, which, it must be remembered, was issued as one of the guarantees that I exacted before I would allow Mr. Grosvenor's Mission to proceed to Yun Nan, approved the recommendation of the Tsung-li Yamên that the interdict on intercourse between the Legations and the Chiefs of State Departments should be withdrawn; and that the conditions of intercourse should be arranged between the Tsung-li Yamên and the high officers in question, "to the end that while, on the part of those to whom such intercourse was new, possible misgivings might be more or less prevented, those not yet in intercourse with the foreigner might be brought to understand the relations between him and the Chinese." These are nearly the words of the Yamên's Memorial, to which the Decree was a reply.

I have mentioned (page 123) how little had come of this Decree, and how circumstances had made that little even less. I have no desire to dwell further upon it. Mr. Fraser's despatch of the 10th January last (see page 93), which refers briefly to the event of last year, reports a step in advance that leads me to hope that in the question of intercourse in Peking we have at least the beginning of beginnings; in China, the difficulty of difficulties to be surmounted. And the reform is of the greater moment that it has been effected at head-quarters.

Another of my griefs was the language used either about us or to us in official papers; in public notices; in Memorials to the Throne, published in the Peking Gazette;" it might be in Decrees acknowledging such memorials; in letters addressed to us, especially where the reports of Chinese to their superiors are quoted. This is an old sore and of serious import. In a country where so large a proportion of the population is educated, and educated in a literature in the phraseology of which respect of persons is made so easily apparent, the effect upon the mass of habitual depreciation of the foreigner and his authorities in official papers may be imagined. There had been no worse omen of the feeling of the Government than its indifference to remonstrance on this head. It was for this reason that, in 1872, having been assaulted in the streets of Peking, I substituted for all other reparation a Memorial from the Yamên, directing attention to the Treaties, in which the title of Her Majesty should be placed on a level with that of the Emperor of China. The Memorial was shown to me in draft; was presented to the Emperor and published; but faith was not observed in the printed copies of the Gazette.

I revive the incident only to contrast the course pursued in the instance cited, with what I am happy to believe the spontaneous action of the Chinese Government on a recent occasion. In a despatch also of the 10th January, Mr. Fraser reports publication in the Pekin Gazette of a Memorial from the Governor of Shan Tung, in which alluding to a correspondence with the Acting Consul at Chefoo, the words "British Government" are honourably elevated to the head of the vertical column. It would be difficult in England to make it intelligible that our respect or disrespect for a foreign Power could be tested by the employment of a capital or a smaller letter at the commencement of the word Government. In China it is otherwise, and the proceeding Mr. Fraser reports is, in its recognition of the equality of nations by China, a valuable beginning of beginnings.

Another similar grief had been the refusal to admit foreign Consuls when calling on the high authorities of the provinces otherwise than as if they were the subordinates of those authorities. This was not a universal rule. I doubt that it was in these latter days adhered to any port but Foochow; it was there adhered to somewhat ostentatiously, and the inconvenience was marked. If a Consul could not be admitted into the Yamên of the Governor-General when he went to pay his respects to him, otherwise than if he were his subordinate, he would naturally forego his visit of ceremony, and it would follow, independently of the general effect upon affairs of this state of relations, that if his affairs rendered personal appeal to that high officer necessary, he would find access to him difficult, or, if accepted under the above conditions, resultless. I am happy to learn that the invidious rule, for which it is true there was alleged to be ground in our own Treaty, has at last been rescinded at Foochow. The personal opposition of the late Governor-General was for something in this matter; but the change for the better is perhaps to be attributed as well, if not to injunctions received from the Central Government, at least to the example recently set by it.

I say that there had been alleged to be ground in our treaties for the line taken in their treatment of our Consuls by the high provincial authorities. It was decided by the treaty of 1858 that our Consuls and Vice-Consuls in charge should rank with Chinese Intendants of Circuit; Vice-Consuls and Interpreters taking rank with Prefects. In many instances the high authorities made no objection to reception of our Consular officers—not, of course, as equals, but still with the courtesy due to the official of a foreign Power, who, by the conditions of the case, is at the same time chief of his nation in the district of China in which he resides. In some they refused to admit them except by the gateways through which their own subordinates were admitted, rejoining to all remonstrances on the subject that they acted only in accordance with treaty. By parity of reasoning they should have exacted of the Consuls the obeisances and other forms of salutation due by their Chinese co-ordinates. This, I need hardly say, was never attempted. Within doors the Consular officer was treated as a guest; it was before the outside public that he was humiliated. My knowledge of the effects of petty slights of the kind upon the feeling of the multitude must be my justification for making so much of what elsewhere—in England at least—must appear so insignificant.

Sir Thomas Wade's memorandum concludes as follows :—

In my despatch of the 5th August, writing at a time that I conceived it not improbable that Her Majesty's Government might be obliged to go further, I mentioned that I had asked every one whose opinion on such a point was worth obtaining, what with the all but certainty that the conviction of the really guilty was beyond our reach, with the fullest certainty that what had happened was due to the exclusivist policy of China,—what might a minister exact that he could really point to as a proof that that exclusivist policy was put away?

While some, I admit, held fast to the advisability of insisting on the production of the Acting Governor-General Ts'ên Yü-ying, the majority were for the exaction of material innovations, the introduction of railways and telegraphs, the navigation of the inner waters, mining, &c. Near the end of my negotiations, it was suggested that I might engage the Government to establish a mint and a postal service. Of the two latter, I will say that I half regret the loss of the opportunity. Neither a mint nor a postal service, however, appeared to me to find a fit place in any of the three sections of my agreement, the connection of which together my report will have made plain.

As to the other propositions, they had always appeared to me even less approachable. I venture to think it probable than formal negotiations, at present, would retard rather than advance their adoption. They, in general, involve enterprises which, in my opinion, cannot be healthfully undertaken independently of the free action of the Government. Such enterprises cannot, it is true, be given effect to without foreign aid, if not foreign capital; but it is not desirable to force them upon the country. The chiefs of the administration are becoming slowly converted to the conviction that the appliances by which foreign nations sustain their strength are equally indispensable to China. They will be presently adopted, and whenever the moment for their adoption arrives, we shall hardly contribute less to their furtherance as auxiliaries than any other Power.

Annexed are the comments which have appeared in such of the daily papers as have noticed the subject. It is significant that The Times has, up to the present, preserved silence with regard to it. The Daily Telegraph writes as follows :—

The negotiations which Sir Thomas Wade conducted to a successful issue with rare patience, diplomatic tact, and firmness, had three objects in view. First, he demanded satisfaction for the Yunnan outrage. Then, adroitly making this a plea for opening up the whole question of our relations with China, he insisted that the time had come when certain pledges that had been given respecting the improvement of the conditions of diplomatic intercourse, and the reform of those fiscal irregularities that burdened our traders with intolerable taxation, ought to be loyally carried out by the Imperial Government. It was useless to offer an apology for the Margary murder alone. Sir Thomas firmly insisted that the outrage was to be regarded as merely one among the grievances the English had to complain of, and that our case must be considered as a whole or not at all. He knew the Chinese authorities felt bound to do something with respect to the Yunnan affair. By identifying our claims on that score with our complaints as to the imperfectness of diplomatic intercourse and the oppression of trade, Sir Thomas Wade forced the hand of the Celestial Government in regard to these questions also. It must be conceded that he was on the whole not badly dealt with by the Prince of Kung and the Chinese Foreign-office. There were fewer attempts at shuffling than might have been expected, and probably would have occurred, had a less able and experienced diplomatist represented our interests in China. There can be no doubt that the Chinese Government felt that the long period of disorder that had half ruined the Empire during the minority of the last Emperor must come to an end. Sir Thomas Wade artfully argued that one of its most unpleasant outgrowths—the bad treatment of foreign representatives, and the fiscal oppressions in trade—ought to be terminated with the anarchy to which, rather than to the fault of the Foreign-office, he was wont soothingly to attribute those evils. There was to be another long minority, argued Sir Thomas, during which China must not expect to be treated with that indulgence in regard to non-fulfilment of pledges which was extended to her under the Regency of 1861-75. Why not, then, he urged on the Prince of Kung, seize this golden opportunity of making a fresh start in foreign policy? His arguments prevailed, and, whilst it would be tedious to follow him step by step through every complex winding of the negotiations, we may say that, partly by persuasion, partly by threats, mainly by dogged pertinacity, imperturbable good temper, and the most unfailing courtesy, Sir Thomas Wade obtained from the Celestial authorities many valuable concessions. He wisely acted on the principle that, as it was hopeless to get Li-chen-Kwoh, who was responsible for Mr. Margary's murder, executed, that officer being simply indispensable to the cause of order in Yunnan, and as no direct evidence of his guilt was forthcoming, the proper course to take was to be magnanimous. He thus said that what was wanted was not so much vengeance which could not undo the past, but security that similar outrages should not be inflicted in future. In this way he induced the Chinese to send a commission of inquiry to investigate the Yunnan affair. After much difficulty he succeeded in procuring for his able and accomplished secretary, Mr. Grosvenor, and some other subordinate consular officers, permits to accompany the commission, and see that the investigation was not a sham. The blameable official was found guilty; but, in consideration of Sir Thomas's disclaiming any desire for mere revenge, the Emperor, with our Envoy's approval, remitted with a reprimand the punishment Li-chen-Kwoh had incurred. An ample pecuniary indemnity was levied for compensation to those who had suffered from the Yunnan outrage. The Emperor drew out a personal apology for its occurrence, to be presented to the Queen of England, expressing profound regret for what had happened, and explaining how orders had been promulgated throughout the Empire condemning the deed, and warning everybody to refrain from meddling with passport-bearing travellers in future.

Carping critics have said that this was not sufficient atonement for a murder which was an international crime. Had no more been got out of the Chinese Government, such objections would have had weight. But the enormous difficulty of directly proving the guilt of high officials who had been implicated in the Yunnan affair ought to be taken into account. The case might by trickery and perjury have been made to break down if Sir Thomas Wade had been exacting, and then we would have obtained no satisfaction at all except at the point of the bayonet. By being magnanimous and moderate we made the Chinese Government save us the trouble of leading a long and difficult proof by admitting at the outset what they had strenuously denied — the fact, and the international character of the crime. This, demanding an atonement of an international character, naturally led to the opening up of questions which Sir Thomas Wade probably foresaw must result in the Emperor of China making such an apology as would by implication force the Chinese Government to regard the English Crown and its Envoys as standing on a footing of equality with the Dragon Throne and its haughty servants. Our Ambassador's policy of moderation emphasised the fact that, whilst we had no desire for extreme retribution, we did not intend to tolerate any longer the insolent bearing of Chinese exclusiveness. It kept glaringly to the front the fact that the Yunnan outrage was but the outward symptom of a deep-rooted evil, that is to say, the old policy of restricting foreign trade and intercourse. This, it was steadily urged, must be altered ere full atonement could be made in the sense of giving that "security for the future" which Sir Thomas agreed to substitute for the mere demand for vengeance. Thus we find that the Chinese Government were pushed by the gentlest but most irresistible pressure into assenting to the Chefoo Treaty, which, after defining the settlement of the Yunnan case, rearranged those conditions of diplomatic and commercial intercourse whose imperfections led to the Margary outrage.

The Pall Mall Gazette says :—

Having failed to obtain the punishment of the real authors of the Yunnan outrage, and Sir Thomas Wade having very properly refused to sanction the punishment of a few sham delinquents put forward in the traditional Chinese fashion as scapegoats, it remains only to consider the nature of the indirect reparation which has been in fact exacted from the Government of Peking. The terms of this reparation are contained in the Chefoo agreement formally executed by the British and Chinese Plenipotentiaries on the 13th of last September after a protracted and intricate negotiation, in which the Chinese Government seem to have resorted to every form of tergiversation and every expedient of delay. This agreement is divided into three sections. The first, which relates to the settlement of the Yunnan case, stipulates for the presentation to the Throne of a memorial expressing regret for the outrage, and cautioning subordinate officials to respect Government passports and treaty rights in future, which memorial, with the Imperial decree in reply to it, is to be embodied in a proclamation to be issued by the Provincial Government, and to be posted in different parts of the province under the supervision of officers to be sent by the British Minister.

Upon a review of the whole case, we think that Sir Thomas Wade may fairly congratulate himself on the result of his prolonged diplomatic labours. It is true, as we set out by remarking, that he has failed in what must be regarded as the principal aim of the negotiations; but it is only fair to consider the difficulties under which he worked and the risks which would have attended a more resolute course of action than that to which he ultimately resigned himself. It is possible that if at the outset of the negotiations, or so soon as it became evident that the Chinese Government were resorting to their usual tactics for evading redress, Sir Thomas Wade had made it clear to them that they had to choose between war and a compliance with our demands, and had withdrawn the Legation in the event of any further trifling on the part of the Government, he might possibly have gained his point. But there would have been of course a risk of our having actually to proceed to the execution of the threat, and on the whole we are glad that risk was not incurred. It would have been a serious matter for the country to have had a Chinese war on its hands during the crisis through which we have been passing, and from which we have by no means yet emerged.

Summary of News from the Far East.

CHINA.

TIENTSIN.

The correspondent of the North China Herald writes as follows:—

We have been having some hot days of late. Yesterday (10th July), at four P.M., the mercury stood at 102° in the shade, and the sun felt at least 10° hotter. Rain is very much needed. The snow of last winter and the rains of the spring seem to have had the effect of decreasing the ordinary rain-fall at this season. It has been cloudy all day, with a light sprinkle this afternoon, which we hope may increase to a heavy fall to-night. But the Chinese say, "these clouds will not rain."

The telegraph line connecting the Arsenal with the Viceroy's yamên has been in use for some time, and seems to give satisfaction. A line is proposed from the latter place to the provincial capital, for which the survey is, I understand, now being made. Little by little and very slowly seems to be the only way by which these improvements of Western science can be introduced into China, and it is absolutely necessary that too great proximity to the "Dragon Throne" be avoided.

There is little of interest here to report. The locusts are doing immense damage to the crops.

WUCHANG.

The Daily News says:—

This city has long ago obtained unenviable notoriety for its alleged hostility to foreigners. But whenever disturbances have arisen it has been found to be, almost without exception, the work of the students temporarily residing in the city, during the literary or military examinations, and by no means to be taken as a sign of the feeling of the citizens generally. These young aspirants for honours come up from all parts of the province, with unbounded capacity for mischief-making and rioting, joined to an unreasoning and implacable hatred of the unknown foreigner, whose character and objects rumour has painted in her darkest colours. A not uncommon idea being that all foreigners are engaged in a deep-laid scheme to subvert the present dynasty and seize the country. On Wednesday last an ebullition of this feeling was the cause of an altogether unprovoked and apparently unpremeditated attack upon two foreign residents in Wuchang, with somewhat serious consequences.

About six o'clock in the evening one of the missionaries was taking a quiet walk in the neighbourhood of the parade ground, where a number of students were assembled practising archery. No sooner did the foreigner appear in sight than a band of these restless spirits made a sudden onset upon him by means of their favourite mode of attack, a shower of stones. Closely pursued, the gentleman thus assailed took refuge first in a garden, and then in a house, whose friendly doors were thrown open to him. But the mob commenced pulling down the walls about the heads of the inmates, and the foreigner was compelled to leave the place. After a while he reached home seriously bruised and wounded, having two of his front teeth broken, and attired in the dress of a friendly Chinaman, his own clothing having been torn to shreds. Meanwhile his colleague, hearing news of the attack, had left the Mission House to go to his friend's assistance. Upon his coming into sight, the brave young defenders of their country commenced a second attack with renewed vigour. Expostulation was useless, and this gentleman was compelled to seek shelter in a police station near at hand. But the doors were almost immediately broken open by the mob, and the missionary was struck to the ground by a blow from a heavy beam, which resulted in fracture of the shoulder bone, together with other serious injuries. The assault is considered to be one of the worst that has ever been perpetrated in Wuchang, and its consequences such as to call for strict investigation and speedy punishment. The matter has been taken up by H.B.M.'s Consul in Hankow. But in Wuchang, while the circumstances of the assault are pretty generally regretted by the citizens, the opinion is freely expressed that it is simply impossible to obtain any redress, seeing that the assailants were the military students.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 22nd July; the P. and O. mail from London, June 8, was received on the 18th July.

As has happened almost annually for some time past, during the hot weather, the community of Shanghai have again been assured that arrangements were being completed for the establishment of a sanitarium. The projects have generally dragged on till the hot weather was over, and then been forgotten till the next summer. It is to be hoped for the comfort of residents that something more may come of the present one. It is stated that a company is to be formed to establish the desired sanitarium at an easy distance from Shanghai. The locality indicated is the Point, and the proposed launching capital is the modest figure of Tls. 4,000. Steps have already been taken to bring the proposal before the community, and it is believed with every prospect of success. If there is a healthful breeze to be found at almost any time in this locality, it is at the Point; and the beneficial effects to convalescents of a residence there has already been experienced, we are informed, both in the case of adults and children.

This is almost the only item of local news of any importance. The Daily News notes two items in the Municipal minutes which will be read with satisfaction. The first is the resolution of the Council to beg the United States Vice-Consul-General to take such steps as may appear to him most desirable to have some Chinese houses that have been built in the line of the extension of the Seaward-road removed, and to prevent similar encroachments whilst negotiations for the road are going on. The Council deserve credit for the course they have adopted, though it cannot but be remarked how much better it would have been if the step had been taken while the houses were in process of erection. The second point of interest in the minutes is the intended rounding of the north-west corner of the Bund end of the Canton-road. This is by no means so small a matter as at first blush it might seem. In these days of reckless and ignorant driving and especially now the streets are infested all day long by numbers of Chinese drivers, who care nothing for, or probably know nothing of, the rule of the road, and whose erratic and dangerous movements are never interfered with by anyone in authority, the rounding of street corners means the removal of so much chance of collision and danger, and is therefore to be regarded with considerable favour.

The Daily News also gives the following :—

An important case to ship captains has been heard at the Police-court, before Mr. Mowat. It was one in which Mr. W. Handyside Tapp, H.B.M.'s Registrar of Shipping, summoned Captain Hellen, of the schooner Lizzie, for destroying entries in his official log of the passage from Sydney, in contravention of the Merchant Shipping Act. The captain's explanation was that the log-book was an old one used on a voyage seven or eight years ago, and that the entries on the leaves destroyed referred solely to that passage; he tore them out to have a clean book. He had logged everything worth logging since leaving Sydney, and his entries could be confirmed by the crew. His Worship held that defendant's explanation had no bearing on the point at issue—the destruction of the pages of the book. However old or stupid entries in an official log might be, they must be allowed to remain when once written, and the log not tampered with. By tearing out the pages defendant had committed an offence which the law regarded with great gravity, and one punishable with six months' imprisonmont or a fine of £100. Defendant was, however, mulcted in the penalty of $50 and costs.

A case of accidental homicide has occurred at the Central Police Station. The native prisoners had had their supper, and were disposing themselves for the night, when a quarrel arose between two of them respecting a blanket, and one struck the other two blows in the side with his fist. The blows are described as not having been very severe, but the man who was struck was observed in a few minutes to change colour. He lay down and began to vomit. Every attention was paid him, but it was considered advisable to remove him to the Shantung-road Hospital; he died, however, before he got there. His assailant was taken to the Mixed Court, and charged with causing the death of deceased. It being necessary, however, that an inquest should be held by the native authorities, the prisoner was remanded, and information of the occurrence forwarded to the Taoutai. The Chehsien attended at the hospital, and made a full investigation, afterwards expressing the opinion that the man's death was caused through his being struck. The prisoner was sent into the city to be further dealt with. The Chehsien also expressed the opinion that deceased was not a strong man, and that therefore the blows he received had a more serious effect upon him than they otherwise would have had.

Among the native passengers who arrived by the Soochow from Ningpo this week was a native sailor, who represented to the officers that he had been wrecked in an American barque, the name of which he had forgotten. His statement was to the effect that he sailed in the barque, on which there were only three foreigners, from Shanghai to Nagasaki, thence to Hong Kong, and from there to Foochow, where a cargo of poles was taken for Shanghai. When in the locality of Barren Island, the vessel stranded and sunk in a few minutes, all hands being drowned except himself and three others. They sought refuge on an island, and after remaining there three days without food they were rescued by a fishing-boat and taken to Chinhai. His three companions stayed there, but he went forward to Ningpo and was given a passage to Shanghai by the Soochow, on account of there being a semblance of truth in his representations. When the steamer arrived here he went ashore, and, strange to say, has not since been heard of; and no story of wreck has reached the United States Consulate-General.

During the week flights of locusts have passed over or through the Settlement; but the singularity is that they have on each occasion, so far as has been observed, chiefly taken their passage during the night, but few having been seen in the day-time. Early on the night of the 14th July, for instance, the bungalow of a gentleman residing on the Soochow Creek was besieged by the insects. The occupant was reading by the aid of a lamp, sitting with his back to the window, which was partially open to admit the breeze. All at once he was surprised to find the room invaded by a swarm of locusts so numerous that a quantity nearly sufficient to fill a bushel basket was swept up in the room, the same night and following day. The bungalow of another gentleman, situated near Carter's Cross-road, received a similar visitation at about the same time; and there can be no doubt that a large cloud of the insects must have then passed over this district. On the same night a solitary locust flew into the bed-room of a gentleman living in the Peking-road. It seemed nearly exhausted, and allowed itself to be captured on the mantelpiece.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Times writes as follows on the above :—Writing in February last about the purchase by the Chinese of the fleet and plant of the Shanghai Steam Navigation Company, I remarked that, with all the great advantages it enjoyed, and with all the power which its recent purchase conferred, the career of the Chinese Company was not altogether smooth. There was a prospect before it of severe competition, and "there might be a limit to the power even of Li-Hung-Chang to supply funds if a cut-throat policy were attempted." The event has justified this anticipation. A very severe competition ensued upon the Yangtsze between the "China Merchants" and the (English) "China Navigation" Companies, in which the former has had considerably the worst of it. The native merchants, curiously enough, seem to prefer the English vessels, and these have been getting the lion's share of freight, while theirs run at less expense than those of their rivals. The result has been such heavy loss to the Chinese Company that Li-Hung-Chang is said to be disgusted, and anxious to evade his responsibilities."

HONG KONG.

Dates by this mail extend to the 28th July; the French mail from London, June 15; arrived out on the 21st July.

His Excellency Mr. Pope Hennessy has again put into practice some of his peculiar ideas with respect to the government of the natives. His last act has been to make a very important change in the staff of the gaol. Most of the foreigners are to be dismissed, and Chinese substituted for them. As may be expected, this change has caused considerable discussion, and its wisdom is doubted with considerable show of reason. The China Mail says:—His Excellency appears so far to have taken very kindly to our "celestial" friend; his back is no longer to be profaned with the lash while in the gaol; Chinamen are, we believe, to be guarded as much as possible by Chinamen, the offensive presence of the "outer barbarian" being reduced to a minimum. We must confess that we have no great opinion of the Chinaman as a gaoler. If there is any race of human beings specially ill-adapted for such work, we should say it is the Chinese. Only yesterday a couple of lokongs, from whom, by the way, the Governor intends to chiefly recruit his native gaolers—were charged at the police-court with attemping to extort blackmail from some poor helpless country-women, and it is notorious that the Chinese lack the very qualities essential to a gaoler. Responsible writers on China have always treated an honest Chinese official as a phenomenon; in fact, there may be grave doubts that such an individual has existed within modern times. We knew nothing personally of the Chinese in the days of Confucius, and faith cannot be placed in Chinese histories, but at the present time the officialdom of China simply exists on bribery and corruption in their worst forms. Such a change as the one contemplated may also have dangerous consequences. Chinese gaolers cannot and would not exercise the amount of authority over prisoners wielded by foreigners; they have neither the courage nor the strength of the latter—statements that those who have seen the antics of a lokong in the midst of a crowd of his excited countrymen will be quite ready to support. We are also here a few thousand foreigners among a teeming population of natives, and we cannot recognise the desirability of replacing foreign by native officials, where neither economy nor effectiveness would be promoted by the change. We can get Indian gaolers almost as cheaply as Chinese—the former, fine stately men, each possessing as much authority per se as some half a dozen Chinese. We understand that the lokongs have so far shown no disposition to accept posts in the gaol, but whether this is because they prefer sauntering about the streets to the confinement within stone walls, or whether they feel their incapacity for maintaining order in the gaol, are points on which we are not informed.

Another act of the Governor has also elicited no little comment. It appears that a European turnkey was found assaulting a prisoner in the gaol. He was brought before the superintendent, who fined him $2. On this coming to the ears of the Governor, he at once ordered the turnkey's dismissal from the service, although the man had served the Government for nearly ten years, and bore a good character.

The report of the China Traders' Insurance Company for the year ended 30th April last has been published. The accounts show a balance of $295,073.06, which is thus distributed; $36,000 to be devoted to payment of a dividend of 12 per cent. to shareholders; $49,000 in payment of 10 per cent. to contributors of business; $125,000 to the reserve fund; and the balance to be carried forward to provide for known losses and liabilities that may arise under policies not yet terminated.

The shareholders of the Hong Kong Hotel Company, Limited, held their half-yearly meeting on the 25th July. The report, which showed a balance of $7,519, part being devoted to payment of a dividend of $2.50 per share, and the balance of $2,874 to hotel and furniture account, was adopted unanimously. Messrs. Belilios and Landstein were re-elected directors, and Messrs. Reiners and Grobien elected directors in the room of Messrs. Andre and Burrows. Mr. Cohen was elected and Mr. Vaucher re-elected auditors.

The half-yearly meeting of the shareholders of the Hong Kong, Canton, and Macao Steamboat Company, Limited, was held on the 25th July. The report showed that, including $16,484.87 brought forward from last account, there was a net profit of $33,018.92, from which a dividend of 3 per cent. was declared. Deducting this and the directors' fees, there remained $12,518.92, which was carried forward to new account.

From the China Mail we take the following:—

We regret to have to record the death here of the Rev. C. F. Preston, of Canton, who may be said to have died with his harness on, after hard service in the missionary field extending over about twenty years. Mr. Preston was a member of the American Presbyterian Board of Missions, and his labours have been principally confined to the city of Canton, where he has preached daily for very many years. He was admittedly one of the best Chinese speakers in the south of China, and was well-known as a most conscientious and hard-working missionary. As a manly, genial and open-hearted Christian gentleman he was respected and loved by all who knew him, and his loss will be greatly felt by a large circle of friends, not only in Canton but in other ports in China. Mr. Preston had been in bad health for several months, and had applied more than once for a short leave of absence, which we understand had been refused by the board in New York. We do not particularly envy the feelings with which those mistaken missionary directors will receive the news of the death of their devoted and able servant.

We understand that the little steamer Camoes left on the 19th on a salvaging expedition. The vessel to be salved is, we believe, the Mazeppa, one of Messrs. Jardine's old opium clippers, lost about sixteen years ago in the neighbourhood of Breaker Point. The services of a professional diver have been secured, and all the necessary appliances for effectively carrying out the work are on board the steamer. The expedition is under the sole guidance of Captain Tucker, a gentleman who has had considerable experience in salvage operations, and who is the inventor of several appliances used in submarine engineering.

The Acting Registrar-General's return of births and deaths for the quarter ending the 30th June shows that the total deaths among the British and foreign community numbered 28, thus distributed:—British and foreign, 11; Portuguese, 7; Indian, &c., 2; non-residents, 8. There were 796 deaths among the Chinese. The births among the British and foreign community numbered 27, 14 boys and 13 girls; among the Chinese there were 322 births, 168 boys and 154 girls. Grand total:—Births, 349; deaths, 824. Annual death rate per thousand of the population:—whole population, 23·68; British and foreign community, non-residents, 10·21; Chinese, 24·46.

We observe among the designs that have been prepared at the invitation of the subscribers to the Shanghai Memorial to the late Mr. Margary, one from Mr. W. Danby, E.C., of Hong Kong, for a monument fifty feet in height. The designs vary in cost of execution from $3,000 (Mr. Danby's figure) to $1,000; while the sum available amounts to $1,513.45.

We hear that amongst some seven or eight gentlemen who applied for the post of Secretary to the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce the successful applicant is Mr. E. George, whose commercial experience doubtless well fits him for the position.

The following important Government notification in regard to emigration to Queensland has been forwarded to us for publication by the Acting Colonial Secretary:—

His Excellency Governor Pope Hennessy has this day received a telegram from his Excellency Sir Arthur Kennedy, the Governor of Queensland, announcing that a Bill has passed both Houses of the Queensland Legislature, and been transmitted to London for the consideration of Her Majesty's Government, restricting the influx of Chinese emigrants into Queensland. Under such circumstances, the Governor suggests that Chinese emigrants should, for the present, avoid proceeding to Queensland.

Commenting upon the Chinese labour question in Queensland, the Overland Trade Report says:—For our own part, while we sympathise with the Queenslanders in their undoubted Chinese difficulty, we must confess to a belief that they have not taken the best means of grappling with it. Nor do they, in our opinion, appreciate as they ought the possible advantages to be derived by a new country situated near the tropics from a large and gratuitous supply of cheap Asiatic labour of the best sort. North Queensland will not be always dependent on gold mines for its prosperity; it will eventually, in all probability, be a great sugar, cotton, and coffee-producing country. The climate is too hot to permit of Europeans labouring on such plantations, and Polynesian labour is both inferior and more difficult to procure than Chinese. Ordinarily, however, Chinese coolies have to be imported at considerable cost. The gold mines of Queensland have succeeded in drawing the labour supply there without cost to the colony. Why not utilise it at once? Let the Queenslanders take the matter in hand without delay, start some plantations and set a portion of the hungry Celestials to work. Let the Brisbane Government give the balance of the Chinese employment on the projected railways and telegraphs, or any other public works that may be in contemplation, first taking the precaution to make formal agreements with them. By this means the Chinese difficulty might be solved, to the mutual satisfaction of the Chinese and the colonists. But to close the country to any race would be contrary to the policy hitherto pursued in all British colonies, where immigrants of every nationality have been welcomed as citizens. The Chinese may not make the best or cleanest of citizens, but as labourers in plantation colonies they are really valuable.

SIAM.

BANGKOK.

The following information is from the Siam Advertiser:—

We are glad to announce that H.E. the P'ra Nai Waiyawatu has succeeded in quelling the riots of Tongka. The malcontents have given written pledges of future good behaviour. While at Singapore H.E. visited the Acting Governor of Singapore. This official complimented H.E. on his success in quieting the troubles of Tongka, and threw out some valuable suggestions, which if properly executed would prevent the recurrence of such difficulties in the future. Tongka is a valuable province, abounding in mineral wealth. Its shore is washed by the Bay of Bengal, and it is well situated to be in close commercial communication with Hindustan, Burma, the Islands of the Indian Archipelago, China, and with all parts of the commercial world.

Ten young Siamese are going from Siam to Germany for the purpose of five or six years' training in the German schools. A Siamese tutor accompanies them to keep up their memories of Siamese. His Majesty the King pays the bills, and has a pledge from the guardians or parents of the pupils that they shall be worthy of the money expended upon them—that is, that they shall thoroughly pursue their studies and make appropriate progress. Some of them, of good physical developments, are to be trained in the arts of war. Some to give themselves to general scientific studies.

On July 4 the United States Consulate was in gala day dress for receptions. The First King, the Second King, and the ex-Regent were represented. The Minister of War came in person. An officer of the Royal Artillery, the captain of the fire brigade, all ranks of the nobility, some of the officials of the different Consulates, and many personal friends had already paid their respects. The American Consulate is gaining golden opinions from the Siamese.

BORNEO.

SARAWAK.

The following items are from the Sarawak Gazette:—

The prospects of the gambier plantations are excellent; in the early part of the year the unusually protracted heavy rains caused a fear that the newly-felled gardens would be unable to get satisfactory burnings; however, a period of intense heat, although coming somewhat late in the season, has enabled the Chinese to get their plantations well cleared up. Those that are planted are so well advanced that we may hope to export gambier in some quantity before the end of this year; we trust that the success of these tentative attempts may convince capitalists that gambier can be grown well and profitably in Sarawak. The planters had to contend last monsoon with an unusually bad season, and it is much to their credit that they have persevered; they now find that they have not been so very much thrown back after all.

The production of sago along the coast seems to be carried on with great spirit; the unprecedentedly high price to which sago flour has reached lately has doubtless served to stimulate the trade.

Ten miles of the projected road through Upper Sarawak has been traced, and the report is that it is a remarkably easy road to make so far; this portion even, when completed, will open up a considerable tract of excellent land suitable for gambier, &c.

In the neighbourhood of Kuching the new roads are being pushed on with vigour, and equestrians may soon hope to have a very pleasant variety of ways to choose from for their morning ride.

In our last issue we omitted to notice the opening for business purposes of the handsome new offices recently erected by the Borneo Company (Limited). The old edifice had long been in a very rickety condition, and when the new building was commenced it was by no means too soon. The new offices, which have a river frontage of eighty-four feet, are not only well adapted for use, but are a conspicuous ornament to Kuching.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 4th August; the French mail from London, June 29, was received on the 29th July, and the following P. and O. mail of July 6 arrived out on the 4th August. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times:—

A meeting of the Executive Council was held on the 28th July, when certain rules for the regulation of Emigrant Depots, as well as for the recruiting of emigrants, were passed. These have been published in the Gazette. They provide that each depot shall have a conspicuous signboard, proper sanitary arrangements, and be under the immediate supervision of the Protector and Assistant Protector of Emigrants. Recruiters also must have distinguishing badges, and all contracts for labour outside the Settlements as well as advances of money must have the cognisance and approval of the Protectors of Emigrants. It is not a little curious, and it should cause reflection, that while other Colonial Governments are at their wits' end how to devise measures to keep out Chinese emigrants, the Straits Government should be so solicitous about their incomings and outgoings here. All the time John Chinaman is quietly monopolising into his own hands the whole trade and property of the colony.

Our higher courts of law are getting into something like order again, and when Mr. Wood arrives, the Chief Justice, Sir Thomas Sidgreaves, may take another three months' extension of leave, as it is rumoured it is his intention to do. Mr. Justice Phillips has been astonishing lawyers and suitors by his vigour and the rapidity with which he disposes of cases. His Honour returned from Penang on the 27th July, closed the Criminal Sessions here on the 30th, disposing of two murder cases on that day, started on the 31st for Malacca to hold the assizes there, and is due in Penang to hold the assizes there on the 15th Aug.

There is one matter which threatens to breed some trouble in the Peninsula, and that is in connection with the family of the late Sultan Allie of Johore. There is a dispute as to the succession to his patrimonial territory of Kessang or Moa, near Malacca. His eldest son, Tunku Allum, who is thirty-two years old, claims the title and Kessang. H.H. the Maharajah of Johore, supported by the Government here, is said to support the claims of a younger son, Tunku Mahmoud, a boy of eleven, with the view, it is alleged, of absorbing the territory eventually into the Johore cipality. There is said to be a very strong feeling among the Malays hostile to the views of Government and the Maharajah of Johore. As a matter of course, there is the usual abominable official secrecy as to the rights of the question, but, as far as we know, we are bound to say that both the Government and the Maharajah of Johore seem bent upon committing a blunder and a crime, perpetrating a high-handed act of injustice that good may ensue. Their reticence about their proceedings justify the worst suspicions, and if any trouble ensues they will be entirely to blame.

In connection with the Native States, it may be noted that the British barque Cotherstone, conveying ex-Sultan Abdullah and the other chiefs of Perak to the Seychelles, has been twice reported here, all well on board, since her departure. The Mauritius Ordinance, authorising the detention of these chiefs in the Seychelles, has appeared in the Gazette, as well as a notification that Her Majesty had been pleased to allow and approve of the Ordinance No. 6 of 1877 passed here for the detention of ex-Sultan Abdullah.

On the 23rd July a telegram, dated the 21st July, from the Governor General of India to his Excellency the Administrator, was furnished for publication here, with reference to the terrible famine in Madras, the object of which is to encourage shipments of rice from Siam and Saigon to Madras. There is not the slightest prospect of any such shipments being possible. Here, the stock is very small, and a scarcity, if not famine, is threatening. There is little or no Saigon rice in the place, and the following are to-day's quotations for Siam rice, the highest known for years, if ever known:—Mill cargo rice, $98 to 108; Mill white rice, $125 to 130 per coyan. Supplies in Bangkok and Saigon are nearly exhausted, and are wanted for China. There is, therefore, no prospect whatever of any supplies of rice from here for India.

The general committee of the Raffles Library and Museum and of the Gardens has been in a measure reorganised, with a view to greater efficiency and authority. The Hon. John Douglas C.M.G., Colonial Secretary, has been appointed Chairman, Dr. Little, Vice-Chairman for the Gardens, Mr. W. Adamsom, Vice-Chairman for the Library and Museum, and Dr. Dennys, Assistant Protector of Emigrants, Acting Librarian and Curator of the Museum.

A very interesting ceremony took place on the afternoon of Wednesday, the 1st August. The Presbyterians of the community are going to erect a new church on a piece of ground granted to them by Government at the back of Fort Canninghill, facing Dhoby Green, and the foundation stone was laid by His Excellency the Administrator.

Market Reports.

IMPORTS.

HANKOW.—There had been no improvement in the market. Cotton Goods.—Grey Shirtings: There had been a small inquiry for best marks, but none were in stock, and no business had been done. T-Cloths: The only sale reported is 1,000 pieces 7 lb. "Stork" at Tls. 1.00 per piece. Metals.—Lead: There was no demand, and the market was weak at Tls. 5.70 per picul. Quicksilver: Nominally quoted at Tls. 47.00 to 48.00 per picul. Tin: Nothing doing, and prices declined to Tls. 16½ to 17½ per picul.

SHANGHAI.—Piece Goods: During the week there had been settlements of one or two large lines special chops of 8 to 4 lbs. Grey Shirtings, beyond which private inquiry for this fabric had been on a limited scale. The public auctions which had been held daily had met all the pressing wants of the trade at dealers' own valuations, the quotation for Dewhurst's 8 to 4 lbs. Eagle Chop was Tls. 1.88, Collies Lion Tls. 1.80, Mendel's Horse Jockey Tls. 1.74 to 1.75, and Pillar chop Tls. 1.40 per piece. In lower classed goods there had been a little business doing for Japan at slightly improved rates, dealers paying Tls. 1.17 to 1.20 per piece for Common Grey Shirtings, not saleable before at 5 candareens below these rates. In 6 and 7 lbs. makes there was little doing, and prices were nominal. Heavy Shirtings were again in better demand at rather firmer rates. T-Cloths were, if anything, quieter, but sales of about 30,000 pieces had been effected. Ordinary Mexican were selling, 8 lbs. at Tls. 1.42 to 1.43, and 7 lbs. from Tls. 1.18 to 1.24 per piece. Some common 7 lbs. 15 + 15 had also found buyers at Tls. 0.95 per piece. Best Mexican 7 lbs. and 8 lbs. were still most wanted, and were quoted from Tls. 1.38 to 1.42 and 1.65 to 1.70 per piece respectively. Drills, sales of English 14 lbs, 7,000 pieces at about former rates. In American Goods no business reported, owing to absence of stock. Fancy Cottons without change. All Woollen fabrics showed improvement in value. Camlets had advanced at auction about 1½ mace per piece. H.H. Spanish Stripes sold previously at Tls. 0.54½ realised Tls. 0.56½. Long Ells Scarlet CPH asked for at Tls. 6.70 per piece. Coals: Rates for most descriptions had remained firm, and with a slight advance for some descriptions. Cardiff sold at Tls. 7.5.0 per ton. There had been little change in the aspect of the Metal trade. Sales of Belgian Rods at low rates had weakened the market, but there had been a better demand for Dawes and Rogers. Lead was weak, with few buyers. Tin Plates, Quicksilver, and Copper. Nothing doing.

FOOCHOW.—There had been no demand for Cotton Goods, and there were no transactions to report. Lead: Considerable settlements had taken place at from $8½ to 8¾ per picul against Tea and 8¼ cash. It is also reported that some 900 pigs had been disposed of to foreign buyers at $7.90 per picul cash. The estimated stock in foreigners' hands was 6,990 pigs. Sales reported are:—Lead: 2,023 pigs at $8.50 to 8.75 per picul against Tea; 300 pigs $8.25 per picul cash; about 900 pigs at $7.90 per picul to foreign buyers for cash.

FORMOSA.—At Tamsui there was but little doing. Good 8¼ lbs. Shirtings were worth $2.55, and in full supply. 72 Reed White Shirtings $3.10. At Takao nothing was doing, and quotations were purely nominal, 8¼ lbs. Grey Shirtings $2.50. Woollens were in no demand.

CANTON.—Lead: The market was again lower, and a few small sales of cargo had been made at $7.70 to 7.80 per picul; quotations for Hole Chop and W.B. $7.90 to 8.00 per picul. Quicksilver: Prices showed a slight decline, and were quoted at $61 to 61.50 per picul.

AMOY.—Yarns: A few sales had been effected at about previous rates. Grey Shirtings: Business had been on a trifling scale, and in other goods hardly anything had been done. Metals.—Tin: 471 slabs reported sold at $21½. Lead unchanged, and stocks heavy. Quicksilver: No sales reported.

HONG KONG.—The market during the fortnight had been in a very unsatisfactory state, and importers generally had accepted lower rates for all descriptions of cloth. But little business had been done in English Shirtings and T-Cloths at reduced prices. English Drills were quiet at a decline of 2½ cents per piece. American Cottons were out of stock and quotations nominal. Messrs. Kiaer and Co.'s Circular says:—English Yarn very quiet, but prices steady; Bombay saleable to a small extent. Grey Shirtings very quiet; 8¼ lbs. common are in slightly better demand, while good quality is extremely difficult of sale. White Shirtings: Common quiet, fine qualities in less demand, but prices nominally unchanged. Drills: There is very little doing for the interior, but dealers are buying to feed next month's requirements. T-Cloths: 6 lbs. common scarce and small demand; 7 lbs. nothing doing, except finest, which is wanted for Soochow; 8 lbs. common scarce and 2½ cents higher; good qualities unsaleable. Fancy Cottons: Brocades steady, Spot Shirtings scarce, Chintz steady; Turkey Reds 2½ lbs. lower, 2¾ lbs. very scarce and in good demand; Blue Twill scarce; Velvets and Velveteens in fair inquiry, and good quality saleable at an advance of about 1 cent per yard; Handkerchiefs very quiet. Woollens: Camlets and Lastings strong; Long Ells firm and advancing, holders wanting $9 for UU; China Figures saleable at quotations; Spanish Stripes steady; Blankets: Good quality in fair inquiry.

MANILA.—There had been no improvement in the market during the interval. Business had remained very quiet, and in view of the extensive stocks both in first and second hands prices had exhibited a declining tendency.

SINGAPORE.—The market for Cotton Goods had continued quiet and unchanged; there had not been much alteration in rates. The principal sales during the fortnight had been 13,000 pieces Grey Shirtings, 12,000 pieces grey supers, 55,000 pieces grey T-Cloths, 23,000 pieces White Shirtings, 650 corges White Cambrics, 1,900 pieces T. Red Cambrics, 105 bales grey yarn, 90 bales coloured yarns, and 38 bales T.R. yarn.

PENANG.—The demand for Grey Goods continued very quiet, and sales had been on a retail scale. In White Cottons, Cambrics were in fair demand, but the several qualities of Shirtings were in little request.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HANKOW.—The Chamber of Commerce Circular says:—Arrivals during the fortnight have been small. Notwithstanding the very unfavourable news that has reached us by telegram of the London market, a large business has been done at prices showing a decline of one Tael per picul for all kinds. Owing to the unremunerative prices that are at present being paid, the entire yield promises to be considerably under that of last year. Quotations at Ex. 5s. 7½d. and Frt. £4 per ton. Oonfaas and Oonams:—Fair to Medium, 1s. 1d. to 1s. 5d. per lb.; Common to Fair, 9¾d. to 1s. 1d. per lb.; Scang-tam, 8½d. to 8½d. per lb. Oopacks:—Fair to Medium, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 4¾d. per lb.; Common to Fair, 11½d. to 1s. 1d.

SHANGHAI.—Black: A fair business had been done during the week, settlements being—Oopack, 4,000 chests, at Tls. 14 to 22; Oanfa, 1,500 chests, at Tls. 14½ to 16½; Oonam, 3,500 chests, at Tls. 9½ to 12; Ningchow, 12,000 chests, at Tls. 16 to 40; Hohow, 1,000 chests, at Tls. 19 to 28; total, 22,000 chests, against for the same week last year, 32,000 chests. In the early part of the week buyers continued to be very cautious in making offers, but latterly a belief had been gaining ground that the crop would be short to an extent not credited before, and considerable anxiety had been displayed in consequence to secure Teas at current low rates. With reference to this feature the Celestial Empire says:—Herein lies the danger; at the prices just paid for common Shantams, Tls. 10 to 11, Teamen cannot lay down any third crop Tea, and hence we hear that at present the packing of leaf in the country has almost entirely ceased. The market has, however, now been cleared of these cheap goods, and it is not impossible that there may be competition for the next arrivals sufficient to raise the price one tael or more; this is the ticklish position we are in; an advance in the price of common tea, seemingly justified by its scarcity, to Tls. 13, would at once render it no longer scarce, as large supplies could be brought down at that figure which covers duty, freight and packing charges, and leaves Tls. 5 for the raw leaf, at which the countrymen will pick and freely sell it. Our only hope, therefore, of a short crop lies in the maintenance of present low rates in this market and in Hankow. Green: There had been only a small business doing in Pingsueys, and prices had consequently declined Tls. 1 to 2 per picul. New Fychow tea of good quality had been sold at Tls. 25, and Keemen, Taiping and Hoochow chops of extremely poor style and indifferent liquor had sold up to Tls. 28, being prices fully on a par with last season's. Considering the very low quotations for Green Teas received both from London and New York these rates showed an apparent loss of from 10 to 20 per cent. Settlements had been:—Fychow, 1,500 half-chests at Tls. 23½ to 28; Pingsuey, 4,000 half-chests at Tls. 19 to 36½; Shanghai-packed, 500 half-chests at 22. Total 6,000 half-chests.

FOOCHOW.—The market had been fairly active during the fortnight. Congous: The settlements had consisted almost wholly of common to medium grades. But few purchases of finer grades are reported, and prices were fully maintained. Souchongs: A steady business had been done, prices having declined 1 tael per picul. Oolongs: Little was done during the first week of the fortnight; later, however, a string of fine Teas had been taken at Tls. 34. Scented Teas: Between the 6th and 13th July a fall of about Tls. 3 per picul was established; since that date a fair business had been done, and the market closed firm. Flowery Pekoes: Settlements reported of 830 chests at prices varying from Tls. 37½ to Tls. 58½ (short). The export to Great Britain and the Continent of Europe amounts to 19,236,797 lbs., against 27,167,199 lbs. To the Colonies, 6,946,160 lbs., against 5,984,311 lbs. at the same period last season.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Market Report says:—The quieter tone in our market advised in our last Circular has been maintained, and we are able to report the smallest fortnight's business in Scented Teas since the commencement of the season. Congous: A few settlements on this market are reported at former rates. Moderate shipments have been made from Macao, and transactions at that port have been chiefly in common qualities. Scented Teas: There has been little or no demand for Capers of medium and fine grades, and of the business reported below, by far the largest portion is composed of teas costing from Tls. 14 to 16 per picul; these show no change on former rates. Mediam teas can be bought at a decline of about Tls. 1½ to 2, but this reduction in prices has not been sufficient to induce many offers. Pekoes have also been in small inquiry; "long leaf" kinds have been taken at Tls. 18½ to 27, and "new makes" at Tls. 15 to 17½; the latter kinds are without material alteration, but "long leaf" sorts have been purchased on more favourable terms. Canton Greens: These have found buyers to a trifling extent. The following is a summary of the fortnight's business:—Congou, 1,400 boxes at Tls. 16 to 27 per picul; Scented Caper, 11,000 boxes at Tls. 13¾ to 25; Scented Orange Pekoe, 5,100 boxes at Tls. 15 to 27.

AMOY.—Messrs. Olyphant and Co.'s Circular says:—But a small business has been done in Formosa Ooloongs during the interval, owing to the excessive firmness of holders, and at the close buying is generally suspended. The settlements for the fortnight amount to 5,012 half-chests at prices showing a slight decline. Advices from Formosa to the 21st July report a quiet market at a decline of $1 to 2 per picul upon all grades up to fine, and $3 to 4 upon the choice kinds. In Amoy Ooloongs a fair business has been done, and the settlements since our last advices amount to 11,692 half-chests, comprising all grades at previous rates. At the quotations given under date of 9th July the market remains moderately firm. The s.s. State of Louisiana arrived from Kobe on the 20th July, and will probably leave for New York on the 24th. The s.s. Glenorchy and s.s. Glamis Castle will call early next month to fill up for the same port at £4 per ton. It is expected that the s.s. Loudoun Castle will also call in here about the 1st September to load for New York.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—Mr. Brukhill's Circular, of 21st July, says :—Our market has not altered materially since my last report (dated July 7); probably there has been a little more inclination to do business, but this has been met by increased pretensions on the part of holders, and operations have, in consequence, been restricted. Tsatlees: The most noteworthy purchases are :—Bird Chop: Fong Ling at Tls. 395 (18s. 6d.); Elephant Chop: King-fong at Tls. 407½ (19s.); Dancing Bear, No. 2 at Tls. 417½ (19s. 6d.) (The last named is reported to be old silk.) Market Tsatlees, old and new, have been taken to a moderate extent at Tls. 360 (16s. 9d.), for common No. 5, up to Tls. 400 (18s. 8d.) for middling 4½ Taysaams: Small parcels of 9/12 moss have changed hands at Tls. 265 to 270 (12s. 6d. to 12s. 9d.) for ordinary to fair cargo. Yellow Silk: Some settlements of Fu-Yung at Tls. 170 (8s. 2d.) are reported for India. Rereels: The market for new Rereels was opened yesterday by the purchase of a small lot of Sun-tien-chang's No. 2 and 3 R. R. Tsatlees at Tls. 510 and 490 (23s. 9d. and 22s. 9d.), and the Pagoda Chop No. 2 at Tls. 460 (21s. 5d.). Old R. R. Tsatlees have been taken at Tls. 360 to 380 (16s. 9d. to 17s. 9d.) for common to medium quality.

Settlements for the fortnight... ...	1,200	5,000
Total settlements to date	1,750	18,000
Stock—7,000 New and 7,000 Old...	14,000	18,000

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon's Circular says :—Settlements in the fortnight are 880 bales of Tsatlee reel, 315 of which were purchased prior to the departure of last French mail steamer. Transactions have been for the most part in Nos. 1, 2, and 3, of which classes the stock has been largely composed, while contrary to ordinary rule No. 4 has been scarce. Prices paid in the first week were slightly under last printed quotations, but the recent demand has tended to strengthen rates, and good No. 4 is now quoted $375 to 380 per picul. Third crop staple so far has come on the market in bad condition, the silk in some cases being saturated with moisture; an improvement in this respect is looked for in subsequent arrivals. Long-reels: There has been a fairly active demand for these descriptions, and settlements of Seulam, &c., are put at 110 piculs. Re-reels: No contracts are announced, and until lower prices than those now asked by native dealers are accepted, only a limited business is likely to result. Waste: No settlements reported. Stock is computed at 1,000 to 1,200 bales Tsatlee, 100 bales Kowkong, 100 bales Cumchuck and Lucklow, and 200 to 300 bales of inferior descriptions.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HANKOW.—China Grass: Fair business at firm values, viz., Oopack white, Tls. 8 to 11; Szechuen green, Tls. 8.3 to 8.4. Market for Hides quiet; shipments 23.95 piculs; quotations Tls. 6.7 to 7.1. Cantharides quoted Tls. 34 to 35; Rhubarb Shensi, Tls. 40 to 60; Szechuen, Tls. 13 to 30.

HONG KONG AND MACAO.—Messrs. Olyphant and Co. report as follows :—Sugar: Notwithstanding an absence of demand for foreign export, the market has been well maintained by shippers to Chinese ports. We quote Chui Chow, White $8.20, Brown $5.20, Shekloong, White $7.20 to 7.50, Brown $5.30. Other kinds, Brown $4.75 to 5.00. At Swatow business has been almost suspended, but prices have not changed. Kee-yang, White is quoted $7.58 to 8.18, Brown $5.18 to 5.23, Chao-yang, White $7.63 to 7.88, Yellow $5.98 to 6.93, Brown $5.03 to 5.08, Black $4.28 to 4.58 f.o.b. duty paid. Our market for Camphor is very quiet, and no change is noticeable since our last Circular. There are about 1,500 piculs of Formosa in stock, and the quotations remain the same. Japan kind is out of stock. We have no change to report respecting our market for Gamboge. Vermillion is quoted $33 per case. There has been no material change noticeable in the drug market at Macao. A little lot of 40 piculs of Aniseed Oil has been sold at $181 per picul, leaving 140 piculs in stock. Cassia Oil is quoted at $94 per picul, nominal. Aniseed Stars are out of stock, and the quotation is $23.50 per picul, nominal.

CANTON.—The market had been more active, and prices had consequently advanced. Of 3,900 piculs Cassia sold, about 2,200 piculs were destined for the American market, the remainder going to Europe and India. Holders of Gall Nuts were firm.

MANILA.—Messrs. Smith, Bell and Co.'s Circular says :—Sugar and Hemp have been fairly active during the fortnight, but Coffee has been quiet. Tonnage remains in good supply and Exchange has had a downward movement. Sugar: Our market has been very firm, and has lately advanced. At the beginning of the fortnight there were sales of Superior at $5.56¼ per picul and of Extra at $6 per picul, but at these rates the market was very soon cleared, and there have since been purchases at $5.75 per picul for Superior and $6.12½ per picul for Extra. We estimate the total transactions at something like 50,000 piculs, and with low stocks dealers are now holding firmly. Unclayed: The arrivals from Taal during the fortnight have only amounted to 4,000 piculs, which were taken at from $3.81¼ per picul to $3.87½ per picul, and a parcel of 5,000 piculs Dumaguete fetched the latter price. At Ilo Ilo and Cebu prices were slightly easier. A cargo of Ilo Ilo Superior is reported to have been sold up here at $5.50 per picul, at which price it could not have been obtained in Ilo Ilo. We quote values nominal; it would now be difficult to secure any quantity of unclayed Sugars. Hemp: Our market is again quieter, and we quote Current at $5.81¼ per picul (£23 13s. 4d.), with a slightly downward tendency. In course of shipment there are now 10,000 bales going forward to Great Britain and 12,000 bales to the United States. Stocks, after deducting requirements for vessels in port, we estimate at 3,065 bales here and 4,760 bales at Cebu, together 7,825 bales. Coffee: Trifling sales have been made at $21 per picul (£78. 8s. 1d.).

SINGAPORE.—The market had continued steady throughout the week, there had been a fair demand for most of the principal staples at last rates, and a moderate business is reported; the fall in exchange had caused prices to harden slightly at the close.

PENANG.—There had been a good demand for Tin and Pepper. The purchases of Tin had been entirely for China, those of Pepper also being mostly for China, with small transactions for Europe.

MR. HART ON EXTERRITORITALITY.

The recently published Blue-book on the Chefoo Convention, &c., contains the subjoined remarks made by Mr. Hart, Inspector-General of Customs, on the subject of Exterritoriality:—

While following up his own aims in China, the foreigner carries with him one striking peculiarity—exterritoriality. He comes to China for gain, but he first of all wants what he considers security; he has thus got almost complete exterritoriality, and to it he seeks to add almost as complete liberty of action. But, whatever the demands of commerce may be, home Governments cannot but admit that there are here and there restrictions in themselves proper to be enforced.

When China acquiesced in various treaty stipulations, it never occurred to her that what she was conceding was what goes to constitute what is now termed exterritoriality. The stipulations gradually showed their shape, and what they concede and how such concessions operate on the country that grants them, are now increasingly understood in China. Such an arrangement may, of course, save China the trouble of settling inter-foreign disputes; but its advantages in this direction have not been found to compensate for what is felt to have been thereby lost in governmental tone.

Accordingly, when the foreigner seeks for extension of intercourse and greater freedom generally, and couples with the request for this the demand that he shall remain on the same footing, i.e., exterritorialised, friendly negotiation has difficulties to encounter that were unknown to first-comers who dictated Treaties.

In view of the fact that exterritorial stipulations do exist and are really operative, it is evident that any proposals which do not make adequate provision for the security of life and property will not be acceptable to the Treaty Powers, and in view of the fact that, whatever they may contain of what is expedient and useful, exterritorial stipulations do contain a something that the Government concerned must sooner or later take exception to, it is equally evident that any proposals which ignore what China feels and says on the subject of existing arrangements will similarly be unacceptable to China.

Accordingly, in reviewing the commercial side of intercourse, it becomes necessary to consider also what Commercial Treaties have done by way of giving a peculiar status to the foreigner, and for the settlement of questions to which he is a party.

China recognises the fact that the foreigner differs from the native in countless ways, and that special arrangements are necessary for his affairs; China is as ready to acknowledge this as the foreigner, seeing how different are natives from foreigners, is to demand special treatment; and, taking it for granted that on both sides there is a sincere desire for friendly relations, it ought not to be impossible to find a common mean. But to really find this, it is the facts of the day, and not the legislation of a former period, that must be given prominence.

Foreigners not being at all likely to surrender what may be called defensive exterritoriality, and China not being at all likely to invite foreign suggestions or willingly assent to foreign demands while what may be called aggressive exterritoriality is maintained, the proposals the Yamen's instructions call for—if they are to have any practical value—must put forward considerations that are calculated.

(1.) To convince the Treaty Powers that the limitations of any stipulation afford sufficient margin for the exercise of the rights it guarantees.

(2.) To induce China to see that the concession is not unlimited; and,

(3.) To promise an improvement on the regulations and procedure now existing.

What, then, is the foreign complaint that has resulted in the issue of the instructions now received?

Taken at its widest, the foreign complaint is that China does not let foreigners do in China, plus exterritoriality, what they suppose they would be allowed to do at home. Foreigners cannot establish themselves at pleasure in the interior; cannot open mines; cannot make railways; Chinese themselves are not allowed to introduce foreign appliances; foreign goods are taxed at the Treaty ports where, having paid import duty, they ought to be free, and, after next paying transit dues and thus purchasing (it is said) the right to future exemption are again taxed in the interior times without end. Foreign claims, whether against defaulting traders of Treaty-violating mandarins, are always trifled with and never satisfied; foreigners are insulted, assaulted, killed, and redress is either not obtainable, or is of such a kind and so tardily granted as to only aggravate the original offence, &c.

VISIT OF JAPANESE TO GLASGOW.—On the 4th inst. Prince Tokugawa visited Glasgow, and spent a few hours in examining various places of interest in the city. His Royal Highness was accompanied by Kawada, Okubo, and Takemura, who form his suite, and Yamarouti, who acts as interpreter. The distinguished visitors arrived from Edinburgh shortly before noon, and drove to the Council Chambers, where they were received by the Lord Provost, the town clerk, and the City Chamberlain. Thereafter, accompanied by the City Chamberlain and Mr. Colin Brown, of Hope-street, they visited the Cathedral and other remarkable places, including some of the chief iron works, and previous to returning to Edinburgh they expressed themselves highly gratified by all they had seen.

Literature, Science, &c.

The lull in the issue of new works of any note still continues, and it is not expected that it will abate before the Christmas books commence to be announced. At home hardly any works of special importance are noticed as forthcoming; but some interest is felt in the "Memoirs," of which Pope Pius IX. is approaching the completion, and upon which he has been engaged for more than forty years. In preparing this work, which is being executed on an elaborate scale, the Pope has had no aid except from Father Dresciani, one of the most learned of the Jesuits. He has now handed over his autobiographical notes and accessory documents to Father Dresciani, who has put them in order for the press. Among the manuscripts to be used in the preparation of the "Memoirs" is the correspondence of the Pope with Charles Albert, King Victor Emmanuel, Napoleon III., and Count de Cavour. By a special codicil to his testament the Memoirs are not to be published until ten years have elapsed after the author's death. "An English-Japanese Dictionary of the Spoken Language," by Ernest Mason Satow and Ishibashi Masakata, has been published by Messrs. Trübner and Co.

The Friend of China (organ of the Anti-Opium Society) for this month notices the Imperial edict issued against opium-smoking, and considers that it is vague. It states, however, that efforts are being made by the provincial authorities to suppress the evil.

Macmillan's Magazine for September contains an excellent paper upon Prussian History, from the pen of Mr. J. R. Seeley; one on the Italian Drama, by Catherine Phillimore; a very beautiful anonymous poem, "The Smile and Sigh," and "German Society Forty Years Since," by Lady Duff Gordon.

The China Review for May and June has an interesting review of a Chinese manuscript New Testament, by the Rev. John Chalmers; "Ethnological Sketches from the Dawn of History," by Thos. W. Kingsmill, and other papers of value.

The Geographical Magazine for September has a paper by Mr. Herbert Wood on continuance of Arctic research, in which, in discussing the routes for future expeditions, the writer holds that what Sherard Osborn had urged since 1865 ought now to be accepted as an incontrovertible canon of ice-navigation. In the words of Sir Edward Parry, "experience has clearly shown that the navigation of the Polar seas can never be performed with any degree of certainty, without a continuity of land. It was only by watching the openings between the ice and the shore that our late progress to the westward was effected (in 1819), and had the land continued in the desired direction there can be no question that we should have continued to advance, however slowly, towards the completion of our enterprise." We must, therefore, continue to be guided by those canons of Arctic exploration which Sherard Osborn has formulated. But it must be remembered that the Smith Sound route was selected because it was the best by which the threshold of the unknown region could be approached. The work in that direction is now completed, and the next best route cannot, of course, offer the same chances of success and equal advantages. The difficulties will increase as the work approaches completion; but so will the glory of surmounting them. The same number of this magazine states that the project for despatching an English expedition to Lhasa, the sacred capital of Tibet, has now definitely fallen through. This is much to be deplored, and so much the more as it appears that the opportunities which offered themselves to the Indian Foreign Department for opening up trade communications between India and Tibet were exceptionally favourable, while, in the person of Mr. Nay Elias, the Government had an employé whose diplomatic experience, combined with his great scientific acquirements, fitted him pre-eminently for the post of emissary in this important enterprise. But neither in the guise of a Government envoy nor as private traveller could the Calcutta Foreign Office be persuaded to look upon his mission with any sincere approval; and after much discussion and delay, the whole project has been suffered to collapse through sheer apathy on the part of the authorities.

In the Academy of October 21, 1876, it was mentioned that some Frenchmen were then about to settle on the east coast of Sumatra as "colons explorateurs," with the view of forming nuclei at various points, round which French colonists might be able to rally. That enterprise appears to be prospering, for M. Brau de Saint-Pol Lias, the director of the Société Française des Colons Explorateurs à Sumatra, has recently returned to France to organise another party of emigrants. His farming operations are said to have been very successful, and he has obtained a grant of a large estate in the neighbourhood of Delhi, where tobacco thrives exceedingly well. M. Lias has brought several animals home with him, some of them of very rare species, all of which he has presented to the Jardin des Plantes.

News has been received from Pará, on the Amazon, that endeavours are being made to open up steam communication with the interior of Ecuador by way of the River Putumayo or Içá. It is to be hoped these attempts may be successful, as we shall thereby be enabled to obtain interesting geographical information respecting remote and unknown districts on the eastern slopes of the Cordillera of the Andes.

SUGAR MANUFACTURE IN CHINA.

It is satisfactory to be able to note another proof that the Chinese are not averse to the employment of European machinery provided we can introduce it in a manner which they can recognise as conducive to their advantage. It will be seen by the announcement in our Advertising columns that a Company has been formed for the purpose of working in China what is known as the Weinrick patent process for refining sugar. The board of directors is a strong one, and comprises several gentlemen who are practically acquainted with sugar refining, so that there is every reason to hope that it may be the means of establishing what will ultimately prove a scarcely less important branch of the China trade than that in tea, silk, and other more recognised staple exports, while experience shows that the natives themselves purchase the sugar refined in this manner in large quantities. The Weinrick process has, indeed, been for some time past successfully employed in Hong Kong, and the present company will extend its operation in China itself, — a circumstance of importance to the manufacturing interests in England and other countries as showing that it has been proved practicable to introduce manufacturing enterprise into China, provided that the support of the two most influential classes, that, namely, of the guilds and the officials, be obtained. The power of the former is scarcely second to that of the mandarins themselves, and, in fact, is in some cases sufficient to override it. Experience in China, indeed, shows that it is mainly with the large guilds that opposition to commercial and manufacturing enterprise has originated. It is, therefore, very satisfactory that in the present instance not only is there no danger of this influence being put into force against the Company, but that it will be exerted in its favour, the large Sugar Guilds of Canton and Swatow being active supporters of the enterprise, and in fact having, on seeing the working of the patent, by means of which ordinary Swatow sugar can be refined in a few minutes to any required colour, at once seen the benefit they would gain by its being introduced. The Company has power to purchase or amalgamate with other similar businesses in China, and it may possibly, with the large native support which it possesses, be the means of centering the whole of the sugar manufacturing in China in one concern. The facilities which the present company possess for obtaining the proper description of the raw material will form an important feature in its working.

It may be interesting to note, as a further illustration of the manner in which the Chinese are prepared to adopt European appliances, that arrangements have been made for flour-making machinery to be sent to Canton city. It is evident that the real opposition is mainly of a commercial character, and that the Chinese, like many other people, are not likely to be averse to the introduction of machinery when they can see their way to making it pay them in some direct and palpable manner.

THE CHINESE ENVOYS.

The Lord Provost of Glasgow has received the following letter from the Chinese Ambassador:—"45, Portland-place, 26th August, 1877.—Dear Lord Provost,—On the 23rd inst., in pursuance of the plan I had laid for carrying out my intention of visiting some of the principal manufacturing places in England and Scotland, I left London, intending, as you already know, to be in Glasgow on Monday next, but on my arrival at Stoke-upon-Trent I became so ill that I had to abandon the idea of going further, and returned at once to London. For some time previous to leaving London I had been unwell, and would not have gone out at the time had it not been for the engagements into which I had entered for visiting Glasgow and other places. Besides this, I hoped I might benefit by the excitement and change of air; but instead of this at Stoke I became worse, and after two sleepless nights very reluctantly decided on returning to London, where I arrived yesterday afternoon. I exceedingly regret this, more especially on account of the preparations which the Corporation had made for my entertainment. I have not given up the thought of visiting Glasgow this autumn, but still intend going there as soon as I feel well enough to do so. I beg, however, that you will not make any preparations for my reception, for my object being to inspect some of the multiform industries of your city, this can best be effected by moving about in a quiet kind of way. I desire to offer to you and the Corporation of Glasgow my sincere thanks for the honour they had intended paying me on Tuesday next, and deeply regret the circumstances which prevent me from being there to receive it. I hope soon to have the pleasure of presenting in person my thanks to the Corporation, and of renewing the acquaintance which I was so fortunate as to make with you on the occasion to which you allude in the spring of this year. Meanwhile I send you my photograph, and will esteem it a great favour if you will give me yours in return. Accept the assurance of the high consideration and esteem with which I remain, my dear Lord Provost, yours very sincerely,—Kuo Sung-Tao." On Friday last Liu-ta-jen, Second Chinese Minister, Liu Fu-yi, attaché, and suite, arrived at Dumfries from Stranraer. In the course of the afternoon his Excellency and suite drove out, visited Burns's Monument in St. Michael's Churchyard, Carlaverock Castle, and other objects of interest. They left Dumfries the next day for Liverpool.

On Monday H.E. Liu was taken to the Walker Art Gallery at Liverpool, the Free Library and Museum, and St. George's Hall. The following day his Excellency embarked on the Dock Board tender Alert, had a trip on the river, and afterwards lunched with the Mayor at the Town-hall.

Shu Chang, Chief Secretary to the Imperial Chinese Legation; Fung Yee, Chief Interpreter; and Szu Tingfau Change, Attaché, have left London on a short vist to Dr. Vincent Ambler, K.L.S., who is at present entertaining some members of the Japanese Legation at Brighton.

THE JAPAN INSURRECTION.

The New York papers publish a telegram from Washington, dated August 20, which states that a despatch has been received at the Department of State from the United States Minister to Japan, containing copies of correspondence between Admiral Kervamura, Acting Minister of the Japanese Navy, and Saigo, the leader of the Satsuma rebels. The Admiral, after recounting the evils of the rebellion and the impossibility of succeeding against the constituted authorities, offers, if Saigo and his army will lay down their arms, repent of their errors, and return to their duty, to intercede with the Government for their pardon and Saigo's restoration to rank and honour again. Saigo, in reply, recounts the causes which drove him and his army into rebellion, scornfully rejects all overtures looking to peace until the enemies of right and justice who surround and mislead the Emperor are punished, and says that the Imperial army are in reality rebels employed by the treacherous servants about his Majesty to prevent the establishment of right and justice; that when the criminal code is mockery and the law powerless, wrong and right lose their proper meaning and become confused; that they feel fully capable of continuing the war; that the mere assertion of the Admiral's proposal to ask for their pardon only angers them, because they all know how to die for a great cause, and cannot be moved from their purpose by any regard for life or death; and end by telling the Admiral that they will refuse to receive any more letters from him.

THE OPIUM QUESTION.

The Daily Telegraph, commenting upon the letter from "H. M." with reference to the Chinese Minister in connection with opium smoking, says:—

"If the statements made," concludes the correspondent whom we have quoted, "were allowed to pass unchallenged, those among us who are hostile to the opium trade—and who is not?—might think that in the Envoy they had a less staunch supporter than they really have." It curiously happens that the query parenthetically put by the advocate of Kuo-Sung-tao suggests an inference which will not, in all likelihood, be allowed to "pass unchallenged." There are a vast number of highly respectable people both in our Indian Empire and in this country who are by no means "hostile to the opium trade," but who on the contrary warmly approve of it, and would wish to see it fostered to the highest degree of development of which it is susceptible. The Indian Government cannot, surely, be deemed adverse to a branch of commerce from which it derives so magnificent an income; nor can the merchants who acquire large fortunes by buying or selling opium, or the many millions of Indian ryots who earn their livelihood by growing the somniferous poppy, and preparing the product for the market, be supposed to hate it in their hearts. Doubtless the Chinese authorities have these forty years past periodically protested against the influx of Indian opium into the Celestial Empire. It is no less true that opium-smuggling has led to more than one costly and sanguinary war between Great Britain and China; but it is, we should say, scarcely the wish of our Indian contemporaries or of Anglo-Indians in general that Kuo-Sung-Tao and a British Anti-Opium Association between them should eventually be enabled to put a stop to the importation of Bengal opium into China. Touching the ethics of the subject, we have not in this present year 1877 arrived at a solution of the problem propounded more than a century ago by Jean Jacques Rousseau as to the precise amount of criminality which attaches to a person who by a mere effort of volition puts an end to the existence of a mandarin at Pekin whom he has never seen, and against whom he cannot possibly entertain a personal grudge. The opium-dealer can only plead that he does not wish to kill the mandarin or anybody else outright, and that so far as he, the dealer, is concerned, he would like the mandarin to attain an age as advanced as Coleridge and De Quincey reached, in order that more opium might be bought and smoked. For the rest, caveat emptor; and that is in effect the argument of the British dealer in strong drink when he is accused of poisoning people by the million.

We cannot altogether withhold our sympathy from the unhappy victim of the hypnotic. Behold his portrait word-painted by an illustrious medical authority:—"The habitual opium-eater is instantly recognised by his appearance. A total attenuation of body, a withered, yellow countenance, a lame gait, a bending of the spine, sometimes to such an extent that the backbone is arched into a semicircle, and deep-sunken, glossy eyes betray him at the first glance. The digestive organs are in the highest degree disturbed, and the sufferer eats scarcely anything. His mental and bodily powers are destroyed. By degrees, as the habit becomes more confirmed, the strength continues to diminish; his craving for the stimulus grows progressively greater, and to produce the desired effect the dose must constantly be augmented." It should be shocking to every well-regulated mind to contemplate the possibility of there being millions of nominally inoffensive wearers of pigtails crawling about their paddy fields, bent double and with a lame gait, their limbs attenuated, their visages of a saffron hue and parchment texture, their moral and physical powers well nigh annihilated, and their digestive organs far beyond the curative reach of taraxacum, all in consequence of Bengal opium. Yet this is what the poppy-growers of Benares and Patna have done. And all for what? That a stage of excitement may be followed by one of depression; that the skin should become hot, the mouth and throat dry, and the thirst increased; that a state of torpor should then come on, followed by sleep and by dreams, sometimes pleasing but as frequently terrible; and that on waking there should occur nausea, furred tongue, sickness, oppression, lassitude, and the "horrors." Is it worth while going through so much anguish to enjoy so little pleasure? Look at the waste of time, too, in the practice of opium-smoking. Half-a-dozen processes are requisite before the execrable extract called chandoo can be kneaded into pills of the size of a pea. Then the pill must be put into the tube which projects from the side of the pipe; that tube must be applied to the flame of a lamp, and the pill, being ignited, must be consumed by one whiff or inflation of the lungs, attended by a whistling noise. The smoke must never be emitted from the mouth, but must find vent through the nostrils, and adepts will expel it through the orifices of the ears and eyes. This is the opium-smoker—a truly pitiable object. Must it be reckoned as one of our national sins and scandals that we so encourage him in his detestable vice, merely because it suits us to increase the Indian revenue by selling opium to the Chinese; or are we justified in letting him alone, on the caveat emptor principle, just as we let the British gin-drinker alone, between whom and his fellow victim, the Chinaman, there exists a strong family likeness, and who, on his part, contributes every year a very pretty quota to the British revenue?

Naval and Military.

The troopship Tamar is to be ready to leave by the 10th prox. for the Mediterranean, Ceylon, Straits Settlements, and Hong Kong, with military drafts for those stations, and naval reliefs for the Egeria, Lapwing, Fly, and Vigilant, bringing the relieved crews back to England.

Vice-Admiral Hillyar hoisted his flag on the 1st inst. on board the Cambridge, at Portsmouth, as Naval Commander-in-Chief on the China station, in succession to Vice-Admiral Ryder.

Several Chinese officers are about to be appointed to flagships of the Royal Navy. Three will at once join those of the Channel Squadron for instruction.

The vacancy on the Flag Officer Greenwich Hospital Pension List, caused by the death of Vice-Admiral Wise, has been filled by conferring the pension of £150 a year on Vice-Admiral Prevost.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. Maitland, Royal Artillery, has been appointed to the command of the Auxiliary Artillery in the Bristol District, vice Colonel G. Davis, V.C. Colonel Maitland has served with distinction in India.

Lieutenant-General Lord Mark Kerr, C.B., late commanding the Poona Division, has been selected for the colonelcy of the 15th Foot, rendered vacant by the death of General T. A. Drought. Lord Mark Kerr commanded the 13th Light Infantry in the Crimea in 1855, and in the suppression of the Indian Mutiny.

Surgeon Major W. R. Burkett died last week at Wicklow, aged forty-two. He served in the Crimean War of 1855, and during the Indian Mutiny campaign of 1857-58. He was also with the 1st Dragoons in the China War of 1860, and was present at the affair of Sinho, the capture of the Taku forts and the surrender of Peking.

A Greenwich Hospital pension of £50 a year for deputy inspector-generals of hospitals and fleets, vacant by the death of John Andrews, has been awarded to Charles T. S. Kevern. Two captain's good service pensions of £150 a year, vacant by the promotion of Rear-Admiral William Gore Jones, C.B., and Retired Rear-Admiral John Bythesea, C.B., have been awarded to Captain Henry D. Hickley and Captain Frederick A. Herbert.

The establishment of another Vice-Admiralty Court abroad is under consideration, it being thought advisable that one should exist at the Leeward Islands. There are already more than fifty of these Courts in various parts of the world.

LONDON: SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1877.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

One of those outrages which were formerly so frequent in China, but from which some respite has been obtained of late, has taken place at Wuchang, where two missionary gentlemen have been most wantonly and unprovokedly attacked with stones by some students. The assailants were strangers to the place, and had come to attend the examinations. The matter has been taken in hand by the Consul at Hankow, and it is to be hoped that sufficient energy will be displayed to secure redress. The injuries inflicted were severe, one of the missionaries having several teeth knocked in, while the other sustained a fracture of the shoulder. The locust plague at Tientsin has been spreading rapidly, and is doing great damage to the crops. Some of the insects have appeared in the neighbourhood of Shanghai. Great complaints have been made of bad management on the part of the underling officials of the C. M. S. N. Company, and especially that stamps are removed from letters sent by the steamers to be forwarded by the mails from Shanghai. According to some of the papers, it appears that the effects of the recent famine are now felt in trade as well as in other directions—and the import trade of China, which for some years has been in an unsatisfactory condition, is apparently beginning to feel the pressure of the famine in the North. There were many reasons, in a country so extensive as China, why the full incidence of so great a calamity should not be suddenly felt; but the past year, even compared with its predecessors, has been one of great and increasing slackness. Chinkiang, from which, by its system of water carriage, the famine-stricken districts have been largely supplied, is, as usual, one of the best tests to judge of the severity of the infliction. In spite of the lower prices and cheaper freights, the import has from month to month continued to decline; and it may be said now that it has almost ceased to exist. The opening of Wuhu is considered to have had a little, but very little, to do with this result, the comprised imports being still far below those of last year; while it must not be forgotten that many of the imports now finding an entrance via Wuhu formerly found their way to the districts lying south of that port by Ningpo, in preference to Chinkiang. It has been estimated that the total of imports within the last three months has, with the exception of opium, scarcely exceeded one-fifth of what it reached in previous years; nor is this to be wondered at, when the conditions of the country are borne in mind. At Shanghai the designs submitted, in accordance with the invitation of subscribers to the Margary memorial, have been exhibited at the Club. A scheme for a Sanitarium has been again proposed. Hong Kong has again been disturbed by the energetic but scarcely discreet pro-Chinese action of the Governor, who has, it appears, determined, among other things, to introduce native turnkeys mainly in the gaol. A notification with reference to restrictions on Chinese immigrants in Queensland has appeared in the local Gazette.

From Japan advices by the present mail have been anticipated by those received via America on the 28th ult.

From the Straits it is reported that the action of the Government in regard to the successor of Sultan Allie was causing considerable dissatisfaction. A demand had been made by the Governor-General of India to send forward supplies of Siam or Saigon rice. A meeting of the Executive Council has been held, at which certain rules and regulations for immigrants were made law. A new Presbyterian Church is to be built on Fort Canning Hill. An increase of members of the Committee of the Raffles Institute has been made. The administration of the Law Courts had been improved.

TELEGRAPHY IN CHINA.

IT is satisfactory to be able to discuss the subject of telegraphy in China upon a much more definite and practical basis than until recently has been possible. For many years past the question of introducing the telegraph into China has been a favourite one for discussion among those who desire to see that country advance in the direction of material progress; but so long as it was possible only to consider it upon abstract grounds, there seemed but little chance of this desirable end ever being accomplished. Fertile in objections to everything that was new, the mandarins who were sounded by officials, by mercantile men and others interested in the subject, unhesitatingly declared that the telegraph must be an impossibility, that its introduction would interfere with the favourite superstition of the people, namely, that known under the name of Fungshui; that, even if it desired to do so, the Government never could support it against the strenuous opposition that would be evoked; in short, that the introduction of the telegraph would only be another name for introducing rebellion and anarchy into the country. These plausible arguments were more or less believed by the foreigners according to their bias in favour of or against the Chinese Government. It was impossible to apply any test to them; and thus, even those who were disposed to suspect they might be exaggerated, were obliged at the same time to admit that there might be something in them. As, however, has happened in many other similar instances in China, facts have demonstrated what the cleverest abstract arguments have failed to make clear. At the present moment there are two short lines in China, one at Foochow, and another at Tientsin, and by the last accounts the Taoutai of Taiwan intended to erect telegraphs on a more extensive scale in that island. In the proclamation which he has issued on the subject, he sets forth that the sanction of the Throne has been given to the scheme; that it will be advantageous both to officials and people; that it will be entirely under the management of the Chinese local officials; and that, consequently, any wanton obstruction or injury will be severely punished. From this it is evident that the Taoutai of Taiwan is thoroughly in earnest, and that an introduction of the telegraph into Formosa upon a scale of some magnitude will before long be accomplished. Upon the results of this experiment we shall look with great interest; and the news which was brought one or two mails back from Tientsin concerning the telegraph there encourages us to hope for the best results. There a line of telegraph, some six miles in length, was erected, between the Viceroy's Yamen and the Arsenal, and no opposition whatever was offered to the works; from which it is tolerably clear that, when the Government desire to have works of this kind executed, they can find the means of effectually keeping the people in order. In fact, experience, not only in this instance, but in many others, seems to show that the Fung shui difficulties are, if not entirely a sham, at least very grossly exaggerated, and that the Government of China is in reality very much stronger than for its own purposes it suits it always to admit. The telegraph is clearly a thing which will not be without its power to introduce and manage, and indeed nothing will increase the power of the Central Government more than the telegraph itself. It is to be hoped that the Government may become equally progressive in regard to railways, as the railway and telegraph combined would strengthen its position in a way which could not be attained by any other means.

PEKING NEGOTIATIONS.

WHATEVER may be the result of the negotiations which have been going on with the Chinese Government for some time past with a view to the improvement of commercial relations with that country, one thing is certain, namely, that it will not be defective in consequence of over-hastiness. It is now over two years since they were commenced, and the latest accounts from Peking are to the effect that negotiations with the "whole of the Treaty Powers represented at Peking" are to be reopened in the autumn with respect to the lekin and the like questions. This statement there is good reason to believe must be accepted with much reservation, as, whatever it may mean, it can scarcely be supposed that our Government will at the present stage of proceedings wait for a general discussion of matters, which after much difficulty had already been brought into something like compass by Sir THOMAS WADE'S Convention. Upon this document our Government are prevented from coming to a decision pending receipt of the views of the Indian Government; but it can scarcely be imagined when these are received that the whole subject will be reopened at Peking, and an endless amount of time wasted upon it. The idea that all such negotiations should be conducted with the whole body of foreign representatives at Peking is a favourite one with some diplomatists at Peking, and this has probably given more importance to the action of the German Minister in respect to the revision of the Treaty with that country than would otherwise be the case, and as the lekin dues question would naturally be discussed in connection with it, the point has been brought forward with some prominence. That some modification will ultimately be made in this part of the Convention is probable; but hardly, we imagine, in consequence of the reopening of negotiations at the capital on the representations of other foreign Powers as is set forth by the last China papers. Indeed, it can hardly be doubted that our Government would see the inadvisability of such a reopening of the subject as is suggested. No doubt it might be convenient in some respects for the other foreign representatives at Peking to make use of the opportunity now presented for revising their treaties; but still it is hardly likely that they will obtain any commercial concessions of importance which are not accorded to Great Britain; so that though a certain amount of credit may be gained by the representatives at the capital for conducting independent negotiations, they will hardly be of much value practically, seeing that by the most favoured nations clause all that is gained by Great Britain will also be gained by other Powers. If we have to wait until there is unanimity among all the foreign representatives at Peking as to the form in which our own treaty is to be revised, the negotiations, which have already been protracted enough, will be in a fair way to become indefinite.

WITH reference to the question of Chinese immigration into the Australian Colonies, which was noticed at some length in the last number of this Paper, we observe that some members of the Assembly there have fallen into the error of supposing that there is something in our Treaty with China which would prevent restrictions being placed upon Chinese immigration. Such, however, is not the fact. Probably the error results from mixing up the Burlingame treaty between China and the United States, which expressly provides for free immigration of Chinese into that country with our treaties, which are silent on the subject.

WE publish, in the present number, a letter from a well informed correspondent, which confirms the views which we expressed a short time back, with reference to the successor to Sultan ALLIE. We notice that the last papers received from the Straits contain some lengthened correspondence in connection with this subject. Another correspondent calls attention to the state of chaos and muddle into which all Government departments in the Straits have drifted, and points out that it will probably lead to another miserable war with the natives.

SOME remarks which are made by The Times Shanghai correspondent strongly confirm the view we took at the time when the Shanghai Steam Navigation Company sold their vessels to the Chinese Company. It seems that Government subsidies have not been sufficient to enable the Company to hold its own against competition, and that LI-HUNG-CHANG is becoming tired of affording support to a losing enterprise. It is somewhat curious that Chinese shippers appear to prefer the English vessels.

WE understand that up to the present nothing definite has been done with reference to bringing the views of the Chambers of Commerce upon the Chefoo Convention before the Government; but it will be recollected by our readers that last summer Lord DERBY stated to a deputation that the Convention should not be ratified until an opportunity had been afforded for an expression of opinion on the part of the various mercantile interests engaged in the trade.

MR. BURNETT, the accountant of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank in London since its establishment, proceeds to Hong Kong by the October mail to fill the post of submanager at the Head office. Mr. HARPER, lately manager of the Singapore branch of the Chartered Bank of India, left by the Southampton mail steamer Thursday to assume the managership of the branch at Hong Kong.

THE appointment of Mr. WILLIAM HENRY RAVENSCROFT to be Auditor and Accountant-General and Controller of the Revenue for Ceylon is gazetted.

THE honour of Knighthood has been conferred upon Mr. JOHN BUDD PHEAR, Chief Justice of Ceylon.

Correspondence.

THE SUCCESSOR TO SULTAN ALLIE.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—Advices from Singapore inform us that "the question of the succession to Sultan Allie's territory on the Moa River remains unsettled, and in one of your late issues you seem to be in doubt as to who should succeed, and what there is to succeed to. The treaty of 1855, by which the present Maharajah's father was put in possession of Johore, reserved for the Sultan the territory of Moa, which lays between the river Kessung, the Eastern boundary of our province of Malacca and the river Moa. It is perfectly distinct from Johore, and is as much the property of the Sultan's successor as any nobleman's estate in England. Who the successor to the Sultan is admits of no discussion according to the Malay law of succession, and the eldest son has undoubted right on his side. It is true that the relatives of a younger son, of inferior birth by his mother, attained the signature of the expiring Sultan to a will in favour of this lad; and, I regret to say, that I am informed that British officers allowed themselves to be made parties to this intrigue, which has for its object to place the Maharajah of Johore in authority as Regent during the minority. It is to be hoped that the Colonial Office will not lend itself to promote the success of so dishonest a transaction.

In reply to a letter from Tunku Allum, the eldest son and successor, the administrator informs him, in language more terse than polite, that the Government have decided that the Sultanate has ceased to exist, and that no further pensions will be paid to the Royal family. This may or may not be politic; but it is certainly not honest to deprive a man of his position and means of subsistence, and at the same time of the territory from which he might gain the chance of a livelihood. Johore, Perak, and now Moar are but poor specimens of that honest policy of which we, as a nation, so proudly boast, and cannot fail to give the native mind a very poor idea of "English fair play."—I am, &c.,

A COLONIAL KALEIDOSCOPE.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—For fifty years past the mal-administration of Crown Colonies has been the burden of every writer who has interested himself in those unhappy communities. Sometimes one is tempted to think that whenever a new colony has been added to the Empire some subordinate at the Colonial Office has been suffered to experiment in constitution-making, subject to no other order than to try a change from the last. Hence we have every variety of Government in our dependencies—absolutism, semi-absolutism, demi-semi-absolutism, burlesque constitutionalism, and real constitutionalism. But perhaps the worst feature in our colonial system is the principle that the appointment of Governors must be made, not on the ground of fitness, but in accordance with the position of aspirants on the Downing-street list. No thought is given to the wishes of colonists, or to the qualifications of the Governor. Western Australia must have a figure-head, and a man already demonstrated to be a failure—fitted, perhaps to be the head of a jail—is sent simply to give him an opportunity of serving his time by a year's service and earning his pension. Hong Kong is deprived of an able Governor, and is burdened with one whose claim to distinction is that he made himself an unbearable nuisance to his party, and has already appeared in a very questionable light in his former scene of misgovernment. The Straits, where the community were in a half state of rebellion during the Ord régime, were cheered by the appointment of Sir A. Clarke, and a golden age was supposed to have dawned. There is just time given this Governor to lay down an intelligible policy when a better thing for him offers, and away he goes, to be replaced by a man of totally different mind, who in his turn—and a very short one it is—has the Downing-street harlequin behind him, and is turned from a Colonial Governor into an engineer officer.

This chopping and changing among the Governors extends to the Colonial service generally, wherever the evil spirit from the Colonial Office can have its way. One turn of the Kaleidoscope and a Governor and a Chief Justice vanish from view; another, and the two lieutenant-governors flit from one point to another. So it goes on, a post-master becomes treasurer; both colonial engineers disappear, next go two doctors; a new auditor comes on the scene, and the chief clerk is lost to sight. Somebody fills somebody else's place, "temporarily," as it said with a touch of grim humour; everyone is "acting" for everyone but himself, until really nobody seems to know for whom he is acting, and the great ambition seems to be to get away and find somebody to act for you. It may be very well for the jocose correspondent of the Straits Times to pooh-pooh the Association, but I am satisfied that the time will come when the colony will be glad to have representatives at home who will bring their grievances before the Secretary of State in a way which will enforce attention. The ablest non-official member, Mr. Adamson, has resigned, and there is a growing indisposition among gentlemen in the colony to assume the thankless office of membership in a Council that can do little beyond registering the will of the "acting" Governor.

In the Straits, there are far more than local interests at stake, and the day may come when the public of this country will have to pay for a war in the peninsula: many causes will no doubt be found for such a war, but I venture to say that the cause underlying all others will be the utter disorganisation into which the government of the Settlement has been allowed to lapse, and that the blame, when it is adjudged, should lie, not with any Governor "acting" for a few months, but with the Secretary of State, who allows bad traditions of office to override common sense and ordinary prudence.—I remain, Sir, yours, &c.,

WARNING IN TIME.

THE CUSTOMS REPORTS ON THE CHINA TRADE FOR THE YEAR 1875.

(Concluded.)

Mr. Drew, Commissioner at Foochow, reports that the statistics show the trade of Foochow to have been favourable as compared with previous years. The total value of the import and export trade in 1875 was Hk. 27,843,951, against Hk. 26,766,525 in 1874; the quantity of tea exported for the season of 1875 surpasses the preceding one by 20,000 piculs. The manufacture of brick tea has been much extended; the exportation of cottons, woollens, and metals shows a slow but continuing increase, while that of opium has been much larger than usual; and the "sundries" trade, both import and export, in which Chinese are principally interested, has improved. The tonnage employed is not below that of recent years, and the revenue is the largest since the opening of the port. As compared with 1872 the value of foreign imports for 1875 shows a gain of over half a million dollars; this is ascribable to an increase, year by year, in cottons, woollens, &c., in all imports, indeed, excepting opium. The total for 1873 was exceptionally low, owing to small importations both of lead and opium. In 1874 the total rose again to about what it had been in 1872, owing to continual gains in piece goods and lead, and in spite of a falling off in opium. In 1875, although these gains in piece goods and lead continued, yet they were but slight; and it is due to an unexpected and very considerable increase in the quantity of opium imported that we are able to record a gain of over half a million on the preceding year. The revenue has been steadily though very slowly increasing (excepting the year 1873) under almost every heading, and it has nearly reached a total of two millions taels. This is the largest collection since the opening of the office; that of the first year, 1862, was Hk. Tls. 1,768,761. The high amount reached in 1875 can, however, hardly be maintained, as it is due to an exceptionally large importation of opium, and to the fact that the export of tea was completed remarkably early, thus bringing the entire season's production within the year, whereas usually from 40,000 to 50,000 piculs of it fall within the first two months of the New Year. Mr. Drew gives some interesting particulars concerning the collection of Lekin duties on Opium. He says that the continuous falling off in the annual importation of opium, as passed through the office, has been frequently remarked and explained in the published reports of trade. The lekin and customs duty at this port amount to over Hk. Tls. 120 a chest, or three taels for a single ball. This is the equivalent of the ordinary monthly wages of a Chinese labourer; so that such a man may make his living if he can succeed in smuggling a single ball of opium a month. No wonder, then, that the entire population of certain large villages near the mouth of the Min engage in smuggling as their normal occupation. Armed bands escort contraband opium into the interior in defiance of the lekin officers, and from time to time affrays take place, resulting even in loss of life. The Foreign Customs loses duty on not less, probably, than three hundred chests a year, despite our utmost vigilance; and the lekin Taoutai secures his tax (not leviable till after the opium has passed the customs and been landed) on even 600 chests less than pass through this office. How much opium pays the further inland tax on its way into the interior I cannot tell—no doubt less than pays lekin at Foochow. Meanwhile, the importation of opium at Swatow and Ningpo, from which, owing to this heavy taxation, our inland districts are supplied, is very large, and has been increasing. With reference to the limited business done in cottons and woollens, Mr. Drew says it is ascribed to two causes, the relative force of which he has some difficulty in determining. Some say that the habits of the agricultural population of the interior demand but small supplies of foreign cloth, and that the mountainous nature of the country impedes a wide distribution; others declare that the extra cost of conveying piece goods into our up-country districts from Swatow and Ningpo, instead of from Foochow, is more than offset by the high lekin taxes levied on goods forwarded from Foochow direct.

In his report on the trade of Tamsui, Formosa, Mr. Commissioner Hobson says he has to record a state of activity in trade generally which must have proved beyond the expectations of the most thoroughly initiated. Foreign manufactures were as a matter of course brought forward in larges quantities as a set-off against tea, but before supplying statistical data as to the import totals, it is necessary that some explanation be offered as to the falling off in the supply of opium. This is solely attributable to the fact that, owing to excessive deliveries, prices ruled cheaper in the south of the island, and, in consequence, the central marts, notably Luhkiang, which in early days was the resort of the opium schooners, drew the greater part of their supplies from Taiwan-fu. In the other articles of foreign import trade a marked increase is shown. Of cottons 90,000 pcs. were imported, or an increase of 32 per cent. as compared with 1874, and of woollens 6,768 pcs., or an increase of 30 per cent., and other goods in the like proportion. Mr. Hobson announces that owing to the enlightened policy of H.E. Shen Paochen, who during the course of the Japanese expedition to Formosa in 1874 was appointed Imperial Commissioner to the island, it has been decided, with the concurrence of the Peking authorities, to introduce mining machinery into the Kelung coal-field. Mr. Tyzack, the mining engineer engaged in 1874 on behalf of the Government, having completed his survey of coal deposits in the immediate neighbourhood of Kelung, is now in England, with the object of engaging a party of mining experts and selecting machinery. It may reasonably be expected, therefore, that before another year has passed, shaft-sinking operations will have been commenced.

Mr. H. O. Brown, Commissioner at Takow, Formosa, states that the prognostications as to an unremunerative trade for 1875 to some extent have proved erroneous. It is true the Takow export trade, as to quantities exported, has not come up to previous years; but the unexpectedly high prices sugar sold at in Japan and Australia have partly made up for this. The import trade during 1875 has been of such magnitude as has not been exceeded by any previous year. The reasons for this may be looked for in the fact that unforeseen circumstances prevented the northern corps d'armée from evacuating the island till August, 1875; that the great influx of troops had given such impulse to internal trade of all kinds as to enrich all classes of the population, who in their turn could indulge in the purchase of comforts as offered to them by foreign imports—such as piece goods and opium. Taken all in all, however, the 1875 trade has not enriched this part of Formosa; on the contrary, it has drawn money out of the country. Since 1870 the value of the export trade has at all times exceeded the value of the import trade; this has not been the case for the year 1875; moreover, the exports of treasure exceed bullion imported by Hong Kong Tls. 242,892. Against an increase in the value of imports (exclusive of re-exports and treasure) of Hong Kong Tls. 96,817, a decrease in the value of the export trade of Hong Kong Tls. 120,576 is to be noted, making the decrease for the year 1875 in the value of the whole trade, as compared with 1874, to amount to Hong Kong Tls. 23,759. The falling off, of Hong Kong Tls. 15,089.3.9.2, in the collection of revenue during the year 1875, as compared with 1874, is more marked than the decrease in the value of trade. As regards the latter, enhanced prices have in part made up for the decrease in weight. Whereas the value of trade gives the true standard to judge by, the collection of revenue gives only, for Takow, a very rough approximation; for instance,—in 1875 about 0·41 of the foreign imports arrived here from other Treaty ports, and of these nearly all under exemption certificates.

Mr. Kleinwachter, Commissioner at Amoy, reports that the statistics show that the trade as carried on in foreign vessels has steadily increased, notwithstanding the dulness of the China trade generally complained of more and more from year to year by the mercantile communities. Thus our total values, which during last year reached, gross, Hk. Tls. 11,293,881, and net, Hk. Tls. 9,032,686, when compared with previous years are shown to have increased respectively by Hk. Tls. 2,545,991 and Hk. Tls. 1,350,669 since 1871. The importation of opium has steadily increased.

Mr. McKean states that the general trade of Swatow during the past ten years, so far as it can be judged by the statistics of foreign shipping, has been markedly progressive. It is not reasonable to look for an absolute increase every year, and we find that trade, after advancing rapidly one year, will remain nearly stationary for a few years before advancing again. But beyond the general assumption that the people are gradually habituating themselves to the greater use of things imported and the greater preparation of things to be exported, he knows no explanation which can account for the changes. The value of the trade in 1875 was Tls. 16,612,747, against Tls. 13,846,855 the previous year. Mr. McKean notices the singular export of human hair, being the "combings collected in the barbers' shops," and which goes exclusively to Europe. The amount sent in 1875 was 1,000 piculs or about 60 tons, valued at Tls. 16,949, or say about £5,000. The Deputy Commissioner takes it for granted that the uses to which this hair is put is to supply materials for chignons, and considers it strange enough that a queer uncertain fashion like this in Europe should have permanence and force sufficient to create a demand and a supply in the interior of China; but it is worth while to reflect on the marvellous industry and thrift of a people which in a brief time turns to profit the seemingly valueless sweepings of barbers' shops. The present batch of reports concludes with that of Mr. James H. Hart, Commissioner at Canton. The net value of foreign goods imported during the year 1875 amounted to Hk. Tls. 4,209,857, against Hk. Tls. 2,596,469 in 1874, and Hk. Tls. 5,680,306 in 1873. The enormous decrease in this branch of the trade in 1874, as compared with previous years, was due, as pointed out by Mr. Kleinwachter in his report for that year, not to a decline in the amount of business done, but to a diversion of the carrying trade from foreign to native vessels. This change was brought about in the latter part of 1873, on account of the native custom house offering certain facilities by which cotton could be imported cheaper in native boats than by foreign vessels, that is to say, the duty charged on cotton arriving in native boats was less than tariff rates. Regarding the export of silk which figured at 18,417 pcs., against 12,923 in 1874, Mr. Hart says that this increase may be said to be owing to a greater demand in Europe. Opinions varied slightly as to whether or not the crop was larger than usual, but there seemed to be no doubt that the native dealers, to meet the demand, increased the production of silk specially suitable for foreign consumption.

THE CUSTOMS RETURNS OF THE CHINA TRADE FOR THE YEAR 1876.

An Abstract of the Returns of Trade for the past year has been issued by the Inspector-General of Maritime Customs, and upon the whole shows satisfactory progress, the gross results of the trade for 1876 being two-thirds greater than that of 1864. The figures are as follows:—

	Net profit.	Exports.	Total.
1864 ...	Tls. 46,210,431 ...	48,654,512 ...	94,864,943
1876 ...	Tls. 70,269,574 ...	80,850,512 ...	151,120,086

This considerable increase in trade and revenue is mainly accounted for by the great rise in the value of the export of raw silk, which was over thirty million taels last year compared with nineteen millions in the year before. Allowing, however, for this exceptional increase in silk, the value of trade for 1876 is still greater than that of any preceding year, with the exception of 1872. The export of tea last year was quite up to the general average, though slightly below that of the previous year and that of 1872. The import of opium exhibits little evidence of the decrease which some persons had predicted, no less than 68,042 piculs having been imported last year, against 66,461 piculs in the previous year. With the exception of 1875, which showed a trifling decline on the year before, there has been a steady though not large increase in the consumption of foreign drug. The increase in trade and revenue has been contributed by eight out of the fourteen ports; the others show a decrease. Where the falling-off is most conspicuous, however, it arises from exceptional causes, namely from short crops in Chihli and Shantung. A still larger decline must be looked for in the statistics for Tientsin and Chefoo for the current year. Shanghai, Hankow, Foochow, Swatow, and Canton contributed the chief portion of the increase. The share taken by England and her Colonies in this trades was more than three-fourths of the whole—viz., Tls. 118,867,000—England herself figuring for Tls. 56,141,000, Hong Kong for Tls. 41,848,000, India for Tls. 16,801,000, the Straits for Tls. 1,463,000, Australia for Tls. 2,378,000, and New Zealand, South Africa, and British America for Tls. 233,600, collectively. The apparently large share of Hong Kong must also be credited chiefly to England and India, as the island itself is unproductive, and goods are landed there as at a free port, for storage and subsequent distribution. The trade employed 2,070 ships, representing 1,132,550 tons, or, rather, that is the number of entries which the returns exhibit, and in which, of course, several vessels appear several times; and of these again 1,491 vessels, representing 800,000 tons, were British. Germany, with 217 vessels, representing 82,570 tons, ranks next, and America, France, and Japan next in the order named; Austria coming last with one ship, measuring 290 tons. Shanghai as the centre of the shipping trade, and the distributing centre for the northern as Hong Kong is for the southern ports, figures, of course, for by far the greater portion of the direct trade; the total of imports and exports last year having been no less than Tls. 90,000,000. The gross trade of the port was of course larger, as it is swollen by the coast trade, of which the greater portion is carried in foreign steamers; and this brings the gross total of the trade of Shanghai up to Tls. 124,174,755.

HAMBURG, SEPT. 4.

The anniversary day of the great battle of Sedan, the 2nd September, has once more passed over, and it deserves to be acknowledged that the festivities which generally take place on this day this time bore a far less demonstrative and offensive character than used in former years to be the case; besides the hoisting of flags on vessels and public buildings very little was visible, and it is apparent that a good, or at least a better, understanding of the real character of this solemn day is more and more taking place amongst the German population.

The Emperor William left Berlin on Saturday evening in good health for Cologne and Dusseldorf, to be a witness there of the autumn manœuvres of the 7th (the Rhenish) Army Corps; on this occasion his Majesty will be a guest of the painter-society "Malkasten" in the latter town, which has made great preparations for a festival in its club-house. Afterwards Emperor William is going to Karlsruhe, in the neighbourhood of which the 14th Army Corps will hold its so-named Kaiser Manœuvre.

On Friday last the Emperor held a review and parade of the Guards, the weather being brilliantly—on which Lord Airey, the representative of the British Government at the German manœuvres, attended.

Ten young Siamese, including one Prince, arrived on the 21st of last month at Hirschberg in Silesia, in order to be educated and instructed at a celebrated school there. It is a matter of fact that a considerable number of young fellows and grown up people have been sent during the last ten years from the Far East to our country, either to attain intellectual improvements or to procure military knowledge. As you will remember, a number of Japanese have been studying in Germany for a long while, one of them being married afterwards to a German lady. These Japanese have been followed by Chinese officers, partly attached to infantry and cavalry regiments, or to the navy, and now we are seeing even Siamese in our country.

The idea of erecting so-called North Polar stations for facilitating the exploration of the Arctic regions appears now to become partly realised. Captain Weyprecht, the leader of the Austrian Polar Expedition of 1874, and Count Wilozek, who to the greater part furnished the said expedition, have resolved to undertake a new Arctic exploring voyage, especially for the purpose of erecting a meteorological observation station on the northern side of the island of Novaja-Semlja. Further stations are intended on Spitzbergen (80 degs. N.L.), on the coast of Siberia, at the mouth of the Lena river, in the vicinity of Barrow Sound, and on Greenland. At the same time a corresponding place for all stations is to be established in the northern part of Norway. The undertakers hope by corresponding observations at the different places to obtain very important new scientific results, especially about magnetism, aurora-borealis, and other phenomena in the Arctic regions.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Some articles have been in rather better demand during the past week, and considerable transactions are reported. Money has remained abundant.

COFFEE.—Sales of good extent have been made, the home trade being very eager to buy, and holders have therefore become more reluctant sellers, so that firm rates have had to be paid. The market closes with a good demand and an upward tendency. Quotations for Java quality m.1.05 to 1.50 per lb.

SUGAR.—The falling tendency of prices has continued on all foreign markets during this month, and buyers here are therefore holding aloof; only the following parcels have changed hands, viz., 800 mats Zanzibar, and 300 baskets brown Batavia, in addition to some parcels of American provenience. Prices are now m.2 to 3 per 100 lbs. lower. Quotations are:—Manila brown, clayed, m.24 to 26; do. unclayed, m.20 to 21; Mauritius, brown, m.20 to 25; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.27 to 29; do. brown, m.20 to 24½; Siam, Benares and China white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.22 to 30; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 28, per 100 lbs.

RICE.—For cleaned a good export demand exists, and values are therefore m.0.25 to 0.50 higher. No transactions in raw are reported.

TEA remains quiet. The following first-hand parcels have changed owners: 200/8 boxes Pecco Congo, and 406/8 boxes Souchong, of the new season.

COTTON shows a rather firmer tendency, but transactions are only reported in American lots.

SPICES.—Nutmegs are quiet at m.5.50 to 6; Mace, m.4.50 to 4.60 per kilo; of Cloves Zanzibar provenience are in more demand, quotation m.135 to 136; Amboina, m.1.75 to 1.76; Pepper is firm; Singapore, m.37 to 37½, White, m.66 to 80; Batavia and Penang, m.34½ to 35.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

In spite of the war in the East the speculative transactions "à la hausse" have shown a further development during the past week, and if quotations are not actually higher they are firmer than before. The condition of our markets is not at all a healthy one; not one can give a guess as to when the war will end, and under these circumstances the feverish activity of the past week cannot be satisfactory. The latest quotations are:—

SHIPPING.

Movements on the riverside during the last week have been considerably larger than in the week previous, and a good many arrivals from transatlantic ports have taken place, but the departures also being rather numerous, our harbour still displays an empty appearance. The arrivals from the Far East are the Albatross, Koppelmann, from Hong Kong; Priscilla, Bischoff, from Batavia; Caprera, Hichborn, from Cochin; San Francisco, Blanck, from the South Sea Islands; and Elizabeth Chields, Lundburgh, from Singapore; the departures have been the Iphigenia, Green, for Yokohama, and India, Dirksen, for Hong Kong. At Bremen only two arrivals from the East have taken place, namely, the Loochoo, Sember, and Zephyrus, Thomas, both from Bombay. In vessels on the berth no alteration is to be reported. The Saxonia, s.s., which was aground at Heligoland, has been put up at public auction a second time without obtaining even a single offer.

HOLLAND.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

AMSTERDAM, SEPT. 5.

In a few days the Parliamentary Session will be closed by the Prime Minister, Mr. Heemskerk, and forty-eight hours later the new session will be opened with a Royal speech. Several rumours are in circulation about the struggle, which at once will take place in Parliament, but I don't think it necessary to repeat them. It becomes more and more apparent that Mr. Van der Heim, the Minister of the Financial Department, will, in his Budget speech, put forward a plan for a loan. The Bourse has taken this on dit most coolly, at least the quotations have undergone no important changes in consequence.

Contrary to the generally received opinion the Minister of the Home Department has published his reply to the session report upon the Lower Class Instruction Bill. The Ministers declare that they regard the tenor of this report as very unsatisfactory. There is no idea of co-operation; both parties remain as they were—adversaries. The Minister expresses a hope, however, that this his last endeavour will make friends of his political enemies. In the meanwhile he maintains his principles, and will only yield on secondary points. The Minister is of opinion that no revision of our fundamental law is necessary; and that the introduction of this compulsory instruction is not advisable.

The commission of inquiry to investigate the question of the pulmonary disease amongst cattle has held a preliminary meeting. The discussions are kept secret, notwithstanding that this question touches the general welfare to an important extent.

Messrs. Landry and Mouton at the Hague have asked for a concession to construct a harbour at the watering-place of Scheveningen. At the same time they require a subsidy from the State of one million of guilders.

Peace and order are restored at Arnhelm. You will remember that a mob, furious at the annual fair being abolished, broke some windows and threatened further destruction. Some of the ringleaders were arrested, and they will be punished as severely as the law permits. There are fears that next week there may be some disturbance here, but up to this moment there seems to be no ground whatsoever for apprehension.

In a few days fifteen new professors will be appointed, five for each University. Every faculty will have one professor above the existing numbers.

The King has approved the proposal of Mr. J. P. van Bossen at the Hague to establish at Amsterdam a trading society "De kina Cultuurmaatschappy," with a capital of f.500,000, divided into 250 shares. As managers are appointed Messrs. G. C. Zimmer, Max Gallenkamp, Dr. A. I. G. Kerner. The object is the undertaking of agricultural operations in Java.

The novel by the author, whose nom de plume is "Melati," de Jonkerouwe Van Groenerode, has been translated into the Danish language. It is published under the title of "Aroingen til Slottet Groenerode," by Mr. C. A. Reintzel, of Copenhagen.

It has pleased the King, after having visited the International Exhibition, to confer the knighthood of the Order of the "Crown of Oaks" upon Messrs. J. R. de Kruyff, W. A. Hopman, and J. G. Mynssen.

Miss Mina Kruseman started some days ago for Naples, where she will embark on board the steamer Prinses Amalia for Java.

Mr. Kruger and his secretary, Mr. Jorissen—the Protest Commission from the Transvaal Republic—have arrived at the Hague, from England. After having been here a fortnight they will start for Berlin, St. Petersburg, and Paris. It is not quite certain whether they will visit America.

The Bourse has been much more animated during the last few days. The current quotations of the principal Stocks are as follow:—

Dutch Two-and-a-Half per Cents., 64⅜; do. Three per Cents., 77⅜; do. Four per Cents., 101 5-16; Dutch Trading Company, 103 1-16; Netherlands-India Trading Bank, 129; do. PRODUCE MARKETS.

Trade in general continues very dull, and transactions have been almost nil, the public sales excepted, though the Money Market has been plentifully provided.

COFFEE.—The market has been quiet, but prices have been kept up. Some 6,000 bales Java have changed hands, particulars about which did not transpire.

TEA.—The public sale of China, which was held at Rotterdam, had a satisfactory result. Some lots were bought in, but they all found buyers after the auction.

SUGAR.—Prices have declined enormously and are from f.4½ to f.8½ under July value. The trade is, however, somewhat more animated, and about 4,000 mats have changed hands. It seems that a new competitor has appeared in the market, viz., the glucose, which is manufactured in America on a very large scale. Some lots have found buyers here; the price being very low.

TOBACCO.—Some small parcels have been sold at satisfactory prices The stock in first hands includes 49,205 bs. Java, 4,220 bs. Sumatra, 3,633 bs. Manila, and 3,000 bs. East India.

COTTON is dull. There is no speculative demand whatsoever an quotations are quite nominal.

SPICES.—Nutmegs and Mace have met with a steady demand. Cloves are dull. Pepper has met with a good inquiry, and if prices were slightly lower buyers would act more freely. The quotations are —Nutmegs No. 1, 170 to 225c.; No. 2, 135 to 170c.; Mace D 120c., E 130c.

RICE.—In consequence of the better markets abroad prices here have improved. At Amsterdam 4,697 bs. Java, ex Oceaan, sold at f.8¾, and at Rotterdam 6,876 bs. ex Torrington, at f.7¾. The imports have been very considerable. A steady demand has prevailed for cleaned sorts, especially for Java and Japan. The unsold stock of Java includes 4,843 bs.

JAVA INDIGO is quieter. About 180 chests have changed hands at unaltered prices.

HIDES.—Some important transactions have taken place, but no particulars transpired.

HEMP is very quiet.

ARRACK.—160 casks Batavia, ex Urania, were sold at prices that did not transpire.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—Sept. 1, at Nieuwediep, from Rangoon, Wilhelmina; at Flushing, from Bassein, Dolbardern Castle; 2, at Nieuwediep, from Bombay, Berganv; at Brouwershaven, from Rangoon, Principa de Lu-Cidio; 4, at Flushing, from Rangoon, Kale.

DEPARTURES.—Sept. 1, from Nieuwediep, for Batavia, Prinses Amalia (str.); 3, from Ymuiden, for Samarang, Hœk van Holland; from Brouwershaven, for Sourabaya, Marie; for Batavia, Noach III.; 4, from Ymuiden, for Sourabaya, Noordzeekanaal.

Monetary and Commercial.

Several Tea importers having adopted the system of unreserved sales which has been so much resorted to during the last two or three years, business by private contract during the past week has been much curtailed. Judging from recent sales, however, the losses on common to medium kinds continue serious. Many teas lately imported from the black leaf districts have been forced off at 2d. to 3d. per lb. loss. If, however, the present condition of the market has the effect of curtailing the picking of the third crop leaf, and of restricting buying in China, a more satisfactory condition of the market may be looked for. Complaints are however made, apparently not without foundation, that the rash buying in China is mainly caused by the telegraphic orders from this side. However this may be, there is no doubt that the selling of teas on this side is frequently managed with far less judgment than the buying in China. The difference there is seldom more than from ½d. to 1d. per lb., whereas during this season, especially pending the scare at the opening, there were frequent cases of 2d. to 4d. difference, and as much as 6d. per lb. profit was in a short time realised upon a chop of tea sold by the importer, a proof that losses do not always result from rash buying in China. A radical change must take place in order to put an end to the present disastrous system of business, and it will be necessary to give up on the one hand the eagerness to secure tea at any price at the ports, and on the other the scarcely less pernicious eagerness to part with it without reserve on this side.

During the week ended the 1st inst. the total quantity of tea delivered from the bonded warehouses in London was 3,912,705 lb., or an advance of 3 per cent. on the deliveries of the preceding week. For home consumption 2,170,602 lb. was taken, while 846,880 lb. was for export, 733,944 lb. was removed coastwise, 157,419 lb. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 3,860 lb. was for ships' stores. There was a falling-off of about 9⅜ per cent. in the amount of duty paid compared with the previous week, the total being £54,265.

At last a revival has taken place in the Silk market. During the last few days a better feeling has prevailed, consequent upon the receipt of some orders from Lyons. Prices have risen, and are now quoted at about the rates ruling in August last. The cause of this revival is mainly the discovery that the Continental Stocks of China Silk have become nearly exhausted; and the continuance of the present demand will thus probably be dependent upon the extent to which the markets there are affected by this circumstance. Latest advices from Shanghai report a corresponding improvement in rates there.

In the Produce Markets no change of importance has occurred during the week, business continuing quiet. Ordinary qualities of Coffee are lower in value, but the better kinds maintain previous quotations. Cotton continues very dull. Sugar is slightly firmer, with more business doing; Hainan China has been sold at 17s. 6d. to 18s. 6d., Swatow at 16s., Taal Manila afloat at 22s. per cwt. Rice has continued to advance under the influence of speculative operations, and a cargo of Bassein has realised £12 per ton; telegrams advise the stoppage of exports from Siam. Black Pepper has been quiet but steady; White slightly firmer. Other articles are without alteration.

The Eastern Telegraph Company has convened an extraordinary meeting for the 11th inst., for the purpose of considering, and, if deemed expedient, authorising or sanctioning a joint-purse working and traffic agreement between that company and the Indo-European Telegraph Company. The report issued with the notice of the meeting states that the directors have long been of opinion that a friendly alliance with the Indo-European Telegraph Company would be for the interest of both undertakings. It was therefore with satisfaction that they were now able to state that, after much negotiation and discussion, terms had been agreed to which the Board considered fair to both parties to the agreement. They recommend the adoption of the agreement, which has been made subject to the shareholders' approval. The report of the Indo-European Telegraph Company (Limited) states that the agreement had been submitted to and approved by the concessionary governments, who had sanctioned its completion. The directors believed that the result of the agreement would be to give the proprietors a minimum dividend of 5 per cent. per annum upon the present traffic.

The Stock Exchange Committee have allowed the Five per Cent. Debentures (£200,000) of the Eastern Telegraph Company (Limited) to be quoted in the Official List.

The Eastern Telegraph Company's receipts for the month of August amounted to £40,428, as compared with £29,822 in the corresponding period, an increase of £10,606. The traffic receipts of the Eastern Extension, Australasian, and China Telegraph Company for August were £25,371, an advance of £7,256 on the earnings of the same month in 1876. The Great Northern Telegraph Company's traffic receipts in August were £17,998. The total receipts from January 1 to August 31 were :—1877, £133,005; 1876, £138,549; 1875, £109,311.

The P. and O. Company's steamer Kashgar, which was despatched from Southampton Thursday with the heavy portion of next outward mail, has on board £700,900 in specie for the East; for Bombay, silver, £447,000; Calcutta, silver, £57,500; Galle, silver, £50,000; Penang, silver, £41,000; Hong Kong, silver, £36,935; Singapore, silver, £15,000; Shanghai, silver, £3,465; and Alexandria, gold, £50,000.

There has been continued activity in the Silver Market, but without change in price, which is still 54¼d. per oz. standard. Mexican Dollars are quoted at 53⅛d. per oz., showing a fall of ⅛d.

TEA.

Mr. D. D. Lewin's Market Résumé says :—Our market has been fairly active during the past month, and both privately and at public sale the amount of business passing has been considerable. Latterly the dealers have shown less disposition to operate, and previous quotations have not been maintainable, particularly for common to good kinds. Congou, ranging from 9d. to 1s. 3d.; but with regard to fine there is comparatively little change to note, for being in relatively short supply, importers hold firmly for price. The arrivals have been heavy The clearances show good and improving figures, both for home consumption and export. Quotations.—Congou : Siftings 7½d. to 8¼d. Old : Black and Red Leaf, neglected. New Black : Common to Fair, 7¾d. to 11d.; Good Common to Medium, 1s. to 1s. 3d.; Good Medium to Fine 1s. 4d. to 1s. 9d.; Finest, 1s. 10d. to 2s. 4d.; Red, common to fair, 8d. to 11d.; good common to medium, 1s. to 1s. 3d.; good medium to fine, Ching Wo's and Kaisows, 1s. 4d to 1s. 10d., up to 2s. 2d. for finest Kaisows. Pak-lings are without much change. New makes have been more inquired for, and good to fine have fetched full rates. Souchongs are dull of sale; common to fair, 10½d. to 1s.; fine 1s. 7d. to 1s. 10d.; finest, 2s. to 2s. 4d. Oolong : Little doing; Common kinds neglected; fine Formosa inquired for. Scented Capers : Canton kinds are rather cheaper; common to fair, 10d. to 1s. 1d.; medium to fine 1s. 3d. to 1s. 7d. Scented Orange Pekoe : Without alteration. Canton kinds, common to fair, 11d. to 1s. 2d.; fair medium to fine, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 6d.; Foochow, fine to finest 1s. 8d. to 2s. 2d. Greens : Old Season's continue heavy of sale, and New do not go off readlly. Gunpowder, 6d. to 2s. 8d.; Imperial, 5d. to 1s. 3d.; Hyson, 5½d. to 2s. 2d., and Young Hyson, 5½d. to 1s. 9d.

Messrs. Jas. Goddard, jun., and Co.'s Circular says :—Throughout the early part of August a good business was doing in nearly all kinds, but latterly the market has been very dull, and many complaints are made about the badness of trade, aggravated by the seriously bad weather the country has experienced. In comparing prices for the month they are generally somewhat easier, especially in the qualities just above common. Stocks and deliveries as against last year would not seem to warrant this, except that we have imported in the last two months sixty million pounds, and have delivered just under thirty-three millions; still stocks of Congou are much reduced, and deliveries have increased both for home use and export. Auctions of China Teas have been to a moderate extent, but of Indian produce they have been large. Stocks of these latter are very heavy, and act as an incubus over the market; deliveries are slightly less than last year. Green Teas have been very quiet.

At the public sales, to which reference is made in our Commercial Article, 7,335 packages Chinas offered without reserve sold as follows :—830 chests Congou at 8¼d. to 8¾d. per lb., 3,113 half-chests ditto at 7¼d. to 1s. 2d., 2,013 boxes ditto at 8½d. to 1s. 2¾d., 417 half-chests Souchong at 1s. 1¼d. to 1s. 1½d., 181 boxes ditto at 10d. to 10¼d., 144 ditto Young Hyson at 7½d., 437 ditto Gunpowder at 8¼d. to 1s. 11d. There was but little desire evinced to buy, and the sale dragged heavily, in most cases very low quotations being obtained, new season's Moning, in chests, at 8d. to 8¼d., are especially cheap, as are all grades of red leaf, including old season's. The prostrate feeling also extended to Pingsuey in boxes, which were divided out, both Gunpowder and Young Hyson, at very moderate rates.

SILK.

Messrs. John Kershaw, Kilburn and Co.'s Circular says :—The first arrivals of the new season's China have been warehoused, but no transactions have yet been made in them. Duringthe last few days a better feeling has arisen in the market, and some orders from Lyons, which have been placed here, have caused considerable activity, prices in consequence have hardened and have nearly recovered the decline of August. Continental stocks of China Silk are reported as nearly exhausted. Advices from Shanghai report that the same feeling is shown in that market, and that prices there, which were very weak and drooping, have recovered and are advancing.

Messrs. Hogg, Walker and Co.'s Circular says :—The past month has been a very quiet one in the Silk trade, and prices of most descriptions have again given way. Latest telegrams from China report small settlements, 4,000 bales only as against 28,000 bales up to the same period last year; the estimate of the crop is about 50,000 bales. In spite of this, and though some holders show a disposition to meet the market, consumers seeing no indications of a revived demand still hold back from buying, except only for their immediate requirements. Financial difficulties, more especially upon the Continent, no doubt constitute one of the causes for the extraordinary position of the market. In China Silk the chief transactions have been in low Tsatlees, and a few parcels of No. 5 have been sold at 15s. per lb. In Canton Silk the transactions have been extremely limited, and prices show a reduction of about 6d. per lb. The demand for Japan Silk has been far less than that for China; transactions have been on the smallest scale, and prices for medium and low Mybash show a reduction of a further 1s. to 1s. 6d. per lb. upon our last quotations. The deliveries show no material improvement upon last month.

descriptions, chiefly owing to the inferior qualities of present offerings. The strikes of Silk weavers and spinners in several of the largest establishments, have had a perceptible effect on the consumption for the month, but the differences between employers and employés having been satisfactorily adjusted, and the mills, with one or two exceptions, running again, it is fair to presume that the demand for the coming month will be fully up to the average. Some parcels of new season's re-reeled Cantons have come to hand; inspection, however, proves them to be unsatisfactory in size and colour, and not even so clean as first arrivals of last season.

COFFEE.—Only a small quantity has been offered, and Plantation Ceylon of fine quality has sold readily at extreme rates, but the lower qualities, of which the public sales have chiefly consisted, have gone off without competition, and prices have declined 6d. per cwt. A few transactions in Native Ceylon and in Manila are recorded. The closing prices of Plantation Ceylon are, triage 77s. to 96s., small 95s. to 100s. 6d., low middling 102s. 6d. to 106s., middling 107s. to 109s., good middling to fine middling bright coloury 110s. to 114s., bold 116s. to 122s. 6d., pea-berry 108s. to 114s. Of 400 bags ordinary mixed Native Ceylon offered 200 bags sold at 84s., with one lot at 84s. 6d. Privately 350 bags Brown Manila, ex last week's auction, have been sold at 87s., and a further offer of 18 bags was quitted at 82s. 6d. per cwt.

COCOANUT OIL.—The market has been quiet; Cochin rules at £43 10s., Ceylon at £38 10s. for pipes, £38 15s. to £39 for puncheons.

CHINA MATTING.—210 rolls bought in at 45s. to 51s., with mats at 33s. to 64s. per roll.

GAMBIER.—At auction 425 bags damaged and blocky cubes sold, first-class at 25s. to 25s. 6d. Privately 100 tons block have been sold at 20s. 4½d. ex quay, with a few whole bales at 20s. 6d. per cwt.

COTTON.—A dull tone has prevailed throughout, both on the spot and afloat, sales are small, and prices about supported. The sales for the week are about 8,500 bales. On the spot, Tinnivelly 5 7-16d. to 5 9-16d., fair to good fair; Western Madras, 5d. to 5 5-16d., fair to good fair; Bengal 4½d. to 4 9-16d., fair. For arrival, Tinneveily 5 5-16d. to 5½d. June to October, good fair for delivery; American 5⅞d. to 6d., August to January, middling (1 m clause).

CANTHARIDES.—Of 12 cases China offered 10 cases sold, small and bold mixed at 2s. 2d., dull small 1s. 11d.

CARDAMOMS.—10 cases Ceylon partly lean bought in at 4s. 9d.

DRAGON'S-BLOOD.—16 cases lump sold, dull £4 5s., rather dull slightly damp £4 15s. to £5.

GUM BENJAMIN.—Of 2 cases Sumatra offered 1 case fine small medium and bold almond free sold at £38. Of 45 cases Sumatra block 41 cases seconds sold, good fair rather mixed with dark at £8 2s. 6d. to £8, dark £6 10s. to £6 17s. 6d. 25 packages thirds bought in at 50s. to 90s.

HEMP.—Privately 150 bales Zebu Manila have been sold at £29 per ton. There have been no public sales.

HAIR.—2 cases China Human bought in at 1s. 8d.

HIDES.—At the public sales Singapore Ox and Cow were well competed for, and the extra heavy weights advanced ¼d. per lb., other classes selling at previous values. Rangoon Ox and Cow maintained the late improvement. China Ox and Cow sold at last sales' prices to ⅛d. per lb. advance, the intermediate weights (15 to 17 lb.) being in much better request than of late. Singapore sold light average 6 to 7⅛ lbs., 7d. to 8d. for seconds, 5½d. for thirds, heavy average, 8½ to 9⅜ lbs., 6½d. to 6¾d. for seconds, 7¼d. for extra, small average 4 to 5¼ lbs. at 7¾d. for seconds; of 35,039 China offered 21,158 sold: Light, average 9½ to 11⅜ lb. 6½d. to 7⅜d.; heavy, average 14⅝ to 17¼ lb. 6¼d. to 6⅜d.; extra heavy, average 24¼ to 26⅜ lb. 6⅜d. to 7d.; kips, average 6⅜ to 7½ lb. 7¼d. to 8⅜d.; skins, average 2¼ lb. 7¼d.; thirds, 5d. to 5¼d. Buffalo: Singapore were in small supply, but in the absence of orders late rates could barely be obtained for the best classes; inferior grades sold without change. Rangoon were only partly sold at ⅛d. per lb. reduction. China showed no variation from the previous value. Of 3,810 Singapore, &c., offered, 1,256 sold: Fair, 2nd heavy, average 27¼ lb. 4⅜d.; light and small, average 9⅜ to 16 lb. 5⅜d.; fair ordinary, 1st heavy, average 32⅜ lb. 5¼d., per lb. Of 992 Rangoon 556 sold: 2nd heavy, average 37¼ lb. 4⅝d; thirds 4⅜d. per lb. 1,263 China sold: Light and small, average 4½ to 9 lb. 4½d. to 4⅝d.; best heavy, average 13⅜ to 14¼ lb. 4⅝d.; 2nd heavy, average 13⅜ lb. 4¼d.; small, average 3 to 5 lb. 4½d.; thirds 3½d. to 4½d. per lb.

JAPAN WAX.—150 cases good Japan squares have been sold at 45s. per cwt.

MUSK.—Of 35 tins Tonquin offered 33 tins sold; pile 1, good shaped with some rather rough and skinny at 46s. 6d. to 48s. 6d., rough and skinny with a few fair shaped 39s. 6d., the first lot 40s.: pile 2, hard and rather skinny but genuine at 33s. 6d. to 34s., rather rough with some skinny and partly hard 27s. 6d.; pile 3, fair shaped with some rough skinny and doubtful 13s. 6d. to 14s., wet pickings 24s., ditto middling 20s.; 14 tins Yunan fair with a few broken and doubtful 28s. 6d. to 30s., damp and broken 27s., and 1 case Cabardine partly wet at 13s. 6d. Of 18 tins Grain 4 tins rather dark of middling flavour sold at 42s. 6d., the remainder chiefly bought in at 36s. to 55s. per oz.

PEPPER.—Black has been quiet but steady, with small sales of Singapore at 3 11-16d., and Penang at 3 3-16d. to 3 5-16d., 500 bags Penang of old import have been sold at 3⅛d. net cash, no interest. The public sales were quite unimportant, only 164 bags old Trang being offered and sold at 3⅛d. for sound, also 50 bags Aleppy at 4d. White: In auction 254 bags Singapore sold more readily at full rates to a recovery of ⅛d. per lb., fair at 6⅛d., good at 6¼d. to 6⅜d.

RATTANS.—At auction 3,822 bundles (10 tons) sold, Singapore £23 10s., 1st class damaged Penang £23 10s. to £23 15s.

RICE.—A firm, but not active, tone has prevailed in the market, and floating cargoes have been sold at full rates. Nine floating cargoes have been sold, viz.:—The Thirza, 1,202 tons Rangoon, April, at 11s. 4½d.; The Francesca T., 1,344 tons Bassein, off coast, at 11s. 3⅞d.; the Laurel, 824 tons Japan, May sailing, at 12s. 6d.; the Janet Court, 1,360 tons Bassein, April sailing, at 11s. 6d.; the Corrientes, 882 tons Rangoon, off coast, at 11s. 4½d. for Holland; the Zorida, 679 tons Rangoon, April, at 11s. 7½d.; the Earl of Derby, 1,431 tons Rangoon, May, at 11s. 9d.; the Georgina, 928 tons Rangoon, off coast, at 11s. 6d. for Holland; the St. Joseph, 491 tons Rangoon, May sailing, at 12s. open charter, and the Nelson, 1,600 tons Bassein, June sailing, at 12s. open charter. No sales on the spot have occurred.

RHUBARB.—Of 171 cases China offered 82 cases sold, fair 2s. 4d., low middling to good middling 1s. 3d. to 2s., rather ordinary 10d. to 1s.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea: Small sales of unworked have been made at 47s. to 48s. Cassia Buds: 134 cases China sold at 68s. to 69s., being a further decline. Cloves: The market continues dull, and in auction 48 cases ordinary Penang (Amboyna kind) bought in at 1s. 7d. Nutmegs: Of 15 cases Penang 5 cases average 112 nuts to the lb. sold at 2s. 4d., being firm. 38 casks 10 cases defective limed Java were mostly sold at 11d. per lb.

SUGAR.—Desirable refining qualities have been in request, and prices have been slightly in favour of the seller, but sales are moderate; low brown kinds have been quiet. The week's transactions in East India kinds have been limited in extent. The following are the details:—On the 31st ult., for arrival 400 tons Taal unclayed sold at 16s. 6d., and the cargo of 800 tons clayed per Omba at 22s., Liverpool quay terms. On the 3rd inst. on the spot 300 tons unclayed Zebu were sold at 16s. 6d. On the 4th in auction 2,343 bags European Penang sold readily at firmer rates, good ordinary to fine brown at 19s. 6d. to 21s., yellow at 22s. 6d.; 702 bags yellow grocery grainy sold at 27s. 6d.; 2,069 baskets 21 baskets low to fine Native bought in at 15s. 6d. to 17s. 3d.; of 2,484 bags China 1,320 bags Hainan sold, low to good brown at 17s. to 18s. 6d., the remainder Swatow only partly sold at 16s. for ordinary and washed, and 18s. for good. Privately 1,200 bags China sold at 18s. 6d. On the 6th in auction of 2,909 bags very low and low brown date China offered 350 bags sold at 16s., washed at 15s., the rest being bought in at 15s. to 16s. Privately 600 bags yellow clayed China sold at 22s. 6d. to 23s. per cwt.

SAGO.—No public sales have been held; privately sales have been made to the extent of about 500 bags small pearl at 16s. 6d. to 17s.

SAGO FLOUR.—No business done.

SOY.—50 cases Japan bought in at 11s. per dozen.

TAPIOCA.—Privately 100 bags fair Singapore have been sold at 2⅝d., and 500 bags at 2 11-16d. to 2¾d. At auction only 382 bags Singapore were offered, and 270 bags sold at previous rates, good small white at 2⅝d. to 2¾d. Pearl Tapioca: 180 bags medium were bought in at 21s., 61 bags bullets sold at 30s. to 31s. Tapioca Flour: 155 bags Singapore sold at 1¾d.

TIN.—The market has continued inactive throughout the week; there have been no speculative operations, and the consumptive demand fails to sustain values with the extensive stocks available. The current quotations show no change, being for Straits on the spot £65, afloat £65 to £65 10s.; Banca £69; Billiton £66 per ton. The stock in London is estimated at 10,074 tons, against 7,780 tons at the corresponding date last year. The Dutch Trading Company have announced their next public sale for 26th inst., to consist of 21,500 slabs Banca, and 3,500 slabs Billiton.

TURMERIC.—20 bales China finger bought in at 28s.

VERMILION.—10 boxes China bought in at 2s. 4d.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

No marked change occurred in the position of this Market till the 4th inst., when, with firmer prices, increased business in Cotton, and rather better inquiry for both Goods and Yarns, producers showed more confidence and held out for full prices. The transactions have not been large, but have been concluded at more regular prices. At the close there is no increased demand, but the general tone is firm, full prices being asked. This is due in a great measure to the reports from Liverpool, which are looked upon as indicative of dearer prices for Cotton.

CASUALTIES.

CAPE TOWN.—(By tel. dated Madeira, Sept. 1), the German barque Anna, from Hamburg to Singapore, put in here on the 8th, leaky in her upper works, and with rudder damaged; she need not discharge. The Invincible, from Sunderland to Anjer, put into Simon's Bay on the 13th for medical assistance for the captain.

BOSTON.—August 22, a letter states that a ship from Rangoon, name unknown, well laden, was signalled near the equator. She was so heavily laden as to make but little headway, and could not reach England for a week or two from the present time. As every other Rangoon vessel has been heard from, it is hoped that the ship seen was the N. T. Hill, Shaw, from Rangoon to Falmouth.

It is feared that the large ship N. T. Hill, from Rangoon to Queenstown or Falmouth, for orders, with a cargo of rice, has foundered at sea, as she is now many weeks overdue, and nothing has been heard of her since she sailed.

GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

IT is explained, in connection with the reported outbreak of cholera on board the French steamer Correze, that during the passage from Cochin China to Suez there were only eighteen cases, the passengers and crew numbering 700, and that one other case has since occurred the vessel will not leave Suez until she has a clean bill of health, every fresh case involving seven days' additional quarantine.

THE Agent General for South Australia has received a telegram from the Governments at Adelaide, dated September 1, stating that the Governments of the Australasian Colonies had jointly engaged to run a steamer between Banjoewangie, Java, and Port Darwin, in the event of the telegraph cable breaking at any time.

IN the Clyde shipbuilding yards the majority of the men are still idle. They state their willingness to resume work in a body whenever a satisfactory basis of arbitration is agreed to. This is a point the decision of which is anxiously awaited on the banks of the river.

THE Nederland Company's steamship Prinses Amalia, Capt. E. W. Fabritius, sailed from Southampton on the 4th inst. for Naples, Padang, Batavia, Samarang, and Sourabaya with his Netherlands Majesty's mails, 112 passengers, 160 Dutch troops, and a full cargo.

MESSRS. DENNY and Co., Dumbarton, are building two steamers for Rangoon. They are for river traffic, and, after being put together with bolts, the plates will all be marked, taken to pieces, and sent out by sailing ships to their destination.

A PRIVATE telegram received in Liverpool states that on the 3rd inst. there were 63,677 tons register of shipping disengaged in the harbour of San Francisco.

LAUNCHES.

MESSRS. ROBERT NAPIER AND SONS have launched from their yard at Govan a steamer for Messrs. Donald Currie and Co.'s well-known Cape Line. The new vessel was named the Warwick Castle by Mrs. Robert Jamieson. She is a vessel of 2,970 tons, and is intended to carry 120 first-class, 100 second-class, and fifty third-class passengers. Her measurements are—340 feet length, 39 feet in breadth (moulded) and 30 feet in depth (moulded); and the ship presents the appearance of almost perfect symmetry. The vessel will be propelled by compound direct-acting engines of 1,800-horse power (built by Messrs. Napier), and high expectations are entertained as to the rate of speed that will be secured. Messrs. Napier have on the stocks a sister ship to the Warwick Castle, viz., the Conway Castle, which is in a pretty forward state.

MESSRS. THOMAS WINGATE AND CO. have launched a large steam screw dredger for the Dutch Government for the Batavia Harbour works. She was named "Batavia No. 1," and is the first of three large dredgers of same dimensions, all nearing completion. There are two of a smaller size—one of which has just made a most successful run to the Suez Canal, on her passage out to Java. The other is just about to start for the same place, having been delayed a long time on account of the strike. Batavia No. 1 is perhaps the largest single-ladder dredger made. She can dredge to 35 ft., and lift 700 tons per hour. The extensive works on Batavia harbour are being carried on under the direction of Mr. J. A. de Gelder, C.E.

MESSRS. BIRRELL, STENHOUSE AND CO. have launched from their yard at Dumbarton a beautifully-modelled iron sailing ship of 1,150 tons net register. On leaving the ways she was named the Stirlingshire. This ship has been built with all the latest improvements for the carrying of emigrants, and forms an addition to Messrs. Thomas Law and Co.'s well-known "Shire" line of Queensland packets.

HYDROGRAPHICAL NOTIFICATIONS.

Yezo Island.—Alteration in Position of Cape Noyshap Light.—The Japanese Government has given notice that, on May 15, 1877, a light was exhibited from a lighthouse erected on the eastern extreme of Cape Noyshap, the easternmost point of Yezo Island; instead of from a beacon as formerly. The light is a fixed white light of the fifth order, elevated 74 feet above the sea, and should be visible from seaward in clear weather through an arc of 282°, or between the bearings of N. 29½° E. and S. 72¼° E., from a distance of about ten miles. The lighthouse, constructed of wood, is 35 feet high, hexagonal, and painted white. This light will be exhibited from April 1 to Dec. 15; for the remainder of the year it will not be shown. Also, that on May 15, 1877, the beacon light was discontinued, and the spherical wooden cage that surmounted the beacon removed. The bearings are magnetic. Variation 2° westerly in 1877.

Formosa—North Coast.—Position of Audacious Rock.—With reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 157, of 6th December, 1876, on the position of Audacious rock, near the entrance of Ke-lung harbour:—The following additional information, the result of further examination of the locality, by Captain B. W. Bax, H.M. Surveying vessel Sylvia, has been received:—Audacious rock is a small pinnacle, with 21 feet over it, and 10 fathoms at the distance of 50 yards in all directions. From the shoalest part, the islet, 100 feet high, adjacent to the west side of Ke-lung island, bears E. ¾ S., distant 1 7-10 miles; and the second peak west of Image point (293 feet high), S. by W. ¼ W., distant 2½ miles. Clearing Marks.—Petou point, just overlapping the south point of Ke-lung Island, bearing S. E. by E. ½ E., leads about 2 cables north-eastward of Audacious rock. The summit of the distant range of hills (southward of Ke-lung town) in line with the Saddle between the first and second peaks west of Image point, bearing S. ¼ W., leads about 2 cables westward of Audacious rock in 15 fathoms water. [The Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 1° Westerly in 1877.]

Hai-tan Strait—South Entrance.—(1.) Position of Sedan Rock.—The following particulars relative to Sedan rock, south entrance Hai-tan strait, have been received from Commander R. H. Napier, H.M. Surveying vessel Nassau (1877):—Sedan rock is of small extent, with 8 feet water over it, steep to, having 11 to 13 fathoms close around, and lies N. 37° E., distant one mile from the position originally assigned to it (1874). From the shoalest part, Red Yit Island summit is just open northward of the north extreme of Double Yit Island, bearing W. ½ N.; and Chim Island summit is in line with the eastern extreme of the reef lying 3 cables westward of Bent Island, bearing N. by W. ½ W.—(2.) Sunken Rocks near Turnabout Island.—Also, with reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 35, of 27th March, 1876, on the existence of a sunken rock, on which the Peninsula and Oriental Company's steam vessel Sunda struck in September, 1875, and which was reported as being distant from one mile to one and a-half miles, North of Turnabout Island:—A close examination made by the Nassau of the reported locality resulted in finding no trace of a rock in the position assigned; the depths everywhere being from 20 to 25 fathoms, mud. A sunken rock was, however, found nearer Turnabout Island:—this danger (Sunda rock), drying 3 feet at low water spring tides, bears North from the nothern extremity of Turnabout Island, distant 3½ cables, with foul ground inside. Also, a rock, awash at low water spring tides, was found lying South of the south point of Turnabout Island, distant 1½ cables. Note.—Vessels navigating in this vicinity should not approach Turnabout Island within three-quarters of a mile. The lighthouse keepers on Turnabout Island report that several steam vessels have been hazarded, by rounding the South point of the island too closely.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23 Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed to refine Sugar in Hong Kong, and to make use of the Weinrich process for this purpose.

The Weinrich process was introduced into England by James Duncan, Esq., of London, the eminent Sugar Refiner, and has been demonstrated by him to be very profitable.

Believing that the process must be still more profitable in China, where suitable raw material can be purchased at a far less cost than in England, and where there is also a practically unlimited field for the sale of the finished article, the Patent was bought, a private partnership formed in Hong Kong, the Oriental Sugar refinery erected and worked, and the process put to a practical test.

The expectations of the founders of this Refinery have been more than realised, and its products have been sold with most satisfactory results, not only in China, but also in American, Australian, English, and Scotch Markets.

With the object of largely extending this business, the present Company is formed. It will purchase the Oriental Sugar Refinery at its actual cost price, and the Stores at a valuation—these together will not cost more than £42,000. All coals and sugar will be taken over at cost price.

A portion of the Shares in the Company will be reserved for allotment in China. Through the powerful Chinese influence already enlisted in favour of the enterprise, and which will be thus extended and strengthened, the Company will be placed in an exceptionally favourable position for transacting business, especially as regards the supply of Raw Sugar.

The Company, in purchasing the Oriental Sugar Refinery, takes to the business as it stands, together with all the engagements and contracts already entered into, comprising arrangements for the purchase of Raw Sugar, disposing of the finished product in the various markets, and supply of Machinery.

The Vendors, namely, the present owners of the Oriental Sugar Refinery, and of the Patent rights for Hong Kong, have agreed to hand over this valuable going concern, with the license to use the Weinrich process, asking for Royalty only a share of the surplus profits each year after 12 per cent. shall have been paid as dividend to the Shareholders, and 10 per cent. written off cost of plant and buildings for depreciation. After this apportionment, the Shareholders will receive two-thirds of the surplus profits, and the remaining third will be paid to the Vendors in lieu of Royalty.

The Vendors will retain, in Shares of the New Company, an amount equal to the whole of their Capital (£20,000) invested in the present Refinery.

The property on which the Refinery is erected in Hong Kong is well situated, possessing a water frontage, and is amply supplied with salt and fresh water. It comprises about 86,000 square feet of land, which was purchased on favourable terms, and has already largely increased in value.

The present partners in China have offered to continue to conduct the operations of the Company in Hong Kong, under the direction of the Board in England.

The owner of the patent rights binds himself not to license any other Refinery in Hong Kong, or elsewhere in China.

The Oriental Refinery will have, as heretofore, the advantage of a choice of markets. The Patent Sugars meet with ready sale at remunerative prices, both in Great Britain and Australia, whilst a native trade, which promises to become of great value, is being steadily developed. This interesting circumstance results from the fact that the Weinrich Sugars are exactly suited to the Chinese taste.

The Sugar trade in China is at present in its infancy, and this undertaking is one of great promise, the success of which, indeed, is already assured.

The very exceptional terms agreed to by the Vendors are alike a source of security to the Shareholders and a proof of the confidence of those whose enterprise and capital have originated the business, in the unusually remunerative character of the undertaking.

The Memorandum and Articles of Association may be inspected at the temporary offices of the Company.

TANJONG PAGAR DOCK COMPANY
(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

YOKOHAMA.

The advices by the present mail, extending to 25th July, are of no later date than those received via San Francisco on the 28th ult., and published in our issue of the 3rd inst.

NAGASAKI.

The death is announced from dysentery of Captain Bax, R.N., of H.M.S. Sylvia. The deceased officer, who was only thirty-nine years of age, was very popular and is deeply regretted. He was staying as a guest with Mr. Henry Gribble when he died. The event occurred on the 15th July, and a mournful procession passed through the Settlement on the 16th, when the remains were conveyed to the cemetery. Captain Bax was a Lieutenant in the year 1858, at the early age of twenty years. In 1866 he commanded the Sharpshooter, on the S.E. coast of America, until he was promoted to the rank of Commander in the following year. He served as second in command on board the Arethusa and Hector on home service from 1868 to 1871, in May of which year he was appointed to take command of the Dwarf, on the China station. He was promoted to the rank of Captain in August, 1875, appointed to the Sylvia in November, 1876, and took command of her in Hong Kong early in February of the present year. It was while in charge of the Dwarf that the late officer secured the friendship of so many who are now lamenting his early death, and in a book entitled "Our Cruise in the Dwarf," which he published on his return to England, are many passages which tell of pleasant hours spent in the Far East. He leaves a widow and young family to mourn his untimely loss.—H.M.S. Sylvia left on the 18th July to resume her surveying duties on the Korean coast, under the temporary command of Lieut. Richard Hoskyn, who has been appointed Acting-Commander by the Commander-in-Chief, till the vacant appointment is filled up by the Admiralty.

On the 16th July, during some manipulations with a bomb-shell in the Fort, an explosion occurred, setting fire to some ammunition which was stored in a small hut. For about an hour frequent explosions of bombs took place, and considerable anxiety was felt, as it was known that large quantities of war material were in jeopardy for the time being. Five men are said to have been injured in their efforts to avert the danger, but no deaths are reported.

An interesting statement of the National Banks of Japan is given by the Nichi-nichi Shimbun. It appears there are twenty National Banks established through the country, with a total capital of 22,276,100 yen. Notes to the extent of 7,820,880 yen have gone into circulation, of which 5,500,000 yen are at present current. The Government have issued over 94,654,731, which brings up the currency to about one hundred and twelve millions of yen. This comes to pretty near four yen for every soul in Japan.

On the 18th July some alarm and excitement were caused by the appearance of a fire on Oura Hill, more especially as it was reported to proceed from the hospital. It was found, however, that a fence surrounding a private residence on the hill had taken fire, and could not be extinguished until the flames had reached some out-houses, which were destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown, and it is fortunate that no greater damage was done, as a strong wind was blowing at the time.

Prince Arisugawa, after a fortnight's stay in Nagasaki, left in the Thabor on the 18th July for Kumamoto. He embarked the previous evening, and was accompanied to Ohatta by the Governor and other officials, together with a number of the principal merchants, a Royal salute being fired from the fort on his departure from the hatoba. It is believed he will take up his residence at Yatshiro, where a house has been prepared for him.

The Rising Sun has heard that the M.B.M.S.S. Company are investing in the purchase of several large steamers at Yokohama, and their fleet, already large, is likely to be shortly augmented by the acquisition of several well-known ships in the China and Japan trade. Recently the barque Alma has been transferred to the Japanese flag in Nagasaki, and at Yokohama the barque Union has been purchased by the Japanese. For the present it is believed that the Alma will be employed as a store hulk during the continuance of the war.

About two thousand piculs of wheat having arrived in Nagasaki from the province of Chikuzen, the flour mill was started on the 17th July, but operations were shortly afterwards brought to a standstill through some slight accident to the machinery.

KOREA.

The following letter is dated from Fusan, June 5:—

Thirty Japanese merchant vessels are always in Fusan harbour, and more than one thousand natives are continually wandering about the Japanese settlement day by day. Especially during such time as the landing of rice and barley from ships do the poorer people and beggars swarm together round the wharves, something like ants about an earth worm. A necessary result of this swarming is that, among themselves, fighting is quite common, and sometimes they fight so severely that blood flows from their bodies. K'wan Cho (the Japanese office in the settlement) always sends a number of attachés when there is such a crowd, for the purpose of watching them, therefore the attendants are always very busy. But a few days ago an officer of the Torai Fu (Korean department) came to our settlement and took away forty or fifty beggars, informing them that the native barley had bearded already, so that they would be able to have food, and that they must not give trouble to foreigners. After that, for a brief space, no Korean beggar made his appearance at the time of landing goods. But when a few days had elapsed they gradually came back again, though not in such numbers as before. From the latter part of May the weather was continually good, and consequently the barley bearded very well. But the poor people could not wait until the proper time of harvest, and commenced to take in the ears of barley before they were ripe. This they did partially to prevent them from being stolen, and now half-bearded ears may be purchased in the town. In consequence of this the market price of the barley at our settlement has become much lower. But it is very pleasant for us to know that we are not likely to hear any news of deaths occurring from starvation, at least at present.

The Japanese hospital in the settlement has always been full of sick natives. During last May there were about thirty Koreans who requested us to take them into treatment. Still the pestilence is prevailing, but it has greatly lost its influence. Among the Japanese some tens have suffered from this epidemic, but fortunately no life has been lost. This happy result is due to the establishment of the hospital.

We heard that the Korean Government is manufacturing two pieces of money—one is worth ten cash while another is worth fifteen cash. It was their intention to carry out this coinage last year, but it takes a long time to make up their minds to do anything. Funori (a kind of sea-weed, used for glazing and starching) is produced chiefly at Chinto, of Jenra Do. This is one of the important items in trade. In former days the merchants of Tsushima gained great profit from trading in it, and they took large quantities three times in a year. It is customary to hand over money to some trustworthy Korean and let him collect funori. But frequently he runs away with the money, or, in many cases, they were punished for selling it in secret, and the goods were taken by the Korean Customs. Since the harbour was opened for the Japanese this oppressive custom of former days was to have been taken away. But still the obnoxious usage remains, so that many complaints about money matters are sent in to the civil office. And also, unfortunately, the funori last spring was entirely used for food in consequence of the famine. The second season has now commenced, but the Japanese merchants are afraid to hand over money to the Koreans and let them collect the produce as they used to do, because most of them are conducting themselves like robbers on account of the famine. The vendors of funori are desirous to sell it in secret, but there are no native receivers who have been intrusted with capital, that is, who have been requested to gather in the scores by the Japanese merchant. Both Japanese and Koreans are anxious to trade in this article, in spite of the obstacles, and are considering some plan by which they will be enabled to do so.

The best kind of Iriko (trepang or biche-de-mer) is produced at To-k'wan, and Isan, in Keisho Do. This year the substance was taken up from the sea in large quantities, such as have not been seen in previous years. Therefore we can observe that the Koreans are getting industrious. Coal has been discovered at Rioto in Kei Sin. In examining that article we found it had been exposed for a long time, so that the substance of the coal was quite gone, having been washed away by the rain, &c. If a mine were opened here it is evident that coal of good quality would be found. But in general the Koreans do not like to dig into the mountains, because on every mountain there are graveyards. It will be difficult to persuade them to open mines unless this foolish prejudice is abandoned, and, although we explained the profit that would be derived from a coal mine, our advice had about the same effect upon them as the wind upon the ears of a horse.

CHINA.

NANKING.

A correspondent of the Celestial Empire writes as follows:—

The surviving victims of the powder explosion last month have received from the Viceroy Tls. 4 each; while Tls. 12 have been given to the friends of each of the dead. The total number of injured is said to have been sixty-three, of whom a third have died. It is curious to notice that, in the apartment where several men were killed by an explosion some years ago, no work is done; but there is a shrine to the spirits of the deceased. The main entrance was changed at that time, so that now the God of Water, and not the God of Fire as hitherto, has free access. Thus no more accidents have occurred.

The Arsenal has been enlarged by an additional foundry and other buildings. As there has been no foreigner connected with the establishment in any way for some time, the present state of affairs is very creditable to the managers. If the Chinese are able to use the war material they manufacture, they would certainly give an enemy some trouble.

The frequent rains during the past few weeks have kept the locusts in subjection, and we hear comparatively little about them.

CHEFOO.

A correspondent of the Shanghai Courier supplies the subjoined items of news from this port:—

Combined, the sun and the south wind seriously affect the thermometer, which registers in the shade at noon a trifle over 90 degrees, but the evenings are charming, and the nights cool. A series of entertainments is on the tapis. Balls, concerts, and theatricals are all discussed as probabilities. It has been suggested that a skating rink in the club compound would be a healthy addition to our amusements, and as the idea has a goodly number of supporters, it will in all likelihood be carried out.

H.M.S. Fly and the U.S.S. Monocacy remain in port, and add not a little to the social happiness of the citizens. The band of the latter vessel is a graceful party of amateurs, who are always ready and willing to oblige us, and when the time of their departure comes they will have to carry the burden of our everlasting gratitude with them.

The last of the refugees has disappeared, having returned to his native heath; and the temporary hospitals have been consumed for firewood. Chefoo is itself again in all but business, which certainly might improve.

CHINKIANG.

It is announced from this Port that the reports which have lately been in circulation respecting the failure of the rice-crops and the havoc played by locusts are very greatly exaggerated. The locusts had left the neighbourhood of that port fully three weeks, and when they were there they did but little harm to the rice, for the simple reason that at that time the farmers, from want of rain, had not transplanted the young plant from their nurseries, and consequently, as it was confined to a small area, they were well able to keep the locusts off the beds. On the disappearance of the insects with copious showers of rain, transplanting was hurried on, and since then the weather had been everything that could be desired. Although the crops were backward they were nevertheless thriving wonderfully well, and there was no doubt expressed that the country people would eventually have nothing to complain of.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 29th July; the French mail from London, June 15, was received on the 26th July.

A considerable amount of anxiety was being felt at the long absence of the Eaglet and the Lauderdale, both of which ships had been long overdue from Nagasaki. It seems that the Tokio

Maru passed a quantity of wreckage and several life-buoys when coming in, but as far as was known she neither stopped to see what name was painted on the buoys nor thought the fact of sufficient consequence to report. The circumstance, however, reached the ears of Lloyd's agents, and their surveyor is said to be of opinion that what was seen belonged to one or both of the missing vessels. It is pretty certain that they must have been caught in the typhoon, through which the City of Peking passed about the 15th July. Still all hope had not been given up, and we hear that H.M. gunboat Frolic left the harbour on the 27th July in search of the two ships.

On the 24th July a collision took place between the Mitsu Bishi Company's steamer Tokio Maru and the China Merchants Company's Kiang-nan. It seems that as the latter vessel was proceeding down the river she turned a little to the left to avoid a junk that was lying athwart the channel, and in doing so the tide caught her on the starboard quarter, and sent her with some force against the Japan steamer, carrying away a part of the Tokio Maru's wheelhouse, and doing some damage to the boats. The total cost of the accident to the Mitsu Bishi Company will be about $350.

By a decision in the Mixed Court, four native theatres in the English Settlement have been ordered to be closed at twelve o'clock at night. Two of them, the Tan-kwei and Hop-ming theatres, situated contiguous to the London Mission premises, in Shantung-road, were complained of by the Revs. Messrs. Muirhead, Barrett, and Dr. Johnston as a nuisance, owing to the hideous noise of the musical instruments from three o'clock in the afternoon until three o'clock the next morning; and the lessees, hearing the decision of the Court that they were to close at midnight, applied for two other theatres in the neighbourhood to be closed at the same time. The Magistrate and Assessor consented to make an order to that effect, and told the Rev. W. Muirhead that the decision of the Court, if attempts were made to evade it, would be enforced by the police.

Another forcible illustration of the unsatisfactory manner in which justice is meted out at the Mixed Court has been given. A Chinese servant, in foreign employ, sought to recover $80 from the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company for the loss of his box of luggage, while travelling on one of the Company's steamers from Shanghai to Ningpo. The responsibility of the Company was proved to the satisfaction of Mr. Gardener, the British Assessor, and also apparently to the satisfaction of the Chinese Magistrate, who said the defendants should pay the plaintiff $50. Mr. Sit Ming Cook, who represented the defendants, thereupon said he should ignore the decision of the Court on the ground that the parties concerned were all Chinese. His firmness and emphatic manner altered the readiness of the Chinese Magistrate to give judgment in favour of the plaintiff; and when Mr. Sit Ming Cook objected to such a verdict being given by the Mixed Court against the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company, Chên relapsed into quietude, and finally decided to reserve his decision as to the jurisdiction of the Court.

The North China Herald reports that Franklin Pierce Richmond, the "gentleman" who stayed at the Central Hotel and obtained quantities of goods from several of the Nanking-road tradesmen without paying his bills, escaped on the 26th July from the United States Gaol. It is the rule of the gaol that prisoners every morning clean their own cells, and taking advantage of the liberty thus allowed him, he managed to scale the gaol-yard by means of a rope made out of the blanket supplied to him in the cell, and which he had fixed during the night to the iron bar of his cell window. He was subsequently found by two police officers quietly reading in the public-house at the Point, and made no attempt at escape, or offered any resistance when taken in charge. Later in the day he was taken before Mr. Bradford and charged with breaking gaol. He pleaded guilty, and made a confession exonerating all those at the gaol of complicity in his escape; and, in the presence of the Court and the police, fully demonstrated his modus operandi of scaling the gaol-yard wall. He was sentenced to forty-two days' imprisonment on bread and water diet, under the strictest vigilance of the gaol-keeper.

The Report and financial accounts of the Shantung Famine Relief Committee have been issued, and show the large amount of good done with comparatively small means. With regard to the accounts, it may be stated that the whole amount received in Shanghai from different places was Tls. 30,361.65. In addition to this, various sums were sent directly to the Local Committee, making the aggregate amount in all Tls. 36,342.60. The balance still on hand in Chefoo of Tls. 1,710, and in Shanghai of Tls. 242.73, will be held at the service of the above Local Committee for distribution as they may deem best.

It was currently reported amongst the Chinese bankers that an export of about 2½ millions of silver will be sent from Shanghai to Kansuh to pay the troops, and for other contingencies. The export it was expected will commence from the 1st day of the 7th moon (9th August). This will naturally tend to ease the Shanghai market of any superfluous sycee, and cause both interest and exchange to advance from their present low level.

The action of Mr. Seward, United States Minister to China, in suspending from office Mr. J. C. Myers, Consul-General at Shanghai, for instigating the publication of certain libels regarding Mr. Seward, has been sustained. Mr. O. B. Bradford, Vice Consul-General, is to continue in charge of the United States Consulate. Mr. Myers has left Shanghai. It was said that he intends to carry his case before Congress.

The Herald hears from good authority that the Government seriously contemplate important changes in the constitution of the Supreme Court of China and Japan. It is proposed to amalgamate the offices of Consul and Judge.

The following items of news are from the Courier:—

A first meeting of the creditors of Mathew Howard Cook, sailmaker and rigger, of Shanghai, has been held at the United States Consulate, before Mr. Bradford, Vice-Consul General, sitting as Registrar in Bankruptcy. Among the creditors present were Messrs. Ashley, Heskell, Sale, Bennett, Skeeles, Harvey, and a number of Chinese. The Marshal having reported that he had served the notices and caused the advertisements to be issued, as ordered by the Court, proof of claims was proceeded with. The unsecured claims amounted to $2,886.70; preferred ditto, $415.70; total, $3,302.40. Proof was given for $2,953.40. The Court announced that an assignee of the estate was to be chosen; and asked that such a person might be nominated. Mr. Harvey having asked for some information upon the affairs of the bankrupt, the Court read the petition and schedules attached thereto for the information of creditors. No nomination of assignee being made, the Court, under the Bankruptcy Act, appointed Mr. G. J. W. Cowie to such office.

The Sin-pao contains a curious advertisement, signed by a foreigner, the transliteration of whose name suggests the honourable patronymic Smith. His object is to start a company at Shanghai, consisting, of course, of Chinamen, for the manufacture of foreign piece-goods; to follow the example of Bombay, in fact, and render China independent of Manchester. The capital required is Tls. 200,000. Mr. "Smith's" scheme is a big one, but it has the disadvantage of emanating from a foreigner. Still the Chinese could never start cotton-mills without foreign assistance, and as these have been long a pet idea of Chunghow, it is possible that they may become eventually a fait accompli.

The want of a Senior Consul is making itself felt. It is a little startling to see in the Municipal minutes that the extension of the Markham-road is to be made the subject of fresh representations; this would never have been a necessity had the matter been properly taken up by an energetic doyen. When Mr. Mayers was conducting his railway negotiations at Nanking last year he expressly stipulated that no further difficulty should be made about such affairs: and it is advisable that the distinct understanding he then arrived at should have its proper effect.

A Conference of the Foreign Ministers and members of the Tsung-li Yamen is to be held in October at Peking, to discuss the claims preferred by Herr von Brandt with reference to likin taxation. The Yamen has meanwhile intimated to the German Minister that it will be advisable for him to arrive at a distinct understanding on the subject with his colleagues, and then, when they are all agreed, to lay their proposals before the Foreign Office.

The parish church of St. Joseph is undergoing extensive alterations. The entire façade is being removed, and the eastern end of the church, opposite to that occupied by the altar, is at present in a dilapidated condition. Great poles of scaffolding surround the organ, which is also being taken to pieces, and looks forlorn enough. The new façade, to judge by an elevation that has been courteously shown to us, will be very handsome, and altogether a great improvement on the old one.

It is rumoured that the Japanese have protested against the negotiations of the last Loan to the Chinese Government, through their representative in Peking. We have no details, but seeing that the Loan ought to come before the public on September 1, it certainly seems strange that nothing has been heard of the matter for so long.

FOOCHOW.

An unusually heavy squall and thunderstorm passed over the Settlement on the 25th July. We hear of two sampans having been capsized a little beyond Limpoo. Fortunately, they were close in shore at the time, and no lives were lost.

To compensate for the deficiency in yield of Foochow district tea, we have tidings from Hankow that are calculated to dissipate any fond imaginings on the score of demand speedily overtaking supply. Briefly stated, this is the position of affairs at the two great shipping ports—Foochow:—A deficiency of 60,000 chests of Congou. Hankow:—An excess of 40,000 chests of first crop leaf, and a probable excess of 20,000 chests of second crop leaf; showing an estimated increase of 60,000 chests, against the corresponding decrease from this port. The London trade are not, it is stated, greatly enamoured of the new red leaf teas, and are in fact turning their, by no means undivided, attention to the Hankow kinds.

Riots are reported to have taken place at Kienning-fu, but, as disturbances are constantly occurring in that disorderly city, we do not attach much importance to this announcement. The literati of the district are said to be endeavouring to cause as much trouble to Ting Futai as possible; and it is stated that, taking advantage of the prevailing distress, they have incited the people to plunder the public granaries—thereby hoping to bring about the Futai's disgrace and ultimate removal from office. But in addition to this resistance to the Provincial Governor, the Kien-ning-ites will not permit foreigners to enter their gates. A few Russian hongs and Missionaries are, it is true, established outside the walls of this favoured city, but none dare enter. The aristocracy of Kien-ning forbid it.

HONG KONG.

We learn that the O. and O. steamship Oceanic was spoken, near Cape Satano, Van Dieman's Straits, under sail, she having lost her propeller on the day previous. The propeller was known to be defective, and a new one had been ordered, which arrived here per Glenroy, and is now only awaiting the arrival of the Oceanic at the Hong Kong and Whampoa Company's Docks in order to have it fitted. [She was safely towed into Hong Kong a few days after.]

We hear that Mr. Joao Antonio Barretto has been appointed Consul-General for Portugal in this colony. Mr. Barretto received his official appointment on Tuesday. The Portuguese community are, we believe, all very pleased with the selection, as Mr. Barretto is much and deservedly respected among his countrymen.

We notice in the Peking Gazette a memorial from H.E. Ho King, the Viceroy of the Chekiang and Fohkien provinces, in which he recommends H.E. Ting Jih-chang, the Governor of the latter province, for an increase of salary. The Viceroy states that the Governor has of late years had to pay from his own pocket all the necessary expenses in his trips to and back from Formosa, which state of things not only entails a hardship upon his colleague, but, he fears, may hinder future governors of the province from discharging their functions with promptitude. Having consulted with their Excellencies Li Hung-chang and Shen Pao-chen, who agreed with him on the subject, he has therefore presented this memorial. In reply, an edict has been issued sanctioning a monthly increase of Tls. 1,500 to the Governor's present salary.

The San Francisco papers state that the Court of Inquiry into the loss of the steamship City of San Francisco have rendered a decision depriving Captain Waddell of his certificate as master for a period of twelve months. The Agents of the Pacific Mail Company in San Francisco state that they have no knowledge of the suspension of Captain James I. Waddell's certificate for one year, owing to the loss of the steamship City of San Francisco, although it is represented that Captain Waddell concedes such to be the case. Captain Waddell, it is understood, proposes to move for a new trial as soon as the Court of Inquiry, consisting of the United States Inspectors of Boilers and Hulls, shall make their report to the United States Surveyor Bemis. The grounds of his application will be prejudice on the part of his judges, one of whom is credited with having publicly expressed himself in an inimical manner in referring to Waddell previous to the holding of the Court of Inquiry. Two of the officers of the City of Peking—the captain and chief mate—were removed from that vessel prior to her sailing for China. The officers of the Mail Company allege, however, that they have not been suspended. The charge grew out of the grounding of the Peking on her voyage from Yokohama to Hong Kong.

On the 3rd August there was launched from Captain Sands's ship-building yard, Belcher's Bay, the fine little steamer Pacific, intended for the South Sea Islands trade. She has been built for the firm of Messrs. Hernsheim and Co., and is in every respect suited to the trade for which she is destined. She has been built on a good model, and carries indications of strength in every part. Her dimensions are :—Length between perpendiculars 107 ft., and over all 116 ft. 9 in.; breadth of beam, 19 ft.; and depth of hold 8 ft. 9 in. She will be fitted with compound inverted direct-acting engines of 30-horse power nominal, built at the Novelty Iron Works. The diameter of the high pressure cylinder is 15 inches, and of the low pressure 28 inches; length of stroke 18 inches. The vessel has been built under special survey to class A 1 for seventeen years.

The launch took place shortly after eleven o'clock, and was witnessed by several ladies and a large number of gentlemen. It had been raining heavily during the morning, but the clouds cleared off for a time, and the vessel entered the water under favourable auspices, so far as the weather was concerned. She was gaily decorated with flags, and carried the German ensign at stem and stern, the Stars and Stripes at the mainmast, and the British ensign at the fore. As she started on the ways she received her name from Mrs. Cook, and glided gracefully into the water amid hearty cheers from all around. The company then adjourned to the machine shop, where various toasts were drunk in honour of the occasion.

Baron von Soden, who spoke in German, proposed success to the vessel, and called for three hearty cheers in honour of her christening. He said the infant just baptised was small, but stout, hale, and healthy. Small people generally fight their battle through life more easily than big ones, being less exposed to its storms and tempests. He hoped this experience might be verified in the case of the Pacific, and that wherever she went she might be accompanied by good luck and do honour to the German name and the black, white, and red flag which she now flies. The toast was enthusiastically drunk. Mr. F. Hernsheim proposed the health of the builders and of Mrs. Cook, who christened the vessel. Captain Sands responded, and proposed the health of the owners, wishing them as much success in their enterprise as had attended the launch. Mr. Reiners proposed the health of the ladies. Various other toasts followed, and the company afterwards took a trip round Green Island in a steam-launch, paying a visit to the newly-launched vessel on the way.

CANTON

CANTON, AUGUST 3, 1877.

According to a recent number of the Peking Gazette, the Central Government is coming forward in a most praiseworthy manner to the rescue of many thousands of the inhabitants of the province of Shantung, who, owing to the long-continued drought of last year, are now suffering great privations. Much has already been done for the relief of these sufferers by the British and other foreigners residing in China. It was a great mistake, however, on the part of some of these foreign philanthropists to suppose, as they vainly did, that the Chinese Government has no regard, during seasons of distress, for the sufferings of its people. The Emperor is also coming forward to the assistance of the citizens of Foochow, many of whom, owing to the floods by which their city and its environs were inundated during the fifth month of this year, have experienced great losses.

His Majesty has also issued a decree, empowering the members of the Han-lin board to present to certain families residing in the province of Kwei-chow monumental tablets as a mark of his high appreciation of the virtue which several female members of the families in question displayed by committing suicide rather than suffer dishonour at the hands of bandits who disturbed, not very long ago, the peace and good order of Kwei-chow. Monumental tablets have also been bestowed, not by the Han-lin board, but, as it were, by his Imperial Majesty, in person, upon two women, each of whom has attained the great age of ninety-seven years. He has also given commands that monumental arches in masonry of granite are to be erected in honour of these venerable dames. This act is intended, of course to mark the Emperor's respect and reverence for age, and to impress, at the same time, upon the minds of the people the reverential regard which aged persons ought ever to receive at their hands. In this respect, however, the Chinese do not require very much teaching, as they are, perhaps, of all people upon the face of the earth, the most dutiful towards their parents, and the most respectful towards those who are old.

The members of the Cabinet Council at Peking have recently been discussing the importance of placing a tablet bearing the name of the late Emperor in the principal imperial temple. Some of the members of the Council, in the course of the discussion which ensued, contended that sufficient honour would be paid to the memory of the departed Sovereign were his tablet placed as an object of adoration above the altar of a Royal temple of less note. It was at length decided that the monumental tablet in question should have one of the highest places of honour assigned to it. In a few days or weeks, therefore, from this time, it will be deposited, with a due observance of the prescribed ceremonies, in the place agreed upon. The late Emperor was not, I believe a paragon of virtue. The members of the Cabinet Council, however, are represented as having spoken on this occasion in the most exalted terms of the many rare virtues which adorned his character. Surely this laudation was according to the teaching of the ancients :—

De mortuis nil nisi bonum.

Of Canton items of intelligence there are very few to record. A mandarin surnamed Chow has recently been removed by Imperial command from the somewhat important position of ruler of the county of Chan-ping-uen, which is one of the great divisions of this province. The removal of this official is attributed to the fact that he and the Chief Justice or Criminal Judge of Canton bear the same family name, being members of the clan Chow. It is contrary to Chinese law for two or more members of the same clan or family—however distant the relationship may be—to hold important political positions in one and the same province.

Let me now finish my news-letter by remarking that three mornings ago, so soon as the sun had arisen, the bodies of three young Chinese women were found immersed in the creek which separates the foreign settlement—Shameen—from the western suburbs of this city.

MANILA.

During the first six months of the present year the import and export duties collected at the Manila Custom House amounted to $155,616 more than in the first six months of 1876; this doubtless answers to an increase of two millions of dollars in the value of trade with foreign countries.

The Messageries Maritimes have proposed to the Spanish Government to establish a line of steamers direct from Barcelona to Manila, making a voyage every fourteen days. Official passengers are to be conveyed in the main cabin at the rate of $250 each. In return the Company asks for the exclusive privilege of conveying official passengers, tobacco for the Treasury, and the mails, the latter being paid for at the same rate of subsidy as that now granted to the P. and O. Company and to the Company which runs mail steamers between Manila and Singapore.

News had been received from Albay that operations on the coal mines of the La Paz Coal Company there were so far advanced that 150 tons of coal will shortly be sent to Manila for trial.

Locusts had appeared in the province of Pangasihan, where it was feared they would do irreparable damage, from the difficulty of carrying out orders to pursue and destroy them owing to the state of the fields after the heavy rains that had fallen.

The steamer Java had arrived at Manila from Saigon with 24,800 piculs of rice, and the steamer Chow Phya from the same place with 12,000 piculs of white and current rice. The Diario states that several other steamers were expected at Manila with rice, which it was hoped would cause a fall in the value of that article.

If all we hear is correct, the question of the rice supplies is becoming daily a more and more serious one. The article is much wanted in Malacca and Penang, while stocks here are very low, said to be nearly exhausted, and prices are unprecedented. The s.s. Penang brought about 2,000 bags of Java white rice from Samarang, which were at once snapped up by the boat quay dealers at $150 per coyan of 40 piculs. They will re-sell it to small dealers at a profit of $10 to $20 per coyan, and that means to the consumer something like $4½ per picul. Four or five small vessels are expected from Bangkok, but the export of grain from Siam may be stopped by decree at any moment, and very probably it will. The price of Siam No. 2 is reported at $165 per coyan. The Carrisbrooke is shortly expected from Saigon, but supplies there are reported to be nearly exhausted, and to be wanted for China. The cargo of Saigon rice by the Chow Phya, which left for Penang on the 7th inst., has been bought by the Government contractor in Atchin, at, it is said, $200 per coyan. In connection with the existing scarcity and dearness of rice, it is with pleasure we have to record an act of liberality by Mr. Cheang Hong Lim, the opium and spirit farmer, which a correspondent has brought to our notice. During the week Mr. Hong Lim presented the poor Bugis and Malays, some 200 in number, residing in Passir, Panjang, with 200 piculs of rice and $200 in cash, to mitigate the distress caused by the present high prices of rice, which is a very serious matter to the poor natives.

We regret to learn that the Garden Committee have, after mature consideration, come to the conclusion to sell the rhinoceros and tiger, on the score of economy, the food and attendance on these ferae entailing an expense of $130 or $140 a month. The sum thus saved, or a portion of it, the committee consider can be more judiciously employed in the extension of other departments, such as the aviary, &c. Another resolution, we learn, the committee have come to, is to make a charge in future for flowers supplied from the gardens. The committee have been driven to this in pure self-defence, owing to the unconscionable demands made on the gardens. As, for example, there were no less than 400 baskets of flowers asked for and supplied in the course of last month. In future people will have to pay a quarter of a dollar for each basket.

The United States war-sloop Ranger, Captain de Manby, from Point de Galle, has anchored in the roads, en route to China and Japan, to join the American squadron in those waters.

The first of Messrs. R. Rubbatino and Co.'s Italian line of mail steamers, the Batavia, Captain L. Crocco, arrived at Tanjong Pagar Wharf, having left Genoa on July 1, calling at Colombo. She will proceed to Batavia and load there, and will leave on her return voyage to the Mediterranean ports.

The Colonial Government, we are informed, has recently indented upon the Secretary of State for the Colonies for a new steamer, to cost about $100,000; no doubt to replace the present expensive Pluto.

We are informed that the swords of honour recommended by his Excellency Sir W. F. D. Jervois, and approved by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, for presentation to Rajah Mahmood of Salangore, Syed Masahore of Salangoon, Rajah Indut of Salangore, Rajah Outih and Rajah Asul of Sumatra, in consideration of their gallant and faithful services during the recent operations in Perak, arrived here by the last English mail.

A fire, which—but for a fortunate circumstance and the coolness displayed—might have been attended with loss of life, has occurred in the house of Mr. William Coveney, in Waterloo-street. Mrs. Coveney was engaged upstairs at the time, when it was reported to her by her eldest child that something was wrong in the verandah, and, on reaching there, she discovered that it was on fire, and that one of her children, about twelve months old, was apparently in the flames, and evidently in imminent danger of being burnt alive. With much coolness and presence of mind, and at great risk to herself, she at once rushed to the rescue of her child, whom she fortunately succeeded in saving, and she then apprised her husband, who was downstairs, of the fire, who brought his practical knowledge to the fore, and the fire was put out with some difficulty and without an alarm being given, but not before some valuables had been burnt.

Retrenchment is, we understand, the order of the day in Perak. Whether acting upon instructions from the Colonial-office, or merely upon his own discretion, we know not, but the newly-appointed Resident, Mr. Low, is reported to be making a clean sweep of many offices, and the chances of "getting something to do" in Perak, so long existing in the imagination of many who aspire to Government employ, are scanty indeed. In the present state of that country's finances this is a commendable policy, and with its helm in the hands of a gentleman so well acquainted with the Malays and their customs as Mr. Low, and who makes retrenchment one of the principal objects of his administration, we may hope that the future of the country augurs well. We are afraid Colonial officials but too often regard a new acquisition more with an eye to the advancement of the positions of their friends than is consistent with the feelings which should actuate the representatives of the ruling power.

TEA.

HANKOW.—During the early part of the week ending July 24 there was an active business, chiefly in Oanfa Teas, settlements being made at Tls. 13.50 to 18, against Tls. 17 to 22½ for similar Teas last year. There was a good competition for these, the only desirable Teas on offer; common Teas had been quite neglected, teamen, anxious as they were to realise, being still unwilling to accept the rates which buyers considered safe. The Russians had been the only buyers of the low-class Teas. The settlements for the week amounted to 12,000 chests, being the same amount as for the corresponding week last year. Third crop Teas from Wen-kai had begun to arrive; their quality was fair, but teamen's ideas were too high. Total export from Hankow to all ports :—1877, 55,748,572 lbs.; 1876, 60,033,193 lbs.; deficiency, 4,284,621 lbs. The total probable deficiency in this year's crop was variously estimated at from five to fifteen million pounds.

SHANGHAI.—Black: There had again been a fairly large business done during the week, settlements being :—Oopack, 2,000 chests at

Digitized by Google

Tls. 11½ to 22½; Oanfa, 3,500 chests at Tls. 9 to 24½; Oonam, 500 chests at Tls. 9½ to 11; Ningchow, 12,000 chests at Tls. 14 to 37; Hohow, 3,000 chests at Tls. 12⅞ to 30¾d.; total 21,000 chests, against for the same week last year, 13,000 chests. The market for common Teas had been firm at the advance quoted last mail, but upon all teas above Tls. 20 (1s. 1d.) a rise of one to two taels had been established. The Celestial Empire says:—"This unexpected change is mainly due to the unprecedented fact of the chief Hankow buyers, after exhausting the supplies there, having left that port and come down the river in search of cheap tea. They have operated freely, and in most instances paid teamen's asking rates, while a glance through the settlement list shows that Shanghai buyers have been mostly out of the market. Meanwhile we continue to receive disastrous advices regarding the new Hankow teas in London, and we hear that not a few orders and credits have been cancelled altogether. This points to a healthier state of things, and if importers at home would wire out 'stop shipping rubbish,' or words to that effect, the thirty thousand chests now on offer here, chiefly remnants of chops, flat, old, dusty and flavourless, would remain on teamen's hands for a length of time sufficient to check very materially the packing of the third crop,—a consummation devoutly to be wished for, but, we fear, hardly attainable." Green: The business for the week showed a slight increase, settlements being:—Fychow, 2,000 half-chests at Tls. 22 to 24⅜; Pingsuey, 5,000 half-chests at Tls. 19½ to 43; total 7,000, against for the same week last year, 8,000 half-chests. The market had ruled quieter than at any time since the opening of the season. The larger buyers were apparently satisfied with the amount of high cost tea they had secured, and were awaiting lower prices to go on at, as were also those who had not bought at all. Meanwhile teamen, believing that these latter had yet to enter the market to a heavy extent, and further strengthened by the knowledge of the small quantity packing in the country, refused to give way, and hence the limited business in face of the large stock of 30,000 half-chests. Seven chops of new Teenkai had been shown during the week, but no trade had resulted. Teamen had been expecting the usual advance of Tls. 5 to 6 on the quotations for Hoochow and Fychow teas, but whereas their so-called fine Teenkais were in many cases undistinguishable from Fychows, buyers, warned at last by previous experience, refused to pay for names, much to the indignation of the owners. The crop is stated to be throughout, the worst ever seen, and, with the present apathy of buyers, it would probably be the smallest.

FOOCHOW.—Messrs. Westall, Galton and Co.'s Weekly Letter says:—Late telegrams have had the effect of checking purchases for England, and although nearly as much Tea has changed hands as during the previous week, the greater portion has been taken for the Colonies. In view of the falling off in supplies, teamen remain very firm, and the general range of rates continues to rule on much the same basis as before receipt of the telegrams. Arrivals and settlements during the week are:—Congou, arrived, 33,700 chests; settled, 18,200; Souchong, arrived, 500 chests; settled, 1,767 chests; Oolong, arrived, 5,230 ½-chests; settled, 982 chests; Scented Teas, arrived, 6,000 boxes; settled, 4,876 boxes. Congou: A good business has taken place in the low and broken grades for Australia and the Cape, whilst the better classes have met with some attention for England, without change on last week's quotations. Souchong: Broken leaf and common descriptions continue to be taken for the Cape. A few chops of good medium have changed hands at previous rates, and some small lots of fancy kinds have found buyers. Oolong: There is no change to report. Flowery Pekoes: No transactions. Scented Teas: A further fall has been established. Quotations are: Congou Medium: to good medium, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 5d.; flavoury to medium, 11⅝d. to 1s. 2¼d.; common to good common, 9¼d. to 11¼d.; dust to broken leaf, 7d. to 8½d. Souchong: Fancy parcels, 2s. 2½d. to 2s. 11½d.; fine to choice, 1s. 9½d. to 2s. 2¼d.; fair to fine, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 8½d.; common to fair, 9½d. to 1s. 2¼d.; dust and broken leaf, 7½d. to 8¼d. Scented Teas: Scented Orange Pekoe, fair to good, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 6¾d.; scented Caper, fair to good, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 3½d.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—The North China Herald report says:—Two months have elapsed since the new crop commenced to arrive, and we are still without any business worth speaking of. Rather more inclination was shown early in the week to look at musters, but the boldness of the unconcerned quite disappeared on receipt of Reuter's political telegrams announcing the probable movement of English troops for the Mediterranean. Settlements are confined to 100 bales, including some common Tsatlees at Tls. 360 and about 50 bales of 9 × 12 moss at Tls. 260 per picul; holders remain very firm, and in a few cases only would concede a decline of Tls. 5 per picul on last mail's rates. At present prices there is every probability that our export will be rather under than over 55,000 bales. Stocks are nearly 11,000 bales of new silk and 5,500 of old, making 16,500 bales in all against 19,000 bales at the same date last season. Export is 1,509 bales (a large percentage of which has been shipped for India and the Coast), and the outgoing steamer is expected to take about 100 bales, thus making 1,600 bales shipped, against 18,800 in 1876, 22,200 bales in 1875, and 20,500 bales in 1874.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SAIGON.—Messrs. Kaltenbach, Engler, and Co.'s Market Report is as follows:—Rice: Stocks of this grain in the interior being much reduced and retained, consequent upon the recently prevailing drought, which interfered with the operations for the new crop, called forth a gradual important advance in prices, and despite the just-now rather limited existing demand, the market closes firm. Latterly the weather has become a little more favourable towards the new crop, but more rain is wanted to ensure a good harvest. The export since our last amounts to 428,267 piculs. Cotton: The market for this staple shows no noteworthy change; we quote $16.65 per picul for No. 1 cleaned, $10.50 per picul for No. 2 cleaned, and $4.90 per picul for uncleaned. Fish has again advanced in the face of the paucity of stock. Hides: Likewise higher, present quotations being $17 per picul for scoured Cow, $12.75 to 13 per picul for unprepared Cow, and $8.35 per picul for Buffalo. Horns: Quoted $9 do 9.75 per picul, according to quality. Gamboge: Nominally 49 to 50 per picul. Pepper: Black, has advanced about 25 cents per picul, and the present quotation is $8 per picul.

BATAVIA.—Messrs. Houghton and Co.'s Circular says:—Arrack, Four per Cent. Overproof: In this there is nothing whatever doing. Cloves: Small sales of this continue to take place at f.85 per picul. Coffee: Java firmly maintains its value; for 4,000 piculs first quality from the Limburg Estate f.57.28 was offered by tender and refused, while the lot was afterwards sold privately for f.58 per picul. On the 18th July the Government auction resulted as follows, say 18,000 piculs Samarang averaged f.55.52 per picul, 7,000 piculs Kadoe averaged f.56.79 per picul. Sumatra: For the Government auction to take place next month there was stored up to the 28th July 20,283.90 piculs. Gum Damar is again firmer at f.42 to 43 per picul. India-rubber we value at f.90 to 100 per picul. Gutta Percha continues without transactions. Hides are higher; Buffalo we value at f.0.24 to 0.28 and Cow at f.0.35 to 0.45 per lb. Mace: In this there is nothing whatever doing. Nutmegs: Small sales of Banda in the shell have taken place at f.120 per picul.

SINGAPORE.—Messrs. Boustead and Co.'s Produce and Shipping Report says:—Tin: The demand during the past fortnight has been principally for China, and 2,230 piculs of suitable chops have been purchased at $19¼ to $19⅜; more is wanted, but the market is now bare. There has also been a fair inquiry for America, and sales reported comprise 1,965 piculs at $19.10 to $19.20, at which there are still buyers. No transactions for England. Gambier: During the early part of the fortnight, a good business was done at $4.70 to $4.65, but lately there has been less inquiry, and the market closes quiet; dealers however are not anxious to sell, and we now quote the price steady at $4.67½. For England 1,500 tons have been taken, and for America 100 tons. Cube Gambier: No supplies coming to market, and dealers refuse to contract at present; prices nominal. Cutch: No arrivals, nor transactions to report. Black Pepper: The demand for England has continued, and about 6,400 piculs have found buyers at $7.50 to 7.57½, along with 1,500 piculs taken for America; there is little inquiry at close, but dealers are firm at the higher quotation, prices being strengthened by the decline in exchange. White Pepper: Supplies are large, but the demand for England keeps steady, and values are maintained; sales reported of 2,000 at $13.50 to 13.90 for Rhio, $14 for Siam, and $13.50 to 5.30 for Singapore kind according to quality. Coffee: The following transactions are reported for Europe, viz., 2,130 piculs of unpicked Bally, at $19 to 18½, according to the quality, and 190 piculs of picked at $21 to 21.27½; 1,750 piculs of Bontyne at $22 to 21⅝, and a resale of 500 piculs, at $21½; 900 piculs of Manila kind have also been sold at $21¼, and 120 piculs of Kampar at $17½. Stock now here consists of 200 piculs of Bally, which is offered at $18¼, without finding a buyer. Nutmegs: An arrival of about 50 piculs was cleared for the States at $70, and more are wanted; arrivals looked for shortly. Mace: The market keeps very dull, and price remains nominal at $50. Cloves: Amboyna are in fair supply, and held for $45, at which there are no buyers. Cubebs: Nothing doing, and the price remains nominal. Sago Flour: There has been a large demand for England, and the price has advanced; 135 tons of Singapore bought at $3; 685 tons of Sarawak at $3.07½ to 3.17½, and 370 tons of Borneo at $307½/12½. Just at close a further sale is reported of 100 tons Sarawak at $3.30, and more is wanted at the same high figure. Pearl Sago: Demand has been chiefly for small, of which over 2,000 piculs have been settled for at $3.60 to 3.65. Medium has been taken to the extent of 700 piculs at $3.70 to 3.75, along with about 1,150 piculs of large at $3.80 to 3.85. These purchases are all for England, and the prices show an advance on rates last quoted. Tapioca: There has been an active inquiry for England Small Flake being in most request; contracts reported for about 2,300 piculs at $5.75 to 5.95, and for 380 piculs of Medium at $5½. Pearl keeps rather scarce, and good Small is now quoted at $5½.

PUBLIC ACTION ON CHINA AFFAIRS.

THE difficulty of bringing about combined action with regard to commercial and other public matters, in which China residents and those connected with that country are concerned, which has long been a subject of complaint in the East, seems to be felt with hardly less severity on this side. It would, perhaps, be scarcely imagined, even by those who have had occasion to pay special attention to the subject, that a committee, representing the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, has for some time past been in existence in this country. That this should have been the case, and that nothing whatever should have been heard of it during the lengthened negotiations which have been going on with reference to the Chefoo Convention, would seem almost incredible; but such has, nevertheless, been the fact, and but for the initiative taken recently and somewhat tardily by the Chamber of Commerce at Shanghai, probably the Convention would have been duly ratified without anyone here having the slightest idea that the commercial interests of those connected with China were being watched over here by a body of gentlemen specially appointed for that purpose. No doubt, there must always be some difficulty experienced by the representatives at home of a committee which—like that of the Shanghai Chamber — is established abroad, and is not, perhaps, too energetic, even there. Steps must be initiated at head-quarters, and a committee here may feel justified in abstaining from action until it is in some way set in motion by that in China. But a great deal may be done towards this end by adopting measures on this side to place the China Committee in possession of the best and latest information regarding any matter which has to be settled finally here, and to this extent the London Committee may be fairly expected to act of its own motion. But somehow or other, as has so often been the case, there seems to be considerable difficulty in evoking the necessary energy, except when some matter of really first-class importance urgently calls for attention. Committee meetings are not popular, and though one or two energetic members may be prepared to make some little sacrifice of their personal convenience on public grounds, people, as a rule, are not disposed to put themselves out very much for such matters. Thus, with the best intentions, those who undertake duties of this kind frequently find themselves in no very easy position when they endeavour to carry them out. The distances which people live apart are so great, the ordinary run of business duties so pressing, that, as a rule, in defiance of the proverb, what can be put off till to-morrow is not very often done to-day; and opportunities which might be turned to good account are thus allowed to slip.

We believe that it is to causes of this kind that we have mainly to attribute the fact that no action has up to the present been taken in London with respect to the Convention, a circumstance which is certainly very striking when it is borne in mind how many there are who are interested in the subject here, and how much invaluable information might be brought forward with regard to it. In a certain sense, it would be unfair to attribute any blame to the gentlemen who have the matter in hand here, as probably they have done the best they can under the existing circumstances, and have, undoubtedly, a considerable amount of vis inertiæ to contend against. It would, however, be a subject of congratulation if some steps could be taken to form an active organisation to represent China interests in London, and in the Committee now in existence there is probably already a sufficient nucleus for starting an association of this kind upon a basis such as would enable it to exert its influence with greater activity and energy than has hitherto been the case. However this may be, we may at least be thankful that the requisite steps are at last being taken, and that we shall not have to regret when it is too late that the Convention has been ratified in a defective form, when a little timely energy might have prevented it. It seems, however, very strange that in the present instance, as has frequently happened before, the movement has been initiated at Shanghai, and that as yet Hong Kong, which is equally interested in the Convention, has done nothing with regard to it. The peculiar apathy of "the Colony" in these matters has been often remarked upon, and the present is only one among many instances of the difficulty in getting Hong Kong residents to move on public affairs. It is, we presume, hardly to be supposed that the Hong Kong Chamber will be content to be silent now that Shanghai has spoken, and it may be hoped that before matters are finally concluded, it may yet find an opportunity for placing its views on record.

THE WUCHANG OUTRAGE.

PENDING the negotiations which are going on in China in order to obtain redress for the attack upon the two missionary gentlemen at Wuchang, of which intelligence was brought by the last mail, we are called upon to reserve any definite expression of opinion upon the full merits of the case; but at the same time it is impossible not to allude to one aspect of it to which no attention has been directed in the China papers. We shall certainly not be suspected of any desire to palliate wanton attacks upon foreigners for pointing out a circumstance connected with the present matter, which diminishes its importance so far as its international nature is concerned, and so far as it can be fairly considered indicative of the feeling in China with regard to foreigners generally. Wuchang, at the time of the examinations, when it is crowded with students from all parts of the kingdom, has always been recognised as a most dangerous resort for foreigners. Some years back one of our Consuls very sensibly published, at the request of the Chinese officials, a warning to his nationals not to visit it at that time. At this, no little grandiloquent invective was expended in some of the China papers upon the restriction which was placed upon our rights, and so forth; but, after all, there was a great deal of sound sense in the measure. We do not say that a wanton outrage, such as that which has been committed, can be excused, or that we are not bound to insist upon the Chinese officials endeavouring to hunt out and punish the offenders; but at the same time it is clearly the duty of those who, like missionaries, claim the fullest protection accorded by the Treaty, to endeavour, as far as possible, to avoid occasions of trouble.

A DEPUTATION, consisting of Mr. CRAWFORD, English Consul at Havana, Mr. EDMUND STURGE, Mr. BUZACOTT, Secretary of the Anti-Slavery Society, Mr. HENDERSON Mr. THOS. HANBURY, and the Rev. Mr. TURNER, waited on H.E., the Chinese Minister, to present for transmission to Peking a petition to the EMPEROR from the Chinese in Cuba, praying him to take steps to ameliorate their condition, and protect them from the iniquitous system of which they are the victims. Mr. CRAWFORD, in presenting the memorial, insisted strongly on the necessity for strictly prohibiting the traffic, and the utter worthlessness of any promises which the Spanish Government might make for regulating it and effacing some of its worst features. H.E. having promised to forward the memorial and thanked the deputation for the great interest manifested in the welfare of his countrymen, the deputation withdrew, much pleased with the courteous manner in which they had been received.

Catalogue of Chinese Books and Manuscripts in the British Museum. By Professor Douglas.—The following notice of this work, which has been noticed in our columns, appears in the Academy, by the Rev. Dr. Legge, Professor of Chinese at the University of Oxford :—

Few people know that there are in the Library of the British Museum fully 2,000 different Chinese works, forming a considerable library by themselves of more than 20,000 volumes. The preface of Professor Douglas tells us how the collection has grown up, from very small beginnings, since 1825. It is likely, we understand, soon to receive very considerable additions, but, even at present, it contains a good proportion of the most valuable works of Chinese literature. We visited it about ten years ago, and were struck aghast by the confusion in which it lay. Though tolerably familiar with Chinese, we attempted in vain to find two or three books into which we wished to look. This evil is now remedied by the care of Professor Douglas, and we congratulate him on having been able to complete, and superintend the publication of, the catalogue to which we call attention. The arrangement adopted is that used in the general catalogues of the Museum Library. The works are placed, for the most part, under the names of their authors, in alphabetical order; and in the transliteration of those names the author has wisely followed the orthography adopted in the Dictionary of Dr. Morrison, omitting, however, to mark the aspirated pronunciations. In carrying out his plan, Professor Douglas had several difficulties to contend with. Often the author's name does not appear in the title, or in any other part of the work. In this case it is catalogued under the name of any person or country occurring in the title. Where neither of these things is to be found, "the subject, or the principal word in the title, has been taken as a heading." The works, however, where it was necessary to resort to these devices, are comparatively few and unimportant. In another and more serious difficulty, the author appears to us to have succeeded remarkably well. Every Chinaman receives, soon after his birth, a "milk," or child-name; when he goes to school, a "book," or boy-name; a third name when he is married; subsequently he may have two or three literary appellations, and after his death obtain an honorary epithet. By any of these, excepting the milk and boy-names, added to his surname, an author may be designated; and there is thus a risk of the same work being ascribed to two or three different writers. In the catalogue before us this danger has been carefully guarded against.

To catalogue a Chinese library successfully requires, it will be seen, not only clerkly perseverance and accuracy, but a wide acquaintance with Chinese literature. And there is another difficulty :—"It is customary," says Professor Douglas, "for an emperor, when he ascends the throne, to choose a Neen haou, or title for his reign, much in the same way as the Popes of Rome adopt pontifical appellations on being called to the chair of St. Peter, and when, therefore, it has been necessary to refer to an emperor by his name, I have designated him by his Neen haou." We are not aware that this has led in the catalogue to any error or confusion, because there has not been occasion to refer to emperors far back in chronology. The rulers of the present dynasty, and of the Ming, which preceded it, have contented themselves with one Neen haou, covering the whole period of their reigns; but in the previous dynasties the title was often changed, sometimes more than ten times in one reign. It will be found better to refer to emperors by their canonised titles, or by a specification of their dynasty and their order in the line of succession. To the catalogue there is added an index of all the works in the collection, alphabetically arranged under their titles; and this is a valuable feature in it, for a Chinese scholar is pretty certain to know the title of the book which he wishes to consult, while he may be ignorant of the name of the author. The labour of Professor Douglas will thus completely fulfil the purpose for which it was intended. The Chinese works in the British Museum are now available for the student as much as those in the English or any other European language. We should be glad to learn that the Chinese ambassadors have been led to inspect the collection of the works of their country in our great library. A visit to the Museum might stimulate them to promote foreign studies in China, and lead in time to a corresponding collection of English works in the Imperial Library of Peking.

CHINESE IMMIGRANTS.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—Although, as you notice in a paragraph in your paper of the 7th inst., there is no absolute provision in the treaties between China and Great Britain in favour of Chinese Immigration to our colonies, it is important to bear in mind that our placing any serious restrictions upon it would be practically to stultify ourselves in the arguments which we have for years been urging upon the Chinese Government, and which form, indeed, the fundamental principle upon which the whole of our relations are based. We claim from the Chinese the right of peaceful intercourse with the country, including that of residence for trading purposes at the treaty ports. If we refuse such privileges to the Chinese in our colonies or elsewhere, we cannot logically continue to insist upon them, and certainly weaken most materially our grounds for claiming further concessions of any kind. This bearing of the subject has, as is naturally to be expected, been alluded to by Lord Carnarvon in some of his despatches on the subject, and no doubt it is to his Lordship's remarks in this direction that allusion was made by the Colonial members of Assembly. It will be obvious, however, that no modification of our treaties, short of giving up the whole principle upon which they are based, will meet the object which the Colonists have in view, and it would be impossible, therefore, for the Government here to sanction strong class legislation against the Chinese in Australia, without seriously compromising our position when demanding the adherence on the part of the Chinese to the treaties which grant us trading and other like privileges in China. If we put restrictions upon the Chinese we shall be teaching them a lesson in regard to which we may be quite sure they will not be long in bettering the instruction.—Yours faithfully, RECIPROCITY.

THE EASTERN TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

An extraordinary general meeting of the members of the Eastern Telegraph Company, Limited, was held on the 11th inst., for the purpose of considering a scheme for a joint-purse working and traffic agreement between that company and the Indo-European Telegraph Company, Limited. Mr. J. Pender, chairman, presided. The following are the chief features of the arrangement proposed :—Each company is to work its own system independently and pay its own expenses of working, renewals, and maintenance. The gross receipts of the two companies (less paids out) for Indian traffic to be divided in the proportion of 73 per cent. to the Eastern Company and 27 per cent. to the Indo-European Company. The like receipts for Trans-Indian traffic; 87 per cent. to the Eastern Company and 13 per cent. to the Indo-European Company. No alteration of tariff rates to be made without mutual consent. In case of interruption of one of the routes, the proportions above specified are to be at once varied so as to give the carrying company a larger share of the receipts. If the Eastern Company's line is interrupted for more than twelve months, its proportion is reduced to 50 per cent. of the receipts of both Indian and Trans-Indian traffic, and if the Indo-European Company's line is so long in default, that company is to receive only 15 per cent. of those receipts until the line is restored. After twenty-four months of interruption the Company in default ceases to share in the receipts. The agreement is to take effect as from the 1st of September, 1877, until the 31st of December, 1893, or any longer period to which the Indo-European Company's concessions may be extended.

The Chairman moved that the heads of the agreement be sanctioned and approved, and that the directors be authorised to carry the arrangement into effect, either as it now stands or with any modification of the details which the directors approve. For the last four years they had had in contemplation an arrangement such as the one now proposed. The two companies had been in friendly competition for seven years. The Indo-European had been opened for traffic in the same year as the cable of the British Indian Company, which now formed part of the Eastern Company. From 1870 to 1872, owing to the low tariff which was enforced, the Indian Company's receipts had scarcely covered their expenses. An appeal was made to the States of Europe, and a special conference was held at Baden, when the tariff to India was raised from £2 17s. for twenty words and £1 17s. for ten, to £4 10s. for twenty words, the lower minimum being abolished. The effect of this alteration had been to scarcely diminish the number of messages, while it had largely increased the revenue of both companies. In 1873 the Indo-European Company had earned the full expense for the first time, carrying forward a small balance. In 1874-5 they paid a dividend of 5 per cent., and in 1875-6 this was increased to 5½. In 1873 the Eastern had desired to make an arrangement with the Indo-European Company, but the Governments from whom the latter held their concessions had interfered and refused to sanction the agreement in which the respective boards concurred. The arrangement which was now submitted to the shareholders would, he hoped, secure to them, if possible, a more permanent dividend. It was true they had duplicated their lines, but this gave them what he might call a third security, and therefore they might look forward with perfect satisfaction to the knowledge that for twelve months, even if they were interrupted, they would continue to earn the dividends which had been paid. It had been the object of the directors to work out two important projects; one to secure the best possible service, and the other to secure for their shareholders something like a permanent dividend. The arrangement now submitted would enable them to give even a better service than they had had hitherto. It would lead to considerable economies, because, though the two companies had acted in a perfectly friendly spirit towards each other, yet there was always a desire between companies so situated to cut in, which always cost something. The advantages, too, that they would be able to confer on the press would be a very great benefit to the public. Lord William Hay seconded the motion.

In reply to a question, the Chairman said the agreement was to last for as long as the Indo-European Company had power to make it. When the interruption of that company took place through the war, they considered they had behaved rather magnanimously in suggesting that they should go on with the agreement without reference to the war at all.

The resolution was then put, and carried unanimously, and the proceedings ended with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

THE INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH COMPANY

An extraordinary meeting of the shareholders in the Indo-European Telegraph Company (Limited) was held on the 11th inst., for the purpose of considering the propriety of entering into a joint purse arrangement for working with the Eastern Telegraph Company. Lieut.-Colonel James Holland presided. The agreement is explained in our report of the meeting of the Eastern Telegraph Company.

The Chairman said that the object for which the meeting had been called had been fully explained in the report circulated among the shareholders with the heads of agreement, and left him but little to say. He might, however, remind the shareholders that the entering into this proposed arrangement was not a thing of yesterday; on the contrary, was mooted so far back as 1874. The directors, and he believed the shareholders of the two companies, had come to the conclusion that it was best to work in harmony. The fact was that telegraphy was not a business which could be conducted like any other. It was not capable of unlimited expansion, but was of necessity restricted to meeting the urgent wants of a comparative few. The soundness of that argument was proved by the fact that when the two companies were competing, though they lowered the rates to such a point as brought them both nearly to the verge of ruin, yet there was scarcely any perceptible increase in the traffic. Since the negotiations were first commenced both companies had been strengthened and put on a better footing. The Eastern Company had now two cables in good working order, and the Indo-European a double line, with an alternative line passing through the Caucasus. For a long time past there had been no competition, but a fair and honest rivalry between the two companies, and the agreement proposed to be entered into would not only benefit the two companies, but be of advantage to the public. The companies would be saved the expenses of a double staff, double advertising, double officers, &c., and the public would on the whole be better served. He concluded by moving a formal resolution approving the agreement.

Mr. Barlow briefly seconded the motion, which was adopted unanimously. Upon the motion of Mr. Ford, seconded by Mr. Wells, a vote of thanks was accorded to the directors and to Mr. Andrews, the manager, for having brought the difficult negotiations to so successful an issue, and the proceedings terminated.

Monetary and Commercial.

The Tea market continues to be devoid of animation, and the business of the past week has been very limited in extent. Prices have tended in favour of buyers, but are without important alteration. The improvement in the Silk market noticed last week has continued, and quotations maintain an advancing tendency. The Lyons market also exhibits a better tone.

During the week ended 8th inst. the deliveries of tea from the bonded warehouses in London when compared with the preceding week show an advance of somewhat more than 4 per cent., the total being 4,073,448 lb., of which 2,238,864 lb. was for home consumption, 940,713 lb. was for export, 838,880 lb. was removed coastwise, 49,859 lb. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 5,132 lb. was ships' stores. The duty received was £55,972, or an increase of about 3⅛ per cent.

In the Produce Markets a quiet tone has prevailed, and although some articles have been in steadier demand, on the whole only slight alterations in value are apparent. Coffee exhibits no alteration. Sugar is firmer, and Penang and China have realised slightly advanced prices. Business in Rice has been suspended, being only practicable at reduced values, which holders refuse to accept. Pepper shows a slight improvement. Tin is again lower, Straits being quoted £64 15s. to £65 per ton. Other articles are without alteration.

The report of the directors of the London and Glasgow Engineering and Iron Shipbuilding Company (Limited) for the year ended the 30th of June states that the balance at the credit of profit and loss account, including the balance carried forward from the previous year, amounted to £9,876. From this the directors recommend a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, or £1 10s. per share, which would absorb £7,174, carrying to the credit of next year £2,701. The sum carried to the depreciation fund is £3,299, making the amount now at the credit of this account £48,786.

At extraordinary meetings of the Eastern and Indo-European Telegraph Companies, the traffic agreement, the terms of which were given in our last issue, was sanctioned by the shareholders.

Telegraphic advices from Shanghai state that the firm of Gilman and Co. at that port and Hankow will cease to exist at the end of the current month. The firms at Hong Kong and Foochow will be continued in connection with Messrs. Gilman Brothers and Co., London.

Messrs. B. Nusserwanjee and Co. notify that they have established themselves as merchants and commission agents at No. 9, Mincing-lane. Their firms in Calcutta, N. Nusserwanjee and Co., and in Hong Kong, Nowrojee and Co., are identical with the London house.

The following extract from a letter received by a large manufacturing house in Birmingham from its agent in Yokohama is significant as indicating not only that our Japanese trade is threatened by the ingenuity of Japanese workmen, but that we may possibly have to face their competition in our own markets:—

The Japanese are now making a number of articles which I formerly purchased from you, and at prices beyond the possibility of European competition. In fact, quite a number of different classes of merchandise are being made in this country, and Europeans are obliged to discontinue importing in consequence. This may appear somewhat strange to you; nevertheless, it is a fact. Bear in mind, Asiatics live as no other races can, and upon food which would not sustain a European house dog. Frugal as badgers, industrious as bees, they undersell every labour market which they enter, and outdo every civilised artisan at his own trade. Any one who sees a Japanese carpenter at work, with his toes for a vice, and his thighs and stomach for a bench, has seen tools well used, and goods equal to European turned out. They will, in fact, become formidable rivals of all kinds of Western manufactures. The Japanese are always ready to learn, and to outvie everything that the West does, and this they do with less food, less air, less clothing, and less comfort than any civilised workman. Since I last wrote you I have been offered a large order for your goods, but at a price at which I should lose about 10 per cent.; yet a factory at Osaka has taken the order and is now making the goods.

Of the 26½ lacs of rupees in Council drafts on India tendered for on the 12th inst. only 25 lacs 60,000 rupees were sold, and these were allotted to Calcutta at an average rate of 1s. 8·83d., being the same price as last week. No allotment was made below 1s. 8 13-16d., and applicants at this price receive in full.

Purchases of Bar Silver have been made to some extent during the past week for the East and for Spain, but the market for a day or two has been somewhat inactive. The amount arrived from Germany is very large, being no less than £670,000; from the United States the arrival is small. The Britannia, from the Pacific, has brought £53,000; and the Moselle, from the West Indies, £27,000. The quotation remains unaltered at 54¼d. per oz. In Mexican Dollars there have been but few transactions; the price remains as last quoted, 53⅛d. per oz.

THE BOARD OF TRADE RETURNS.

The Board of Trade Returns have been issued for the month and eight months ended 31st August, and although not showing such favourable features as appeared to be foreshadowed in the previous month's return are not unsatisfactory. The imports of foreign and colonial produce for the month were valued at £31,944,411, as against £33,810,802 in the corresponding period of 1876, and £31,200,145 in 1875. For the eight months the value is given at £264,293,634, against £251,547,806 in 1876, and £250,505,786 in 1875. The exports of British and Irish produce for the month were valued at £17,746,662, against £17,962,884 in the corresponding month of 1876, and £19,418,876 in 1875. For the eight months the exports were £130,568,093, against £133,257,530, and £149,511,844 in 1875. As regards the imports we have received 2½ per cent. more than in August 1875, but less by 5½ per cent. than in August of last year. We have exported 1⅛ per cent. less than in the same month last year, while compared with 1875 the decrease is 8¾ per cent.

Among the articles exported, cotton yarn shows a decrease of 13 per cent. in quantity and 13½ per cent. in value; cotton piece goods show a decrease of 1 per cent. in quantity, but an increase of 2¾ per cent. in value; linen and jute yarn have decreased 10½ per cent. in quantity and 7½ per cent. in value; linen piece goods increased 14 per cent. in quantity and 13⅞ per cent. in value; woollen and worsted yarn decreased 16 per cent. in quantity and 21¾ per cent. in value; woollen cloths increased 24 per cent. in quantity and 11½ per cent. in value; worsted stuffs decreased 5 per cent. in quantity and 8⅛ per cent. in value; silk manufactures increased 9⅜ per cent. in value; coal, coke, &c. decreased nearly 5 per cent. in quantity and 7½ per cent. in value. In the Imports raw cotton has decreased 60⅜ per cent. in quantity and value; raw silk decreased about 70 per cent. in quantity and value; silk manufactures have increased in value 45½ per cent.; wool has increased 4⅝ per cent. in quantity and 5⅜ per cent. in value; flax increased 104 per cent. in quantity and 77½ per cent. in value; hemp increased 148½ per cent. in quantity and 144 per cent. in value; sugar decreased 7¼ per cent. in quantity, but 13⅜ per cent. in value; tea decreased 41 per cent. in quantity and 42⅜ in value; coffee increased 51½ per cent. in quantity and 53 per cent. in value; cocoa decreased 8½ per cent. in quantity, but increased 18 per cent. in value; rice decreased 9 per cent. in quantity, but increased 9¾ per cent. in value; wine decreased 13 per cent. in quantity and 6 per cent. in value; tobacco increased 14 per cent. in quantity and 11 per cent. in value; wood and timber increased 20½ per cent. in quantity and 26¾ per cent. in value; and iron and steel manufactures increased 4 per cent. in quantity and as much as 26 per cent. in value.

The total imports of gold and silver for the month of August amounted to £2,799,242, against £4,564,508 in the corresponding month of 1876, and £2,549,633 in 1875. In the eight months the imports were £24,560,256, against £24,320,296 in 1876, and £24,666,893 in 1875. The total exports of gold and silver in the month amounted to £4,447,176, as against £3,180,598 in 1876, and £1,774,787 in 1875. For the eight months the exports were £27,917,503, against £13,301,860 in the like period of 1876, and £15,233,373 in 1875. In August 1875 the imports exceeded the exports by £772,846, and in 1876 by £1,383,910, whilst in 1877 the exports have exceeded the imports by £1,647,930. In the eight months of 1875 the imports exceeded the exports by £9,433,620, and in 1876 by £10,918,436, whilst in 1877 the exports have exceeded the imports by £3,357,238.

The following is an extract from these Returns of the figures which refer to our export trade with China and the Far East:—

TEA.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says :—Our market still remains in a very quiet state, and the amount of business has been unusually small for the time of year. Prices show no material alteration, but the tendency, as is usual in a flat market, is in favour of buyers. Congous.—Red-leaf kinds: Siftings remain firm; common to good common are heavy of sale, but prices show no alteration. Fair to good medium Kaisow kinds are without improvement, Saryune kinds meeting with fair inquiry. Good to fine Kaisow kinds have been steady; in finest there has not been much doing. Pak Lin kinds remain much as before. Black-leaf kinds: Common of old season's have sold from 6¾d. to 7d. per lb.; good common, both old and new, are dull of sale, and auctions have gone rather lower. Fair to good medium second crop teas are very difficult of sale, even at rather lower prices. First crop Teas are rather more saleable, the quality comparing favourably with second crop Teas; good to fine kinds are fairly maintained, but business is only limited; in finest, the few sales made have been at rather reduced rates. New-make kinds: Common have been sold from 8¼d. to 8¾d. per lb.; fair kinds have been heavy at previous prices, but good qualities have been saleable. Oolongs: The demand is still without improvement, but a few parcels have been sold at the low rates current for fair to good kinds, fine being firm. Souchongs: Good to fine have been in moderate demand at previous prices. Scented Teas: Canton Capers show no material change. The demand is moderate, and prices much as last week. Orange Pekoes: Long-leaf kinds remain as before. Medium Macao Pekoes have sold rather lower, common at previous prices. Foochow Capers remain firm. Orange Pekoes sell slowly at last week's reduction. Green Teas: Prices at auction have ruled rather in favour of buyers, although the quantity offered has been moderate. The Public Sales have comprised 12,017 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve. The deliveries for the week, as compared with last year, are as follows, viz. :—

Coastwise	831,202 ...	974,000
	4,138,302	4,005,209

Messrs. W. J. and H. Thompson's Circular says :—The past week again has been extremely quiet, and the amount of business transacted privately most limited, and the public sales have been small. The arrival of four steamers will place a good assortment on the market, and there may be more inducement for the dealers to operate. The deliveries are going on satisfactorily. Foochow Congous: Siftings, 7¼d. to 8d.; good common, 8d. to 8¼d.; but under 1s. per lb. little has been done. Medium Saryunes are wanted, and the fresh arrivals of these to fine classes will probably meet with fair inquiry. Several parcels of fair of old import have been sold at auction at 8¼d. to 8½d. per lb. Black Leaf Congous: Common to good common have been sold at auction at 7¾d. to 8¼d., and a few have been sold privately to exporters; fair have been neglected, and only a few sales are reported at 11½d. to 1s. 2d. per lb. Medium and fine are held by importers for late rates; old imports of fair grades have been sold at auction at 7d. to 7½d. Tayshans Congous: Common, 8d. to 8½d.; medium to fine, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 8d. Souchongs and Oolongs are without alteration. Scented Teas.—Canton Capers: Common, 9¾d. to 10d.; fair at 11d. to 1s. 2d. are about late prices. Orange Pekoes.—Canton: Common, 10¾d.; fair, 1s. to 1s. 2d.; medium, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 5d. Green Teas: Ping Sueys at auction realised 9d. to 1s. 11d. for common to fine Gunpowders; fair Young Hyson, 1s. 0¾d. per lb.

Messrs. Arles, Dufour and Co.'s Lyons Circular of 8th September says :—We confirm our advices of the 3rd August. At that time it was generally expected that the Turkish war might soon be brought to a close; but the dragging character of events further discouraged the market. Simultaneously embarrassed houses were forcing sales, and thus a fresh decline of f.2 to f.5 on nearly all descriptions was established. Towards the end of the month, low prices arrived at and the absence of arrivals from Shanghai drew at last the attention of throwsters; the brisker demand encouraged holders, the market for raws, especially Chinas, assumed a brighter aspect and the late fall was gradually recovered. In throwns, some speculative purchases were effected at the lowest point. Immediate wants due to orders in Silk goods which begin to be placed were also met, and the demand became thus more active and prices firmer. Business, however, is likely to remain restricted by the unwillingness of most holders to realise at present low rates, and on the other hand by the uneasiness deriving from home politics. Indeed, as long as the outturn of these elections is not known, buyers and manufacturers particularly will not be induced to operate beyond daily wants.

CHINA STRAW PLAIT.—The public sales of China have again gone off slowly, and the large supply of 876 bales offered was disposed of, including 150 bales without reserve, at steady prices as follows :—White Bedford sort, £6 12s. 6d. to £7 10s.; common coarse and mixed kinds, £9 10s. to £11 15s.; medium to good medium, £13 to £15; good to fine narrow, £15 10s. to £19; with cord edge sort from £20 to £24; mottled, £6 10s. to £6 12s. 6d.; Tuscan, £6 to £6 10s.

CHINA PRESERVES.—100 cases Ginger (Chyloong) sold at 5½d., 100 cases ditto Cumquats bought in at 7d., and 100 cases Chow Chow at 5d. per lb.

CHINCHONA BARK.—340 cases, bags, &c., Ceylon Red sort sold at lower rates, dust and low chips 4d. to 1s., good chips, broken and lean quill, &c., 1s. 2d. to 1s. 8d., medium to bold quill and twigs 1s. 9d. to 2s. 7d., good to fine bold quill 2s. 10d. to 4s. 5d.

COCOANUT OIL.—The market has been rather firmer. Cochin is quoted £43 10s. to £44, and 40 tons good Ceylon in pipes have been sold at £38 15s. and some in puncheons at £39.

COFFEE.—Little alteration can be reported in this market, either as regards value or extent of demand; with exports of only moderate extent the demand has been rather slow, and public sales have gone off without animation, and private contracts have been small. Supplies of Plantation Ceylon have included a good proportion of coloury kinds of earlier import, which have again met a good demand at full to slightly higher rates for fine, whilst grey sorts have continued dull of sale and show a decline of about 1s. per cwt. Middling coloury closes at 109s. to 109s. 6d. Native Ceylon continues scarce, and firm, good ordinary being quoted 86s. 6d. to 87s. Closing values are as follow :—Plantation triage and inferior from 76s. to 94s., common grey to fine coloury small 92s. 6d. to 102s., fine fine ordy. pale grey to low middling 100s. to 106s., middling grey to coloury 106s. 6d. to 109s. 6d., good middling to fine middling 110s. to 114s., fine 114s. 6d., dull to fine bold 114s. to 123s., pea-berry 107s. to 116s.; Native small 78s., ordinary 84s., good ordinary to fine ordinary 87s. to 87s. 6d, good to fine bold 93s. to 95s. 6d., pea-berry 92s. to 93s. 6d. per cwt. There have been no sales of other East Indian descriptions. The Dutch Trading Company have announced for their next sale on the 19th instant 100,200 bags Java, against 91,220 bags last year.

COTTON.—Transactions in East India descriptions, which have been dwindling down for a long time past, have continued on a very small scale, fluctuations in value are scarcely perceptible, and closing prices show no variation from those given a fortnight ago, good fair Tinnivelly selling on the spot at 5¾d., fair Western Madras at 5d., and Tinnivelly for arrival, September-October shipment, at 5⅝d. for fair good. For American, however, the demand has improved, and a larger business has been done in speculative forward deliveries, prices closing 1-16d. to ⅛d. higher. At the close a stronger tone has prevailed than any previous day and prices are firmer. The sales for the fortnight are about 17,000 bales. On the spot, Tinnivelly 5 7-16d. to 5 11-16d., fair to good; Western Madras 5d. to 5⅜d., fair to good fair; Coconada 5⅛d., good fair; Salem 5⅛d. good fair; Bengal 4⅛d. to 5d., fully fair to good. For arrival, Tinnivelly 5 5-16d. to 5⅛d. June to October, good fair; American 6⅛d. to 6 3-32d. November-December shipment, middling (1 m clause). For delivery, American 5⅝d. to 6 5-32d. August to January, middling (1 m clause).

GAMBIER.—For arrival 50 tons have been sold at 20s. 4½d. per cwt. ex ship all faults.

GUM COPAL.—At auction 74 cases yellow Manila have been sold at 30s. per cwt.

HEMP.—With little disposition to buy except at a further concession, the market for Manila continues depressed; no private sales are reported and at the public sales the sound was held for previous rates, and all bought in, but a good part damaged sold at about its relative value. Of 2,416 bales offered the sound was all bought in at £27 10s. to £28 10s. Of the damaged about 1,000 bales sold, consisting of second and third classes at £23 10s. to £26 10s., a few first class at £27 to £27 10s. Of 17 bales China offered 8 bales sold at £16 to £21.

JAPAN WAX.—Fine squares have been sold at 46s. 6d. per cwt.

PEPPER.—Black: The market has been steady; and privately about 800 bags have been sold, chiefly Singapore, at 3⅝d. to 3 11-16d., Penang at 3 5-16d. A steady demand prevailed at the weekly public sale, and a total of 3,371 bags offered was partly sold at previous rates for Singapore, and firmer for Penang. Of 1,263 bags Singapore 950 bags sold, fair at 3⅝d., a few at 3 11-16d., common grey at 3½d. to 3⅝d. Of 1,553 bags Penang the sound was bought in at 3⅝d., but 460 bags damaged sold at 3½d. to 3⅝d. White met a steady demand at the public sale, and of 803 bags Singapore offered about 450 bags sold at easier rates, good at 6½d. to 6⅝d., fine at 6¾d. Privately 150 bags good bold Singapore have been sold at 6⅝d. per lb.

PLUMBAGO.—At auction of 395 barrels Ceylon offered 187 barrels were sold, the bulk dust at steady rates, common small lump 11s. 6d., dust (185 barrels), middling dull to good 8s. 3d. to 9s. 3d. per cwt.

RICE.—In floating cargoes sales can only be made on easier terms, which holders are unwilling to accept, and business has been suspended in consequence. On the spot 1,400 bags old Askoolie have been sold at 11s. 9d. The floating cargo per Asshur, 626 tons Moulmein, June sailing, was sold on the 8th inst. at 11s. 10½d., since when no sales have been effected.

RATTANS.—At auction 3,852 bundles (18 tons) mouldy Singapore sold, slight at £16 15s. to £17s 5s. per ton.

SUGAR.—Owing to the scarcity of crystallised Demerara, all grocery descriptions at the public sales have gone off with competition at an advance of about 6d., and Demerara 6d. to 9d. per cwt. For refining kinds steady rates have been obtained, but sales are moderate. Low brown Eastern kinds continue dull. The following is a record of the transactions in East India descriptions :—On the 7th inst. in auction 512 bags European Penang sold, brown at 19s. to 19s. 6d., low yellow at 21s. to 21s. 6d. Privately 220 baskets Native Penang sold at 16s. to 16s. 6d. In auction 3,430 bags good Ilo Ilo unclayed sold at 16s. 6d., two lots fine at 17s. 6d. Of 7,176 bags China (Hong Kong) offered, 2,300 bags clayed sold at full rates, good brown at 20s., low soft yellow at 22s., fine yellow at 23s. 6d. to 24s., fine grainy yellow at 25s., the remainder bought in, ordinary to good brown at 17s. to 19s., but 1,350 bags afterwards sold at 17s. to 17s. 6d., chiefly the latter. Privately 4,000 bags unclayed Ilo Ilo sold at 16s. 6d. On the 11th in auction of 4,535 bags grainy Penang offered 1,200 bags sold, fine colourv at 29s. to 29s. 6d., ditto drainage-damaged 27s. to 27s. 6d., soft at 25s. 6d., the remainder being bought in, grainy yellow 29s., low ditto at 26s. 6d. ; 3,713 bags clayed China were bought in, good to fine yellow at 24s. to 25s. Privately 300 bags brown China sold at 16s. On the 12th, privately 3,620 bags good to fine clayed China, ex the previous day's auction, sold at 23s. 9d. to 24s. 9d.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea : Small sales have been made privately in unworked at 48s. cash, less interest. At auction of 1,000 boxes unworked 500 boxes fair sold at 47s., being about 1s. lower. Cloves : The market remains quiet, but in auction 7 cases good Penang were sold at 2s. 1d. to 2s. 1¼d. Nutmegs : Penang continue in good demand, but none have been offered by auction. Mace : Two cases Penang pickings sold at 11d., and one cask Java at 10d.

SAGO.—At auction only 203 bags heated small were offered and bought in at 16s. to 16s. 6d.

SAGO FLOUR.—350 bags re-packed bought in at 16s. to 16s. 6d.

TAPIOCA.—1,126 bags Singapore were chiefly bought in at 2⅜d. to 2½d., only about 200 bags middling being sold at 2 11-16d. Pearl Tapioca : 66 bags medium bought in at 20s. Tapioca Flour : 482 bags Singapore bought in at 1¾d. to 2d.

TOBACCO.—In public sale 171 bales China partly sold at 5⅞d. to 6½d., 1 bale inferior 2d., 4 bales Manila were withdrawn or bought in at 2s. 6d.; and 1 bale Sumatra sold at 3s. Of Cigars 13 cases Manila Nuevo Habana sold at 4s. 3d. to 4s. 9d., and 10 cases Manila Cheroots Neuvo Cortado at 4s. 9d. to 5s., in bond.

TIN has been somewhat pressed for sale, and values are tending downwards. The current quotations are for Straits on the spot, £64 15s. o £65, afloat £65 to £65 10s.; Banca £69 ; Billiton £66 per ton.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

The market has continued to show a steady and more confident tone, and a firmer feeling has prevailed, both spinners and manufacturers asking full prices. Buyers have also been making offers to a considerable extent at only slight reductions on the quoted rates, but producers are not disposed to give way ; the transactions have consequently been restricted.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23 Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mallens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

—o—

YOKOHAMA.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 1st August, and we have advices via San Francisco ten days later, viz., to the 11th August. The French mail from London, June 15, arrived out on the 29th July, and the following P. and O. mail of June 22 was received on the 4th August.

The present mail brings but little local news from this port, and the papers are chiefly filled with accounts of the journey of his Imperial Majesty the Mikado from Kioto to Tokio, which took place on the 30th July. It has attracted special attention from the fact that the journey was performed in a merchant-steamer, instead of in a man-of-war. It appears that when it was notified that the Emperor and the Court were about to return to Tokio from Kioto Mr. I. Yataro, of the Mitsu Bishi Mail S.S. Co., placed one of his boats at the disposal of his Majesty, who graciously accepted the offer, and the Hiroshima Maru was despatched to Kobe to bring the Emperor back to the capital. The ship was beautifully fitted out for the occasion, special arrangements being made to gratify the taste and promote the comfort of his Majesty. The ship being exclusively for this voyage, at the service of the Mikado, of course neither passengers nor cargo were taken. Mr. Iwasaki expressed much pleasure that his offer should have been accepted, for he interpreted it to signify that the Emperor not only has confidence in the management of the Mitsu Bishi Company, but that he takes an interest in its success, as manifested by his Majesty's return in a commercial steamer of the company, instead of a man-of-war. The weather was fortunately all that could be desired, and everything went well. Both the Emperor and Empress seemed to thoroughly enjoy the voyage, and expressed their entire satisfaction with all the arrangements. A few days after its termination, and, as a token of his Majesty's appreciation of Mr. Iwasaki's considerate services, the Emperor bestowed upon him a number of very valuable presents, conspicuous amongst which may be mentioned a large gold sacé cup.—sakadzuki.—bearing the Imperial crest, and several very choice old curios, the private property of his Majesty; in these are included a splendid gold lacquered cabinet—shodana—having the chrysanthemum on every ornament, together with a pair of very old bronze vases inlaid with gold, and of great value.

It is reported that the Mitsu Bishi Company have within a few weeks expended about a million of dollars in the purchase of steamers to add to their already numerous fleet. So many of the Company's vessels have been taken up for the war that its local operations have been seriously interfered with, to the loss and inconvenience of the public. The maritime carrying trade of the country is on the increase, and the Company's safe, well-manned, and well-found boats are rapidly superseding the slow and risky native craft. On the 26th of July a severe gale visited Yokohama; and although the wind was not of any remarkable violence, it nevertheless, through the heavy sea caused by it, caused a great deal of damage along the Bund. Besides the loss of a junk, the large steam dredger, which was lying off the mouth of the Creek, drifted from her anchorage, and eventually took the ground just off the P. and O. Company's offices, where she lay bumping heavily, carrying away all her dredging apparatus, &c., whilst the seas made a clean breach over her. Fortunately the crew were all landed safely, but not without difficulty and danger, as they were obliged to climb along a rope, and one or two of them tiring before they completed their hazardous journey dropped off into the surf beneath. One man narrowly escaped a watery grave, and but for the exertions of Mr. Pitman, who rescued him when he was already insensible, he would never have reached the shore alive. This was the only other accident in this portion of the bay, but the Bund itself suffered very much. The sea broke completely over it, washing up the road way, and carrying the heavy coping stones more than half way across.

Notwithstanding the proclamation which was issued some time back, it appears that torture has not yet been fully abolished in Japanese Courts. The Herald says :—

In consequence of an ambiguously-worded Government notification with regard to the future necessity of confession as proof in criminal cases, the native press claimed for the Government credit for having abolished torture, and with torture one of the principal obstacles to the abolition of the extra-territoriality clause. Official reproof was administered to some petty judges who had employed torture in their courts, and had not taken care to prevent the fact being ventilated in the newspapers. Several of the judges have studied law, either at foreign universities or at the law college in Tokio under foreign teachers, and it is only fair to presume that they are alive both to the inhumanity and the futility of torture as an aid in arriving at the truth in judicial investigations, and it must be supposed that consequently they are averse from resorting to it. But the better informed portion of the foreign press persistently refused to believe in the total abolition of torture so long as Government refrained from declaring itself in such authentic and unmistakable terms as the gravity of the matter, according to foreign ideas, demanded. The application of torture mentioned by the Hochi Shimbun is for the moment limited to the special court at Kiushiu, established for the purpose of trying rebel prisoners, and presided over by Oki, the Minister of Justice.

From the above-named paper we take the following items :—

Several samurai have been condemned to punishment for planning the assassination of different members of the Ministry. A great amount of doubt is, however, felt as to whether these plots are really genuine.

The results of a census, taken on the 1st July, 1875, have now been compiled, and give the total population of Japan on that date at 33,625,678, showing an increase of 325,003 since the preceding year.

An Exhibition will be opened at Ouyeno in the course of the month, and, according to the native journals, it is proposed to hold an international one, at which foreign nations will be invited to exhibit, during the year 1883.

Rear-Admiral Reynolds, lately in command of the U.S. Asiatic Squadron, proceeds home by this mail, having been obliged to resign his command in consequence of ill-health.

The German gunboat Cyclops, which left for Shanghai on the 5th instant, took from here, for trial in Germany, seven prisoners implicated in the late murder of a quartermaster of the French ironclad Atalante.

It is stated in the native journals that the Government are about to issue an extra 40,000,000 dollars' worth of paper money.

The French newspaper here, the Echo du Japon, has received a warning from the French Minister, for republishing an article from the XIXme Siecle, by Edmund About.

HIOGO AND OSAKA.

The report by Mr. Consul Annesley on the trade of Hiogo and Osaka for 1876 has been published.

The trade of Hiogo has been as follows :—

Imports, $3,748,967 ; exports, $3,491,230 ; total, $7,150,197 ; showing a decrease of $1,017,822 on the trade of 1875. The comparative tables for the two years give the following figures (exclusive of treasure) :—Imports: in 1875, $5,364,917 ; in 1876, $3,748,967 ; decrease of $1,605,950. Exports: in 1875, $2,813,102 ; in 1876, $3,401,230 ; increase of $588,128. The Import trade has thus continued to diminish. The Export trade on the other hand shows a fair increase, which is attributable to an increase in the chief articles exported from this port, principally in tea, which has been exported considerably in excess of the previous year.

The Foreign trade of Osaka continues to decrease, and chiefly so as regards Exports, which in 1874 amounted to $566,537, in 1875 to $225,021, and in 1876 to only $99,722. Imports: In 1875, $605,510 ; in 1876, $406,089 ; decrease of $199,421. Exports: In 1875, $225,021 ; in 1876, $99,722 ; decrease of $125,299.

The decline of the Foreign trade of Osaka commenced from the opening of the railway to Hiogo, which has caused foreign trade to centralise at Hiogo. Almost all the foreign merchants who, previous to the opening of the railway were established and carried on business at Osaka, have removed to Hiogo. There is not a single British firm left at Osaka. The Foreign residents have diminished from seventy-nine in 1875 to forty-four in 1876. The British residents in Osaka, who in 1875 numbered twenty-four, diminished to sixteen in 1876.

No foreign merchant vessel visited Osaka during the past year

The Hiogo News says :—

This week speculation is rife concerning the Imperial will and pleasure as to the introduction of a new form of government ; two events of significance have taken place which proclaim them as precursors of most important changes—the departure of his Imperial Majesty last Saturday from the Western for the Eastern capital ; and the meeting, held on the same day at Osaka, of certain magnates to discuss the situation and the granting of actual political power to the people in a Representative Assembly. It has become too plain to be any longer shelved to the Tenno and the Government, that if the country is to be saved from a dire revolution entailing misery and wretchedness to the natives for the next ten years a House of Representatives must be granted to the people, and the centralisation which for the past ten years has worked so much injustice to the provinces must be abolished.

There are again mysterious rumours of some trouble in Tosa, and recently some forty of the Hiogo Ken police were sent down there, in obedience to a sudden order. We hear that three men who, when they arrived on the native bund, refused to obey orders and proceed on board ship, were taken up to the jail in custody.

CHINA.

TIENTSIN.

Writing under date of July 28 the Courier's correspondent says :—

It is authoritatively announced that in a few days a new bank will be opened in Tientsin, near the mouth of the Grand Canal, and opposite to the Viceroy's Yamen. It is supposed that this potent official is at the bottom of the enterprise, but some of the principal men in the China Merchants' S. N. Co. are the apparent managers. The capital is understood to be between two and three hundred thousand taels, and it is said that the interest is guaranteed to be not less than 5 per cent., whatever that may signify. Sycee is to be melted into shoes of a uniform weight, and in addition to discounting bills, the bank is to issue notes. The effect of the establishment is a matter of general interest.

NANKING.

The correspondent of the Shanghai Courier writes :—The surviving victims of the powder explosion last month have received from the Viceroy Tls. 4 each ; while Tls. 12 have been given to the friends of each of the dead. The total number of injured is said to have been sixty-three, of whom a third have died. The ghosts of the dead return nightly to the house of the mandarin who owned the powder, and disturb his slumbers by their unearthly noises. These indignant shades try to force open his doors and knock long and vainly for admission. I have been asked if I knew of any means of quieting these nocturnal visitors, but not cherishing the most pleasant recollections of the man I did not manifest much sympathy for him. On the day after the explosion he wished me privately to prescribe for a wounded servant, but was too proud to permit me to attend to the case personally. If the ghosts wish to visit him they should not be interfered with.

The Nankin Arsenal has been enlarged during the past year by an additional foundry and other buildings. As there has been no foreigner connected with the establishment in any way for some time the present state of affairs is very creditable to the managers. If the Chinese are able to use the war material they manufacture, they would certainly give an enemy some trouble.

NEWCHWANG.

The North China Herald's correspondent writes :—The following is part of a circular issued by the Customs. After notifying that the hours of business are from ten A.M. to four P.M., agents and masters of all vessels are warned, "To ensure the clearance of a vessel on the day desired, it will be necessary to hand in the outward manifest at a not later hour than 3.30 P.M.

Digitized by Google

If manifests are received after that hour there is risk of clearance not being completed by four P.M., and consequent detention of the vessel till after ten A.M. the next day." Are agents and masters to be thankful that a much earlier hour is not named? Would it not be better to say positively that no vessel shall be cleared, unless the outward manifest be handed in by 3.30. P.M.? Because if "A." gets cleared when he is a few minutes late and "B." does not the latter might feel injured, with or without cause, and it would be advisable to avoid the possibility of such feeling. No one will of course question the power of the Customs in such matters, but it must not be forgotten that being delayed till 10 A.M. the next day, may involve the loss of a high spring tide or a fair wind; and in the case of Sunday intervening, still further delay and loss. Now of all ports in China and Japan, Newchwang is the one where merchants and shipowners can least afford to lose even half-an-hour (with possible and probable consequences). For one-third of the year enforced idleness is the order of the day, during which time salaried people alone can live without using their capital. In Shanghai, perhaps, it would not matter, for you clear as many ships in a day as we do here in a month.

WUCHANG.

Under date of July 28 the Courier's correspondent writes:—I have waited patiently for some news of the punishment of the riotous students whose assault was the theme of my last letter, but as late as two days ago nothing but correspondence was to be heard of. Letters have been passing from Her Majesty's Consul to both the Taoutai and the Viceroy, whose replies are more or less satisfactory, as the case may be; but no one is arrested, and so far as I know no proclamation issued, though this last without some punishment would be of little avail. The civil students have also striven to distinguish themselves. They were, it seems, gambling by night, and were pounced upon, and a good number of them taken to the city magistrate's Yamen. Next day several hundred of them went to the Chefu's to clamour for their release, but the gates were closed in their faces, and as they were persistent and rowdy some foreign armed troops were let out the back way, and so coming upon them from the rear captured a number of the ringleaders. The worthy magistrate does not lack energy when it pleases him to do justice. But popularity is preferable to siding too demonstratively with the outside barbarian, be the treaties never so plain. We have had hot days of late, which make us wish it were as near the end of August as it is now to that of sultry July.

WENCHOW.

The Daily News correspondent writes:—

It is rumoured here that the C.M.S.N. Co. intend running a steamer, probably the Hankwang, between the ports of Shanghai, Foochow, Wenchow, and Ningpo. Should they do so, both rates of freight and passage on this line will doubtless come down considerably. Cases of opium-poisoning are very frequent here, and on several occasions the Chinese have sent for the resident European doctor, but only when the patient was dead. The respective relatives were not a little surprised when the doctor told them he could not bring the dead to life. It has been raining here for several days again, and everything gets mildewed.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 5th August; the P. and O. mail from London, June 22, was received on the 2nd August.

The locust plague was, at the date of the last mail, causing further anxiety in the Settlement. Clouds of the insects were seen passing over certain portions of the district between Shanghai and Woosung. Small bodies were seen crossing the railway on the 26th July, but the main swarm did not arrive till next day, when the numbers were so large that the fields on both sides the line, the line itself, and the very air were filled with them for an almost incredible distance. The flying army is said to have been so numerous that as the trains sped along the drivers caught the insects by handfuls. But slight damage, however, appears to have been done to the crops, though that is possibly to be attributed to the fact that the insects did not settle, those which halted taking wing again almost immediately. Some stragglers were found, it is said, in the public garden and elsewhere in the Settlement.

A native paper, the Sunpao, gives a sad account of the deaths of five beggars, after partaking of a hearty meal of the flesh of a dog shot by the Municipal Police. It appears that they found and surreptitiously took away a carcase lying on the side of the road, roasted, and shortly disposed of it. Soon after the meal was over they were seized with violent pains in the stomach, and after rolling on the ground in great agony for a time, expired. It does not appear that any effort was made to save their lives.

The charge of perjury against Chang Van-ho and Ho Chu-tsai, arising out of the Tunsin collision case, has been again before the Mixed Court. Two additional witnesses were produced, and after they had been examined, and the case argued at great length, the Court reserved its decision.

The North China Daily News has the following:—

We regret, and doubtless there are many in the Settlement who will sympathise in our feeling, to announce the demise of a very useful official of H.B.M. Consulate, Yang Heding, the native linguist, who died at two P.M. on the 30th ult., at the early age of forty-two years. He had been suffering for upwards of twelve months from an internal disease, against which he bore up for some time, but at length became so prostrated as to be compelled to keep his room. Heding was not a clever man, but he possessed a good knowledge of English (having been educated in the United States), and was thoroughly versed in the duties of his office. His services outside the immediate routine of his own department—in the several courts of law, for instance—were always cheerfully given; and he possessed those rare qualities in a Chinaman, a retiring disposition coupled with a modest and obliging demeanour. He was also a sincere Christian, and was for years a member of the American Episcopal Church.

The second trip to Pootoo under the auspices of the C.M.S.N. Company was again a great success; a larger number of the community than on the previous occasion availing themselves of the opportunity offered, including several ladies. A thoroughly enjoyable trip was experienced from start to finish, all on board expressing themselves in glowing terms of the great treat afforded, and the attention shown them. The one hope appeared to be that further opportunities of visiting this delightful spot might be given during the remaining portion of the season.

We hear that the plot of land known as "Thorne's Garden," opposite the Parsee Cemetery, has been privately disposed of at the high price of Tls. 1,600 per mow.

Nothing has yet been heard of the missing ship Lauderdale and barque Exploit, which are now about twenty-two days overdue from Nagasaki. The gravest fears are therefore entertained for their safety. H.B.M. gunvessel Frolic has not yet returned from her presumed mission of search, but until she does all hope should not be lost, especially when it is borne in mind that a few months since the brig Minatitlan was over twenty days on the voyage from Nagasaki to Shanghai, and eventually turned up after undergoing considerable hardships.

An advertisement has recently appeared in the Sin-pao signed by a foreigner, the object of which is to start a native company for the purpose of manufacturing cotton piece goods. The capital required is stated at 200,000 taels, an amount which it is not improbable the Chinese Government may be inclined to advance, if it can be shown that it will have the effect of rendering China independent of Manchester.

HONG KONG.

Dates by this mail extend to the 11th August; the P. and O. mail from London, June 22; arrived out on the 28th July, the following French mail of June 29 was received on the 6th August and the P. and O. mail of July 6 arrived out on the 10th August.

The Colony has again been threatened with a typhoon, and commendable precautions were taken to meet it, but fortunately, though the weather was sufficiently threatening to cause apprehension, it did not culminate in anything more serious than some sharp squalls. On the 6th August the barometer fell to 29·52, and during the afternoon, with a high temperature and a still falling barometer, preparations were made in the harbour. On a signal from the Harbour-Master's office, a gun was fired from the Police Hulk about six o'clock, which warning was immediately followed by a general clearing out of native craft of every description, nearly all making for the east for shelter from the expected storm. The Ichang went out to the Ly-ee-moon Pass, and another river steamer took up a berth under the lee of Stonecutters' Island. Her Majesty's gun-vessels in harbour had shifted to an anchorage off the Coal-sheds. But the sky continued clear and bright throughout the night, and the expected typhoon did not appear. The belief was strong, however, that one would arrive the following night, and the same precautions were adopted. With the exception of a sudden sharp squall of wind and rain which only lasted a few minutes no rain fell that night. The next day (the 9th) was much cooler, and some rain fell during the morning and afternoon. Towards dusk it began to blow pretty stiffly, in gusts, with heavy torrents of rain, and again there seemed for some time a chance of a typhoon. Subsequently, however, the wind fell, and though great quantities of rain fell during the night it did not rise again into anything like a gale, and at the time of the mail's departure no further apprehensions were entertained.

Two Italian seamen, named Amico Giacomo and Guiseppe Pacheor, have been tried at the Supreme Court, before the Hon. Chief Justice and a special jury, on a charge of murdering a seaman named Manoel Rae. They were also indicted for the manslaughter of the said Manoel Rae. The deceased had left the German barque Deutchsland about a month before the time he met with his death, and the prisoners had left the American barque J. D. Peters the day previous to the occurrence. They were staying at the same boarding-house, and on the night of the 14th June were drinking together, in company with several other men. Deceased's body was, as our readers will recollect, found in Gage-street, with a stab in the heart, and another in the neck, and there were traces of blood from a spot in Aberdeen-street, where the wounds had evidently been inflicted. The jury found the prisoners guilty of manslaughter, and Giacomo was sentenced to three years' penal servitude and Pacheor to two years' hard labour, the judge holding that there was some evidence of the latter having at one time tried to pacify his companions.

The eleventh ordinary meeting of the shareholders of the China Traders' Insurance Company was held at the offices, Hong Kong, on the 31st ult. The report and accounts were adopted nem. con. An extraordinary meeting was subsequently held, at which, after some little discussion, it was decided to add the following regulation to the articles of association :—"The company may, by special resolution, so modify the conditions contained in its memorandum of association as by sub-division of its existing shares to divide its capital shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the memorandum of association."

From the China Mail we take the following :—

An inquest has been held at the Government Civil Hospital on the body of a girl named Tsang Amui, aged fifteen years, which had been exhumed by order of the Coroner. It appeared that a woman named Leong Alai, living in No. 42, Peel-street, was seen by a Portuguese named A. Dos Santos, who lives at the corner of Elgin and Peel-streets, to beat a girl severely at seven o'clock last Monday morning, and the girl died at three P.M., and was buried at four P.M. Mr. Santos spoke to a Sikh constable, but, from what Dr. Eitel said, who had heard something of this affair through his Chinese servants, it was understood that the constable only replied "maskee." Dr. Eitel therefore mentioned this matter to a Chinese lokong, but fearing the lokong would not make a report, he went himself to the station, and reported. It appeared, however, that the Sikh constable had already made a report, and that Inspector Lindsay was waiting for a Chinese detective to accompany him to make inquiries. From what the Inspector heard, he applied to the Coroner to have the body exhumed. The inquest had not been concluded when the mail left.

The above paper extracts the following from a private letter from Amoy anent Dr. Douglas's demise :—"It will be remembered that there have been three cases of death from cholera among the Europeans in this port, two marines of H.M.S. Hornet and a mate belonging to a mercantile vessel. Now we have another death to chronicle, that of Dr. Douglas. The poor gentleman died within a few hours after the first attack. He seemed to have been quite prepared to meet his fate, as he thanked his physician when he was informed of his dangerous state, and said he would first of all send a telegram to his family at home, which he did, saying he was dying. Afterwards he arranged all his papers with admirable quietness, and having done so breathed his last, leaving many to deplore his death, for he was much beloved and esteemed by both the natives and Europeans in the place. He is said to have been the most hard-working and assiduous man of his calling in this port."

The Overland Trade Report, commenting upon the proposed native company for the manufacture of Piece Goods, in Shanghai, says :—"The Chinese would fain do without Indian opium and Lancashire cottons ; they are willing to sell us their surplus tea and silk for hard cash, but they do not care to let money go out of the country. Moreover, they object to the influence which foreign customs and inventions are gaining in China, and hence they desire to get rid of them by any means that present themselves. If an attempt is really made to establish cotton mills in Shanghai, and succeeds, it will, of course, prejudicially affect the demand for Lancashire fabrics. But we are bound to say that some of the Lancashire manufacturers have done their best to bring foreign piece goods into disrepute by the scandalous manner in which they have adulterated them. This fact has undoubtedly operated to prejudice the Chinese against them, and has consequently helped to prepare the way for a good reception of cottons made on the spot if they are anything like equal to foreign goods in texture. It is possible, of course, that the natives may exhibit some prejudice against such an enterprise at first, but if it is started under official auspices no serious manifestation of ill-will need be expected. The scheme was mooted some time since, but no definite proposal has ever been made on the subject before. Just at present, however, the Government offers are in a rather exhausted condition, and consequently the scheme may be deferred for a while."

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 18th August ; the French mail from London, July 13, was received on the 13th August. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times ;—

The following is the present position of affairs in regard to the Moar State :—H.H. the Maharajah of Johore is, with the consent, if not at the desire, of the Government here in charge of the Moar State. His Highness is said to have had a covetous eye upon it for a long time, and to have brought pressure in the shape of bribes, threats, and personal persuasion upon the late weak-minded Sultan Ali, to induce him to make a formal cession of it, as his father did of Johore to the Maharajah's father. Although always in debt and difficulties, Sultan Ali firmly refused to part with the sole remaining patrimony of his family, the old Royal house of Johore, which was secured to him by the Treaty of 10th March, 1855, under the sanction of the British Government. Since Sultan Ali's death a deliberate attempt has been made to ignore and set aside the claims of his eldest son, Tunku Alam, who, by birth and blood, is the proper heir, in favour of a younger son, Tunku Mahmood. The Maharajah is said to favour Tunku Mahmood's claims for his own purposes. A portion of our merchants here advocate the annexation of the State to Johore in the general interests of trade and for the development of the country. The Government have made no sign beyond sanctioning the Maharajah's taking charge of the State pending a decision as to the succession and a declaration that the title of Sultan of Johore is now extinct. A week before his death Sultan Ali, under the influence of his wife, Tunku Mahmood's mother and her relatives, made a will in favour of Tunku Mahmood, but it was not signed till the day before he died, when he was in articulo mortis, and then only, it is said, with a mark, the Sultan's hand being held, in the presence of Mr. Isemonger, Police Magistrate of Malacca. This will is propounded as excluding the claims of Tunku Alam, and as Tunku Mahmood is merely a boy of eleven, who is entirely in the hands of the Maharajah of Johore, the whole affair is looked upon with the greatest suspicion by the natives. Beyond all question Tunku Alam is the rightful heir, and were a Sir Stamford Raffles here he would be acknowledged as such without more ado. As there is not, Tunku Alam has to appeal to the Secretary of State to do him right. The State is a small one, but is said to be rich in alluvial gold deposits. It is entirely undeveloped as yet, and the population is a very sparse one. His Excellency the Administrator has paid a visit to it to judge for himself as to the state of affairs, ascending the Moar river, in the Pluto, the southern boundary of the State, for some distance. It will be seen that the headmen told his Excellency that the population wished annexation to Johore, but there is too much reason to believe that this expression of opinion was got up to order, and had more regard to his Excellency's supposed wishes than the truth. One fact speak volumes; the real Tumongong of Moar is a prisoner in Johore, because he upholds Tunku Alam's claims, and the Tumongong who appeared before his Excellency is said to have been another man appointed by the Maharajah of Johore.

The Hon. John Douglas, C.M.G., Colonial Secretary, proceeds to Perak in the Colonial steamer Pluto on a visit of inspection and for other purposes. The chiefs and people seem now to have accepted with satisfaction the new order of things, and to have settled down with some feelings of security. The British bark Cotherstone, with the ex-Sultan Abdullah and other chiefs of Perak, arrived at Anjer on the 10th July, and Captain Blanche has reported to the charterers here all well on board.

From Salangore advices report continued financial progress. In Sunghie Ujong, Rambowe and Johole all is quiet. On his recent visit to Moar river his Excellency Col. Anson was met by Tunku Antar and the other chiefs of the small inland States, and received satisfactory assurances as to the state of affairs with them.

Mr. Hugh Low, H.M.'s Resident in Perak, has been making a sort of progress through portions of Perak, for the laudable purpose of making himself personally acquainted with the capabilities of the country and the wishes and dispositions of the chiefs and people. Mr. Low kept a diary of his journey for the information of Government. It contains a full account of Mr. Low's journey to Kinta and Kampar, which are considered the richest districts in Perak, and, we have no doubt, will be read with much interest by our readers. Very satisfactory accounts, we are informed, continue to be received from Mr. Low of the general state of affairs in Perak.

The Celestials in Johore territory seem to be even more daring than their brethren in Singapore. In the beginning of last month about fifteen of them succeeded in robbing the house of the head Chinaman of the Puchah Priok River, and in a few days afterwards they again attacked the same premises, when, in addition to robbery, they murdered the owner of the house, a lodger, and a coolie. The Johore authorities, we regret to state, were slow in communicating with the police here in the matter, and great difficulties in arresting the suspected offenders have consequently arisen, but nine Chinese are now in custody on suspicion, and it is probable four of them at least will be handed over to the Johore authorities, to be dealt with by them. Mr. Maxwell, the Superintendent of Police, has had, we believe, much trouble in this case, and the supineness of the Johore Government is not creditable.

The steamer Kjobenhaven returned from the wreck of the Gloria, and it is probable that the idea of getting the steamer off the reef will be abandoned by the present Company. The tongkang employed in taking the cargo had been lost, and there had been very heavy weather in the quarter where the wreck is lying. Not unlikely the wreck will be resold, as there is a great deal of valuable material, such as steam-winches, anchors and chains and other stores on board.

Perhaps the most noteworthy incident has been a small scare about our rice supply. For a day or two there were rumours of an impending famine, and prices went up to $4.50 and $5 per picul. Reports were current that the export of grain from Bangkok and Saigon would shortly be prohibited. Prices have, however, fallen greatly within the last day or two, and there is reason to believe that the running up of prices and the circulation of alarming rumours was the work of a ring of interested dealers, who have been making large profits thereby. Supplies in Bangkok and Saigon are now known to be ample, rain has fallen abundantly in both countries, and there is no prospect of any prohibition of export.

An ample supply of horses has been received during the fortnight from West Australia, and they have been disposed of at auction at an average price of $100 to $125.

His Honour Judge Phillips has gone to Penang to hold the Assizes there, and the administration of justice may now be said to be on a more satisfactory footing than it has been since Sir Andrew Clarke annexed Judge Phillips to the Executive three years ago.

An instance of trade-unionism or rattening by Chinese has taken place. An omnibus proprietor has had nine horses stabbed, and so disabled, with some poisoned weapon, and this atrocity is attributed to the jealousy of Chinese engaged in the omnibus traffic. Several Chinese are in custody suspected of the deed.

The destination of the Russian Fleet, which left San Francisco some time ago under sealed orders, is now known to be Vladivostock. The Admiral's flagship arrived there on the 1st July, and the rest of the fleet was shortly expected. Great military preparations are being made at the port.

Market Reports.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA.—A fair business had been transacted in most goods, but the demand had been somewhat checked by the decline in native currency. In Yarns the chief demand had been for 28/32 and 16/24, of medium to low spinnings. As regards Shirtings prices were lower, and 9 lb. was the only weight for which much real inquiry existed. Indigo Shirtings, Cotton Italians, Turkey Reds and Velvets were all more saleable at better rates. Woollens were comparatively neglected, excepting Italian Cloth and Blankets, for which there was good inquiry. Mousselines had been in moderate demand, and the tendency was rather weaker. Metals continued quiet; sales of Bar Iron had been made at a reduction; Nail Rods were steady, but without any general demand.

TIENTSIN.—Piece Goods were in limited request at unfavourable prices.

NEWCHWANG.—Manufactures had been placed in considerable quantities, and arrivals had been freely taken delivery of. Drills, English and American Sheetings, and T-Cloths had been most in demand, although other kinds of Cotton Goods had not been neglected. The subjoined quotations were from actual sales:—Grey Shirtings, 8 lbs., Tls. 1.2.3 to 1.2.9.; 10 lbs., Tls. 2.3 to 2.4.4; White Shirtings, Stag, Tls. 1.7; ditto, Blue Cock, Tls. 2.1.2; T-Cloths, 6 lbs., Tls. 0.9; ditto, 7 lbs., Tls. 1.3.8 to 1.4.4; Sheetings, Horse, Tls. 2.1.4; ditto, American, Tls. 2.6 to 2.6.3; Drills, English, Dragon, Tls. 1.9.8; ditto, Koong-yih, Tls. 1.9.7 to 2.0.3; ditto, Lion and Globe, Tls. 2.3.5; American Horse, Tls. 2.9. to 2.9.5; ditto, Dragon, Tls. 3 to 3.0.3.

HANKOW.—The Chamber of Commerce Circular says:—There has been but little change to note in the market for imports. Cotton Goods: Grey Shirtings, common and medium qualities, 8¼ lbs., are rather firmer, and best are still in demand, at Tls. 1.80 to 1.85 per piece. T-Cloths: There is no change to note with regard to these. Woollens: There is little doing, and the quotation for Scarlet Long Ells C.P.H. is Tls. 6.25 to 6.35; assorted Camlets C.P.H., Tls. 12.75 to 13.20 per piece: Spanish Stripes C.P.H., Tls. 0.50 to 0.55 per yard. Metals—Lead: We have no improvement to note, and there is but little doing at last quotations: Quicksilver and Tin: There is nothing doing in these, and quotations are unaltered.

SHANGHAI.—There had been a very quiet week in imports. All life appeared to have gone out of the market, and except for one or two specialities even lower quotations failed to draw buyers. Dewhurst's 8-4 lbs. Eagle Grey Shirtings remained nominally without change in value, but the next grades, previously in best demand, had declined 2 candareens per piece. For Japan there was a little demand for 8-4 lbs., better than common at about Tls. 1.19 to 1.20 per piece, but all classes between this and Tls. 1.60 to 1.65 per piece were in little request. Drills had found buyers from Tls. 1.78 to 1.82 for 14 lbs., at which prices 9,000 pieces had changed hands, a line 10,500 pieces 15 lbs. being also settled at Tls. 1-86½ per piece. In T-Cloths a small business was passing in finest 7 and 8 lbs. at previous quotations, and common 7 lbs. had been more inquired for at about Tls. 1.00 per piece. Camlets were being forced off by auction at lower prices. Spanish Stripes were a shade higher, and private sales were practicable at Tls. 0.56½ per yard assorted. The depressed condition of Metals continued; Lead, Iron and Tin Plates had been dull, with limited sales: Quicksilver had advanced to Tls. 60.

FOOCHOW.—There were sellers of L.B. Lead at $7.80 cash, but there were but few buyers.

HONG KONG.—A fair amount of business had been done, but the market for Piece Goods closed dull, but holders were somewhat firmer in their demands, owing to the decline of the price of silver. Good 8.4 lbs. Shirtings continued almost unsaleable, with a heavy stock. Metals quiet. Yarns: Common to good qualities of 16-24s had been dealt in to some extent, at slightly weakening rates. 28-32s: Stocks had been reduced, and this had had a slight effect, medium qualities being $1¼ per bale higher, but offers for best Spinnings were lower, holders, however, continuing firm. There had been an improvement in the demand for 38-42s, and at the close rates were hardening. Grey Shirtings: 7lbs. neglected, quotations nominal. Some demand for common qualities of 8¼lbs., but this had been supplied from Shanghai, which checked the improving tendency of prices; better and best neglected. Heavier weights also without inquiry. White Shirtings: Quiet. T-Cloths: Special chops of 6lbs. ordinary in more request at previous rates; no Mexicans on offer. 7lbs. ordinary weak, but medium qualities of Mexicans had recovered the decline, business, however, being on a small scale. 8lbs. in request. Drills: Some inquiry evinced for, and sales to a moderate extent at previous quotations. Fancy Cottons: Little doing. Woollens: Quotations steady but business restricted. Iron: All kinds dull. Lead: Sales difficult to effect, even in retail lots. Quicksilver: The market was much excited during the early part of the interval, prices advancing from $62 to $100. A reaction afterwards set in and prices had been receding, the closing quotation being $84.

CANTON.—Lead: There was but little change in the market; quotations were nominally $7.80 to 8.00 per picul for common brands and WB. Quicksilver: After the date of last advices a rapid advance took place in prices; quotations had fluctuated throughout the fortnight, and closed about $92 to $93 per picul.

MANILA.—Early in the interval the Piece Goods market had exhibited more animation, and a fair business was transacted during the first week at advanced quotations. The demand had subsequently subsided, mainly owing to the boisterous weather which had prevailed, and the advanced rates were unobtainable at the close.

SINGAPORE.—There had been a very quiet market for Cotton Goods during the fortnight, the demand for most staples had been without improvement, and there had been a falling off in the amount of business done in comparison with the previous period. The principal sales had been 10,000 pieces Grey Shirtings, 8,500 pieces Grey Supers, 48,000 pieces Grey T-Cloths, 12,000 pieces White Shirtings, 1,020 corges White Cambrics, 60 cases T. R. Cambrics, 78 bales Grey Yarn, 81 bales Coloured Yarn, 120 bales T. R. Yarn, 60 cases Yellow Metal.

PENANG.—The Market had continued very inactive, only a small business had been done during the fortnight, and prices have showed a weak tendency. The only exception had been 15-16s White Cambrics, which were in good demand and stocks small.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—Business had been much restricted, settlements only amounting to 2,500 piculs. Prices were almost nominal, in the absence of business, and purchases might be made at $2 to 3 under the quotations last given; but a resumption of business would probably strengthen the market, as stocks were not excessive. Arrivals had been only on a moderate scale, and consisted mostly of second-crop Teas. Undernoted are the Tea shipments from this port:—Per Gaelic, July 25, 397,525 lbs., viz.—154,199 lbs. for New York; 152,546 lbs. for San Francisco; 72,251 lbs. for Boston; 16,529 lbs. for Chicago; 2,000 lbs. for St. Louis. Per Glamis Castle, July 31, 664,185 lbs. for New York. Per Benedicta, Aug. 8, 224,619 lbs. for San Francisco. Export from 1st May to date:—

HANKOW.—Arrivals at this port during the fortnight had amounted to 28,900 chests, and 22,000 chests had been settled. The tael cost was somewhat lower, but taking quality into consideration there was no decline in values. It was estimated that the second crop would show a deficiency of 70,000 chests as compared with the total receipts of last season. A few chops of third-crop Oopacks had arrived, and proved to be of inferior quality. Two small parcels from the Nip-ca-

see district had been settled at Tls. 12 to 13 per picul. Prices paid were, for Oopacks, Tls. 11 to 16.50 per picul; Oonfaas, Tls. 10 to 17.50 per picul; Oonams, Tls. 6.60 to 9 per picul. Settlements to date were 415,133 chests, against 409,799 chests last season. Shipments to Shanghai 73,395 chests, against 115,650 chests. Stock 5,434 chests against 8,000 chests.

KIUKIANG.—Statistics are as follows:—Settlements of Congou since July 18, 4,043 half-chests. Arrivals from the commencement of the season 440 chests, 320,970 half-chests, and 12,117 boxes. The total export of Black Tea was 19,643,815 lbs., against 20,786,855 lbs. in 1876. Green was 60,569 lbs., against 96,180 lbs.

SHANGHAI.—Messrs. Evans, Pugh, and Co.'s Report says:—Black: There has been a fair business done, and prices throughout have remained firm. The amount of Tea on offer has at no time been large, and the selection latterly has become very inferior. No third crop Teas have yet been shown on this market. The following settlements have been reported during the fortnight:—Oopacks, 7,365 chests at 9¾d. to 1s. 2¼d. per lb.; Oonfaas, 6,503 chests at 9¼d. to 1s. 1¼d.; Oonams, 2,719 chests at 8¼d. to 1s. 0¼d.; Ningchows, 15,963 chests at 9¼d. to 1s. 8¾d.; Hohows, 4,806 chests at 9d. to 1s. 5¾d.; total, 37,356 chests. Stock, 17,000 chests. Total settlements from commencement of the season to date are 131,744 chests. Green: Pingsueys have continued in steady though moderate demand, and latterly prices have ruled slightly more in favour of buyers. Arrivals come forward freely. The chief purchases have been for American account. Several chops of new Teenkai have arrived, and one, of mixed character, has been settled at Tls. 27½. The quality of these Teas is very inferior, and holders are asking prices much above the ideas of most buyers. The purchase above mentioned is about Tls. 2 under opening rates for similar Teas last year, and 3d. per lb. above latest London quotations. The settlements are:—Fychows, Teenkais, and Moyunes, 3,328 half-chests at Tls. 21 to 24½ per picul; Pingsueys, 12,170 half-chests at Tls. 16 to 36; Shanghai, packed, 380 half-chests at Tls. 22; total, 15,878 half-chests. Stock, 29,620 half-chests.

FOOCHOW.—Congou: Settlements since the 19th July had amounted to 43,479 chests, giving a daily average of 3,600 chests. A portion of the business had been done on Australian account. Telegraphic advices from London had had a depressing effect, and holders of the lower grades were anxious sellers at a reduction. The third-crop was coming to hand. Souchongs: Settlements 2,426 chests, showing no change in values. Ooloongs: Settlements reported amount to 5,146 half-chests, but this includes "Cheong Kee" string (2,133 half-chests), the balance consisting chiefly of good cargo grades. Several fine strings had come to hand, the best known being amongst them, and had been found satisfactory in colour, but the fine lines were bold in make and in many instances lacking true fineness. We hear of no offers. The price of "Cheong Kee" had not been made public, but it was supposed to have realised about Tls. 36 o.b. The remainder of the foregoing settlements give the following quotations:—Good cargo in half-chests, Tls. 18.8 to 20.3 o.b.; ditto in boxes, Tls. 23 o.b.; superior cargo in half-chests, Tls. 22.3 to 23.8 o.b. Scented Teas: Settlements 16,502 boxes, some showing slightly better value. Flowery Pekoe: 113 chests at Tls. 40.3 to 57.8 o.b.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Report says:—We have to report more activity in our Tea market during the past fortnight, and the business transacted has been generally in favour of buyers. Shipments of Scented Teas continue to go forward freely, and our export to date compared with that of last year, by steamers, for same period, shows an increase of 752,470 lbs. Scented Caper and 844,764 lbs. Scented Orange Pekoe. Congous: A few trifling settlements are reported at former rates. Scented Teas: There has been more desire to do business during the last week, and a fair amount of transactions has resulted; fair and medium Capers have attracted most attention, and have been purchased at a decline of about one tael; finer sorts also show the same decline, but common grades, of which settlements have been only moderate, maintain their former value. Pekoes have also been in more demand, and "long leaf" kinds have been taken at easier rates; purchases generally may be quoted about half to one tael lower, and prices have ruled from Tls. 18 to 28 per picul; "new make" sorts of medium grades have been inquired for, but common descriptions have not been in such good supply; the few settlements reported of these latter kinds at Tls. 13 to 16 per picul show no change. The following is a summary of the fortnight's business:—Congou, 450 boxes at Tls. 24 to 25 per picul; Scented Caper, 28,000 boxes at Tls. 13½ to 24 per picul; Scented Orange Pekoe, 12,300 boxes at Tls. 13 to 28 per picul.

AMOY.—Messrs. Olyphant and Co.'s Circular says:—About 3,490 half-chests of Formosa Oolongs are reported to have been settled during the fortnight, but as yet particulars have not been made public. Amoy Ooiongs have been freely purchased during the interval, and the settlements amount to 15,772 half-chests "fair" and "good" grades have been taken at $18 and $21 per picul short respectively, showing rather firmer rates. Teamen are willing sellers of the common and fair cargo kinds, whilst the better grades are rather firmly held. Second-crop Teas continue to arrive freely, and the quality is fairly satisfactory.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—Business had not been so general during the interval, and prices had given way $50 per picul. This decline was due not only to the indisposition of buyers to operate largely, but had been accelerated by the depreciation in the value of native currency—also by more abundant supplies from the country, which had caused an increase in stock. The market closed very weak, and there was little doing. The settlements since 1st July amounted to 1,550 bales, against 5,000 bales in corresponding period last season. The stock 1,100 bales, against 300 bales at the same date last year. Quotations were:—Hanks, Best Nos. 1 and 2, 19s. 2d. to 19s. 10d. per lb.; good No. 2, 18s. 2d. to 18s. 10d.; good all round No. 2½, 17s. 2d. to 17s. 10d.; medium No. 3, 16s. 6d. to 16s. 10d.; common and inferior Nos. 4 and 5, 15s. 2d. to 15s. 10d.; Oshiu, best, 18s. 2d. to 18s. 10d. per lb.

SHANGHAI.—The market had been dull and inactive during the whole of the fortnight, and settlements had again been on a very trivial scale. Tsatlees: Some small transactions reported in low class qualities at Tls. 350 to 380 (16s. 2d. to 17s. 6d.), the most noteworthy purchases being:—Bird chop Fong-ling, 17s. 9d; Ong-fong Quong-fong, 17s. 3d.; SSS Dollar chop, 17s. 3d. Taysaams: With the exception of a settlement of ordinary 9/12 moss at Tls. 260 (12s. 1d.), and some medium Keahings at Tls. 350 to 355 (16s. 2d. to 16s. 5d.), nothing had been done in this class. Rereels: Old Rereeled Tsatlees had met with buyers at Tls. 350 to 400 (16s. 2d. to 18s. 5d.) for medium to good qualities. No transactions in new Rereels are reported.

Settlements for the fortnight ...	... 450 against	4,000 bales
Total Settlements to date ...	... 2,200 „	22,000 „
Stock	...19,000 „	22,000 „

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon's Circular says:—Contracts unnoticed in our last report, and settlements in the past two weeks are said to amount to about 1,200 bales of Tsatlee reel. No. 4 Tsatlee is worth $360 per picul, or 12s. 5d. per lb., and late London advices quote the value of that class 12s. per lb. The quality of recent arrivals is not to be commended, the third yield being decidedly inferior to the second; fine thread continues more abundant than common grades. Fourth-crop samples are shortly expected, and Silk in bulk should be forthcoming about ten days hence. The weather lately has been inimical to a good outturn, and natives speak disparagingly regarding the quality of the coming yield. Long-reels have been in moderate request; 80 piculs of different sorts are said to have changed hands. Re-reels in the early part of the fortnight were in good demand, and contracts for 450 boxes are said to have been entered into; Cumchuck and Lucklow of all classes have been dealt in. Stock is estimated at 1,000 bales Tsatlee, 100 bales Cumchuck and Lucklow, 100 bales Kowkong, and 200 to 300 bales of inferior kinds.

We regret to announce the news received by telegram of the death on the 9th inst. at Chefoo of Mr. Thomas Dick, for many years one of the Commissioners of Customs in China, in which position he won the esteem and respect of all who came in contact with him. Mr. Dick, as many of our readers are aware, was of comparatively humble origin in Hong Kong, but acquiring a good knowledge of the Chinese language, he became attached to the Police Court there, and subsequently to the Imperial Chinese Customs, where his talents and many high qualities rapidly secured his advancement, and enabled him to attain to the high position which he occupied at the time of his death. Eminently a self-made man, Mr. Dick had the rare quality of being in no way elated by his success. Possessed of high talents, which he took constant pains to extend, and of great information (not only as a linguist, but upon a vast variety of subjects), he adorned them with a modesty of demeanour rarely found in those who owe their advancement exclusively to themselves, and upon whom the robe of authority too often sits with ill effect. These qualities endeared him to large numbers both in China and at home; and in his death the Customs Service loses a most valuable officer, while all who were acquainted with Mr. Dick have to lament an esteemed and respected friend.

Literature, Science, &c.

As yet but little progress has been made with regard to the usual winter publications, and the lists of new books have been probably the shortest ever made public, there being hardly one among those named worthy of special note. Two works of much interest to China readers are announced by Messrs. Macmillan as forthcoming, namely, a "History of the Laws, Manners, and Customs of the People in China," by the Ven. Archdeacon Gray, and a "Life of Jenghiz Khan" from Chinese sources, by Professor Douglas. M. Isidore Hedde, who was deputed by the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce at Paris as far back as 1843 to study the condition of the silk industry in China, has contributed a paper of some interest on the geography of that empire to a recent number of the Bulletin of the Société de Géographie de Lyon.

The Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, Vol. IX., Part 2, contains several papers of much value to those connected with China, Japan and the Far East. Among these, M. H. H. Howorth's paper on the Northern Frontagers of China is worthy of special notice. In the present portion of his essay he treats of the "Kin," or Golden Tartars, giving a variety of facts connected with them—which are important in their bearing upon the early history of China. He considers that it is beyond question that the Manchus were descended from the Golden Tartars. He notes that the Kin Empire was of very short duration, and was finally overthrown by the Mongols in 1234. In a paper on Imperial and other Titles, by Sir T. E. Colebrooke, which forms part of the same volume, he notices the popular error which is made in ascribing the title of Emperor indiscriminately to all potentates, among others to the rulers of China and the great Tartar chiefs.

The July and August part of the Bulletin of the Société de Géographie de Marseille is an unusually interesting one. Among other readable matter it contains a note on Unyamwesi, which is contributed by M. Philippe Broyon-Mirambo, son-in-law of the King of that country. This note is accompanied by a biographical sketch of the writer, and by a map showing the explorations undertaken by him (1874-7) between the East Coast of Africa, opposite Zanzibar, and Victoria Nyanza. M. Broyon, it may be remarked, particularly recommends leaders of exploring expeditions to avoid the Unyanyembe route, on the ground that it is infested by people whose special objects are to pillage caravans, and to carry on a trade in slaves. M. Broyon's experiences in the country to the south of Lake Victoria will, no doubt, be peculiarly valuable at the present juncture to those who are taking an active part in the promotion of African exploration.

The Bulletin of the U.S. Geological and Geographical Survey of the Territories, which completes the volume for the present year, contains a prefatory note by Dr. F. V. Hayden respecting the origin and progress of this publication. The issue began in 1874, when it was found desirable to establish more ready means of communication with the public and with scientific bodies than the regular Reports of the Survey afforded—the design being to publish, without the delay incident to the appearance of more elaborate articles, any new or specially interesting matter. In 1874 and 1875 the work was issued in a somewhat irregular manner, but last year it assumed the shape of an annual serial. The scope of the publication, Dr. Hayden adds, includes the whole range of the subjects for the investigation of which the Survey is conducted, and the volumes already issued contain articles upon archæology, ethnography, linguistics, geology, topography, geography, palæontology, and natural history in general, suitably illustrated with plates, cuts, and maps.

The Entomological Society held a meeting on the 5th inst., when Mr. F. Smith exhibited a remarkably fine collection of Hymenoptera, received from Mr. G. A. Rothney, and made in the neighbourhood of Calcutta. The collection contained several new species.

The telephone has been utilised in a very interesting way by Mr. Arthur Le Neve Foster, in West Eliza Mine, near St. Austell, Cornwall. A covered wire being carried down into the forty-two fathom level, and fastened to the air-pipes, the connections with the instrument were made, and conversation was carried on from the men below to the surface, and from the surface to the miners underground, even whispers being most distinctly heard.

Acting under Russian Ministerial instructions, and for the information of native agriculturists, Dr. Gerstäcker, of Greifswald, has prepared a brochure on "The Colorado Beetle and its Appearance in Germany." The pamphlet will be issued by Fischer of Cassel, and will contain illustrations "true to nature," of the beetle, its larvæ, and a chart showing its progress in the United States.

Thorwaldsen's fine group of St. John, in clay, above the entrance of the Frue Church at Copenhagen has recently been copied in marble by several of the first sculptors in Denmark, it having been determined to replace the clay sculpture with one in the more durable material. The marble group has been exhibited this summer at the Fine Arts Academy, at Charlottenburg, and will soon be set in its place.

We learn from a Portuguese contemporary that Lieutenant R. Ivens, the third member of the African Exploring Expedition, left Lisbon on the 7th ult. to join his companions at Loanda, who by the time of his arrival will have everything prepared for their departure into the interior. The latest accounts received of Major Pinto and Captain Capello report that they are in excellent health, and sanguine of success.

It is stated in the Chronique des Arts that M. Thiers had it in contemplation, at the time of his death, to write a History of Florence, and also a Life of Michel Angelo. He was, as is well known, an able art-connoisaeur and critic, and found time amid all his other avocations to contribute numerous articles on æsthetic subjects to various journals and reviews. It is hoped that these will now be gathered together in a volume.

Naval and Military.

Colonel F. Peyton, half pay, late of a Brigade Depot, succeeds Major-General R. Y. Shipley, C.B., in command of the 2nd Brigade at Aldershot on the 1st proximo. Colonel Peyton served in the 98th Regiment with the expedition to the North of China in 1842, and was present at the operations on the Yangtse, the attack and capture of Chin Kiang, and at the landing before Nankin (medal). In the Punjab campaign of 1848-9 (medal), he served with the flank companies of the 98th at the forcing of the Kohat Pass, in the force under Sir Charles Napier and Sir Colin Campbell in February, 1850 (mentioned in despatches, medal with clasp). Commanded four companies of the 98th Regiment in the Peshawur Expeditionary Force on the Eusofzaie Frontier, under Sir Sydney Cotton, in April and May, 1858, capture of Pungtar and Chinglee, and the affair with the Hindostanee fanatics on the heights of Sittana on May 4 (mentioned in despatches). In the Peshawur Division during the Sepoy mutiny in 1858. He entered the Army January 29, 1841, became Colonel October 23, 1863, and has held command at Shorncliffe since January 23 last.

There has been an outbreak of fire on board Her Majesty's ship Turqoise, lying in the Medway. The ship had been put in commission, but there were a few odd jobs requiring completion by the dockyard workmen. The gunner of the Turqoise had just drawn from the storehouse a bale of tow, and placed it temporarily in what is known as the handing-room of the fire magazine. A caulker went below to stop some seams, carrying a naked candle. He tripped over a coil of rope, and the candle fell into the bale of tow, which blazed up in an instant. Finding that he could not extinguish the rapidly-increasing fire, the man ran on deck and gave the alarm. Fortunately a party of police were at fire-drill close by, and so the engines were on the spot sooner than would otherwise have been possible.

The Sirius has had her engines thoroughly overhauled at Keyham, and placed on board, at a cost of £2,525. The whole of the damage in the late trials has been found to have arisen through inattention. The friction cone, not being screwed, slipped from its position, and allowed the engines to race, thereby throwing an enormous, unequal strain upon the fixed parts, and producing their collapse. Her repairs will be completed in about three weeks, when she will proceed to the North American and West India Station to relieve the Dryad.

Captain C. H. Boileau, 61st Regiment, succeeds Captain S. E. Orr, 94th Regiment, transferred to Aldershot as Garrison Instructor at Gibraltar. Captain Boileau served with the 61st Regiment at the siege, assault, and capture of Delhi (and as a volunteer with the Artillery from August 26 till its fall), including repulse of sorties on July 4, 18, 23, and August 1 (medal with clasp). He entered the army August 31, 1855; became Captain, July 12, 1867, and passed from the Staff College in December, 1870.

The German screw frigate Hertha, 22, cadet training ship, arrived in Plymouth Sound on the 16th inst. from Kiel, and exchanged the usual salutes with the citadel and Royal Adelaide flagship. She will take in coals and proceed to Malta. The Albatross, German gun vessel, has completed her coaling, and has left for the Mediterranean.

UNCEREMONIOUS TREATMENT OF THE JAPANESE MINISTER.—The subjoined anecdote appears in the current number of the World:—A flagrant breach of diplomatic etiquette has been committed at Dieppe. A correspondent tells me that on the occasion of a large fire the Japanese Minister accredited to this Court, with the special commissioner and another of the suite, were quietly gazing at the scene, having received a special commission to pass through the cordon of gendarmes. In a few minutes an over-zealous soldier pounced on them and insisted with outspoken threats that they should join the line of bucket-passers. Expostulations in dubious French were of no avail. Literally, at the point of the bayonet, they were driven to this work. They wisely accepted the position with a good grace, and toiled for some time with the French citizens. Fortunately the Minister had the side of the empty buckets. At last a French officer became acquainted with the facts, and with maint bows released the distinguished diplomatists. All this comes of adopting European costume. The pigtail of his Excellency Kuo would have saved him from thus being sent to hard labour. I am glad, however, to be able to report that the matter has been amicably settled, and that neither Lord Derby nor the Duke Decazes is to be troubled with representations on the subject. But if a similar contretemps had occurred to Sir Harry Parkes, in Tokio, surely an indemnity or an abject apology would have been demanded under threats of a bombardment of some peaceful town. I recommend the forbearance of his Excellency Wooyeno Kagenori to the notice of the Foreign-offices of England and France.

THE steamer Oceanic, which was reported in our last Hong Kong news as having broken down, completed her repairs and left for San Francisco on August 22, arriving there on Sept. 17.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

As a pendant to the disasters experienced in the south of China through the floods, apprehensions have been excited at Peking by protracted drought; and, as appears from the Gazette, prayers for rain have been offered up by the Emperor. The heavy and continuous rains which usually set in about the end of June, and last throughout July, have been entirely absent this year, only one or two thunder-showers having occurred; and it was felt that if the drought were to last over the 23rd or 25th the autumn crops of millet, on which the population of the surrounding country largely depend for their subsistence, would be lost. The only mitigating feature in the prospect was the abundant wheat harvest, gathered in mid June. Fortunately for the public weal rain fell at length on the 21st of July, and unless drought should again supervene, the crops are likely to come up to an average. The accounts concerning the locust plague are still such as to cause alarm, but in some districts they do not appear to have caused so much injury to the crops as from their numbers was to be feared. The new port of Wenchow appears to be of sufficient importance to induce a regular steamer service to it, and it is stated that the China Merchants' Company will probably run one of their vessels regularly with it, in conjunction with Shanghai, Ningpo, and Foochow. It is noticed that the Nanking Arsenal has been enlarged, and is going on well, notwithstanding that there has been no foreigner connected with it for the past year. Something in the direction of the introduction of an improved currency seems likely to take place through the establishment of a Bank at Tientsin, which is to melt syce into shoes of uniform weight, and also to issue Bank notes. Nothing has been done of a definite character towards the punishment of those concerned in the Wuchang outrage, nor, up to latest dates, had any proclamation been issued by the officials on the subject. An important step is foreshadowed as likely to be taken at Shanghai, namely, the establishment of a native factory of piece goods. The matter is in a somewhat vague shape in the present instance, but whether anything come of it at once or not it will certainly be wise for the Manchester manufacturers to take warning and to cease inviting competition of this character by a continuance of the suicidal policy of "heavy sising," by which their goods are artificially weighted. Apprehensions of a typhoon have been felt at Hong Kong.

From Japan the news by the present mail indicates that the insurrection was still dragging along, but it was evident that the Imperialists were gaining ground. Miyako-noshiro, a place naturally of great strength, and where the rebels were expected to make a determined stand, had been captured by the troops after a seemingly slight resistance, and in fact most of the engagements reported were, if any reliance could be placed on the published statements of the killed and wounded, but mere skirmishes. The native journals spoke of the final crushing of the rebellion in November, when the cooler weather would have set in. Meanwhile nothing had been heard of the whereabouts of the elder Saigo, and all kinds of rumours were current respecting him. The Mikado returned to Tokio on the 30th July.

THE PROMISED PROGRESS IN CHINA.

THE state of affairs with regard to the ratification of the Chefoo Convention is unchanged. The Government here are awaiting an expression of opinion on the part of that of India, and pending its receipt, matters continue in statu quo. Meantime the prospects of material progress in China, which have for some time past been shadowed forth, appear to be sadly diminishing in strength, and affairs seem to be drifting back into the stagnation which has characterised them for some years past. Considering the pressure which Sir THOMAS WADE brought to bear upon the Chinese, it is most unsatisfactory to find that they now contemplate the abolition of the Woosung Railway, and that there seems to be every reason to believe that they purchased it with the distinct intention of putting an end to its being used, although actual experiment had clearly demonstrated its value, and proved that it was popular with the people generally. With respect to mines, no material progress has been made towards the introduction of European appliances for the development of the vast mineral resources of China, a subject which has been much agitated for many years past; and thus, although some gleams of hope have been held forth, it unfortunately appears, now that immediate pressure has been withdrawn, that these hopes are, like so many others of the same kind, destined to disappointment. The idea of introducing railways into Formosa (to which place it will be recollected it was at one time contemplated to transport the Woosung line) is unfortunately one little likely to come to practical results, and the scheme, if ever seriously entertained, cannot be considered to have any substantial foundation. Indeed, we understand that surveys which have been made by competent professional authorities prove conclusively that railways in that island could not possibly pay, and that, in point of fact, Formosa would be the very worst field for the iron road that could be selected in the Chinese Empire. A line from Shanghai to Soochow, &c., or from Tientsin to the capital, would form a feasible enterprise, and would undoubtedly prove remunerative; and it seems very strange, if the Chinese Government is in earnest, that it should pass over these places in favour of one which offers the least possible encouragement. As regards the prospects of telegraphy in Formosa, to which attention was recently called by the memorial from the Taoutai of TAIWAN, it can scarcely be hoped that they will be largely extended in the absence of railways; and even if the project be carried out, it is still a subject of regret that but little has been done on the mainland. As we recently pointed out, the two short lines which have been erected show that it is possible to establish the telegraph in China; and it is to be regretted that a more promising field for furthering this enterprise has not been selected than Formosa. It may be hoped that something more will be done in this direction, and the last accounts from China are more satisfactory than those hitherto received; but with respect to mines and railways —the two most important material enterprises—matters are certainly by no means encouraging; and we trust that in their representations with regard to the Chefoo Convention the London Committee of the Shanghai Chamber will lay stress upon these points, and endeavour to obtain some concessions which will directly tend to material progress in China.

THE MOAR STATE.

WE are sorry to see that Acting-Governor ANSON has thought the matter of the succession to the Sultanship of the Moar State of sufficient importance to leave his seat of government of the Straits Settlements and proceed himself to that territory. This is not the way to maintain our prestige among the natives. The chief representative of the British Government should have found some one else to have made this visit and report on it for any information which might have been required on the subject. Malays and other Asiatics are particularly keen in finding out how to intrigue, and it is of the last importance that our chief authority remain in his own castle and make use of his subordinates for excursions into native States. With the lamentable results which attended Lord MAYO'S visit to the Convict Establishment it is surprising that Colonel ANSON should have perpetrated such a mistake. The sooner he is relieved of the responsibilities attaching to the government of the Straits the better.

THE LAW COURTS AT SHANGHAI.

IN the report made by the Committee of the Aborigines' Protection Society upon the proceedings of the Conference on International Law at Antwerp, a somewhat curious mistake is fallen into with reference to Judicial proceedings in China. It is said, "In China the Treaty of Tientsin "provides that disputes between British and Chinese sub- "jects shall be settled by mutual concert between the offi- "cial representatives of the two countries. Nevertheless, "it appears that although when a British subject brings an "action against a Chinese in a Chinese Court a British offi- "cial is allowed to be present in the capacity of assessor, "yet, that, when similar actions are tried in the British "Court at Shanghai, no Chinese official is permitted to sit "with the judge. Such an absence of reciprocity is not "likely to impress the Celestial mind with a sense of the "superiority of British justice." It is evident that the writer of the above remark is not aware of the difference of jurisdiction according as the defendant is a Chinaman or a British subject; the matter falling in the former case entirely under Chinese law and in the latter entirely under British Law. The difference between Chinese and English jurisprudence will be sufficient to satisfy the most punctilious of the reasonableness both of there being a consular assessor in the Chinese Court and there not being one in the English Court. Sir THOMAS WADE in his recent memorandum, alluding to this subject, says, after detailing a specimen of the manner in which justice is administered in China—"It is in vain to talk of the abandonment of "our ex-territorial jurisdiction in China, so long as bur- "lesques so revolting are dignified by the name of judicial "proceedings."

SIR DAVID WEDDERBURN, an ex-M.P., has addressed a letter from Yokohama to the London Daily News, in which, referring to Russian encroachments in the direction of Japan, he expresses his opinion that though it may be too much to say that the cession of Saghalien to Russia by the Japanese Government was one cause of the civil war in the south-west, it is certain that this was one of the indictments brought by the malcontents against the present advisers of the MIKADO. He considers that although Japan will probably experience considerable financial difficulties in the immediate future, there seems to be no cause for apprehending that she will be unable to overcome them.

THE P. and O. Company's steamer Poonah, Captain ANGOVE, the finest passenger ship of the fleet, left Southampton on the 20th with a total of 190 passengers for India, China, Japan, and Australia, including Vice-Admiral HILLYAR, the new Commander-in-Chief on the China Station, and Sir HARRY ORD, who proceeds to assume the government of Western Australia.

AS further illustrative of the vacillation which has characterised the action of the Government here with reference to the Chefoo Convention, we hear upon reliable authority that the larger part of that portion of Sir THOMAS WADE'S memorandum which referred to commercial matters, was not published in the recent Blue-book on the subject.

Correspondence.

THE SUCCESSOR TO SULTAN ALLIE.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—Since I last addressed you, news has been received from Singapore respecting the disputed claim to Moar, from which I gather that Colonel Anson, the administrator of the Straits Government, has himself proceeded to that province to inquire from the people who they would like to have for their ruler, the Maharajah Tunko Allam, or Tunko Mahmood. H.E. left on the 5th August, and was followed the next day by the Maharajah. What a sad farce this is, and how it must degrade us in the eyes of the natives—not to speak of "others"—as Sir W. Jervois styles "Europeans."

The Singapore paper teems with correspondence on the subject, and "Kessang" and "Moar," two writers who take the side of the Maharajah, are rather roughly treated by the editor—and deservedly so—as their arguments are "remarkable for their moral obliquity and their cynical indifference to what is right and wrong."

What decision the Colonial-office may arrive at remains to be seen, but if care be not taken another outbreak may have to be recorded before long, and another murder may astonish the weak minds of those who cannot or will not act up to the simple rule that "honesty is the best policy."—I am, &c.,

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, SEPT. 18.

Intense astonishment is felt in Germany at the continuous and sanguinary defeat of the Russian army. It is considered beyond doubt that the great losses of the Russians are to be attributed solely to their inefficient leaders. Probably the Emperor Alexander would not have ventured into the present war if he had been aware of the real qualities of his staff. For Germany this unexpected issue of events in one way will be of benefit as the favourite idea of some of our Western neighbours of an alliance with Russia (after the death of Emperor Alexander) against Germany, at present will be less thought of.

The Emperor is said not to intend to return from his present journey to Berlin until the middle of October, and during the last days of his autumn trip he will be a guest of his daughter and son-in-law, the Grand Duchess and Grand Duke of Baden. Prince Bismark has finished his sojourn at Gastein, and is returning over Berlin to Varzin. To day the Chancellor will meet Count Andrassy at Salzburg, and the topic of conversation between these two statesmen is the subject of much speculation.

On Thursday, the 13th of this month, the Dowager Queen of Saxony, Maria, wife of Frederick August II, died. She was the sister of the late Archduchess Sophia, mother of the present Emperor of Austria, of the Queen Elizabeth of Prussia—wife of Frederick William IV.—and of another Queen of Saxony, the wife of the late King Johann.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company has summoned its shareholders to an extraordinary meeting on October 6, to resolve upon a reduction of the paid-up capital. This amounts at present to m.22,500,000, and the directors propose a reduction to m.15,000,000, by changing the old shares of m.1,500 nominal to new shares of m.1,000 each. Thus a sum of m.7,500,000 will be acquired, out of which the liabilities of the company, which amount, according to the balance-sheet for 1876, to m.3,449,871, can be written off and sufficient rebates can be made in the decreased value of the fleet and other property. The directors also think that the operation will provide for a reserve fund. Whether the reduction will be accepted by the shareholders remains to be seen, but it seems to be very probable. It is the general opinion that its acceptance will enable the board to distribute a dividend which has been wanting for several years past.

I have to report the intended launching of three new men-of-war, the first on the 19th of this month at Gaarden, near Kiel, the second on the 26th, at Danzig, and the third on the 6th of October, at Stettin. These new ships are sister-vessels to the corvette Bismark, built by the Company Vulcan at Stettin, and will be lightly armed, but of great speed.

A very disagreeable incident has been reported as having happened to the German corvette Vineta in the harbour of Santos in the Brazils. It appears that some of the crew of the vessel while on shore got up some quarrel amongst themselves, and some native soldiers or policemen interfered and tried to arrest the sailors. Upon this a general fight ensued, and several severe wounds were inflicted on both sides, one of the soldiers being killed. The civil population then joined in the row, which attained great dimensions. Subsequently one of the officers of the corvette, who happened to be ashore, entered the crowd to try and settle the affair, when the Brazilians rushed upon him; he was seized, arrested, and notwithstanding the protest of the German Consul retained in custody for the night. The next morning the commander of the vessel demanded his release and an investigation into the matter by the Brazilian authorities. As we learn by telegram that the Vineta has left for Plymouth, the whole affair will have been settled.

The steamship Denderah, of this port, which as you will remember after having struck on a sunken rock in the Smith Channel (Magellan Straits) went down in five or six fathoms of water has, we learn by telegram from Valparaiso, been successfully raised, brought into a safe port, and is to be towed to Valparaiso.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Demand for consumption has been of considerable extent during the past week, and has resulted in pretty fair transactions; speculators have not appeared in our markets, but values are maintained at their former level. Money has remained abundant.

COFFEE.—Large sales have been effected, but as first-hand parcels have not been in excess of demand, quotations are firm; Java quality values m.1.05 to 1.50.

SUGAR without transactions. Quotations are:—Manila brown, clayed, m.24 to 26; do. unclayed, m.20 to 21; Mauritius, brown, m.20 to 25; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.27 to 29; do. brown, m.20 to 24½; Siam, Benares and China white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.22 to 30; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 28, per 100 lbs.

RICE.—Prices of dressed quality are firmly maintained. Of raw ca. 14,000 bags Rangoon, arrived per A. H. Wille, had been previously sold.

TEA is unchanged, Congou quiet; of new season's have been sold ca. 250 16 boxes fine Souchong, and 120/4 cases Pecco.

COTTON.—Better advices from England have caused a more favourable tendency here, and besides several parcels of American provenience ca. 80 bales Sea Island have changed owners on delivery.

Digitized by Google

SPICES.—Nutmegs m.5.50 to 6; Mace, m.4.50 to 4.60; Cloves in good demand, Zanzibar m.135 to 136, Amboina, m.1.75 to 1.76; Pepper firm, Singapore, at m.37 to 37½, Batavia and Penang, m.34½ to 35.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

The feature of the week has been great activity in mere speculative securities, and especially in all Austrian stocks, which were favourably influenced by the cheering harvest prospects in that country. This tendency has extended itself to other stocks and shares, and a considerable business is reported at higher quotations, but the condition of our markets cannot be considered as a healthy one, and a reaction must sooner or later take place. HOLLAND.

AMSTERDAM, SEPT. 20.

The Parliamentary Session was closed last Saturday; the new one was opened on Monday with a Speech from the Throne, which of course ave us no news. The King was much pleased to meet the representatives, and stated that we are on a very friendly footing with all foreign Powers. The crops are promising, but trade still languishes. The financial condition of the country is satisfactory. The services of our navy and army are acknowledged, especially what has been done in Sumatra. These are the outlines of this very downright uninteresting document. The members went on at once to the despatch of business, so that to-morrow the Commission will be received by H.M. for the election of the President of the Second Chamber. Mr. W. H. Dullert was elected first candidate, Mr. Storm the second, Mr. Cremers the third one.

The Java Budget for 1878 was laid before the members of the Second Chamber. It proposes that from 1879 foreigners in Java, both European and Asiatic, should pay a personal tax and patent duty. It is estimated that the amount yielded by these imposts would reach 1,000,000 florins. The Budget further proposes the construction of railways by the State between Buitenzorg and Tjitjalengka and Madioen and Blitar. The salaries of the Deputy Residents are to be increased, and three schools are to be established for the sons of chiefs and native functionaries. It shows that, in consequence of public works, the construction of railways there is to cover a deficit of sixteen millions, for which a loan will be issued. From the favourable balances during the years 1867-1875 there are still in cash nine millions, but as it must be expected that the service of 1876 will be most unfavourable, this amount will be absorbed by the fixed contributions to our treasury of ten millions. This result must partly be ascribed to the large coffee crop, so that five and a-quarter millions was wanted more than in former years for this purpose. Though there is an unfavourable balance of sixteen millions to cover it must not be concluded that the finances are in a deplorable state. This amount is wanted in 1878 for the harbour-works at Batavia, to take measures in order to prevent inundations, to construct railways in Middle-Java, to buy the rail Batavia-Buitenzorg, &c. It was already resolved by former Ministers to provide this sum by a loan, and therefore the present Minister brings forward the principal. Before the loan is issued a special Bill will be laid before Parliament. It is, however, proposed that the interest on whatever the State borrows on behalf of our East India colonies shall be at 4½ per cent.

H.M. the King visited yesterday this town in order to open the Exhibition of Pictures, which has proved to be a complete success.

Mr. De Decker, formerly a member of the firm of Van Zeylen and Decker, shipowners, who was accused of having over-insured, has been set at liberty by the Court in Second Instance.

Monetary and Commercial.

The Tea market during the past week has been very depressed, consequent upon the large amount which has been on offer; and the feeling that the shipments from China show no falling off, so that no advantage can result from holding. The custom of selling in six to nine chest lots at the public sales without reserve has been abandoned, and lines of 200 and more chests were yesterday sold at from 6¾d. to 8¾d. The large export from China is explained by the written advices from Shanghai to 28th July, which quote unprecedentedly high prices for second crop leaf, namely, from Tls. 30 to Tls. 40 per picul, which would show profits to the Chinese of about 6d. to 9d. per lb. A portion of these teas has come to hand and they are described by a broker as "Quality good to superior, range of prices in unison with current demand; say fine Ningchows strong and full flavoured, 1s. 5d. to 1s. 7d. and useful Oopacks, strong and fresh pungent flavour, 11d. to 1s. 1d. The general run of the recent imports are not of desirable quality, and dealers have had a busy week picking out parcels of distinctive character, for which remunerative prices are paid; but the mass of tea to hand shows considerable loss, owing to the increased cost in China, though the purchases were chiefly made on the gloomy outturn of first crop teas, leading to the inference that operators in Shanghai must have been strongly influenced by a belief in a short supply, which telegraphic advices show was at all events not warranted at the time." The last telegrams repeat the assurances of small supplies, and it is estimated that the export from China may be eleven to fifteen millions short; but it is to be borne in mind that these statements are always based upon Chinese information, and have to be accepted with great caution.

The total quantity of tea delivered from the bonded warehouses in London for the week ended September 15 was 4,233,252lb., or about 3⅞ per cent. higher than the deliveries of the previous week. Of this total 2,387,756lb. was for home consumption, 848,029lb. was exported, 829,724lb. was removed coastwise, 162,946lb. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 4,797lb. was for ships' stores. There was also an increase of 6⅜ per cent. in the duty received, the total being £59,694.

The Silk market continues better, and its position is stronger, but the movement, such as it is, has been very slow, and manufacturers are already crying out that they cannot afford the small advance asked for. In fact, unless there be some early prospect of peace in Europe and some improvement in the aspect of political affairs in France, neither of which events appears very probable, there seems little likelihood of permanent and satisfactory improvement.

In the Produce Markets there has been a continued absence of animation, but values of most of the leading articles remain unaltered. The market for Coffee has been favourably influenced by the result of the Dutch sale, which went off at an advance of ½ to 1 per cent. above valuations, and coloury descriptions of Plantation Ceylon are higher. Sugar has been firm, with an advancing tendency; a considerable business has been done in China, but nothing in Penang or Manila. Business in Rice has been wholly suspended. Black Pepper maintains the recent improvement, but White exhibits an easier tendency, owing to extensive supplies.

The following are the latest quotations of Banking and other Companies connected with the Far East:—Agra Bank, 11 to 11½; Chartered Bank of India, 22 to 23; Chartered Mercantile Bank, 27 to 28; Comptoir D'Escompte, f.662½; Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, 33 to 35; Oriental Bank, 44½ to 45½; P. and O. Company, 37 to 39; Messageries Maritimes, f.620; Suez Canal, f.697½; Japan Loan 9 per cent., 110 to 112; ditto, 7 per cent., 102 to 104; China Loan, 103 to 106.

The half-yearly report of the National Bank of India announces a net profit of £20,754, out of which an interim dividend on the capital of £465,250 has been declared of 3 per cent., absorbing £13,957. Mr. Campbell, late of the Chartered Mercantile Bank, has been associated with Mr. Sawers as Joint-General Manager in London.

Mr. Ed. Marjoribanks has ceased to be a partner in the firm of Messrs. Coutts, bankers, owing, it is rumoured, to speculative operations.

Mr. Edward Stout has retired from the firm of Messrs. Watts, Millburn and Co., of London and Newcastle.

The acceptances have been returned of Messrs. H. Mahler and Co., silk and merino agents, of London, Zurich, and Lyons. It is understood that the liabilities of this firm are almost entirely due to houses abroad, and that the estate will probably yield about 10s. in the pound.

The P. and O. Company's steamer Poonah, which was despatched from Southampton yesterday with the heavy portion of the next outward mail, has on board £419,530 in specie for the East. The particulars are as follows, viz.:—For Calcutta, bar silver, £155,000; Bombay, bar silver, £152,500; Singapore, dollars, £15,000; Penang, dollars, £11,000; Shanghai, dollars, £1,000; Alexandria, sovereigns, £85,000; and Galle, sovereigns, £30.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says :—We have a very dull market to report during the past week, the samples put before the buyers every day having been more than they could give attention to. The more desirable parcels have met with a fair demand, but the quantity sold bears a very small proportion to that offered ; whilst prices in many instances are hardly as good as last week. Congous.—Red-leaf kinds : Siftings show no change in prices, the demand being fair ; common to good common remain dull of sale at last week's prices. Fair kinds have sold ½d. per lb. lower, good medium to good are also ½d. to 1d. per lb. cheaper. Good Saryune kinds have been saleable. Fine Kaisows have also given way a little ; a few finest have been sold at full prices. Pak Lin kinds remain much as before. Black-leaf kinds : Common to good common are quoted much as before ; fair kinds have been difficult of sale at rather lower prices ; good medium to good kinds are heavy at previous rates ; fine to finest are steady, but with only a moderate inquiry. New-make kinds : Sales to some extent have been made at from 8d. to 8½d. per lb. for common, 9½d. to 11d. for fair, and 1s. to 1s. 1½d. for good kinds, showing but little change in prices. Oolongs : Common to fair Amoy kinds still sell at low prices ; some Formosa kinds have sold from 1s. 3d. to 1s. 7d., being fair prices compared with other sorts. Souchongs : Common kinds have sold at low prices ; good to fine are in fair demand at about previous prices. Scented Teas : Canton Capers have sold at about former rates. Orange Pekoes also remain without material change. Foochow Capers have been heavy of sale at lower prices. Orange Pekoes have given way 1d. to 2d. per lb., owing to larger supplies on offer. Green Teas : There is no material alteration to notice. The current range of prices is still low, with only a moderate inquiry. The public sales have comprised 11,109 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve. A new system has been tried of selling entire parcels in one lot without inspection. This latter clause will, we think, not be satisfactory to buyers' as it opens the door to frauds in China. The deliveries for the week, as compared with last year, are as follows, viz. :—

Coastwise	819,092	893,752
Exports	1,067,019	1,080,934
	4,196,653	4,353,706

SILK.

There has been no alteration in the tone of the market. The improvement in values noted last week has been maintained, but the business done has not been of very large extent.

COFFEE.—The Dutch sale of the 19th inst. went off slightly above valuations, and about equal to the previous sale ; this result has had little apparent effect upon the market, and at public sale middling to good Plantation has sold readily at an advance of 1s., grey kinds being unchanged, and Native Ceylon steady. The prices paid have been Plantation Ceylon, triage and ordinary 75s. 6d. to 93s., common to fine small 92s. 6d. to 101s. 6d., low middling grey 101s. to 105s., middling 107s. 6d. to 110s., good middling 110s. 6d. to 111s., fine bright 117s., bold 117s. 6d. to 120s., fine bright ditto 127s., peaberry 107s. 6d. to 116s. Native small 81s. 6d., fine ordinary at 87s. to 88s. 6d., ordinary 86s., pea-berry at 92s. 6d. Privately 150 bags fine ordinary Native have been sold 88s. 6d., and 65 casks grey Plantation at 103s. 6d. At auction 424 bags Singapore, picked Bally were bought in at 85s. The Dutch Trading Company's public sale of 100,146 bags Java, held on the 19th inst. in Amsterdam, went off with good spirit at ½ to 1 cent above valuations, or barely equal to the preceding sale, good ordinary selling at about 53 cents, against 53 to 53½ cents in August, and 53 to 53⅛ cents in June.

COTTON.—An improved demand has prevailed, and prices of American have slightly advanced, East India being also firmer. The sales for the week are about 11,500 bales. On the spot Tinnivelly 5¼d. to 5⅝d., fair to good ; Western Madras, 4⅞d. to 5⅛d., fair to good ; Bengal 4 9-16d. to 4¾d., good fair to good ; Sawginned Dharwar 5¼d., good fair. For arrival Tinnivelly, 5 7-16d. to 5½d. June to October, good fair ; Coconada, 5¼d. to 5 5-32d. July to November, fair red ; American, 6¼d. to 6 5-16d. November-December middling (1 m clause.)

CANTHARIDES.—2 cases China bought in at 2s. 4d.

CHINA PRESERVES.—25 cases Ginger sold at 4⅞d.

COCOANUT OIL has been firm, and maintains previous prices. Cochin is quoted £43 10s. to £44, Ceylon in pipes has been sold at £38 15s. to £39, and in hogsheads at £41 per ton.

CUTCH.—During the week 500 boxes Flag BB have been sold at 24s., and 400 boxes ditto, since, at 24s. 6d. per cwt.

DRAGON'S-BLOOD.—23 cases dull lump sea-damaged bought in at £4 5s. to £4 10.

GUM BENJAMIN.—Of 104 cases Sumatra 7 cases sold, fair to good fair seconds rather badly mixed with dark at £7 to £7 15s., the remainder bought in at £8, dark £6. 5s. to £6 10s., thirds at 48s. to 55s. per cwt.

GALLS.—About 100 cases unworked China have been sold at 54s. per cwt.

GAMBIER.—About 100 tons have been sold afloat, June sailing, at 20s. 7½d. ex ship. No business has been done on the spot.

HEMP.—Manila continues dull of sale. During the week the only sales have been 400 bales fair current at £27, and 200 bales Quilot No. 1 at £30 10s.

HIDES.—Ox and Cow : At the periodical public auctions East India in the hair were in fair supply. Clean good qualities were well competed for at last sales rates ; but common dirty kips were almost unsaleable, except at very low prices. The few Singapore offered could not be quitted at late values. Rangoon partly lost the improvement of the two previous auctions, but as owners were firm very few were sold. China were in small supply and improved in value ½d. per lb. Of 16,215 China offered, 11,482 sold ; Light, average 8⅝ to 12⅝ lb. 6¼d. to 8½d.; heavy, average 14¼ to 17⅞ lb. 6⅝d. to 7d.; extra heavy, average 20¾ to 27⅝ lb. 6¼d. to 7⅜d.; kips and skins, average 4¼ to 7¼ lb. 7½d. to 8¼d.; thirds 4⅝d. to 5⅝ per lb. No Singapore or Penang were sold. Buffalo : Singapore, &c., were not wanted. Rangoon brought late rates. Calcutta, light weights brought full prices, but heavy were lower and difficult to sell. Bombay and Kurrachee sold readily, without change in price. Cochin were frequently ¼d. per lb. higher. Of 2,415 Singapore and Penang offered, 111 sold ; 1st heavy, average 24 lb. 5¼d.; 2nd heavy and sea-damaged 4⅞d. per lb.

ISINGLASS.—At the periodical auctions Brazil met a good demand, and sold at full to rather dearer rates for lump, and dearer for fine tongue and honeycomb. West India brought full prices. A larger supply of Bombay was only partly sold, tongue at steady to slightly higher rates, cake steady ; Penang sold steadily for all kinds. There were 46 cases Penang offered, and mostly sold, good and fine tongue at 4s. 3d. to 4s. 5d., one lot bold 4s. 6d., low dark to medium at 3s. 1d. to 3s. 10d., middling to good leaf 4s. 1d. to 5s., middling to fine cake 2s. 4d. to 2s. 10d. Of 27 cases Saigon 12 cases sold, good leaf at 5s. to 5s. 1d., low dark to good tongue at 3s. 4d. to 4s. 2d.; 15 bales Japan manufactured were withdrawn. The next public sales are fixed for October 16.

JAPAN WAX.—9 boxes bold thick saucers slightly stained sold at 45s. 6d., and one 1 case Myrtle at 80s. per cwt.

MUSK.—Of 47 tins Tonquin offered 40 tins sold, pile 1, good fair shaped pods with a few damp at 47s. to 49s., good but only partly trimmed at 44s. to 44s. 6d., pile 2, fair shaped skinny but genuine 28s. 6d. to 29s. 6d., hard rough skinny and bally 27s. to 28s., pile 3, hard, skinny and doubtful 13s. 6d., ditto rough and bally 13s., wet pickings 22s. Of 23 tins Yunan 14 tins sold, good fair chiefly dry at 34s., 1 lot 34s. 6d., hard and dry 30s., rather inferior 29s., 22½ oz. good fair Grain sold at 45s. 6d., 8 tins bought in, dark to rather dark and damp at 44s. to 45s. per oz.

PEPPER.—Black : Privately the market has been firm, with a moderate business at 3⅝d. for Singapore, and 3 5-16d. for Penang. There was a steady demand at auction, but 3,465 bags offered were only partly sold at previous rates. Of 1,846 bags Singapore 500 bags sold at 3⅝d., damaged at 3½d. to 3⅝d. 1,480 bags Penang bought in at 3⅜d., excepting 400 bags damaged, which sold at 3¼d. to 3⅜d. Since the sale 500 bags of the Penang have been sold at 3 5-16d. White : A good supply, amounting to 1,262 bags, offered by auction went off quietly at about previous rates. Of 975 bags Singapore 520 bags sold, fair at 6¼d., good fair at 6⅛d. to 6¼d., good bold at 6¼d. to 6⅜d. 287 bags good Penang bought in at 6d. to 6¼d., except 40 bags damaged, which sold at 5⅞d.

RHUBARB.—Of 103 cases China offered, 29 cases sold, fair rather mixed 2s. 3d., low middling to small, palish pinky fracture at 1s. 3d. to 1s. 11d., ordinary 1s.

RICE.—In consequence of the firmness of holders, who refuse any concessions on current values—at which buyers refuse to operate—there have been no transactions during the week.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea continues dull of sale, and in auction of 660 cases unworked offered only one lot sold at 47s. Cloves : Of 7 cases good Penang offered only 3 cases were sold at 2s. 1d. Ginger : 8 cases Japan sold at 36s. Mace : Of 38 cases Penang offered 23 cases sold at firm rates, fine bright pale at 3s. 3d., low and ordinary dark mouldy and damaged at 1s. 3d. to 1s. 10d. ; 3 casks 6 boxes Java sold at 1s. 9d. Nutmegs : Penang continue in demand, and sales are reported of 200 boxes, 101 nuts to the lb., at 2s. 8d.

SUGAR.—With a continued good demand for low brown as well as refining kinds, business has been effected readily at fully previou rates, and occasionally slightly dearer. The subjoined sales of Eas Indian descriptions have been effected :—On the 15th inst. the floating cargo, per Jules Dufour, 16,000 bags brown Java Syrups, at 15s. for a near port. On the 18th privately 4,500 bags good to fine brown China sold at 18s. 6d. to 20s. On the 19th privately 2,000 bags clayed China sold at 22s., also 10,000 bags low China at 16s. 6d. per cwt. On the 20th privately 11,500 bags China sold good brown at 19s, good to fine clayed at 23s. to 25s. per cwt.

SAGO.—At auction 1,196 bags met a good steady demand, and 920 bags sold at firm rates, fair to good small at 16s. 6d. to 17s., good bright small at 17s. 6d., with a few at 18s., good medium 19s. 6d.

TAPIOCA.—A fair business is doing privately in Singapore at 2 11-16d. to 2¾d. At auction of 1,236 bags Singapore offered 650 bags sold, Malacca kind at 2⅝d., middling to good white at 2⅝d. to 2¾d., fine small at 2¾d., fine bold 3⅛d., the remainder fine and extra fine being bought in at 3⅛d. to 3¼d. Pearl Tapioca : Of 153 bags of fresh import offered 30 bags bullets sold at 31s., the remainder bought in, medium at 20s. 6d.

TIN.—The market has been steady but very quiet. The current quotations are for Straits on the spot, £65, afloat £65 to £65 10s.; Banca £69 10s.; Billiton £66 per ton.

TOBACCO.—The sales have included 30 bales China damaged at 3½d. to 4d., and 8 cases Manila Cheroots at 3s. to 6s. 6d.

LAUNCHES.

On the 10th inst. an iron barque, named the Stuart, was launched by Messrs. Stephen and Sons, Dundee, for Messrs. John Hay and Co., Liverpool. The dimensions are, length 197 feet, breadth 34 feet, depth 19 feet. She is classed 100A at Lloyds, and is 900 tons register.

On the 11th inst. Messrs. W. Denny and Bros., Dumbarton, launched another steamer, named the Chanda, for the British India Steam Navigation Company (Limited). She is a duplicate of the Chinsura, and her dimensions are: 315 by 33 by 26½; gross register tonnage 2,040. Her engines, of 220 h.p. nominal, with cylinders of 63in. and 36½ in., and stroke of 45in., are on the compound direct acting principle, and supplied by Messrs. Denny.

HYDROGRAPHICAL NOTIFICATIONS.

China—East Coast.—Namoa Island.—Position of Glengyle Rock.—The following particulars relative to Glengyle rock, east side of Namoa island (on which it is considered the steam vessels Madras and Glengyle struck in September 1873 and November 1875 respectively), have been received from Commander R. H. Napier, H.M. Surveying-vessel Nassau:—Glengyle rock, with one foot over it and breaking at low water spring tides, is of small extent, and lies one-third of a mile off the S.E. point of Namoa island; with the following bearings:—East point, N. 6° E.; Oeste rock, S. 29° W.; Three tall chimneys, S. 66½° W.; This recent special examination of the locality by the Nassau resulted in finding no other trace of shoal water. Note.—The north point of Crab island in line with Three Chimney bluff, bearing W. ½ S., leads southward of Glengyle rock; Dome island seen midway between Oeste and Ruff rocks, bearing S.S.W. ½ W., leads eastward of Glengyle rock. [The Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 0° 0′ in 1877.]—Hydrographic-office, Admiralty, August, 1877.

THE Customs at Shanghai have issued the following notice:—"Notice is hereby given that a rock, having only 13 feet of water on it at low water, has been discovered, distant about 200 yards to the S.W. ¾ W. of the Ryder Rock, which latter is awash at high water, is a little over one-third of a mile from the shore, and is W. ¾ S. from the summit of Ape Hill. (The bearings are magnetic.)"

THE steamer Louise, of 60-horse power, Captain Dahl, which sailed on the 18th of July from Hull for the Obi mouth, has arrived at Tobolsk, Siberia, all well. The steamer belongs to Alexander Trapezikoff, Moscow.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.
ESTABLISHED 1859.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23; Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Brazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

Sir SAMUEL BAKER,

In his work on the Sources of the Nile, says:—

"I ordered my dragoman Mahomet to inform the "Faky that I was a doctor, and that I had the best "medicines at the service of the sick, with advice "gratis. In a short time I had many applicants, to "whom I served out a quantity of Holloway's Pills. "These are most useful to an explorer, as, possessing "unmistakable purgative properties, they create an "undeniable effect upon the patient, which satisfies "him of their value."

This fine Medicine cures all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Bowels, is a Great PURIFIER of the BLOOD, and wonderfully efficacious in all ailments incidental to Females—young or aged.

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.
NO. 72.

CHINA SEA.

FOOCHOW DISTRICT.

PIHQUAU HARBOUR ROCK.

Notice is hereby given, that Captain Williams, of Messrs. Butterfield and Swire's steamer the Chefoo, observed on the 24th May last a rock on which a heavy sea at ¾ flood was breaking in mid-channel at the entrance to Pihquau Harbour. The islet off the South end of Chinquan Island bore from the rock W. by N.; and Pingfoong Rock Point, to the West of Pingfoong Island, bore N. by E. magnetic. This information has been received from Mr. W. Handyside Tapp, H.B.M.'s Registrar of Shipping.

By order of the Inspector-General of Customs,

(Signed) D. M. HENDERSON,
Engineer-in-Chief.

CHINA.

PEKING.

There was no political intelligence of importance from the capital at the date of the last mail. Attention was being chiefly directed to the drought, which was becoming serious. The Courier's correspondent writes:—

The very abundant spring rains made the earth moist enough to bring on the autumn crops to a certain point, but now they seem fading. The millet and maize are very short in the straw and light in the ear, and are hastening on to a premature harvest. The later sown crops which succeed the wheat will be an utter failure unless the rain soon comes. At this season the streets of this city and the roads around are generally full of water, but now they are covered with dust, with which the slightest breeze loads the air. We have not yet had one summer storm worthy the name. The price of grain is rising above its standard during the scarcity of last winter. The price of silver in the capital is very high, while at T'ung-cho, distant fifteen miles, and in all the cities around, it has never been lower. All foreigners who can leave the city and can find a location outside are in their summer quarters. We do not find a lower temperature at the hills, but are free from dust and bad smells, and can get quiet walks without hearing abusive epithets. The temples, like most other structures in China, are continually falling out of repair, and are at the same time let alone, so that summer quarters are getting very scarce, and the price demanded by the Ho-shang is larger each year.

TIENTSIN.

The correspondent of the Daily News writes under date of 2nd August:—

The rain still holds off, although we have had frequent indications. This evening there are good signs of rain, and yet I fear it is "passing around." From all directions, far and near, there comes the one story. What the locusts have left, the drought and heat are drying up. And now I hear of a smaller species of locust or grasshopper in many places, in numbers exceeding the large ones. The fields are the picture of desolation. The Kaouliang, or large millet, is striving to head at about half its usual height. The prospect is most disheartening. I think all the gods in the Chinese pantheon must have been invoked by this time, from what I have heard of the "praying for rain." Inside the East gate a dragon about four feet long is suspended, head downwards, among some withered branches. A constant stream of water is kept flowing from the dragon's mouth, and on poles among the branches are yellow strips of paper, having such inscriptions as "There should fall a heavy rain."—"There will certainly be rain."—"A great rain will descend." The sickness and mortality in the city are very great, and are likely to increase very much unless a change comes in the weather. I think such a season has not been known here since foreigners came to the port.

WUCHANG.

The correspondont of the Shanghai Courier writes :—

One stage further has the late assault case gone—in that Mr. Hughes has referred the matter to Peking. The same students have, I hear, pulled down a shop because the owner made opposition to some of their number pilfering his wares, and went to get the aid of the local officials to check them.

The locusts have put in an appearance at Hankow, eating the verdure which made beautiful the churchyard of St. John the Evangelist, and the neighbouring garden. The Han-yang magistrate, I hear, sent down a thousand ducks to devour the devastators. Yesterday for an hour towards dusk large numbers were flying over this city, but so high up that it did not seem likely they would alight before crossing the river, towards which they were flying.

NEWCHWANG.

The Daily News correspondent writes :—

Tail-cutting has come here at last, and natives are much frightened, as it is considered a death warrant to lose a portion, ever so small, in a mysterious way. The most (otherwise) intelligent natives firmly believe in the paper-man, and that he can be wafted with a breath on the hand to go on his road to mischief.

A species of cholera is raging in the native town, and one hundred per diem are said to fall victims. The Taoutai has prohibited the sale of melons (water and other kinds), and if he could only eradicate by drainage the horrible effluvia so inseparable from Chinese dwellings and streets many lives would be saved.

The British barque Adela, Captain Beattie, went ashore on the 27th July, about two miles from the outer limits of the port. When she floated and anchored in harbour she was surveyed and condemned by three surveyors.

Mr. Adkins (H.B.M.'s Consul), with Mr. Henry E. Bush (Lloyd's agent), and Captain J. Thomas, of the Foochow, have held a Court to inquire into the cause of the loss. The Court's verdict was to the effect "that the pilot had been over-anxious to get to the anchorage, and had not taken sufficient care, and that the vessel's loss is due to him. Captain Beattie and those under him did all that was necessary to get the ship off.

SOOCHOW.

The North China Herald correspondent says there has been continued heavy rains here for the past month ; if they continue, the low lands to the south-east will be under water. Nothing has been seen of the locusts very recently. The country people all say the insects have "foreign letters" on their wings. The teachers have examined them, and say it is clearly writing, and as they are not Chinese characters, it is certain there is some connection with foreign lands. You may dispute the point with them, but they will end, "but they have the foreign characters on their wings."

The present Soochow Foo seems to be an exception to the usual class of Chinese rulers, in that he sees every proclamation enforced. The opium dens have been closed by him. He now forbids all the women to go to the temples to worship. The other day, the birthday of the "God of Lightning," when crowds from the country came to burn incense, he stationed a small official with a number of soldiers at the principal temple. The Taouists feel this stroke very heavily, as the women are their chief patrons. He keeps his runners passing about the streets all the time, and it is said they have caused quarrelling and fighting to cease in a measure. His yamen is in the principal thoroughfare of the city, and people gather there to hear the cases tried.

HANKOW.

H.M. Consul at the above port has circulated, for the information of the British Mercantile Community, the following extract from the translation of a petition, addressed to the Taoutai by the Shansi bankers, describing the nature of the drafts issued by them—the so-called Shansi bills—and requesting that these drafts may not be discounted by British merchants :—

The practice of issuing and paying drafts was established by petitioners and others solely for the convenience of officials and of people in general, and of merchants and traders. All drafts that are issued must bear the name of the person, or the style of the firm in whose favour they are drawn. They are different from the notes issued at this trade centre by cash shops, which are made payable to bearer on presentation, for the very purpose of allowing them to pass freely from hand to hand. The draft is issued on receipt (by the drawer) of the amount drawn for, but there are also cases in which the draft is issued before the actual receipt of the money, and the sum drawn for is only payable by the drawee after receipt of advice from the drawer, so that should the draft arrive before the advices, it is still necessary to wait till the latter are received before making payment. Hence all drafts must be endorsed "Payable three or five days after sight," unless the draft is made payable at a certain fixed time. In this case should the payee not be able to wait for payment until the draft comes to maturity before he can hand it to a third person, he must come to a distinct understanding with the drawee as to whether he may do so or not, and arrange that the money is to be paid to the person who presents the draft, but even in this case payment would depend upon the nature of the advices from the drawer. In this way the damage arising from loss (of the draft) is prevented, and unexpected mishaps guarded against. Petitioners have establishments in various provinces, all of which observe this custom in their business; for many years there has been no change in this respect, nor has there been any divergence from it. . . . . Petitioners would feel greatly obliged, therefore, by your requesting the British Consul to direct British merchants not to discount or deal in their drafts in future. In accordance with your instructions we present this detailed statement.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 12th August ; no later mail from London had been received.

The event which has attracted most attention in the Settlement since the departure of the last mail has been a meeting which has been held at the club to come to a determination on the form which the memorial to the late Mr. Margary, which was proposed last autumn, should take. There was a fair attendance, but it was evident that a great deal of the interest which had been before felt had died away. After some discussion the memorial cross, of which a design had been sent in from Messrs. Kinder and Cory, was selected. It is said to be very graceful, and unlike any of the monuments which the Settlement already possesses. The three-cornered plot of ground at the foot of Garden Bridge, which is at present occupied as a nursery garden, was selected as the site.

A sensible measure has been adopted by the Municipal Council, who have resolved to close all pawn-shops at ten P.M., as it appears that all "legitimate business" can be transacted by that hour. The measure, it may be hoped, will have the effect of checking peculations, which are of course favoured by its being possible to get rid of wrongfully acquired property when the vigilance of the police is relaxed at night. The new iron bridge on the Bund has been opened.

The closing of the Woosung Railway, of which telegraphic information arrived some time back, was looked upon as certain at the date of the mail's departure. The time spoken of was the end of the present year. The Daily News, in noticing the matter, says :—"The Viceroy is not communicative on the subject, but the tone of what he does say leaves very little doubt that, at the expiration of the guaranteed year, he purposes closing the line, and proclaiming to the world the hopeless inferiority of the Chinese to their Japanese neighbours. While the latter are extending railways, which they manage with admirable success, making good roads, and striving to connect every important town in the country by telegraph wires, the Viceroy Shen Pao-chen deliberately purposes taking a seat, and declaring that China is as yet altogether too uncivilised to manage a little railway nine miles long."

A curious and by no means pleasant illustration of the manner in which stories are fabricated in China has been given by one of the native papers published in Shanghai. The Sin Pan came out with a detailed history to the effect that a foreigner, who was out shooting, passed through a village near the Pagoda, when a dog barked at him, and followed him along the path yelling ferociously. Thereupon, the foreigner, losing his temper, fired, but after the smoke had rolled off, the dog was seen in the distance cantering unharmed away, and a boy seven years old appeared upon the scene, lying stretched lifeless upon the ground, whereupon the foreigner seemed exceedingly startled, and decamped with precipitation. Tidings were then carried to the boy's mother, who in a great state of excitement rushed to the spot, and folding the dead body in her arms with loud lamentations hurried back to her house, where she incontinently hanged herself. A messenger was at once sent with the sad news to the husband, who was a dealer in Shanghai. He hurried home, but arrived too late to save the life of his wife. The villagers expressed much commiseration at this untimely loss in one day of both wife and child, and suggested that he should bring the case before the notice of the city authorities. As, however, there were no eye witnesses forthcoming, and, moreover, the name and address of the foreigner were alike unknown, the unhappy man declined to take any action, and could only in silence cherish his woe. With regard to this touching story, the North China Herald says it is assured that the whole of the tale, together with the melancholy sequel of the suicide of the mother, the mute despair of the father, the commiseration of the villagers, and the light-hearted unsympathising behaviour of the "unspeakable" dog himself, is purely imaginary, and that the villagers and Tepaos of the districts alluded to assured anxious inquirers that there was no foundation whatever for the story.

The above named paper of August 11 gives the following amusing description of the manner in which the silk market was opened :—

There was some excitement on Tuesday among Chinese silkmen who were chinchinning Joss and burning Joss-paper, in consequence of the prices between foreigners and themselves showing an indication of coming within range. It was suggested to them that if, instead of chinchinning Joss, they would reduce the differential prices, the probability of negotiations coming to a satisfactory issue would be much greater than at present. They seem at last to have acted on the suggestion, as some 300 bales of new silk were settled on Thursday, at prices averaging about 6d. a lb.

over home rates—i.e., on the basis of Tls. 345 for No. 5 Tsatlees. The demand became more active on Friday afternoon, and some 250 bales were settled at about the previous day's rates. Offers for some 700 or 800 bales more are said to be in the hands of Chinese brokers, and likely to be executed.

The sums for the damages and costs in the Tunsin collision case have been paid into Court. They amount to Tls. 18,000. The hearing of the charge of perjury which has been brought at the Mixed Court, in connection with this case had been brought to a conclusion when the mail left, but the decision of the Chinese magistrate had not been given. The proceedings, as reported in the papers, seem to have been of a somewhat irregular character when compared to those of ordinary tribunals. The Chinese magistrate was Chun, who has long sat in the Mixed Court, and the assessor was Mr. C. T. Gardner, H.M. Acting Vice-Consul.

A handy book of the "Treaties Between China and Foreign Powers," edited by Mr. W. F. Mayers, Chinese Secretary to the British Legation at Peking, is announced as in the press at Shanghai. It will bring together and render available for general purposes of reference the greater portion of the various treaties and regulations which have been successively agreed upon during the last sixteen years; and the Treaty of Peace, &c., between Japan and the Korea (Chosen). Several instruments, though not now in force, find place in the work, as the French Treaty of 1844, and the United States Treaty of same year; also, the Emigration Convention of 1866, and the Articles of Revision negotiated 1868-69, by Sir Rutherford Alcock, K.C.B.

We take the following from the Celestial Empire:—

We hear that Hu-kwan-yung, the well-known banker of Hangchow, has completed the negotiations with the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for the Chinese loan, which was to have been advanced by the Japanese. The amount is five million Hai-kwan taels, or about £1,600,000. It may be mentioned that the loan, unlike the last, is not in silver but in sterling. The rate of interest is ten per cent. per annum. The Customs Revenues of Canton, Ningpo, Shanghai and Hankow are hypothecated as security for the debt.

Some considerable concessions have been made by the Chinese in the matter of the Chefoo Conventon. We hear that orders have been sent from the Central Government, that native vessels, chartered for the conveyance of foreign merchandise on the transit pass,—and which have hitherto had to pay mast dues and a variety of "squeezes,"—will, in future, on passing the Customs barriers, have to pay tonnage dues only.

In reference to the paragraph which appeared in our issue of the 26th July, to the effect that it was rumoured that the Japanese had protested against the negotiations of the last loan to the Chinese Government, we learn that the matter has been amicably settled. The Chinese contractor of the loan, which was to come before the public on the 1st of September, has purchased from the Japanese 50,000 piculs of rice for the use of sufferers by the inundation in the province of Fokien. The profit on this transaction will, we suppose, be considered by the Japanese as a sort of equivalent for what might have been got from the loan.

A correspondent writes:—

As consignees of Congou in China often suffer by deviations in voyages, for the sole benefit of the owners, I think it is well to call your attention to the fact that the Galatea, one of the Hamburg line, had a very tempting offer when just on the point of starting with a full cargo for London, to tow the Oceanic to Hong Kong, for £1,500, but the captain and agents very properly refused it, as it involved a risk which might be very prejudicial to the interests of his shippers.

NINGPO.

The new Fortai of Chekeang, bent upon economical reforms, has done away with the fleet of sea-going junks kept for the suppression of piracy in Chusan Archipelago. The Taoutai has strongly objected to the measure. The sale of the bridge of boats has been completed, and it has been again thrown open to traffic.

FOOCHOW.

The Foochow Herald has the following:—

Mr. Tong King Seng returned from Formosa a few days ago. He was entrusted, we believe, with preliminary arrangements connected with the proposed telegraph lines in that island; also, with the confidential task of reporting to Ting Futai on the present working of the Keelung coal mines. Mr. Tong King Seng left for Shanghai per Hankwang on the 1st instant.

The subscriptions to the Relief Fund, or rather the forced contributions of native merchants and gentry, are now said to amount to over $300,000.

An accident, attended by great loss of life, occurred on the river on the 27th July. A large river boat, having about 140 Chinese passengers on board, while tacking down stream against a strong head-wind, capsized during a squall between Limpoo and the Mamoi Arsenal. The steamship Taiwan, which happened to be near enough to render assistance, at once steamed to the spot and rescued thirty-nine men and one woman who had scrambled on the keel of the boat. She then towed the wreck ashore. Up to the 1st August eighty-seven dead bodies had been recovered at different points of the river. The accident is attributed to gross carelessness on the part of the lowdah, who, as usual, made halyards fast with all sail set.

It is gratifying to hear that by latest advices the cholera is abating at Amoy. Since Dr. Douglas's death there have been one or two cases amongst the foreign shipping, but, we are glad to add, nothing fatal.

HONG KONG.

Our advices by this mail extend to the 18th August; no later mail from London had arrived out.

The attempt to introduce competitive examination for the junior appointments under the Local Government does not appear to be by any means so successful as might be wished. The Board of Examiners which we noticed some time back had been appointed by the Governor to hold the competitive examination for a third clerkship in the Magistrate's office reported that, after a careful examination of the papers of the eleven candidates, they were unable to recommend any of them for the post, and suggested that the limit of age should be altered to between twenty and thirty-five instead of between sixteen and twenty-eight, and that the vacancy should be once more advertised. A minute by the Governor states that though he is somewhat disappointed at the failure of the candidates on this occasion, he is confident some of them will succeed on future occasions, and he shall continue to dispose of whatever appointments may be in his gift by the system of open competition, believing that the best officers can thus be obtained, and that these public examinations will test and encourage the progress of education in the colony. In compliance with the suggestion of the examiners, a notification appears in the Gazette that a second examination will be held on the 28th August, when the limits of age for candidates will be from sixteen to thirty-five.

It is announced in the local Gazette that Colonel Bassano, C.B, having assumed the command of the troops on the departure of his Excellency Major-General the Honourable Sir Francis Colborne, K.C.B., was sworn in as a member of the Executive Council on the 8th August.

The ordinary half-yearly meeting of the shareholders in the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation was held at the City Hall on the 16th August. There were present Mr. H. Hoppius (Chairman), Hon. W. Keswick, Messrs. F. D. Sassoon, E. R. Belilios, W. H. Forbes, W. Reiners, E. Tobin, H. Cope, E. E. Sassoon, T. C. Hayllar, M. B. Polishwalla, J. F. Mardfeldt, E. Cope, J. A. Mosely, W. R. Landstein, D. M. Mehta, D. Munchajee, W. Wheeler—"Hancock A. Newton, H. N. Mody. H. Z. Just, A. Wasserfall, J. Russell, C. P. Chater, E. Beart, Mackenzie, H. M. Bevis, J. T. Chater, T. Murjorjee, H. Kings, mill, Merally, C. C. Cohen, L. Mendel, M. E. H. Asgar, and T. Jackson (Manager). The Chairman, in laying the report before the Shareholders, said:—The accounts are annexed to the report, which has been in your hands some days, and with your permission I will take them as read. I have much pleasure in placing before you such a satisfactory statement of accounts, showing a net profit for the half-year of nearly 7 per cent. You are aware that business has been very dull during the whole of the period under review, and the profits realised under such circumstances bear good testimony to the earning power of the bank. You will notice that the deposits are steadily increasing, and at no time since the formation of the bank have its affairs been more prosperous than they are at present. The old troublesome accounts have one by one been eliminated from the books, and I am glad to say that no new ones of a similar nature have taken their place. A few months ago the bank negotiated on favourable terms a loan to the Chinese Government, which it is intended shall be issued to the public during the present half year, and we look for a fair profit on the operation. Gentlemen, I will not detain you by any further remarks, but before proposing the adoption of the report and accounts I shall be happy to answer any questions which may be asked upon them. Mr. Kingsmill, in seconding the motion to pass the report and accounts, said:—"I have very great pleasure in seconding that, and allow me to say one word in doing so, which is, that I do believe myself, and I think the shareholders generally agree with me, that the present board of directors possess what former boards had not, the confidence of the shareholders." The report and accounts being passed unanimously Messrs. W. H. Forbes and W. Reiners were elected directors, on the motion of the Hon. W. Keswick, seconded by Mr Russell.

The Report of the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Company, to be presented to the directors on the 22nd August, for the half year ending June 30th last, shows that during the period under review there have been more vessels docked and repaired than in the previous six months, the tonnage amounting to 99,614, against 80,103. The gross receipts of the company amount to $202,768.20, and the net profit to $33,711.89, to which has to be added the balance brought forward from last account $10,744.46, making available $44,456.35; from which has to be deducted, bonus to contributing shareholders $2,000.00, directors' fees $2,500.00, auditors' fees $250.00, making together

$4,750.00, and leaving a balance of $39,706.35. The directors recommend that no dividend be declared, but that $25,000 be paid the Hong Kong Fire Insurance Company in reduction of loan, and the balance, $14,706.35, carried foward to new account. The sum of $40,000 had been received from the Chinese Government on account of the Whampoa Docks, and they have still $40,000 to pay. The amount received and the $15,000 appropriated at last meeting have been paid in reduction of loan, and the debt now stands at $85,000, but will shortly be reduced to $20,000, by the balance due from the Chinese Government, and if the appropriation of $25,000 out of present profits be sanctioned by the shareholders.

We take the following from the Daily Press:—

A daring case of pocket picking has occurred in the public street. The captain of the Spanish steamer Leyte, on landing to go to his agent, Mr. A. McG. Heaton, had his pocket picked of the sum of $1,100. The fellow who committed the act was arrested, but before this was accomplished he had thrown the money to a companion, who made off with the booty.

A collision has taken place between a steam-launch and a junk, which might have proved fatal to some of those on board but for the gallantry of two Spanish sailors. It seems that the steam-launch belonging to the dock at Kowloon left there about seven o'clock P.M. to go to the Spanish transport Patino. When within a short distance of the vessel the launch came into collision with a junk, which had just before collided with the Patino. All those on board the launch (twelve in number) immediately jumped into the water. Two sailors on board the Patino, named Ignacio Leon and José Perez Soane, who witnessed the occurrence, sprang overboard with the object of rendering assistance, and exerted themselves manfully to save life. Fortunately no lives were lost.

Banks.	Average Amount.
Oriental Bank Corporation	$415,916
Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China	541,529
Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China ...	549,379
Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation...	1,254,506
Total	$2,761,330.

There are a great many things going on here at present of which little or no notice is taken in the papers, but which are of the utmost consequence to the colony. I do not wish to be in any way unfair in my estimate of his Excellency the Governor on account of his religious convictions, and would be the last to allude to them if I did not feel that they encroach, in more directions than one, upon his administration of the colony. For a long time past the subject of Government education has been one of much difficulty and delicacy, and the Catholics have always been opposed to the excellent system of instruction at the Central schools, and have exerted their influence as much as possible against it. Sir Arthur Kennedy avoided any difficulty with them, or with too enthusiastic Christians of other denominations, by insisting upon the schools being strictly undenominational, and so open to all, even the unchristian Chinese, and this wise policy being followed, the schools have progressed in a most satisfactory manner. At present, however, they seem to have come to a dead lock. The site for the new building has been bought, but no progress is made with it, and it is felt only too severely that the old energy by which both Sir Richard MacDonnell and Sir Arthur Kennedy infused life into public education in Hong Kong has died away. The reason of this is very generally surmised to be the influence of the Catholic Bishop, Monsignor Raimondi, who is indefatigable in the cause of his Church, and has great power with the Governor. The most liberal-minded cannot but feel that there is something incongruous in our having so strong a Catholic to govern a Protestant colony; but such is the wisdom of the Home Government.

A practice of considerable importance in connection with the administration of justice in Hong Kong has of late been gaining ground. The cases in the Summary Jurisdiction Court are now constantly removed by order of the Chief Justice to the Supreme Court, thus increasing the expenses to the suitors and causing needless delay—to obviate which the Court was expressly established. The Ordinance establishing the Courts here gives almost unlimited power to the Chief Justice, and Sir John Smale has of late shown too strong a leaning to having cases brought in the Supreme instead of the Summary Court. The nature of such cases (similar to County Court cases at home) is such that they can be much more satisfactorily disposed of in summary jurisdiction than any other way; and by removing them much injustice may at times be done to men of small means, who cannot afford to go to great expense to obtain redress.

The colony is becoming more and more Chinese, native hongs being found in many places where European houses existed before. It is a bad sign, and shows how the trade is drifting into Chinese hands, and how rapidly Europeans are being ousted from it.

CANTON

At the Canton Missionary Conference, held on the 8th Aug., resolutions were passed expressing sorrow for the loss of the Rev. Charles F. Preston, and bearing testimony to his zeal and fidelity in pursuing his work, and recognisling the valuable service he rendered by translating the New Testament into the Canton dialect.

The Daily Press correspondent writes:—

The squeezes imposed on the boat people at the Wai Chow lekin station have led to a block in the public business. The Taoutai of the prefecture had his official despatches delayed for three weeks. These despatches, it would appear, are sent by water, but owing to the exorbitant imposts levied upon them all the boats and junks stopped sailing for Canton, and no means of conveyance could be found. The Taoutai's intervention in the matter has proved successful at last, however, and the boat people have now resumed work. It would appear that the system of official squeezing sometimes has unlooked for effects, and little incidents of this kind may have some slight effect in demonstrating to the Celestial mind that the policy is not one of unmitigated advantage.

MANILA.

The Diario de Manila of the 1st August states that news had been received from Paris that an iron lighthouse to be placed on San Nicolas shoal in Manila Bay had been completed by Messrs. Eiffel and Co., together with the appertaining lighting apparatus, life-boats, &c., and that the whole of it was to be shipped to Manila in July last. On arrival here, probably in September next, the lighthouse will be forthwith put up. The total expense is estimated at $30,000.

Advices from Sooloo come down to the 18th July, at which date the fortifications and quarters for the troops to be stationed at the new Spanish settlement there were rapidly approaching completion. The state of health was not favourable, owing to the great labour exacted, and the disturbance of the soil from the building operations. The Moros continued to harass the Spanish outposts and murder persons whom they find off their guard. On one occasion they murdered three soldiers on an outpost; and on another they killed a sailor guarding cattle. The Spaniards laid an ambush for them one day and killed one Moro and captured another. One night a number of Moros broke into the Commissariat cattle pen, but were beaten off by the sentinels, leaving one of their number dead. Business was dull at Sooloo, but trade was expected to revive when fine weather sets in, as was the case last year. The Comercio says that during the month of June the exports from Sooloo consisted chiefly of shells, sharks' fins, mangosteens, poultry, cinnamon, rattans, cocoanuts, rice, garlic, salt, cocoa and horses.

SINGAPORE.

The present French mail brings advices from this port to the 26th August; the P. and O. mail from London, July 20, was received on the 19th August, and the following French mail of July 27 arrived out on the 24th August.

The advices and files by the present mail contain nothing of any importance.

The Colonial steamer Pluto, with the Honourable the Colonial Secretary on board, left for Larut. It is probable the Hon. Mr. Douglas will be absent about twelve days on his tour of inspection though Perak, which he proposes making, accompanied by Mr. Low, and we hope the public will, upon his return, be favoured with the result of his observations.

Messrs. Thomas, Skinner and Co.'s steamer Loudoun Castle, Captain Marshal, from London, arrived alongside the Tanjong Pagar Wharf on the 18th, and left for Hong Kong and Shanghai on the 20th Aug. The Messageries Maritimes Company's mail steamer Sindh, which arrived on the 24th Aug., has made a remarkably quick run from Marseilles, having left there on the 29th July last.

Mr. E. H. Bell, Head Inspector of Police, Straits Settlements, has, we hear, been appointed to be Superintendent of Police at Penang, in place of Mr. J. E. Hewick, who has resigned, and left for home by the last English mail.

The following notifications are taken from the Gazette:—

Sir Thomas Sidgreaves, Chief Justice, S.S., has been granted extension of leave for four months from the 10th September, upon half-salary.

The appointment of Mr. N. B. Dennys, as Assistant Protector of Chinese under Ordinance II. of 1877 (Chinese Immigrants), has been confirmed.

The resignation of Dr. F. E. Jackson, Colonial Surgeon, Province Wellesley, has been accepted.

Messrs. W. A. Pickering and E. Karl have been appointed by H.E. The Administrator Protectors of Chinese under Ordinance II. of 1877.

Captain P. J. Murray, H.M. Assistant Resident in Sungei Ujong, since the 30th April, 1875, has been appointed, by the Secretary of State, H.M. Resident.

The finding of the Court of Inquiry, consisting of Mr. W. A. Pickering and Captains Mackenzie and Ellis, into the loss of the British barque Sea Star, on an unknown reef between Boe and Pepa Islands, Dampier Straits, while on a voyage from Nagasaki to U. K. in June last, is published. The captain, officers and crew, are acquitted of all blame.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HANKOW.—Arrivals were coming in very slowly, and only a small business had been done in the week, the total being only some 3,000 chests. For the first day or two the market was easy, but reports of higher prices in Shanghai were received, and rates closed nearly Tls. 2 per picul higher. Chinamen who shipped third-crop Teas to Shanghai had made one to two taels profit there, and were now eagerly buying in Hankow. Common Teas, of which alone the future arrivals can consist, were in no demand for England, though Russian buyers continued to take them at very low rates for Siberia. The quantity of third crop still to come was expected not to exceed 5,000,000 lbs., of which only a very trifling proportion would be Tea worth over 1s. per lb. Prices had been:—Oopack, 1877, Tls. 11 to 14; Oanfa, Tls. 13 to 14; Oonam, Tls. 6½ to 8½. Total arrivals, 1877, 584,000; 1876, 645,000; settlements and shipments, 1877, 580,000; 1876, 640,000; stock, 1877, 4,000; 1876, 5,000.

SHANGHAI.—Black: There had been an active business during the week, settlements amounting to 15,000 chests (against 1,300 chests in the corresponding week of 1876), viz:—Oopack, 4,000 chests at Tls. 14 to 19½; Oanfa, 1,500 chests at Tls. 15½ to 19; Oonam, 500 chests at Tls. 13½; Ningchow, 7,000 chests at Tls. 15 to 25; Hohow, 2,000 chests at Tls. 12¾ to 23. The Celestial Empire says:—The market continues firm and the stock is being fast sifted out, leaving each day a less desirable assortment behind. The arrivals of fresh teas have been very trifling, the total from River ports not exceeding 8,000 chests. Under these circumstances prices have gradually hardened, and on looking back we find a rise has been established of fully 10 per cent. from the lowest point. The competition, which has, however, been limited to a few buyers only, has been mainly for superior teas—those costing over 1s. per lb.—and we hardly think the advance in common tea sufficient to induce much packing in the country, so that the season is really showing signs of drawing to a close, after just three months of ceaseless activity. The prospect for the vessels (two steamers and five sailers) loading for London is thus a very bleak one, and some of them will (for the sake of the tea-market we much hope) have to fill up with other merchandise, or else sail with incomplete cargoes. Green: A moderate business has been transacted, settlements being 8,000 half-chests, against 3,000 half-chests in the corresponding week last season, viz., Teenkai 1,500 half-chests, at Tls. 28 to 30½; Fychow 500 half-chests, at Tls 21½; Pingsuey 5,500 half-chests, at Tls. 21 to 36½; Shanghai-packed 500 half-chests, at Tls. 21. The above quoted newspaper offers the subjoined remarks on the condition of the market:—The business in Green Teas continues to be restricted by the unfavourable news regarding this staple received from all home markets. There can hardly be any doubt left now in the minds of the most sanguine that this specialty is becoming a thing of the past, and that its backers can hardly hope again to win with it. We find, against all precedent, steadily decreasing crops, accompanied by steadily decreasing prices; the decrease being from 34 millions in 1872 (the culminating year of high prices and big export) to 24 millions in 1876. With the far superior quality of Japan [illegible] of July one fact [illegible] men to bring prices to a level with some [illegible] far just equal to that of last year, and [illegible] steamer) is more than double. [illegible] houses, and we [illegible] to recede to a reasonable position.

FOOCHOW.—Messrs. Westall, Galton and Co.'s Letter of Aug. 4 says:—Considerable transactions are reported during the past week, but a large proportion of the settlements were previously made for shipment to the Colonies per steamer Ocean. Arrivals and settlements during the week are:—Congou, arrived, 13,700 chests; settled, 27,421; Souchong, 800 chests, 2,314; Oolong, 6,400 half-chests, 359; Flowery Pekoe, 361 chests; Scented Teas, 13,000 boxes, 4,785. Congou: The common to good common grades have been most in demand at a reduction of Tls. 1 to 1½. Flavoury to medium have been taken to a fair extent at previous rates. Broken leaf sorts remain in demand and are without change. Souchongs have been dealt in at late quotations. Oolong: Only one chop has found a buyer. Flowery Pekoes: The bulk of the settlements have been made for Bombay. Scented Teas have been taken at a decline for inferior quality. Settlements and Quotations are:—Congou: 90 chests finest, 1s. 9⅛d. to 1s. 10d.; 2,330 chests medium to good medium, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 5d.; 11,540 chests flavoury to medium, 11⅜d. to 1s. 2¼d.; 10,650 chests common to good common, 9¼d. to 11¼d.; 2,810 chests dust to common, 6½d. to 8½d. Souchong: 950 chests fair to good, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 5d.; 1,100 chests broken to fair, 9¼d. to 1s. 2¼d.; 264 chests leafy, 7½d. to 8½d. Oolong: 359 half-chests fair, 11⅜d. Flowery Pekoe: 361 chests fair to good, 2s. to 2s. 10¼d. Scented Teas: Scented Orange Pekoe, 4,120 boxes fair to good, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 7½d.; Scented Caper, 665 boxes fair to good, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 5d. The export to Great Britain and the continent of Europe amounts to lbs. 25,483,073, against lbs. 33,890,826. To the Colonies, lbs. 10,100,510, against lbs. 8,221,490, at the same period last year.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—The North China Herald Report says:—The almost entire absence of demand at anywhere near asking rates for good clean Silk has had the effect that has been anticipated for the last month. In our report of July 21 we alluded to the arrivals of second crop musters so foul as to be almost unusable, although of a bright and "flat-catcher" colour. Finding no offers were forthcoming for such cargo, the native dropped his price considerably this week, and has succeeded in getting rid of about 130 bales, at prices ranging from Tls. 330 to 350 per picul; the classifying of the Silk must have proved a difficult task. In addition some 130 bales of Tsatlees have been taken at Tls. 405 for "Mowfong" Elephant chop, and Tls. 345 to 350 for market No. 5, which with about 20 bales of C. Y. S. "Kinling" Kahing Taysaam (old Silk) at Tls. 350, and some 60 bales of market chop re-reeled Tsatlees (new Silk) at Tls. 400 to 410 make settlements for the week add up to about 400 bales. It is possible to get a small quantity of really clean market No. 5 Tsatlees at Tls. 345 to 355, but the majority of the holders of first crop Silk are fairly firm. Arrivals remain very insignificant, and the unsold stock stands unaltered at 16,000 bales. Export is 1,956 bales, and with the above settlements included will make 2,400 bales shipped against an average of nearly 25,000 bales at the same date for the past three years.

Correspondence.

THE LAW COURTS AT SHANGHAI.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—The Report from which you quote in a short article with the above heading, published in your issue of to-day, was made to the International Law Reform Conference, not by the Committee of the Aborigines Protection Society, but by a committee appointed by the Bremen Conference in 1876, of which Mr. Richard and myself were respectively requested to act as Chairman and Secretary.

The authority for the statement to which you take exception is a well-known member of the Shanghai Bar. In his pamphlet entitled "Two Episodes of Recent Anglo-Chinese History" he says:—

"By the Tientsin Treaty, 1858, it was agreed that when disputes took place between British subjects and Chinese of such a nature that the Consul should be unable to settle them amicably, 'then he shall request the assistance of the Chinese authorities that they may together examine into the merits of the case, and decide it equitably.' Now how has this been carried out? In 1865 an Order in Council was brought into force expressly annulling all the judicial functions and jurisdiction of the Consul at Shanghai, and vesting it in a newly-created officer, viz., the Chief Judge for China and Japan. This change the Chinese have never sanctioned; indeed, I believe they have never even been asked to do so. The chief point involved, and from a political point of view a very important point it is, is this: when a British subject as plaintiff brings a case against a Chinese, the British Consul claims the right to have an official present, as it is said, "to watch the case for his national." When a Chinese is a plaintiff, the Chinese official, the Taoutai, who ranks with the British Consul, claims the same right. The result in practice is this. At the Court where British subjects and subjects of other foreign States bring cases against Chinese before a Chinese judicial officer, a British Vice-Consul or other Consular official sits twice a week (if not oftener), and an American official twice a week, and no such case is tried without a foreign official of the plaintiff's nationality being present. The Chinese official is the judge, but the foreign assessor takes always a very active and prominent part throughout the proceedings. There is no reciprocity, however; and in the British Supreme Court, which has absorbed the Consul's judicial jurisdiction in Shanghai, no Chinese officials are allowed to sit with the judge, or take any part in the proceedings. Comment on this seems unnecessary, except to point out that the British Minister in China should have had the injustice removed years ago."

If this statement be true it certainly brings to light a real grievance; and I am told that it is one to which the Chinese themselves are far from being indifferent. I am also assured that if we acted on the principle of reciprocity, and allowed a Chinese assessor to sit with the British judge in the Court at Shanghai, the Chinese would be inspired with a more general feeling of confidence in the decisions of our judicial representative than they now entertain.—I am, &c., F. W. CHESSON.

MARRIED LIFE IN CHINA.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—In your issue of 2nd July your correspondent "T." says:—

Your correspondent "D." puts his finger upon the weak point in saying that "if gentlemen engaged in mercantile pursuits in China had greater facilities for marrying and settling" a good deal of the "extravagance" would wear off quickly; but he adds, "circumstances are very much against them." Is this not arguing in a circle? Are not the "circumstances" just this very extravagance itself? Remove that, and there is no reason why people should not "marry and settle" in China as well as in other places, and this is precisely what every well-wisher of Anglo-Chinese Society must desire to see brought about.

To this I unhesitatingly reply, "T." knows nothing of what he is writing about. The "circumstances" are not the extravagance, but 1. The enormous cost of middle class living in the East. A man with £800 a year in Hong Kong can barely manage to live as well as one with £300 a year in England. Hence young men do not like to marry. 2. The fact that nearly all married women who have families are compelled after a short period to return home, simply from undue exhaustion. 3. The strong objection entertained by the head of mercantile houses to having married employés. 4. The indifference with which what would be justly looked upon elsewhere as an immoral course of life is regarded by the community at large. 5. The difficulty of "settling" in a place which business or health may at any moment oblige one to leave. Hence, I submit, the "circumstances" are not the extravagance. Men who take warning by those who have injudiciously married without due means think that they may just as well be extravagant in every day items, as until they are taipans they or their wives will have no chance of recognition from the married, i.e., as a rule, very rich class of the community.—I am, &c.,

FOREIGN OPINION OF CHINAMEN.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—It is commonly asserted that Europeans in China are so prejudiced as to be unable to appreciate any qualities in the natives, a statement which—like many others regarding China affairs—has a modicum of truth in it, but is at the same time very much exaggerated. As illustrating that this is not always the case, I noticed with great pleasure a paragraph which was reproduced in the last number of the London and China Telegraph from the North China Daily News of Shanghai, in which a tribute in excellent taste is paid to the memory of the late Mr. Heding, who long acted as interpreter at H.M. Consulate at that port. I have the more pleasure in alluding to this, as having had opportunities of observing the manner in which that gentleman performed his duties I feel that the praise which is bestowed upon him is well merited. As many things which appear in the English papers are translated into the native journals in China, I trust you will give insertion to these few lines, as I doubt not it will be gratifying to the late Mr. Heding's friends to know that his obliging and courteous conduct and modest unassuming demeanour are remembered with pleasure by some who have long left China, and are now many thousand miles away from it.—I am, &c., KUNG-KWAN.

London, Sept. 25, 1877.

ENGLISH SEAMEN IN JAPAN.—Commander Dawson, R.N., writes to us:—"The British Consul at Yokohama, the Naval Commander-in-Chief, and sundry merchants in Japan, of various nationalities and different Christian denominations, have united with the resident British Chaplain to petition the Missions to Seamen Society, 11, Buckingham-street, Strand, W.C., to provide religious ministrations for the English and American shipping frequenting Yokohama. A fit man for the work is on the spot, a former petty officer of the navy, who has gained the confidence of the local clergy and laity by three years' mission labour in that harbour. This work must cease unless about £200 a year be provided. Would you allow me to say that the Missions to Seamen Society is unable to furnish this sum, but would be glad to forward to Japan any moneys sent to it for this purpose?"

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

Again the accounts of disaster in China are most distressing. At Peking great fears were entertained that disaster would be brought about by drought, and at Tientsin similar apprehensions were already proving only too well founded. The correspondent there of one of the Shanghai papers, describing the state of affairs, says:—"What the locusts have left the drought and heat are drying up." To add to the disasters, a new small locust, but as destructive as the larger species, has made its appearance, and the fields are said to be "a picture of desolation." From the capital there is no political news of importance, and the inactivity of the Ministers has been the subject of some notice, though it may perhaps be considered excusable during the heats of August. It is announced that Mr. Baber was to start from Chungking on the 8th July, to join Mr. Gill at Ch'eng-tu, and that they would then in company make a tour through the districts of Western Szechuen. The terminating point of their journey, however, was not decided on. The locusts had also appeared at Hankow, where a correspondent described them as "eating them out of the place." One of the local Mandarins sent a thousand ducks to Wuchang to consume them, but whether the experiment was successful or not is not stated. The Wuchang outrage on the Missionary gentlemen has been "referred to Peking." It is to be hoped that this does not mean that it will be entirely shelved, as has been too frequently the case in similar affairs. At the least active attempts should be made to punish the guilty parties, and a proclamation be issued warning others from committing similar offences in future. At Soochow there had been very heavy rains, and it would seem, as a pendant to the drought in the North, apprehensions were here felt of serious damage by flood. At Shanghai the design and the site for the Margary Memorial have been decided upon. The Municipal Council have resolved to close pawn-shops after ten P.M. The intention of the Chinese Government to close the Woosung Railway was discussed, and much deprecated. An amusing account is given of the opening of the Silk market. The perjury case in connection with the Tunsin collision was concluded, but decision not yet given. It is stated that considerable further concessions have been made by the Chinese in the matter of the Chefoo Convention.

At Hong Kong the first attempt at appointment by competitive examination had not been successful. The Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank had held their half-yearly meeting. The meeting of the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Company was announced for the 22nd August.

From Japan the dates have been anticipated via America.

From Manila the advices show that the natives at Sooloo continue to harass the Spaniards. The quarters for the troops were not completed. A new light was to be erected on Fort Nicholas Shoal. From the Straits Settlements there is nothing of any interest to notice.

THE NEW ADMIRAL FOR THE CHINA STATION.

Vice-Admiral Hillyar, C.B., who left Southampton by the P. and O. steamer Poonah with his staff, will join the outward mail at Suez, and proceed to Hong Kong to relieve Admiral Ryder as Commander-in-Chief of the China Station. For the present the Audacious will be continued as the Admiral's flagship, and should the war between Turkey and Russia not be speedily concluded a relief crew will be despatched to her in a troopship. On the other hand, if the war is concluded the Iron Duke will be ordered to relieve the Audacious. The command of the China Station is one of the pleasant posts in the gift of the Admiralty, but by no means devoid of responsibilities. Troubles crop up there so suddenly that it requires a man of decision and tact to deal with them, and it is often perplexing for the Admiral to square his actions with local demands and at the same time conform to Admiralty instructions. But no one entrusted with such a position can acquit himself creditably unless he accept some risk of censure. It is very difficult for the precise circumstances of the case to be understood at home from the despatches. The most recent example of a naval officer discharging his duty at great risk of being censured is that of Admiral De Horsey in attacking the rebel ironclad Huascar. We have also had some good examples on the China Station. Foremost stand Admiral Sir Michael Seymour and Admiral Sir Henry Keppel. After all that can be said by the home "peace-at-any-price" people it comes to this, that any man who will use the power of the English navy promptly for the suppression of riot and piracy in China confers a real boon on foreigners and natives. When Admiral Keppel made that raid in the neighbourhood of Swatow and Formosa he received (through our Consuls) from the Chinese officials the most hearty thanks and appreciation of his action, but a tremendous bullying from the miserable Gladstone-Lowe Government, then in power. As we said at the commencement of this article, the China Station is always eagerly sought for when vacant, and on this occasion Admiral Hillyar had many competitors. Judging from his services, we think the Lords of the Admiralty have made a good selection. We trust that Admiral Hillyar will prove himself "the right man in the right place."

ANOTHER WARNING TO MANCHESTER.

It is now a long time since a warning voice has been raised both here and in China to the Manchester manufacturers, with reference to the risks they run first of injuring the existing trade in British piece goods in China; and secondly, of incurring competition in consequence of the establishment of mills there, through the system of heavy sizing, or, in other words, of artificially weighting their goods. There now seems to be some chance of these warnings coming in a more practical form than merely in arguments drawn from analogy with what has taken place in India. According to last mail's advices, an advertisement had already appeared in one of the native papers in Shanghai with reference to the establishment there of a piece goods manufactory. As yet this particular scheme seems to be imperfectly developed, and it remains to be seen how far it will be carried out. But it is sufficient to show the direction in which matters are drifting, and at least points to the probability of the day not being very far distant when the competition so long foreshadowed by those who have paid attention to the subject will become a fait accompli; and should such ever be the case, there can be no doubt that the interests of manufacturers at home will be materially affected. Whatever, therefore, may be the exact meaning of the step now announced as being taken in Shanghai, there is no doubt that Manchester is steadily inviting opposition in China similar to that which has already sprung up in India. The facilities for manufacturing cotton goods in the former country would doubtless not be so great as in the latter, but still they are such that it would be very unwise to ignore them and needlessly to court outside competition. Cheap labour, cotton upon the spot, the possibility of the opening of coal mines—are all elements which would give great advantages to China as a manufacturing country; and if ever such enterprise should be taken up seriously by people possessed of capital and experience, the likelihood is that it would materially interfere with the Manchester trade. It should not be forgotten that at one time China exported cotton goods to Europe, "Nankeens" taking their name from Nanking, where they were originally produced. Given, therefore, in China the same conditions and facilities for manufacture which exist here, if she do not again enter the lists as an exporter of piece goods she will at least be able to supply a large part of her own demand. In many placesin China, as it is, the native cotton cloth is preferred, even at a higher price, to that of foreign manufacture, in consequence of its much greater durability; and if factories were established there which would turn out cloth of this description at a materially lower price than it can now be produced by the hand looms, whose clicking may be heard by the passers through every Chinese village, there is no doubt that the demand for goods from Manchester would be very much diminished. Apart, however, from this contingency, it is high time that our manufacturers endeavoured to put an end to the wretched system of "weighting" their shirtings and other cotton goods. The trick is perfectly understood by the Chinese wholesale buyers, and the prestige of our manufactures is in consequence greatly diminished; while the retail buyer up country who, having purchased a fine looking piece of foreign cloth of good substantial weight, finds it resolves itself into a flimsy material which will not wear, after the first washing, is little likely to patronise again the deceptive foreign article, and the consumption must in consequence be materially reduced.

EUROPEANS IN JAVA.

THE imposition of a poll-tax upon European residents in what has hitherto been looked upon as a rich and flourishing Colony is a step which must excite the highest surprise in the year of grace 1877, and yet such is the course which has been adopted by a country which has hitherto enjoyed the reputation of being one of the most liberal in Europe. The Dutch Government has undoubtedly been most ill-advised in the course which it has adopted in the recent Budget with regard to Java. Nothing surely can tend more directly to strangle the energies of a rising Colony, and to prevent those who might be disposed to go to it from doing so. If the measure has been inspired from Java itself, it is possible that this is precisely the object in view on the part of those who have inaugurated it. Restrictive measures and monopolies are always more or less favoured in new countries; but where good counsels prevail, they are seldom countenanced by the Home Governments, who, acting upon better principles, and taking more enlarged views, are alive to the evil which must be produced by any such step. It may be—as indeed appears to be the case—that the Dutch Government has been influenced merely by financial considerations; but if such is the fact, the effects will be none the less to hamper the progress of the Colonies. Certainly the step which has been taken is most unexpected, and is little in accordance with the liberality for which Holland has generally been celebrated.

Another point of view in which the matter is worthy of consideration is the natural feeling of humiliation which Europeans experience in being placed upon a level with Chinese, upon whom a poll-tax has been levied for many years past—and upon whom there are fair grounds for the imposition of such a tax, seeing that they are for the most part little likely to contribute to the revenue in any other way. This measure is unfortunately of a piece with others which are taken in Java, where the object of the Government seems to be to cast as much humiliation as possible upon all foreigners. Prominent among these is the system of compulsory military service, which has long been felt to be a very onerous tax upon all foreign residents. Everyone is compelled to serve; and, contrary to the practice in all other places, even aliens are forced to enter the ranks of the Militia. Those who do not hesitate to represent themselves as incapacitated by ill-health—or, in other words, the most unscrupulous—may get off; but in the absence of a manœuvre of this kind all English residents are compelled, even at the greatest inconvenience, to enter the ranks; to march shoulder to shoulder with natives and obey the bumptious commands of officers often occupying a very inferior social position. Failing their doing so, they are sent to prison. Such a state of things as this does not, it must be confessed, speak at all well for the Government of so advanced a country as Holland in these days; and it would certainly seem that at the least aliens should, if not exempted altogether from military service, have the option of paying a sum of money for a substitute. The matter, we believe, only requires to be taken up in a proper form by half-a-dozen influential residents in Java, and referred by them through the British Consul there to the Foreign-office, to secure its being represented in such a way to the Dutch Government as would probably induce some material modification of the present state of things. The loss of the services of some hundred Englishmen could not be of great moment to the Government in Java; and it seems unreasonable that for so small a consideration such serious inconvenience, to say nothing of humiliation, should be inflicted upon the British residents in that Colony. The measure cannot be absolutely necessary, seeing that many able-bodied Dutch gentlemen who are found dancing till three in the morning often find means, which do not seem available to others, to secure their exemption from military duty.

MR. J. H. HEATON, writing to The Times on the subject of the Chinese in Queensland, adopts similar views to those which we recently set forth, and places the impolicy and injustice of the restrictive measures which have been proposed in a very forcible light. He says:—

> Will it not strike the Chinese Government that our professions of Free Trade, intercourse, and equality are not exactly sincere, and will they not ridicule the notion of converting Australia into a new China, when we admit that "they do not bring their women with them," and, to continue the Hon. John Douglas's (Colonial Secretary of Queensland) despatch to Lord Carnarvon, "that they are law abiding, frugal, and industrious; they render good service to Europeans; they have not yet entered into serious competition with the European in the labour market;" and, he might have added, only on the gold-fields—which are, after all, of a transient character—have they vexed the souls of the English and their descendants? Sir, you will remember that it is not so long since that we were battering at the walls of China to make the people deal with us. We must be just and generous in this matter; and it is only fair to ask ourselves what we should do to-morrow if the Emperor of China, or his Imperial Government, were to retaliate? We can fancy an edict from Peking of this kind—"that the commercial relations between Great Britain, its dependencies, and China have been progressing well and satisfactorily; that British aggression is of such a character that an important Chinese seaport—Hong Kong to wit—has passed into the hands of the British; that over 40,000 European subjects are now settled in various parts of China, and only one-half that number of Chinese are temporarily residing in an English settlement—Queensland, to wit; that, in consequence of special taxes imposed, with the sanction of the British Government on Chinese residents there, it is hereby notified that a tax of £10 be imposed on every Britisher before landing in China, and a further tax of £10 annually on every Britisher doing business or trading in the Empire; further, as the tax on rice, the Chinese chief article of diet, in Australia is 1d. per pound, or 33 per cent., and as the Australians and English are great tea-drinkers, there be imposed a tea-tax of 1s. per pound, or 33 per cent. of its value, before leaving China."

THE REV. JOSEPH EDKINS has addressed a letter from Chefoo to the Academy, in which he notices the journal by H.E. KUO, the Chinese Envoy, which has been recently published in China. He considers that the object of the Government in Peking in so promptly printing this Journal, and allowing it to be put on sale at a cheap rate, is probably to familiarise the public mind with liberal views, and holds that the truth is that the members of the Government are more liberal in sentiment than they dare to be in action, and that they wish for railways and telegraphs, but do not venture to risk the formidable opposition they would certainly incur by vigorously commencing their construction. Consequently Dr. EDKINS is of opinion that they desire to see the mind of the reading public enlightened on matters of foreign policy; and are glad of the opportunity of circulating widely the opinions of the Envoy to England on what ought to be China's policy towards the nations of Europe. In speaking of the pamphlets published by the Canton Society for putting down opium smoking, he mentions one view of the subject which is certainly new, and is characteristic of the manner in which our acts are sometimes regarded by the Chinese. It appears that some of the writers hold that the attempt to persuade the Chinese that they should themselves stop the cultivation of the poppy is part of a scheme for extending the trade in opium from India.

A TELEGRAM from Berlin states that preparations are being made for the reception of the Chinese Minister there. H. E. LIU will not, however, be leaving London for that capital before the middle of October, as the EMPEROR will probably not have permanently returned before that time.

IN another column will be found a telegram from Nagasaki confirming the information which we have already given as to the final repulse of the insurgent forces in Japan.

WE beg to acknowledge the receipt from the London office of the Inspectorate of Chinese Customs of various reports on Trade, &c., which will be noticed in due course.

BRITISH JUSTICE IN THE MALAY STATES.

Under the above heading the Daily News prints the subjoined letter signed by Sir P. Benson Maxwell, late Chief Justice of the Straits Settlements :—

I share heartily the horror which Dr. Sandwith so well expressed in his letter to you on the 24th at the wholesale executions in Bulgaria. But I earnestly wish that I could engage him, and so many others, from Mr. Gladstone down, who harrow their souls over scenes in which they are as passive spectators as the chorus of a Greek tragedy, to direct their energies against acts which they have the power to redress; acts of injustice and oppression, perpetrated in our own dominions and by our own servants. The Turk has excuses which we have not. He has never learned that respect for the sanctity of human life and human feeling which is (not too generally) entertained by more refined and highly-cultured men. Besides, he is fighting for existence. He is under the influence of fear and rage, of religious enthusiasm, and thirst for revenge; and when we see him venting his blind fury on the worm on which he has so long trodden, and which turns at last, we are reminded with shame of some pages in our own history which teach us what man can do to his weaker fellow creature under the influence of passion. But what I wish to call attention to is no act of frenzied ferocity; it is to what has been done very recently, under no excitement, but in cold blood and deliberately by colonial officers under the sanction of the Colonial Secretary of State.

If you will refer to a Blue-book on Malay affairs, which was laid before Parliament in the middle of June last (too late, as usual, to admit of criticism during the session, you will find that Lord Carnarvon at the end of last year, or beginning of this, allowed men not to be put to death, indeed, but to be taken from their homes and families and transported to a distant land, without being accused of any crime, without seeing, or hearing, much less questioning, a witness, and without an opportunity of uttering a word of explanation or defence. You remember the murder of Mr. Birch, in Perak, in November, 1875. The circumstances seemed to show that it was an act of sudden passion; but it might have been brought about by treachery and conspiracy; and the Government very properly instituted an inquiry on the subject. A gentleman who had once been superintendent of police in the neighbouring colony of Singapore was sent with a roving commission into Perak in search of evidence, and a native officer assisted him in his task. They found witnesses, and a volume of depositions was collected. These were laid before Sir William Jervois, the Governor of the Straits Settlements. The ex-Sultan Abdullah and five or six of the principal Chiefs of Perak were arrested and taken to Singapore. Certain charges were sent to Abdullah, accusing him of having conspired to bring about the murder of Mr. Birch; and Abdullah in reply denied them all. So far the ordinary principles of iustice and common sense were respected. But when Sir W. Jervois received the Malay Sultan's plea of "not guilty," he was suddenly seized with a strong trouble of mind "as to the further mode of procedure in the case." Was Abdullah to be allowed to appear by counsel before the Governor and Executive Council, who had taken his fate into their hands, and was the evidence to be taken afresh? Was he to be allowed to cross-examine the evidence produced against him, and to call and examine witnesses for the defence? (Malay Blue-book, c. 1709, p. 91.) Why not? it might have been asked in reply; surely it is only by these methods that truth can be attained and justice done. But to the English Governor "the objection to such a course was indisputable;" it "involved fresh inquiry;" and then there was the possibility of none of the charges being proved, and the possibility of the witnesses denying the statements "already voluntarily made by them." It therefore occurred to him to deal with the case "politically." He observed that it was "not always desirable, or expedient, in a political point of view, to have an investigation before a quasi-judicial tribunal in the case of a person in the position of a Sultan of an independent State; that it was sufficient, in order to deal with such a case politically, that the parties dealing with it should be able to justify themselves in their own consciences, and if necessary to the world at large, on the ground that the evidence was strong and so supported by documentary testimony that it appeared conclusively that whether a conviction could or could not be obtained from a judicial tribunal, yet that abundant evidence would remain to justify the Government in removing the Sultan from Perak, and in taking such other steps as might be necessary to prevent his being an obstacle to the peace of that State." Having arrived at the conclusion, then. as regards Abdullah, of deciding his case upon the written depositions without even his judges seeing a witness or asking a question, it was held unnecessary to furnish him with the evidence, or to ask him for any defence. As to the other chiefs, it was "known" that they had "been connected with Abdullah in the plot against the British Resident. . . and there was no reason why they should not be dealt with as summarily as the Sultan." They were rather to be congratulated, Sir W. Jervois thought, on being transported without trial, instead of being tried for their lives by a Court. This style of reasoning found favour with Lord Carnarvon. He shared the hazy idea of the Governor that because Abdullah was a political personage, and one of the consequences of his condemnation would be political—(that is, the loss of his imaginary sovereignty), not only he but half a dozen non-political persons might be subjected to criminal consequences, with less regard to justice than is accorded to an ordinary pickpocket; and that judges who had to decide on their fate might be released from all the obligations of ordinary justice and all the rules of rational inquiry. And so, Sir, the poor little Sultan of an independent State was taken not only from his humble throne, but from his home and country, and half-a-dozen of the principal men of his quondam principality were taken with him and sent to a distant land to pine away the remainder of their miserable lives, without knowing their crime or seeing their accusers, witnesses, or judges, or being heard in their defence. Napoleon III. peopled Cayenne with his political enemies by the same "summary" method; but in this country I believe it had not before been applied to anything higher in the order of the creation than cattle accused of rinderpest. Only one word more. I hear the practical man say, "No doubt the guilt of the men was patent; they were red-handed; the evidence was overwhelming." I have not read the evidence, but I have read the case which the Governor, in the published despatches, makes out of it; and, thanks to the courtesy of a member of the Legislative Council, I have read the précis of the evidence, as it is called (printed for private circulation), or rather the acte d'accusation drawn up under the Governor's auspices, in which the writer interweaves freely his own inferences and explanations, with such facts as suit his purpose; and from those sources I have formed the belief that the men are innocent of any conspiracy to murder Mr. Birch.

Now, Sir, I ask those who cry out against the reign of terror in Bulgaria, what have they to say to these our own methods of dealing with the weak subject races which have the misfortune to come into contact with us? Will they defend this treatment of the Malays; or will they turn away from their case because it is not horrible and sensational enough? Will injustice not move them unless it steeps its hands in blood? I would ask them earnestly to join in the appeal which I now make to Parliament and to the public against an act which is an outrage on justice, for so I must take the liberty of calling it, with all possible respect both for Lord Carnarvon and Sir W. Jervois, and which, I deeply feel, has lowered our prestige and disgraced our name among a manly and interesting race.

Monetary and Commercial.

The report of the meeting of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, held at Hong Kong on the 16th August, and the report and balance-sheet then passed, are given in another part of the present paper. They fully confirm the impression conveyed by the telegraphic summary, published a short time back, that not only have the shares largely risen in value but that the business has been placed upon a thoroughly secure basis, and that the Bank has again attained a substantial and sound position.

The Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China will pay an interim dividend for the half-year ended June 30 last at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum. At the corresponding time last year the distribution was at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. The meeting is convened for the 17th inst.

The Eastern Extension, Australasia, and China Telegraph Company announce an interim dividend for the quarter ending June 30 last of 2s. 6d. per share, or at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

The Eastern Telegraph Company announce that an interim dividend of 2s. 6d. per share on the Ordinary shares of the company, free of income-tax, will be paid on the 15th instant. in respect of the profits for the quarter ended June 30 last. Also that a dividend of 3s. per share on the Six per Cent. Preference shares, less income-tax, for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1877, will be paid on the same date. The half-yearly interest on the debentures will be paid on the same date.

With reference to the notice in our issue of the 17th ult., that the firm of Gilman and Co. would close at Shanghai, we understand that Mr. Lavers, one of the partners, has formed a co-partnership with Mr. Forrester, under the style or firm of Gilman, Lavers and Co.

At a meeting of creditors of Messrs. Mahler and Co., silk merchants, of Milk-street, E.C., a statement was read, showing liabilities £73,915, with assets £13,801, when it was unanimously resolved that a committee be appointed to investigate the estate and report at a future meeting.

The failure is announced of Messrs. Purvis and Co., and Messrs. Gyselman and Co., of Batavia, through speculative operations in sugar.

We have received a copy of a useful set of tables compiled by Mr. W. Brand, showing the net laying down cost of 8-4lbs. Grey Shirtings in Hong Kong and Shanghai at direct drawing rates of exchange between London and those ports. These tables do not include merchants' commission, as it varies; and they may be used with some specified additions for the approximate calculation of the laying down cost of sundry other goods.

Forty guineas premium has been paid at Lloyd's on the Montrose, San Francisco to Singapore, one hundred and fifty days out. The vessel is 995 tons, and owned by Cowie, Son and Co., Liverpool.

A company has been formed, it is stated, to connect San Francisco and Japan by a new and direct cable, 6,000 miles long.

The excessive quantity offering, the persistent selling on the part of some merchants, and the telegraphic export figures from China, combined with extensive auctions without reserve, have aggravated the demoralised state of the tea market, which we have had to chronicle for some time past. It is generally admitted by the dealers themselves that better value is obtainable here than has been known for many years past, but until the prospective diminution in supplies referred to by all China correspondents becomes actually apparent, the trade will not depart from their long-established principle of abstaining from going into stock. However tempting the prices may be, they feel that the ever-recurring rumour of short export may again prove mythical. From the best informed quarters, however, there seems to be little doubt that supplies will ultimately exhibit a decrease on last season's of at the least 10,000,000 lbs., which will be entirely in common teas, the class most depressed at present. A falling off to this extent thoroughly established will undoubtedly affect the market very materially.

Compared with the total of the previous week, the deliveries of tea from the bonded warehouses in London for the week ended 22nd ult. show a falling off of nearly 3 per cent., the total being 4,110,223 lb., of which 2,290,173 lb. was for home consumption, 983,661lb. was exported, 782,569lb. was removed coastwise, 48,646lb. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 5,174lb. was for ships' stores. During the same period the duty paid amounted to £57,254, or 4 per cent. less than in the preceding week.

The lagging and weak tone in the Silk market which we reported last week has continued. Prices have been firm, but there has been but little doing, and the reports from the Continent are equally unsatisfactory. At Lyons rates are reported as being purely nominal. Some small transactions have taken place, but the quantity forced upon the market has reduced prices to a low level. The Salut Public of Lyons, speaking of the manufacturing prospects, says :—"In manufacture a small current of business prevails, passable for coloured goods, but almost nul for black. The aspect, as a whole, is not calculated to give encouragement to the weaver. The retail trade at Paris has not yet opened. At London some business has been concluded, but at wretched rates. At New York the season commenced by some enormous sales by auction, the result of which is relatively satisfactory for light coloured tissues. Those of fine quality, as well as black, were not so well treated. In velvet articles for fashions and ribbons have also been sold by auction and produced reasonable prices. In short, private sale is difficult, and recourse must be had to the hammer to dispose of any considerable quantity of goods. That state of things is not of good augury for the coming season."

In the Produce Markets, although most articles are characterised by an absence of speculative activity, an improved tone has, on the whole, prevailed, attended by increased transactions, and, in several instances, a slight advance in value. Coffee is less animated, and quotations for medium and low qualities are lower. Sugar continues to show an improving tendency, and considerable sales of China and Manila have been made at about 6d. advance. Pepper is still in large stock, and has met with but limited inquiry at the previous value. Cutch, Gambier, Cloves, Mace, Nutmegs, and Sago slightly higher. The market for Rice has become flat, and business is only practicable at reduced quotations. Other articles show no alteration.

The enormous export of nail rod iron to Shanghai has brought down prices to Tls. 1.50 per picul for Belgian quality, being a loss to the operators of about 20 per cent. This is a specimen of the condition of the whole of our staple exports to China, excessive shipments on the part of firms of no means, and depending entirely on the advances from Banks. By granting these advances the Banks encourage and support for a time firms of no responsibility, and who in a few years fail and pass away; but in the meantime the established and responsible houses in the trade are compelled to stop operations and look on waiting for the end, or retire in disgust, as in the case of Messrs. Ashton and Co., of London.

The following are the latest quotations of Banking and other Companies connected with the Far East :—Agra Bank, 11 to 11½; Chartered Bank of India, 22½ to 23½; Chartered Mercantile Bank, 25 to 27; Comptoir D'Escompte, f.652½; Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, 33 to 35; Oriental Bank, 45 to 46; P. and O. Company, 37 to 39; Messageries Maritimes, f.612½; Suez Canal, f.690; Japan Loan 9 per cent., 110 to 112; ditto, 7 per cent., 102 to 104; China Loan, 103 to 106.

A further advance has occurred in the price of bar silver—viz., to 54⅛d. The upward tendency of the Silver market has been promoted by the announcement that the Bank of Bengal has raised its rate of interest and discount to 10 per cent. The nearest quotation for Mexican dollars is 53¼d.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

The Tea market is still reported as very flat. The sales Thursday of 9,450 packages without reserve went off as follows:—Congou, 2,355 chests, at 6¾d. to 9¾d; 4,326 half-chests, at 8½d. to 1s. 2½d.; 499 boxes, at 1s. 1d. to 1s. 3d. Souchong: 1,187 half-chests, at 8¾d. to 10½d. Gunpowder: 711 half-chests and boxes, at 7d. to 2s. 1d. Imperial: 37 half-chests at 7½d. to 10½d. Young Hyson: 187 half-chests, at 6½d. to 1s. 5d. Hyson: 148 half-chests, at 1s. 10d. to 2s. 5½d. Some of the medium and red leaf were sold at very irregular prices, and, as reported by Messrs. Layton and Co., "in many cases quite 3d. under the valuations of the previous day." Though the sales are certainly not encouraging, this seems a somewhat extreme view. The Tea market has indeed been so much quoted down for many months past that if the various amounts it is said at successive stages to have fallen were added together it would appear that the Teas were being given away for nothing.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says :—Our market remains without improvement, the amount of business being limited by private contract; and, as usual, when this state of things exists for some time, public sales have increased in quantity, over 20,000 packages being offered without reserve this week. These sales have gone irregularly, but common black-leafs of this season's have sold fully ½d. per lb. lower. Congous.—Red leaf kinds: Siftings have sold rather lower, rom 6¾d. to 7½d.; common to good common are dull of sale at about previous prices. Fair kinds sell slowly without material change in prices. There is some inquiry for good Saryune kinds from 1s. 2d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. Fine Kaisows have sold to a moderate extent at last week's prices. In finest not much has been done. Pak Lin kinds have sold at rather easier prices. Black-leaf kinds: Siftings have sold rather lower; common to good common have sold ½d. per lb. lower; fair kinds sell slowly at a similar reduction; fair to good medium sorts are not much in request, and where sales are pressed prices have been rather lower; good to fine kinds are firmly held by importers, and there have been only a few sales made. Finest show no change. New-make kinds: Common remain without change at 8d. to 8½d. per lb. The better kinds are still in demand at from 1s. to 1s. 3d. per lb. Oolongs: Common sold, at auction, from 8½d. to 9½d. per lb., being 1d. per lb. decline; the fair to good kinds are difficult to move; fine with strength are inquired for. Souchongs: Common to fair kinds remain as before; good to fine are in fair request. Scented Teas: Canton Capers show no material alteration this week in price, the demand being fairly sustained. Orange Pekoes: Both the short and long-leaf kinds have been sold at previous prices. Foochow Capers are very difficult to move, and quotations are somewhat nominal. Orange Pekoes have been sold to some extent from 1s. 6d. to 1s. 9d., showing a further decline of fully 1d. per lb. Green Teas: The demand continues limited, and prisoners generally have ruled in favour of buyers, the chief transactions being at public sale without reserve. The public sales have comprised 22,642 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve, the auctions passing without spirit and generally at prices in favour of buyers. The deliveries for the as compared with last year, are as follows :—

Coastwise	786,058	951,816
Exports	1,035,309	561,005
	4,189,793	3,818,418

SILK.

The recent improvement in the Market has not been maintained, and with only a small business doing prices of some descriptions have given way. The deliveries although slightly better than last month are still on a very moderate scale, being from 1st to 26th ult. inclusive :—China, 1,723 bales; Canton, 367; Japan, 303; Bengal, 40. Total, 2,433 bales.

COFFEE.—Importers have met the market freely, bringing forward rather large supplies of earlier arrivals of Plantation Ceylon, and the total quantity at auction has been larger than for some time past. The demand has been barely equal, and the sales have at most times gone off slowly, and prices have slightly given way, but with more demand at the close they are only 1s. lower for grey, middling being about steady, whilst good and fine coloury has brought full rates to a further advance of 1s., and for bold 2s. to 3s.; middling coloury closes at 108s. 6d. to 109s. peaberry 92s. 6d. Of other East India 1,031 bags Singapore offered were bought in, chiefly picked Bally at 83s., partly picked ditto at 78s., excepting 33 bags bold yellowish, which sold at 88s.; 40 bags Penang were withdrawn.

COTTON.—Considerable activity has prevailed in Liverpool, which has been followed by an active demand for American in London, and a larger business has been done than for some time past; prices, although fluctuating from day to day, have on the whole advanced, closing 3-16d. dearer. In East India, however, business has continued on a small scale, and prices are only slightly dearer. The sales for the fortnight are about 25,000 bales. On the spot Tinnevelly 5¼d. to 6d., fair to fine; Western Madras 4¾d. to 5 9-16d., fair to good; Bengal 4 9-16d. to 5¼d., fully fair to good; Sawginned Dharwar 5⅞d. to 5 9-16d., fair to good fair. For arrival Tinnevelly 5¼d. to 5⅝d. May to October, good fair; Coconada 5⅛d. to 5 3-16d. July to November, fair red; American 6¼d. to 6 7-16d. September-February, middling (1 m clause).

CHINA STRAW PLAIT.—At auction 752 bales met a better demand, and the bulk found buyers at previous to full rates, as follows:—White at £9 to £12 15s., good £16 10s., fine and superior long and cord edge £21 10s. to £28 10s. Mottled (of which the bulk consisted), coarse wide sorts £6 17s. 6d. to £7 15s., good ordinary to medium sorts £8 to £10 15s., good medium to good £12 to £14, fine £15 5s. to £18. Coloured, black and white wide £11 10s., medium to good £12 15s. to £16 10s., fine (double pattern) £17 15s. to £19 15s., brown and white £8 to £14 5s., per bale.

COIR GOODS.—The moderate supplies at auction consisted almost entirely of Yarn, which met a fair demand, and sold at about previous rates. Of Yarn 21 bales Ceylon were withdrawn. 28 tons ditto sold, low £20 15s., coarse reddish sort £22 to £24 10s., medium to good medium £25 10s. to £27 15s., good to fine in ballots from £29 15s. to £34, one lot £37. 248 cheeses Ceylon Brush Fibre sold (without reserve) at £7 5s. per ton, all including 1st class sea-damaged.

COCOANUT OIL continues steady, but without much activity. Cochin is quoted £43 10s. to £44, Ceylon in pipes £39.

CHINA PRESERVES.—25 cases Ginger bought in at 6d.

CUTCH.—338 boxes fine black Pegu in papers have been sold at 28s., one lot 28s. 6d. being 6d. dearer.

GUM COPAL.—In public sale, 743 cases Manila (just arrived) were bought in at 26s., except 37 cases which sold, blocky and dark at 8s., good small yellow sort 25s. per cwt.

GAMBIER.—At auction 620 bags free cubes sold with competition at full rates to 6d. advance (including 378 bags without reserve), as follows: blocky to fine Java pale free at 29s. 6d. to 30s. 3d., with a few at 30s. 6d., blocky 28s. Of 649 bales, &c., pressed cubes 150 bales sold, good pale at 27s. 6d., being also dearer.

HEMP.—The public sales of Manila went off flatly, and only a small part found buyers at again easier rates, other kinds were bought in. Of 1,679 bales Manila offered about 400 bales sold at and afterwards, brown at £26; fair to good at £27 to £27 15s.; brown Cebu at £27, the remainder being bought in at £28 to £29.

PEPPER.—Black: Moderate sales have been made privately at 3⅝d. for Singapore, and 3 5-16d. for Penang. At auction of 3,444 bags offered only a small part sold at previous rates. Of 1,812 bags Singapore 250 bags sold at 3⅝d. Of 1,551 bags Penang 220 bags sold, good West Coast at 3¾d., damaged at 3½d. to 3⅝d., the remainder bought in at 3⅜d. Of 81 bags Aleppy 41 bags sold at 4d. White: 150 bags Singapore have been sold privately at 6¼d. At auction the good supply of 986 bags Singapore went off slowly, but prices were about sustained, barely one-half being sold, fair at 6d., good fair at 6⅛d. to 6¼d., good 6¼d., fine bold at 6⅜d. to 6½d. per lb.

RICE.—The market has become flat, and business has been done in soft grain at about 6d. below the recent highest point. On the spot 1,000 bags fine white Bengal have been sold at 13s. 6d. A cargo of 1,300 tons Bassein, arrived in dock, has been sold at about 10s. 6d. ex quay. The cargo per Amphitrite, 600 tons Necransie, off coast, has been sold at 10s. 9d. for Antwerp.

SAGO.—Larger supplies, amounting to 2,887 bags offered by auction, met a good demand at dearer rates for fine, but holders being firm only about 1,000 bags found buyers, good to fine bright small at 17s. 6d. to 18s., superior ditto at 20s., heated at 15s., damaged at 15s. 6d. to 16s., medium at 19s. good large at 21s. Flour: 38 bags bought in at 19s.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea: In auction 1,000 boxes import 1872 and 1873, offered without reserve, were all sold, fine unworked at 45s. 6d. to 46s., pile 2 46s. to 46s. 6d., landing weights. Cassia Vera: 30 bales withdrawn. Cinnamon: 210 boxes China, coarse quill, bought in at 7d. Cloves: In auction, of 96 boxes Amboyna 50 boxes sold at 1s. 6d. 16 cases good Penang sold at 2s. to 2s. 0½d., being 1d. lower. Ginger Of 193 cases 9 bags Japan offered 93 cases 9 bags sold, chiefly small flakes at 32s. to 33s., one lot plump 37s. Nutmegs: The market is firm, and prices about 1d. dearer, in auction of 46 cases Penang 15 cases average 112 nuts to the lb. sold at 2s. 5d., 86's bought in at 3s. 8d.; of 67 boxes ditto 113's 40 boxes sold at 2s. 6d., 3 cases wormy Java sold at 1s. 10d. Mace: An active demand prevailed at auction, and a further advance of 1d. to 3d. was obtained; of 32 cases Penang 20 cases sold, good bright at 3s. 1d., middling mouldy to fair at 2s. 4d. to 2s. 5d., low and ordinary at 1s. 5d. to 1s. 11d.; 5 cases Java sold, low 1s. 1d., very low dark at 6d. to 8d. per lb.

SUGAR.—The market has exhibited a strong demand, especially for good refining kinds, in which rather large sales have been made at an advance of 6d. upon last week's prices, other refining and low brown are frequently 6d. higher. The following is a detailed statement of the business done in East Indian sorts:—On the 21st ult., in auction of 1,040 baskets Native Penang offered 340 baskets fair brown sold at 16s. 6d., the remainder bought in at 16s. to 17s., but afterwards sold at 15s. 9d. to 16s. 6d. By private contract the following sales were made:—450 tons unclayed Ilo Ilo at 17s.; 7,000 bags inferior Swatow (China) at 15s.; 350 bags fine coloury China at 26s. Also the floating cargo, per Emma and Alice, 25,600 bags low Java syrups at 16s. 3d. for the United Kingdom. On the 25th, at public sale of 10,739 bags China offered, about 6,500 bags sold at full rates to 6d. advance, very low and low at 15s. 6d. to 16s., ordinary brown at 18s., good brown and low yellow clayed at 23s. to 24s., middling to fine strong yellow and grey at 24s. 6d. to 26s. On the 26th, privately 800 baskets (100 tons) Native Penang sold at 17s. to 17s. 3d.; 200 tons brown China at 18s. 6d. to 19s. 6d., and 100 tons unclayed Taal at 17s. 6d.

SOY.—In auction 117 cases Japan sold (partly without reserve) at 15s. to 22s. per case.

STICKLAC.—At auction of 461 cases Siam mostly of fresh import about 240 cases found buyers, good free at 51s. 6d. to 52s. 6d., block 44s. to 45s. 6d., chiefly the former.

TIN.—At the Dutch sale on the 26th ult. 22,500 slabs Banca sold at an average of guilders 40.30, equal to about £681 0s. delivered here, and 3,500 slabs Billiton at an average of 38.75, equal to about £65 10s. delivered here. This has been followed by small sales of Straits in this market at £65 on the spot, showing no change in value.

TAPIOCA.—Of 2,037 bags Singapore offered about 1,500 bags were disposed of at previous rates, middling small to good at 2⅝d. to 2 11-16d., fine at 2¾d. to 3d.; Mallaca sort at 2½d. to 2⅝d. Pearl: Of 305 bags offered 205 bags medium of fresh import sold at 19s. to 20s. for dull to good, being cheaper, the remainder, seed, bought in at 28s., but since partly sold at 24s. 6d. Flour: 140 bags Singapore bought in at 2⅛d.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

Last week closed without any change in the position of the market. On the 24th ult., with a steady demand for Cotton at hardening rates, producers were again firm, and full quotations were held for. Excepting in Yarns there was little movement. In these a fair amount of business was done at very full prices. On the 25th the tendency to harden was again manifest. Yarns continued in steady demand, and the advanced prices asked did not deter buyers from operating. In Goods, however, the higher quotations restricted business to very narrow limits, only urgent orders being placed.

GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

The strike of the Clyde shipwrights is at an end, the men having agreed with the masters to submit the matters in dispute to arbitration. Work was resumed by the men on the 24th ult. During the time the strike has lasted from £70,000 to £80,000 have been lost in wages alone. Each party is to appoint an arbiter, and those gentlemen appoint an umpire, whose decision shall be final.

Messrs. Barclay, Curle, and Co., of Whiteinch, have launched an iron sailing barque of 950 tons register, built under Lloyd's special survey to the order of Messrs. James Shephard and Co., London. The vessel, which is intended for the China trade, is named the Astarte.

TWENTY-FOURTH REPORT of the Court of Directors to the Ordinary HALF-YEARLY GENERAL MEETING of Shareholders, held at the CITY HALL, HONG KONG, on the 16th of August, 1877.

To the Proprietors of the HONG KONG AND SHANGHAI BANKING CORPORATION.

GENTLEMEN,—The Directors have now to submit to you a general statement of the affairs of the Bank, and Balance Sheet for the half-year ending June 30 last.

The net profits for that period, including $11,047.13 brought forward from last account, after paying all charges, deducting interest paid and due, making provision for bad and doubtful accounts, and for difference in Exchange between the rate at which the Dividend is declared and the current rate of the day, amount to $358,078.85, of which, after taking out Rebate on Bills not yet due, and remuneration to Directors, there remains for appropriation $341,805.23.

From this sum the Directors recommend the payment of a Dividend of One Pound Sterling per Share, which will absorb $177,777.78.

The Directors recommend placing $150,000 to credit of Reserve Fund, which will then stand at $650,000, and carrying forward the balance, viz., $14,027.45, to credit of new Profit and Loss Account.

The Directors again have to congratulate the Shareholders on the prosperous condition of the Bank.

DIRECTORS.

Mr. S. W. Pomeroy, Jun., and Mr. Adolf André resigned their seats at the Board in consequence of leaving the Colony, and Mr. Wm. H. Forbes and Mr. Wilhelm Reiners have been appointed in their stead.

AUDITORS.

The Accounts have been audited by Mr. H. B. Gibb and Mr. E. C. Smith (in place of the Hon. Phineas Ryrie, absent).

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

* Via San Francisco, received Oct. 6.

THE MAILS, &c.

The P. and O. mail, with the advices dated as above from China and the Straits Settlements, was delivered, via Brindisi, on the 4th inst., being four days in advance of its due date. The Japan advices reached London, via San Francisco, this day. The next inward French mail, from Yokohama 22nd, Shanghai 26th August, Hong Kong 1st, Singapore 8th Sept., which is due, via Marseilles, on Monday, the 15th inst., left Suez on the 3 th ult., five days early, but was detained three days by the grounding of the Messageries Maritimes steamer Iraonaddy in the Suez Canal, and will probably reach London on Friday or Saturday.

The Eastern Extension Telegraph Company's Singapore-Batavia cable is interrupted. A special steamer has been put on to carry messages until the cable is repaired.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 15th August, and we have advices via San Francisco fifteen days later, viz., to the 30th August. The French mail from London, June 29, arrived out on the 16th August, and the following P. and O. mail of July 6 was received on the 19th August.

It is said that the Lighthouse Department will be made a branch of the Home Department.

A pagoda of several stories, and about 160 feet in height, has been recently built on the holy mountain of Koya-san, Ki-i.

The Hochi Shimbun states that the examination by torture of political prisoners is allowed only in the temporary Courts of Justice in Kiushiu.

The German corvette Elisabeth is to go on another errand of mercy. A German subject is lying ill somewhere up north, and the mission of the Elisabeth is to find and bring him to Yokohama.

An accident happened to the British barque Semantha, at Yokoska, on the 9th August. While some boilers were being discharged from her the mooring chain broke, and she went ashore close to the Arsenal. She was hauled off when the tide rose.

The wrecks Roving Sailor and Catharina were sold by auction on the 3rd August at Messrs. Bourne and Co.'s Auction-room. The former was bought by Captain Bryant, her late master, for the sum of 2,000 dollars. The Danish barque Catharina was purchased by Japanese for 725 dollars.

Rear-Admiral Reynolds, in command of the Asiatic United States Squadron, has left for home on sick leave. He went on board the City of Peking on the afternoon of the 12th August, and on his barge leaving the Tennessee he was saluted with a discharge of fifteen guns from the flagship. On the 13th Aug., as the City of Peking steamed out of the harbour, the salute was repeated.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs has received a communication from the Japanese Agents in Korea to the effect that a treaty has been completed with the Korean Government relative to the treatment of the crews of vessels wrecked upon that coast.

The fifth regiment of the Shinsen-rio-tan has been disbanded, and three hundred and fifty of the men at once received their travelling expenses and returned to their homes.

Speaking of the prospects with regard to the civil war, the Japan Mail of the 25th August, says :—

The last ten days seems to have brought unvarying success to the Imperial forces, terminating with the fall of Nobeoka and the utter route of Saigo and his troops. According to native accounts over ten thousand of the insurgents have surrendered since the taking of this last stronghold, while Saigo and Kirino, accompanied by a few of their most devoted followers, have broken through the Imperialist lines and made their escape to parts unknown. Still all would not seem to be over as far as regards fighting. The latest reports announce that hostilities are expected to recommence in Owake ken, and it is also feared that Kumamoto will again become a battlefield. From the statements that come to us from the native papers it is impossible to arrive at any clear idea of the present state of affairs, and useless to hazard conjecture. It is quite possible that large scattered bodies of the insurgents will be enabled to keep up a guerrilla warfare for some time to come, but there can be little doubt that, for the present, the worst is over. There is again rumoured agitation in Tosa, and the following prominent men of that province have been arrested and sent to Tokio for examination. Kataoka Kenkichi, the writer of the famous Risshisha Memorial ; Iwasaki Naga-akira, Hiroda Nobutake, Ikeda Osuke, Tani Shigeki, Nozaki Masatomo, Ogasawara Tadatomo, Ikezoi Yoshiyu, Midzuno Torasaburô, Mayeno Masanaga, and Yamada Masayemon. The coast of Bungo is also being carefully watched, probably with a view of preventing the escape of Saigo or any of his followers into Tosa.

The above-named paper pays the following tribute to the memory of the late Dr. Purcell, whose death is announced :—

Departed from this World upon the 20th day of the 8th month, the Story Teller of "Our Neighbourhood."

This is the heading chosen by their graceful writer, for the last of those sketches, which by their delicate humour and tender pathos have so often charmed the readers of this journal. Like his own bright creation,—the Old Story Teller,—Theobald Andrew Purcell has passed away, and the words he wrote above an imagined grave but a few weeks ago may now stand above his own. Our own words are too poor to express the regret that we, in common with his many friends, feel at his early death, and we fall back on those which closed the last page of the final chapter of his sketches. "We have lost a beloved friend. Hand in hand with him, it might be said, we trode our path in life. A dull and common-place round at best, but immeasurably so deprived of his good company."

In commenting upon the judgment in the case of De Bussche v. Alt, the Mail, speaking upon the alleged custom as to taking over the vessel at a minimum price, and the remarks of the Vice-Chancellor upon it, says :—

We may add that it is impossible to conceive of such a custom coming into existence as would sanction such a transaction, and difficult to conceive that a court of law would pay much attention to any evidence alleging such a custom. We quite agree with the Vice-Chancellor's exoneration of Mr. Alt from all moral blame in the matter. It was under an erroneous impression, possibly created or strengthened by the action of Messrs. Gilman and Co., that Mr. Alt acted as he did, and we do not for a moment doubt his good faith throughout the entire transaction.

The statement of traffic receipts at the Yokohama Station for the week ending Sunday, 19th August, 1877, is as follows :—

Passengers, Parcels, &c.	$8,431.67
Merchandise, &c.	810.78
Total	$9,242.45
Miles Open, 18.
Corresponding week last year.
Passengers, Parcels, &c.	$8,124.81
Merchandise, &c.	719.19
Total	$8,844.00

The Japan Mail, speaking of the action and probable fate of Saigo, says :—

The knell of a brave, if not mistaken and unfortunate, man is in the air. With the "gros bataillons" as usual rests the final victory, and the very Government which in a great measure owes its existence to the courage, energy and perseverance of Saigo now proclaims him an outcast and sets a price upon his head. The bitterest enemies of the great partisan chief will not deny him the virtues of a hero ; fearlessness in danger, constancy in adversity, fertility of resource when beset with difficulties, a gallant front shown when the inevitable end draws nigh. Fighting against immense odds ever since the movement he headed began by the raid into the Kumamoto ken in the early part of the present year, the Satsuma chief has had to discharge the difficult duty of conducting what was in truth nothing less than a retreat almost from the first. He has not less skilfully than bravely disputed every inch of ground, and the Government troops merit all the praise that attaches to a victorious campaign against a wary and resolute enemy.

The subjoined items are taken from the Japan Herald of Aug. 30 :—

Large numbers of troops have already returned from the seat of war, and an extra corps d'armée which had been formed has been disbanded, the Mikado himself assisting at the concluding ceremony.

Now that the principal anxiety of the Government is removed, attention is being devoted to the memorialists of Kochi ken, and a number of them, including Kataoka, who presented the famous memorial from the Risshiusha Society, have been arrested. The news of these arrests is said, however, to have caused great excitement in the ken, and fresh bodies of policemen have been despatched there.

Oyama, the late Governor of Kagoshima, who has for a long time been undergoing trial, has, it is now said, signed his confession, and "is satisfied" with the sentence passed on him. What may be the purport of the confession or what the sentence have not, however, been made known.

Choleraic diarrhœa of a severe type is reported to be prevalent in Kagoshima, and is also said to exist at Kadzusa, on the eastern shore of the Gulf of Yedo.

A National Industrial Exhibition was opened by the Mikado, at Uyeno on the 21st August; as, however, the Home Department omitted the customary courtesy of inviting the representatives of the foreign press, we are unable to give any account of the ceremony.

General Van Buren, U.S. Consul-General at this port, leaves by this mail, on a well-earned leave of absence. As a mark of personal respect, and as a testimony of the able manner in which he has performed his official duties, a public dinner has been given to him.

HIOGO AND OSAKA.

The Hiogo News takes the following from late numbers of the Naniwa Shimbun :—50,000 koku of rice were sent south from Shimonoseki and Hiroshima on the 30th. It is rumoured that yen 500,000 will be sent from Tokio to the mint at Osaka. It was reported that on the 10th the Yamaguchi Kencho applied to the Osaka Fucho for 400 blankets, 100 pairs of boots, and 100 pairs of shoes, the demand for them being urgent. The rebels are still fierce ; even when they retreat defeated they do not run far, and if they are hotly pursued they turn back and fight with swords; when they shoot from behind breastworks they expose half the bodies of their dead, and shoot from behind them ; at other times they hide behind trees and rocks, and when the Imperialists attack the forts, thinking them occupied, they attack them from their ambush. General Tani has notified the army under him in Bungo-guchi that many of them were lost in Uyeki and Tawara in order to save those in the castle (Kumamoto), and ordered that retreating rebels are not to be followed hotly, but gradually. The people in Miyakonojo and its neighbourhood are very glad of the arrival of the Imperialists; and very few of them have taken part with the rebels; when the Imperialists pass the front of their houses they set out tubs of clean cold water as a token that they wish to give comfort to the troops. It has been rumoured that the Imperialist officers who have been taken by the rebels have met with bad treatment, but that appears not to be true ; the officers who have been taken number 281, and are said to be as kindly treated as the rebel prisoners by the Imperialists. Clever rebels know how to obtain popularity ; Saigo has not been living in luxury but like a common farmer ; one day he took his dog to a common eating-house and fed him on eels and boiled rice, taking nothing himself. The Naniwa Shimbun seems to suggest that he is exceedingly clever at humbugging people.

NAGASAKI.

The Cosmopolitan Press has the following :—

The mortality amongst the wounded in Nagasaki is becoming fearfully rampant. Four were buried from the Tea House Hospital before eight o'clock on Wednesday morning, and the stench which emanates from these hot beds o disease must ultimately generate a plague. Foreigners should join en masse and spare no exertion to further the removal of the wounded to the native town.

Many of the wells in Nagasaki have become dry, and we fear if the present hot weather continues water will become a luxury. We already hear of much suffering in native towns. It is to be hoped that bountiful nature will ere long supply the present dearth.

So far as the provinces of Kumamoto and Bungo are concerned the Satsuma bubble has burst. There is not an avowed rebel in either province, and everything is as demure as prior to the unfortunate rising. Probably the most reasonable construction which can be put upon this clearance is the fact of a concentration of the insurgent forces in the province of Hiuga, in which place Marshal Saigo has established his headquarters, and throughout which heavy skirmishing daily occurs. In this province Saigo appears determined to make a final stand, and it is very probable that the events of the next few days will result in his finale.

Whatever faults may be attributed to the Insurrectionists, who it must be confessed are little more than half-disciplined when compared with the Imperialists, it would be most unjust to refuse them the credit they really deserve for their powers of enduring fatigue, even when accompanied by want. A Japanese without rice is as a fish out of water, and we have good grounds for stating that the Satsuma forces are and have been in real want for weeks past.

KOREA.

A Japanese correspondent of the Okura Trading Company gives the following description of the Korean Government :—

No pen can properly and sufficiently describe the despotism of the Korean Government, which literally has no sympathy whatever with the interests or feeling of its subjects. Owing to the ravages committed by the famine last year, large numbers of people were daily to be met with in the streets of every town and village in the country in a state of the most abject poverty, and yet no effort was put forth on the part of the authorities to relieve the fearful distress ; but, on the contrary, the tyrannical exactions were continued as before. The people were naturally spiritless and powerless ; and lived calmly under the wicked administration, and never thought of upbraiding the officials. This servility may be attributed to the fact that the officers are feared as much as tigers, and looked upon as gods.

CHINA.

—o—

TIENTSIN.

Under date of 6th August the North China Daily News correspondent writes :—

The much needed rain has again fallen. Last Saturday, and this afternoon, most refreshing and copious showers came to the relief of the parched ground. The earth seems now to be thoroughly wet, but the Chinese say it is too late to affect the growing crops materially. "Ten days sooner, and the millet yield would have been increased a ton per mow." It is in time, however, for the autumn cabbage—the vegetable crop of the North. A permanent and valuable bund of stone masonry has been made recently at the weakest place in the river bank, between the settlement and the city. Last year it was bunded with plank and piles, but this was continually being undermined. Half of this has now been done with stone ; the remainder is to be done next year. In previous years the river has frequently lacked but a very little of breaking at this point. We are glad to see so valuable a work done.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 19th August ; the French mail from London, June 29, was received on the 12th August, and the following P. and O. mail arrived out on the 15th August.

Decision has been given by the Mixed Court in regard to the charge of perjury in connection with the Tunsin collision case. After reviewing the facts, the judgment goes on to say :—

One consideration has guided the Court, and that is when a person has given a detailed narrative of events one year, and has, after the lapse of a long interval, been asked for an account of the same events, if after strict examination he says nothing contradictory of the main events of his previous narrative, a few verbal discrepancies will not maintain a charge of wilful falsehood. If, on the other hand, he gives the narrative the second time in exactly the same words as the first time, without the slightest apparent discrepancy, the inference would be that he had learned his story by heart, that it was not spontaneous, and consequently there would be a strong presumption against its being true. In this case not one of the main statements of the accused—(Assessor's note—Which are made the grounds of the accusation of perjury)—have been proved to be false—the slight discrepancies are only such as might naturally occur under the circumstances, and are each and all explainable on other hypotheses than that of falsehood. The Court, therefore, finds that though there are suspicious circumstances connected with Ho Chu-tsai, the charges against him for perjury are not proven ; he must accordingly be acquitted.

Another decision of some importance has been given at the Mixed Court in the case An Ming-tao v. the C.M.S.N. Company. A Chinaman sued the Company for the value of a box lost on board the Tohyew. The Company pleaded non liabilility, and demurred to the jurisdiction of the Court. In the judgment the Court affirms that it has jurisdiction, and that the owners of a passenger steamer are responsible, as the owners of a passenger junk are responsible, for the safety of luggage entrusted to the care of their employés.

A collision has taken place between the steamer Dragon and H.M. gunboat Frolic. The North China Daily News gives the following particulars :—A collision took place on the night of Aug 16 between the steamer Dragon, belonging to Mr. Adams, of Nagasaki, and H.B.M.'s gunboat Frolic, a few miles outside of Woosung. The Dragon, Captain Grevatt, left Shanghai that day for Japan, and the Frolic, Commander Arthur E. Dupuis, was inward bound from Ningpo. Various reports were current as to the nature of the disaster, and owing to the reticence of the officers on board the Dragon, and the absence of an official report on H.B.M.'s corvette Juno, it was difficult to obtain a reliable or consecutive account as to how the collision did occur. So far as we could learn, it appears that the disaster happened about midway between the lightship and the big beacon, shortly before midnight. The Dragon saw a light ahead, and in the darkness of the night took it to be stationary, apparently the mastlight of a pilot boat or native craft, and continued on her course. A few minutes afterwards the Frolic was within a short distance of the Dragon, and a collision was inevitable. The Dragon, which was going nearly at full speed, struck the Frolic a little abaft the main mast, with such great force as to cause a wide rent in her side from the deck down to the water line. It is, in fact, asserted that her stem penetrated several feet into the officers' apartments, and endangered one or two of their lives. Communications immediately passed between the officers of the respective vessels, and it was arranged that the Dragon should remain by to render any assistance the Frolic might require. The water accumulated in the aft portion of the latter vessel, but the forward compartments, which are watertight, we believe, were kept dry, and thus her flotation was, in a great measure, sustained. But the water so rapidly increased aft that it was thought the only means to keep her from sinking would be to run her ashore on the south bank. This was accordingly done, and she now remains there. Between three and four o'clock in the morning one of her officers was sent to report the disaster to the officials of the Juno, in a boat, in tow of the Soochow from Ningpo; and later in the day the Kiushing, Customs cruiser, with the captain of the Juno on board, repaired to the scene, followed by several cargo boats. In the forenoon the Dragon returned to port. Her stem was broken in two places, and three of her plates were fractured, while the cargo in the forehold was damaged. She was visited by many people during the day. A great deal was said about the absence of proper side lights on the Frolic, but this and various other rumours we could trace to no reliable source ; and consequently refrain from giving them publicity. It is sufficient to say that accounts vastly differed as to how the disaster occurred ; and it is very likely the real way will not be made known until an official investigation is held.

From the above-named paper we also take the following :—

It has been suggested that an attempt should be made to acquire for the Shanghai Museum the valuable collection of works on Natural History belonging to the library of the late Mr. J. P. Martin. The books have been judiciously selected, and would be a very desirable addition to the library of the Museum ; but their value, estimated at $600 or $650, places them beyond the reach of the Committee, unless the public are willing to help them by subscriptions. The sum is considerable ; but the attempt is at any rate worth making. It would be a pity to miss the opportunity of acquiring books that are, many of them, difficult to obtain, and which cannot fail to be of great assistance to the Curator in the discharge of his functions.

The flood tides have been unusually strong, causing one or two mishaps to vessels anchored in the river, away from the wharves. The Glenroy broke away from her buoy, owing to the connecting chain breaking. An anchor was let go as soon as possible, but she drifted against the Hin-ostan, damaging her on the starboard quarter. The two vessels, in swinging to the tide, again came in contact, bumping violently against each other. Both were considerably damaged, and the repairs will take some days to execute. A Chinese gunboat also broke adrift and came in contact with the U.S. gunboat Palos. The flood seems, in fact, to come in with the strength of a bore.

WENCHOW.

The "progress" of trade at the above new port is thus described by the North China Daily News correspondent :—

On the 9th inst. (1st of the seventh Chinese moon) the lekin tax was introduced here, and, consequently, all imports as soon as they enter the city have to pay lekin. I am told, too, that the same is much heavier here than in other ports, and, besides, the lekin officers want to levy the tax on goods which have been previously imported, and are stored either in the godowns or shops in the city. It is to be hoped that our Ministers in Peking will do something against this imposition, or otherwise the import business will come entirely into the hands of the Chinese, who will soon form a "guild," as they have done in other outports, and then buy the collecting of the "tax."

It is raining here nearly every day, but, although the weather is cool, I think it is unhealthy ; several foreign residents are "laid up." Besides the British steamer Conquest, which arrived from Shanghai on the 5th, and from Foochow on her return passage on the 11th, no steamers or sailing vessels have been in port since July 28.

HONG KONG.

Dates by this mail extend to the 25th August ; the French mail from London, July 13 arrived out on the 21st August.

No little excitement appears to have been created in Hong Kong by the removal of Mr. Romano from his office as Portuguese Consul-General. There seems to be no reason to doubt that this was the result of some influence brought by the Roman Catholic clergy to bear upon the Portuguese Government, and the knowledge of this fact has caused much indignation. A meeting was held on August 23, at which an address, signed by 168 members of the Portuguese community, was presented to him. It expresses great disappointment at his removal, and a high appreciation of his long services. Mr. Romano, in reply, said :—"Superseded by his Most Faithful Majesty the King of Portugal from the honourable post of Acting Consul-General in Hong Kong, I draw satisfaction from two different sources ; my conscience tells me that, guided by liberal principles and love of my country in the discharge of my consular duties, I have endeavoured, as far as it lay in my power, to uphold the credit and dignity of our country and to protect the interests of my fellow-countrymen. The friendly and distinguished testimony I have just received from you, gentlemen, tells me that my endeavours have merited the acknowledgment of the Portuguese community, which has generously overlooked my failings, considering them as atoned for by the efforts made in aid of, and my devotion to, their interests. With the satisfaction thus deduced from the accord between my conscience and the high consideration with which the illustrious signatories of the address have been pleased to honour me, you may rest assured that I feel deeply gratified. This gratification, however, will not make me so vain and selfish in its enjoyment as to forget that, above all, I owe it to your benevolence and to your sense of justice."

Digitized by Google

At the meeting of the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Company, on the 22nd August, the report and accounts were duly passed. The Chairman said that the condition of the company, though not so satisfactory as they might like to see it, had improved, and the prospects were such as enabled them to look forward to being entirely out of debt by the end of the year.

The necessary meetings have been held, and the resolutions passed, to enable the China Traders' Insurance Company to reduce the value of its shares from $5,000 to one-third that amount. A further meeting to confirm the resolutions was requisite.

The City Hall committee met on the 25th Aug. The accounts showed a deficit of $700, and the building showed signs of wanting further repairs, in consequence in part of the ravages of the white ants. The report contains the somewhat reassuring statement that there is little doubt that eventually new pillars in the Museum will be rendered necessary, as the Ball-room floor depends on them for support. The Chinese had contributed as much as $2,630 towards the Museum.

An amusing episode has occurred in connection with the newly introduced system of competitive examinations for Government appointments. An industrious and well-informed correspondent, who signs himself "Tit for Tat," has fairly discovered no less than fourteen blunders in one of the papers, as set by the Examiners. Equal amusement seems to have been afforded by the appearance in the Government Gazette of the answers which the Chinese candidates gave. The China Mail in noticing them says :—

The dictation papers afford the best instances of the vague ideas of some of the candidates as to the pronunciation and spelling of English words. The dictation consisted in reading aloud by one of the Examiners of a short deposition in English, which had been taken at the Police-court in the ordinary course of business, and which the candidates were requested to write down as it was being slowly read out. The words "Cosmopolitan Dock" appear to have been a fearful stumbling-block for the Chinese candidates. The first candidate got over the difficulty of spelling the words by writing "C. M. Dock ;" another wrote "Cosmopolitan Duck ;" another, "Castmopolian Docks ;" another, "the dock ;" another, "Cosmopolian Dock ;" another Cosmo-Polygon Docks ;" another, "Cosmotropen Dock ;" another, "Cosmopolation Docks ;" and the last "Cosmolotive Dock." Two of the eleven candidates spelt the words properly, but they were probably not Chinese. The word "deposeth" also seems to have been a poser for the majority of the candidates. Most of them sought refuge in the rendering "deposite," but this was varied with "deposife" (which was not so bad) ; "deposited," "deposed," "despoiled," and "deposit." The "th" is evidently too much for John. Some most ludicrous mistakes were also made in the words "copper sheathing," a word by no means of uncommon occurrence in the colony. The first started with "cupper shilling ;" the next rendered the words "copper shielling ;" the next, "copper shealing ;" the next, "copper sheeting ;" the next, "copper shitting ;" and the last, "copper ceiling !" The word "divers" was varied with "dyevers" and "dyvers," while the last candidate struck boldly into "dairies."

From the above-named paper we take the following :—

The community may, we think, gather some amount of satisfaction from the fact that the whole of our local companies appear at the present moment to be thriving, some of them having, indeed, attained a considerable degree of prosperity. The Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Company, whose half-yearly meeting was held recently, is no exception in the former respect. Although no dividend was declared, yet that was a circumstance that could be traced to causes in the past as much as to any in the present. The business of the Company is increasing, more vessels being docked during the last half-year than during the previous one, and, if we remember rightly, the Chairman was able to make a similar satisfactory announcement at the meeting held six months ago. If no dividend was paid it was because the directors preferred to devote the profits to the strengthening of the financial position of the Company by the payment of debts, and the carrying forward of the balance to the new account. The shareholders got no dividend, but they had the satisfaction of knowing that the tonnage of the vessels docked during the half-year was nearly 20,000 tons more than during the previous one, and that profits amounting to $33,711.89—equal to about 8 per cent. per annum on the entire capital—were realised in the six months. This state of affairs must afford a certain amount of satisfaction to the public, because it seems to indicate that the business of the Port is increasing, and everyone can always find the thriving condition of local institutions a subject for congratulation. The chief drawback to the prosperity of the Company appears to be the sharp competition to be encountered, and it seems to us a pity that the parties are not able to arrange prices on a scale a little more profitable to themselves.

We hear that H.E. the Governor has been very considerate to the Government Officials by allowing them during the hot months a holiday each week in addition to the usual half-holiday on Saturdays. The different departments are left to choose the day in the week most convenient. Thus some departments choose Tuesday, others Wednesday, and others again Thursday, and so on. This is very kind of Mr. Pope Hennessy, but we think that a notification ought to be issued informing the public of the days selected by the different departments for the enjoyment of their holiday.

We are sorry to hear that Lieutenant-Commander Needham, at present in command of H.M.S. Hart, has met with a serious accident. The unfortunate gentleman had been dining at the Peak with Commodore Watson on Aug. 13, and was returning in company with Commander Garbett and Dr. Popham. The three gentlemen started running down the hill, when Mr. Needham tripped and fell over the side of the road on to the jagged rocks. Assistance was at once procured, and he was conveyed to the Naval Hospital, where he now lies in a dangerous condition.

We observe that Captain Ducat, of H.M. 28th Regiment, has taken over the Acting Superintendency of Victoria Jail. Mr. Tomlin goes back to his original post of First Clerk in the Surveyor General's Office.

CANTON.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

CANTON, AUGUST 24, 1877.

On the 5th and 20th inst. this city witnessed the performance of two important State ceremonies on the part of the mandarins. The first event was the celebration of the Emperor's natal anniversary, and the second the due observance of the natal anniversary of the Empress-mother—the Royal lady, in short, who, owing to the minority of her son, is now ruling China. The ceremonies consisted in worship being paid by all the officials of the city to the monumental tablets of their Imperial Majesties, which are contained in the temple styled Maan-shau-kuung, or "Ten Thousand Years' Palace." In the principal shrine of this temple, which is enclosed by red-stained walls, and covered with a roof of yellow tiles, there stands, so far as shape and size are concerned, a fac simile of the dragon throne of China. It is approached by nine steps, and the materials of which it is constructed are most elaborately carved and gilded. Upon this throne is placed, in a perpendicular position, the tablet of the Emperor. It is made of wood, is of a red colour, and bears, in letters of gold, the following inscription :—"May the Emperor reign ten thousand years, ten thousand times ten thousand years." In front of this throne there is an altar, on each side of which are arranged the insignia or standards of royalty. Before this throne, then, on the 5th instant, all the civil and military officers of the place, wearing their court-dresses, arranged themselves in order, and falling low upon their knees, performed the Kau-Tau, knocking their heads nine times on the ground. During the time this ceremony was being observed, a number of play-actors were performing in a theatre erected for the occasion, in the court-yard of the temple, a play, the plot of which represented the gods in the act of bestowing distinguished rewards upon officials, whether civil or military, who, in this life, had been faithful to the Throne. The ceremony in honour of the Empress-mother, which was not very dissimilar to the one already described, was observed on the 20th inst., in the inner or smaller shrine of the temple. In every walled city throughout China, and there are upwards of four thousand of them, the same religious and congratulatory services were held on these occasions.

MACAO.

The Daily Press correspondent writes :—

His Excellency the Governor here has published new rules for fantan in the gambling-houses. This week the lease of the gambling-farm was put up for sale again, but no satisfactory offer was made. This is owing, I believe, to the new rules being stricter, and the licenses to the different houses having been raised. The first class houses will in future have to pay $1,500, the second-class $700, and the third-class $200 per month, and put down the dollars beforehand. Tenders are, consequently, rather slow in coming forward.

JAVA.

—o—

BATAVIA.

Twenty-four firms at Batavia have signed and forwarded an address to the Governor-General of Netherlands India in favour of more Government produce being sold in Java.

Coffee cultivation and trading are extending in the Tebing Tinggie district, in Palembang, where large profits have been made by the people in consequence. The coffee production there for May, amounting to 2,000 piculs, was sold at an average of forty-two guilders per picul.

Advices from Deli state that the mutinous spirit had departed from the coolies. Heavy and continuous rain had damaged the standing crops, and there were apprehensions that the crop this year will not be large. Notwithstanding these unpromising prospects many planters spared no expense in improving the means of communication. Expensive bridges were being built, and roads repaired and made. Labuan, the harbour and chief town, is described as being mostly composed of rotting and noisome native and Chinese shops, stores, and dwelling-houses. Two neatly fitted-up hotels standing in their midst form a striking contrast to these filthy receptacles and foul-smelling dens.

SUMATRA.

ATCHIN.

The Dutch commander advanced with the main body into the interior, another column manœuvring along the coast. The Atchinese seem to have been taken by surprise; they made but a short resistance, and retreated from their strongholds with a pretty heavy loss in killed and wounded. The losses on the Dutch side on that day were one killed and a few wounded. The Samalangan headquarters are now at Kwalla Tamboor, a strong position captured by the Dutch. The commander-in-chief is directing the operations in person.

The health and spirit of the Dutch troops are reported to be excellent. In other parts of Atchin no hostilities have taken place, and the natives of the conquered parts of Atchin Proper are gradually returning to their homesteads, and settling down peacefully. The Dutch flag has been hoisted at Pulo Way, and that island is now again open for trade. The establishment of Netherlands supremacy there met with no opposition from the natives.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

—o—

SINGAPORE.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 1st September; the P. and O. mail from London, August 3, was received on the 1st September. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times:—

Progress, we learn, is now being made so rapidly and successfully with the Waterworks that Mr. Bayliss is now prepared to receive applications from householders who may require water to be laid on their premises, and these will be executed according to the order in which they shall be received. The second and larger engine is being fixed, and it is believed that the engine house will stand proof against the consequent additional strain to which it will be subjected when this shall have been put in motion. Hopes are entertained by those most competent to judge that the works will be completely finished by the 1st October, and, judging from the appearances presented to a non-professional eye, these hopes will, we believe, be verified. Mr. Colson, the assistant engineer in charge, feeling that his presence was no longer necessary, applied for, and has been granted his discharge, and he will leave for England by the P. and O. steamer. The whole responsibility of giving the last finish to this undertaking, which has cost so much anxiety, trouble and expense, thus devolves upon Mr. Bayliss, and is likely to remain so, as Major McNair has again postponed his departure from England, and is not now expected to arrive here before the beginning of December, by which time the waterworks will, we hope, have become an institution and an acknowledged successful one. We trust the Government will allow the public an opportunity of offering their congratulations upon the successful termination of twenty years' labour, by holding a formal opening ceremony, a course invariably pursued at the inauguration of all public works elsewhere.

The following are the names of the Chiefs who assembled at Segamet, in the Johore Territory, up the Moar River, to meet H.E. the Administrator and H.H. the Maharajah of Johore:—Tuanku Antar, Yang Tuan of Sri Menanti; Tuanku Ahmat Tunggal of Qualla Peila; the Datu of Moar Ulu (who stopped Mr. Daly in 1875); the Datu of Jompole (who sent a contingent to the Sungie Ujong War, some of whom were present at the Bukit Putus Pass); the Datu of Terrachee (who was present at Paroé); the Datu of Gunong Passir; Tuanku Muda, uncle of Tuanku Antar; Tuanku Ismail, brother of Tuanku Ahmat; Hadji Mustapha of Rambowe (the Rambowe claimant).

Besides the foregoing Chiefs, there were present the following Punghulus of Moar, the country of the late Sultan Ali:—Punghulu Soodin of Chohong; Punghulu Rahamat of Koondang; Punglima Besar Chu of Gunong Ledang (Mount Ophir). The following Headmen of Moar, the territory of the late Sultan Ali, have visited H.E. the Administrator at Singapore:—The Tumongong Ismail; Wan Mahomed Saleh of Lubok Tebran (the Tumongong's son); Punghulu Suboh of Leggeh; Punghulu Shamsu of Tassek, Kessang; Punghulu Adam of Tanjong Gading; Muntri Kamis of Tanjong Gading; Punghulu Gamat of Jumuntah; Punghulu Inche Abbas of Guntah; Punghulu Ibrahim of Tanjong Gading; Tuanku Sulong, son of the late Tuanku Jalil, and nephew of the late Sultan Ali.

Mr. J. D. Vaughan, who was counsel for the Maharajah Lela and his accomplices, who were executed last year for the murder of Mr. Birch, has been excited by the last Blue-book on Straits affairs to discuss the circumstances of their surrender. Mr. Vaughan's contention may be said bluntly to be, although he does not actually say so, that Sir William Jervois and H.H. the Maharajah of Johore betrayed these men, and that they were induced to surrender under false pretences. The contention is plausible enough, but it rests simply on the assertion of the condemned men, and it is completely refuted by published documents. No reasonable man can doubt that there is any foundation whatever for imputing bad faith in the matter either to the Maharajah or Sir William Jervois. Their instructions were straightforward and explicit throughout, but naturally enough the condemned men, after they were condemned, thought they were hardly treated when they saw ex-Sultans Ismail and Abdullah and the other chiefs spared.

His Honour Mr. Justice Phillips has earned here the reputation of being very off-hand in his decisions, having a sort of contempt for the whole Colony and its affairs, and certainly his judgment with reference to the Chinese Sub-Post-offices conveys the impression that the imputation is a true one.

We are glad to note that the Raffles Library and Museum are beginning to show some signs of vitality—if a general confusion of volumes suggestive of either re-classification or selling off, an odour of paint and gas within the building, and sundry efforts in turfing and gravelling, &c., may be taken to indicate progress. Soberly, however, we believe that strenuous efforts are being now made to render the institution worthy of its name. The P. W. Department has most promptly responded to an application to make the approach somewhat less neglected-looking than it heretofore was. In a similar spirit the Superintendent of the Botanic Gardens has put men to work at planting shrubs for which the pits are already dug. Within the building, point, as we have said, carries the day; but this was a necessity, and, so soon as matters are a little more forward, we shall be able to see what the new Curator can accomplish. In the Library considerable progress seems to have been made in re classifying and numbering the books—a task which, once accomplished, will be of immense convenience. We regret, however, to learn that, despite the numerous appeals made by the Acting Librarian, some fifty or sixty volumes remain unreturned.

The Acting Curator informs us that he is not anxious to receive specimens of natural history for a short period until the necessary cases, &c., are completed for their reception—the more so as he has specimens enough in hand to occupy himself and his staff some few week to come, a large consignment having been already received from the Hong Kong Museum. Anything sent in will, however, receive the greatest attention. In this connection we may mention that Mr. Tan Kim Ching, the Consul for Siam, has kindly given his assistance towards deciphering the labels of a useful collection of Siamese grains presented some time since by the King of Siam.

The Tanjong Pagar Dock Company have issued their report for the first half of this year, and it was approved at a meeting of the shareholders on Thursday, the 30th August. The report declares a dividend of 5 per cent., and appropriates $26,604.46 to meet the cost of the late fire.

We have to record, with regret, the demise of the female rhinoceros in the Botanical Gardens. The Garden committee are thus relieved summarily of a source of annoyance to their too economical feelings. She was not a thing of beauty, however much of joy to young and old Singapore on Sunday afternoons, but, notwithstanding, her bulky form is to be preserved, for a time, if not for ever, in the Museum, the Secretary, Mr. Dennys, as soon as he heard of the sad event, having at once taken measures to secure the skin of the deceased.

A rumour comes from Malacca that a new department is to be added to our already too expensive establishments, in the shape of a Commissioner of Lands at a salary of £1,200 a year. Any such appointment will be simply iniquitous. Malacca is indebted to Singapore now for a portion of its expenditure, and this will be in addition to the burden.

A meeting of the Sporting Club was held on Tuesday, the 28th August, when the Committee was filled up to its full complement, and it was resolved to hold an autumn meeting, as usual, towards the end of October.

The only public entertainment, if it can be so called, during the fortnight was another of the pleasant Readings instituted here by the officers of H.M. 74th Highlanders, for the entertainment of the men, women and children of the regiment, which was given on Wednesday, the 29th August. There was a large attendance of residents in addition to the regiment itself, and the performances of the amateurs were exceptionally good.

The British steamer Glenearngles, Captain McBain, from London, arrived alongside Tangong Pagar Wharf at five P.M. on 20th August, and will leave for Hong Kong and Shanghai. The following is her report:—Left London on the 19th July and discharged pilot in the Downs on 20th; arrived at Suez on the 2nd August, and here at five P.M. yesterday. Nothing remarkable occurred throughout the passage. Had the usual strong monsoon from Cape Guardafue.

We are glad to announce that a telegram from Singapore of the 4th inst. reports that the Waterworks have been started, and all going well.

Market Reports.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA.—The market had been extremely quiet, a further decline in native exchanges having tended to depress values. Yarns: Importers had freely met the demand, and a more than average business had resulted in both Nos. 16/24 and 28/32. Grey Shirtings: Beyond a few sales of importations from Shanghai, of 7 and 8¼ lbs. goods, at rates which established a decline in values here, scarcely any transactions had transpired. T. Red Shirtings, Black Velvets, Cotton Italians and Taffachelass had met with fair attention, the latter at enhanced values. In Woollens fair sales of Mousselines, black Italian Cloth and Blankets, with a few Camlet Cords had been effected. There had been scarcely a single transaction in metals; quotations were nominally unaltered, but lower rates would be conceded to purchasers of any large quantities.

NAGASAKI.—Messrs. Holme, Ringer, and Co.'s Market Report says:—The past month has been one of extreme dulness, and we have again to report lower prices for Piece Goods of every description; the greatest decline being in Shirtings, Turkey Reds, Lawns, and Drills. A few pieces of common Lustres have changed hands 30 cents under former quotations; better qualities are in slight demand. Quotations:—Cotton Yarn, 16/18 $88 to 90; Grey Shirtings, 7lb. $1.45; 8¼ lb. 1.70; T-Cloths, 7 lb. $1.20; Turkey Reds, 3¼ lb. $1.70; Black Velvets, 22 inch $7.50; Lawns, $0.80; Drills, 14 lb. $2.40; Plain Black Orleans, 30 yds. $4.50; Black Lastings, $12.000, nominal; Blankets, 7 lbs. $0.40 nominal; Nail Rod Iron, small sizes, $3.10 to 3.50.

TIENTSIN.—There had been some improvement in the market. Shirtings were quiet and weak, but Drills, both Dutch and English, were in fair demand. Small sales of T-Cloths had been effected.

HANKOW.—The demand for Piece Goods had been very limited, prices, however, remained unchanged. Cotton Goods.—Grey Shirtings: A sale of 1,250 pieces 8¼ lbs. cloth "Eagle" chop is the only one reported. Metals.—Lead: There was a limited demand for L.B. at Tls 5.70 per picul. Quicksilver: Only a small business reported at Tls. 50 to 51 per picul. Tin: Nothing doing, and quotations unchanged.

SHANGHAI.—The only activity during the week had been a sustained demand for Drills, of which fabric settlements upwards of 20,000 pieces are reported, the principal sales being usual English makes 14 lbs., at Tls. 1.80 to 1.83, some ordinary Dragon Chop having been quitted by public auction at Tls. 1.77 to 1.78 per piece. Dutch Drills had been in favour, and had advanced in value fully 5 candareens, the last transaction being Tls 2 26 per piece. American Drills PMCD were selling at Tls. 2.97 per piece and less favourite chops at Tls. 2 90 per piece. A few American Sheetings had also been placed at Tls. 3.10 per piece. In Grey Shirtings all classes were lower about 2 candareens per piece, but the commonest 8.4 lb. makes had been wanted for Japan from Tls. 1.16 to 1.20 per piece. Of Dewhurst's Eagle there had been no sales, the value of other best chops being Tls. 1.85 per piece. 7 lbs. Dewshurst's had been sold at auction for Tls. 1.31½ and common qualities from Tls. 1.05 per piece. T-Cloths were very quiet, only fair Mexican 8 lbs., were wanted, at Tls. 1.40 to 1.42 per piece, similar quality 7 lbs. lately worth Tls. 1.22 per piece would not realise Tls. 1 20 per piece. White Shirtings: a few small sales of 64 to 66 reed of favourite chop are reported at about previous prices, but all other classes were neglected. For Fancy Cottons the demand has been exceedingly quiet. Woollens: The bulk of business was still effected at auctions, Long Ells were slightly weaker, but Camlets and Spanish Stripes maintained previous quotations. Metals: There had been an improvement in Nail Rod Iron, and business amounting to some 20,000 bundles of all kinds is reported. For a good assortment of Dawes' Tls. 2.30 had been declined, but Tls. 2.35 could not be obtained. Lead: L.B. had receded to Tls. 5.65 per picul, with a very limited demand. About 50 tons had changed hands at that quotation. Quicksilver had fallen to Tls. 60, and was not wanted. For Tin Plates the rates were higher, Tls. 4.30 having been offered for I.C. Copper was in little request, and Tin is still neglected.

FOOCHOW.—There had been an entire absence of demand for Cotton Goods.

HONG KONG.—A fair business had been done in Manchester Goods, but rates showed no improvement, except as far as Drills were concerned, which closed about 7½ cents higher. Shirtings were quiet, but holders firm. Metals closed quiet; foreign speculative purchases had been made of Belgian Nailrods. Piece Goods: The market had been more active, and the settlements had been on a fairly large scale. 8.4 lb. Grey Shirtings had been in good request, but no important advance in price was noticeable. In other makes little or no business had been done. White Shirtings and T-Cloths had also been dealt in to some extent at previous prices. Owing to a speculative demand a good business had been done in English Drills, and rates at the close had considerably advanced. The stock in first hands was much reduced and was firmly held. No transactions in American Cotton Goods had occurred. Coals: No change had taken place in the market which continued very depressed; sales of all descriptions were most difficult to effect. The arrivals had been 7,067 tons Cardiff, chiefly to consumers, 2,448 tons Australian and 600 tons Formosa. The sales had been 3,746 tons Cardiff at $8.50 to $9.00. Woollens: Camlets lower and in large stock; Lastings in demand, Long Ells had declined 5 cents per piece, but closed steady; Dutch Camlets scarce; China Figures wanted; Spanish Stripes very scarce at an advance of 1 cent. per yard; Blankets: Good scarce, common dull. Metals—Iron: Nail Rod not much inquired after, importers anxious to sell for distant arrival, but dealers not inclined to enter into long engagements at present. Sales reported of 50 tons Belgian at $2.26 per picul spot cargo. Round, Square and Flat Bar: 50 tons best quality taken at $2.48 per picul. Small Round Rods saleable to a small extent. Swedish Soft Bar: Good assortment saleable. Hoop: Exceedingly depressed. Lead: Demand had subsided and rates were easier. Tin Plates: No inquiry. Tin: Market weak, rates lower. Steel: Saleable to a small extent. Quicksilver: Steady throughout the week and closed firm.

CANTON.—Lead: There had been a slight improvement in prices, the closing quotations being $7.85 to 8.05 per picul for common brands and W.B. Quicksilver: Prices had again fluctuated, but the tendency had been downwards, and closing quotations were nominally $76 per picul.

AMOY.—A very moderate business had been done in Yarns, at declining values. Grey Shirtings, T-Cloths and other Cotton Goods had been but sparingly dealt in at about previous quotations.

MANILA.—Little or no business had been transacted during the fortnight. Values remained nominal, without alteration, but a declining tendency was perceptible.

SINGAPORE.—The market during the fortnight had been generally very quiet, and with a few exceptions the demand for Cotton Goods had continued dull; prices were weak, importers were anxious to sell, as large supplies were arriving and stocks were increasing. The principal sales had been 10,500 pieces Grey Shirtings, 13,000 pieces Grey Supers, 60,000 pieces grey T-Cloths, 15,000 pieces White Shirtings, 600 corges White Cambrics, 46 cases T. R. Cambrics, 154 bales Grey Yarn, 180 bales T. R. Yarn, 90 bales Coloured Yarns, and 35 cases Yellow Metal.

PENANG.—There had been no improvement in the demand for Cotton Goods. Business continued on a small scale, dealers buying only for immediate requirements.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—In consequence of the depressed state of the New York market and the low scale of prices ruling there, business had been limited; settlements since last mail amounting to about 3,500 piculs. Operations had been mostly confined to low grades. Holders of good and desirable Teas remained fairly firm. Arrivals had been large, and the unsold stock had increased to fully 14,000 piculs. Quotations:—Common, $9 to 10 per picul; good common, $11 to 13; medium, $14 to 16; good medium, $17 to 19; fine, $21 to 23; finest, choice, and choicest, nominal, no transactions. Export from May 1 to date:—

NAGASAKI.—A few parcels of the kind suitable for Greens arrived during the early part of August, and were eagerly taken at about last year's prices, but the continued unfavourable advices from Home had subsequently rather checked buyers, and a lower scale of rates was anticipated. Of uncoloured kinds, no desirable parcels were offering. Settlements—New, 813 bales, from $6.00: Old, 471 bales, at $3.00 to 6.00 per picul. Stock: 2,500 bales New, and 1,575 bales Old. Quotations: Common to Medium, $2.50 to $7.00; Medium to Fine, $8 to $13.

HANKOW.—A fair business had been done during the week, the settlements amounting to 9,000 chests, of which about one-half had been sent on to Shanghai for sale. Prices had been firm, a farther advance of one tael having been paid in some cases, making the teas lay down above the rates current in Shanghai. Common teas were quite neglected. Reports as to future supplies were very discrepant, some teamen asserting that the prices that were being paid would bring down a farther large amount, others that what is to come will be only the small lots that the growers themselves can collect the funds to pack. Prices had been:—Oopack, Tls. 13¼ to 15¼; Oanfa, 11 to 17½; Oonam, 8¼ to 9¼.

SHANGHAI.—Black: There had again been a large business done during the week, settlements being:—Oopack, 5,500 chests at Tls. 12½ to 20¾; Oanfa, 1,000 chests at Tls. 13¾ to 19; Oonam, 1,000 chests at Tls. 11¼ to 14½; Ningchow, 3,500 chests at Tls. 13½ to 35; Hohow, 4,000 chests at Tls. 12¾ to 32¾. Total, 15,000 chests, against for the same week last year, 2,500 chests. Prices as compared with the previous week showed little change, the rise of 10 per cent. then quoted having been steadily maintained, buyers, as the stock diminishes, being less difficult in their selections. The prospect (says the Celestial Empire) had decidedly changed for the worst, the flattering vista of a short crop and consequent tea famine at home having entirely faded away. This rise of 10 per cent., being just the difference between profit and loss to the Chinese, has sent the teamen back into the country to pack more leaf, of which there is a practically unlimited quantity in stock, to lay down in Shanghai, duty and all charges paid, at Tls. 11 (7½d.) The Chinese are unanimous in asserting that last week's rise is the sole cause of the change, and that but for it not another picul would have been packed this season. The export of Black Tea to Great Britain from this and the river ports is now one million and a quarter pounds in excess of last year's at this date, while to America the excess is three-quarters of a million. The new arrivals have been 11,000 chests, against 8,000 in the previous week. The stock remaining is of very poor quality, but with seven vessels on the berth for London to be filled it will probably be all bought up during the coming week at full rates. Green: Only a very small business had been done during the week, settlements being:—Fychow, 1,500 half-chests at Tls. 23 to 27; Pingsuey, 2,500 half-chests at Tls. 17 to 36; total, 4,000, against for the same week last year 3,000 half-chests. The Celestial Empire says:—Transactions are small, almost as small as at this time last year, while the stock goes on increasing. The prices of the few Teas settled still show a heavy advance on London and New York values, and it will be needful for Chinese to give way some 25 per cent. to induce a large general business. Notwithstanding the high prices here, the export of Green Tea to America is now over double the amount of last year's at this date. It really looks as though there were no price low enough at which Green Tea can be quoted as a profitable investment. The New York brokers estimate that, owing to the competition of cheaper Japans and Oolongs, twelve million pounds will amply suffice for all their wants; while in England the consumption of the present year is estimated at within six millions—a total of eighteen millions. The supply figures, on the other hand, stand thus:—

Probable yield of this season's crop	...	25,000,000 lbs.
Stock in New York last advices	...	4,000,000 „
Stock in London do.	...	5,000,000 „
		34,000,000 „
Consumption, say	...	20,000,000 „
Surplus	...	14,000,000 „

Together with these figures we have to contend with the equally serious drawback of inferior quality. While the quality of Japan teas, under intelligent European management, goes on steadily improving, the Chinese seem to bestow less care on their Green Tea every year. It is the same in Congous, which go on deteriorating in the same ratio that Assams improve. Under these circumstances, were we not right last week in saying that Green Tea is fast becoming a thing of the past, and that dealing in it can lead to little else than vanity and vexation of spirit?

FOOCHOW.—Congou: There had been rather more inquiry, settlements giving a daily average of 4,300 chests. The better grades showed an advance of about one Tael, but lower qualities were still obtainable at previous quotations. Souchongs: Settlements 4,118 chests, chiefly consisting of second and third crop at full prices. Ooloongs: Settlements 3,417 half-chests, showing no material change in values. Scented Teas: Settlements 17,443 boxes; prices had a downward tendency. Flowery Pekoe: Settlement 781 chests.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Market Report, dated Aug. 23, says:—A fair business has again been transacted in Tea, and our market has, throughout the fortnight, been without any material change. Congous: A few settlements are reported on this market at former rates, and from Macao considerable shipments of common grades have been made, costing Tls. 9½ to 13. Scented Teas: A fair inquiry has existed for Capers during the past two weeks, but settlements have latterly fallen off, as teamen have not been such willing sellers, in consequence of the advanced prices which they have had to pay for scenting flower. Common and fair medium teas have been in most demand, settlements of the former class being reported as 8,000 to 9,000 boxes; medium kinds at Tls. 18 to 20, which form the bulk of the transactions, are without change, but hardly such good value is obtained in common grades. Fine teas have only found buyers to a limited extent. Arrivals of fourth crop leaf are looked for in about ten days; the quality of the leaf is said to be good, and the crop is expected to be large. A moderate business has been done in Pekoes; "long leaf" kinds have been taken at Tls. 23 to 27, medium grades being a shade dearer; prices for "new makes" are unaltered and few settlements are reported. The following is a summary of the fortnight's business:—Congou, 3,120 boxes, at Tls. 24 to 25 per picul. Scented Caper 31,200 boxes, at Tls. 13 to 26 per picul. Scented Orange Pekoe, 6,200 boxes, at Tls. 16 to 27 per picul.

AMOY.—Messrs. Olyphant and Co.'s Circular says:—Settlements of some 9,800 half-chests of Formosa Ooloongs have transpired at rates showing some decline, chiefly on the finest grades. We quote good Cargo, duty paid, $27 to $28, superior $29 to $30, fine $33 to $34, finest $35 to $37. Arrivals from Formosa have been light, but a stock of from 65,000 to 70,000 half-chests remains on offer. Of Amoy Ooloongs settlements of some 37,000 half-chests are reported at well maintained rates, say for common to fair, $16 to $18, good $21 to $22, superior $23 to $24, fine $26 to $27. Second-crop Teas have arrived to the extent of some 30,000 half-chests, and in consequence of the activity in the market an increased production is anticipated.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—A larger demand had been displayed, and buyers had had the advantage of daily declining prices. Holders were not overburdened with stock, but a heavy fall that had taken place in the markets of the interior was the main cause of the anxiety shown to sell. Hanks had almost exclusively had the attention of buyers, Oshius being more firmly held. Settlements:—Hanks, 1,050 bales; Oshius and other sorts, 150 bales; total, 1,200 bales; settlements, from 1st July to date, 2,750 bales; against corresponding period (season 1876-7), 7,700 bales. Stock 900 bales, against 1,000 bales last season. Quotations:—Hanks: Best, Nos. 1 and 2, 17s. 5d. to 18s. 1d.; Good, No. 2, 16s. 9d. to 17s. 1d.; Good all round, No. 2½d., 15s. 9d. to 16s. 5d.; Medium, No. 3, 14s. 9d. to 15s. 5d.; Common and Inferior, Nos. 4 and 5, 13s. 9d. to 14s. 5d.; Oshiu: Good, 16s. 9d. to 17s. 5d.; Medium, 15s. 9d. to 16s. 5d.; Hamatski: Common to Medium, 14s. 9d. to 15s. 5d.; Kakeda: Extra and best, 20s. 9d. to 21s. 5d.; Common to Medium, 18s. 1d. to 19s. 9d.; Filature Silk, 20s. 1d. to 23s. 1d. per lb.

SHANGHAI.—There had been a quiet market, with little or nothing changing hands until near the close, when lower prices had tempted buyers. The settlements for the fortnight barely aggregated 1,300 bales, although the decline in values was Tls. 20 to 25 per picul on rates current when last English mail left and Tls. 40 to 45 per picul on opening prices. Tsatlees: Towards the close Chinese had shown themselves anxious to meet the market, and a very fair business had been done at Tls. 380 (17s. 6d.) for Buffalo and Woman chops, Tls. 377½ (17s. 5d.) for Donkey No. 4, Tls. 352½ (16s 3d.) for SSS Dollar chop, and Tls. 350 (16s. 2d.) for Sa-ling. Holders were fully prepared to sell at these rates, but buying had been by no means general. Taysaams had attracted little or no attention, some market skeins had been taken at Tls. 240 (11s. 2d.), and a small lot of market Keahungs at Tls. 350 (16s. 2d.). Rereels: American buyers were operating more freely, and about 100 bales had been settled at Tls. 400 to 510 for fair to best Haineens=(18s. 5d. to 23s. 4d.), Tls. 330 to 480 for common to best Tsatlees (15s. 3d. to 22s.) Arrivals had been small, and the stock showed a reduction.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon's Circular says:—Continued advices from home afford little encouragement to operators in this article. In the first week of the fortnight there was some demand for Tsatlee reel, and nearly 600 bales are said to have changed hands; since then however there has been almost a suspension of business, and 70 bales only are reported purchased. Prices are quoted about $10 per picul lower, for most descriptions, and No. 4 quality is to-day nominally worth $350 to $355 per picul. The quantity of fine thread on offer is large as compared with the supply of ordinary seasons. Third crop silk is of such inferior quality that it does not meet with ready sale, and fourth crop samples that have come to hand show little improvement on the immediately preceding yield. Long-reels: A small business has been done in these sorts. Settlements are put at 50 piculs of Seulam, Kowlong, &c. Re-reels have been in limited request, transactions reported are 180 boxes of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Lucklow.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NAGASAKI.—Tobacco: About 1,000 bales New leaf had been received from the interior, but the holders declined to show musters or name a price. Wax was nominally quoted at $13.50 to 14.00 per picul. The only transaction reported is the shipment of 75 boxes to Yokohama on native account. Camphor exhibited more firmness, and 200 tubs had been sold at an advance of 25 cents per picul; stocks nil. Rice had declined in value, no doubt caused by the news of the insurrection having been quelled. Quotations: Cleaned, $2.75, uncleaned, $2.25 per picul. Wheat $1.95 per picul, with small stocks. Coal, in the absence of supplies and an excess of tonnage, had advanced, and fair Karatz could not be obtained under $4.00 per ton. Imabuku was quoted at $3.50 per ton, but large supplies being close at hand, and only detained by adverse winds, this price would not be long maintained.

HANKOW.—There was a fair business doing amongst Natives in China Grass at firm prices, viz, Oopack White, Tls. 8.5.0 to 11. Szechuen Green, Tls. 8.3.0 to 8.4.0 Hides were in demand, and quotations were advancing, the current figures being Tls. 7.8.0 to 8. Rhubarb was quoted Tls. 40 to 60 for Shensi, and Tls. 13 to 30 for Szechuen.

HONG KONG.—Sugar: The purchases had been confined to native dealers principally for shipment to the Northern Ports and Japan. Although the demand had fallen off considerably of late the holders, in view of small stocks, showed no disposition to reduce rates. Quotations: Chui Chow white, $8; brown, $4.75; Shekloong, white, $7.50 to 7.15; brown, $5.00; other kinds, brown, $4.25 to 4.75 per picul. At Swatow a small business had been done for the Northern Ports, and at the close the market showed signs of weakness. Camphor: Formosa was out of stock. There were about 700 tubs of Japan on offer, for which holders asked $20.50 per picul. Gamboge in small supply and quoted at $55 to 57 per picul. Vermilion quoted at $42 per case. At Macao 50 piculs of Cassia Oil had been sold at $92 to 93½ per picul, leaving no unsold stock on the market. A sale is reported of 20 piculs of Aniseed Oil at $178 per picul, leaving about 80 piculs in stock. There were no Aniseed Stars offering.

CANTON.—Drug and Spices: Cassia Lignea was quoted for Loting $10.30 in mats, 10.60 in boxes, for Tai Wo $10.40 in mats, 10.70 in boxes. Sales 1,400 piculs. Stock 15,000 piculs. Star Aniseed, $25 to 26. Rhubarb, No. 2, $40 to 50. Alum, $1.80 to 1.90 per picul. Camphor, $20.50 to 21 per picul, packed. Sundries: Fire Crackers 73c. to 77c. per box, for Gowqua's No. 1, Gold Chop. Vermilion $40 to 41 per box. Matting: Fine contract, White 4/4, 10½c.; 5/4, 12½c.; 6/4. 14½c. per yard; Red Check, 4/4, 11½c.; 5/4 13½c.; 6/4, 15½c.; Double Extra Imperial, white 4/4, 13½c.; 5/4, 16c.; 6/4, 19c.; Red Check, 4/4, 15c.; 5/4, 17½c.; 6/4, 20½c. per yerd. Cargo Ginger, new, in syrup (Chyloong), $3.80; Mandarin, $4.40, per box of 6 jars.

MANILA.—Messrs. Smith, Bell and Co.'s Circular says:—Our Produce Market, as is usual at this season of the year, has been very quiet, and the business done has been of a very limited character. Sugar and Hemp are both quiet, but Coffee, owing to small supplies, has advanced. Sugar: Dealers, owing to continued wet weather, are still unable to deliver under July contracts, and are consequently unwilling to do anything forward. There would be a few buyers of extra and superior at about $6 and $5.50 per picul respectively, but dealers will not listen to these prices. Unclayed: The arrivals from Taal only amount to 2,000 piculs, all of which has been delivered under contracts previously entered into. There have been sales, ex godown, of about 8,000 piculs at $3.87½ per picul packed, and there is now less desire shown to buy. At Ilo Ilo and Cebu prices have quieted down somewhat, but only trifling quantities are now obtainable. Hemp: After the departure of last mail the price of current went up to $6.12½ per picul (£23 16s. 7d.), but within the last few days the demand has fallen off and moderate parcels could now be obtained at $6 per picul (£23 7s. 11d). In course of shipment there are now 19,000 bales going forward to Great Britain and 15,000 bales to the United States. Coffee: Small parcels have been purchased for shipment to Spain at $22 to 22.50 per picul (£78 16s. 2d. to £80 10s. 8d.), and unsold stocks may be estimated at about 3,000 piculs.

SINGAPORE.—The Produce Market had been quiet, and there had been less business doing during the fortnight; prices had been steady, with a firmer tendency, owing to low rates of freight and a decline in sterling exchange. The Gambier market was extremely dull, and no business of any importance was reported in the early part of the fortnight, supplies being scarce, and dealers were holding for higher rates; during the closing week a moderate business had been done; the price opening at $4.65 and afterwards slightly hardening; about 1,100 tons had been contracted for. Cube Gambier was scarce; dealers refused to sell at current rates. Supplies of Black Pepper had fallen off, prices had remained steady, the demand had been flat; about 125 tons had been bought at $7.70 to $7.72½ per picul; arrivals of 3,000 bags of Atchin and West Coast Pepper, a portion of which had been bought at $7.50 per picul. The demand for White Pepper had subsided; prices had fallen about 25 cents per picul, business had been trifling. Pearl Sago had again advanced in value, and it was difficult to procure. Sago Flour was very firm; contracts were reported at higher rates. Tapioca was very strong in the early part of the fortnight, but the demand at the high rates had subsided and quotations closed weaker; Pearl Tapioca was scarce and wanted; Flour was more plentiful. Coffee had remained firm, 2,500 piculs of Bonthyne had arrived, of which 900 piculs had been sold; the remainder was held for higher rates. Buffalo Hides were in fair request; several sales were noticed. Horns were unchanged. Nutmegs were firm; supplies had been been small; Mace continued dull. The Tin market opened firmer; but the advance was not sustained; and prices closed easier; there had been some demand for the China market.

PENANG.—A good business had been done in Tin, and Black Pepper had been in limited inquiry. Sugar was neglected, London advices being less favourable. Other articles showed very little change. Tin: Demand had been principally for China and India. Prices had ruled at $18.95 to 18.70—closing steady at the latter quotation. Black Pepper: There had been a moderate demand for England and China, with purchases to the extent of 4,000 piculs Aitchin at $6.75 to 6.85—and shipments of West Coast had been made to Singapore and India, amounting to 3,900 piculs. Quotation for West Coast nominal, $7.05. White Pepper: Small sales at $12.70 to 12.75. Sugar: Chinese Basket had been neglected. European manufacture, small sales of No. 2 at $5¼; and contracts of No. 1, delivery in October, had been made at $7.50.

MURDERS BY CHINESE IN CALIFORNIA.

A telegram from San Francisco to the New York papers states on the afternoon of the 15th ult. some persons passing near Sargent's Ranch, about two miles from Rocklin, Placer County, heard several pistol-shots, and, as they approached the house, saw two men, who scaled the fence and ran away. On entering the house the body of a Mrs. Oder, who, with her husband and Sargent, occupied the premises, was found on the floor. She had been shot twice, and her head split open by an axe. An alarm was given, and a party of constables and citizens began a search. About fifty yards from the house the body of Mr. Oder was found. He had received three pistol-shots. The party then followed the trail of the men who were seen to jump the fence. Their tracks showed that they wore Chinese shoes. After crossing a ravine, three-quarters of a mile from the house, in a clump of willows, they found Sargent bleeding from wounds in the head and body. He was conscious, and stated that two Chinamen had called at the house shortly after noon and desired to purchase a certain mining claim from him. He accompanied them to the claim, and while returning they shot him fives times in the body and head and left him for dead. He said the assassins were from Penrhyn, a neighbouring village, one of them being a cook at Grant's boarding-house, near the Penryhn quarries. He had received $120 from another Chinaman a few days before for a mining claim, which sum was in a trunk at the house, and presumed that the object of the murderers was to obtain the money. The party followed the track of the murderers to a Chinese cabin near at hand, where they captured three Chinamen, one of whom was in bed, but perspiring freely, as though he had been running. Several other Chinamen living near by were arrested, and one of them, who was much frightened, volunteered the information that Ah Sam and Ah Jim had murdered Sargent, but would say no more. One of the prisoners had $120 in his possession. It was found that the trunk in which Sargent deposited the money had been cut open and robbed. Sargent died the following morning. The excitement was intense during the night, and had the evidence against the prisoners been deemed conclusive they would doubtless have been lynched at once. The cook at Grant's boarding-house could not be found, though the town and the country for miles around were scoured in the pursuit. On the 16th a meeting of citizens was held at Rocklin, and all the Chinese were notified to leave the place by six P.M. Before four o'clock the last squad of Chinamen, burdened by their baggage, filed out of the town, including those employed by the Railroad Company, the prisoners being the only ones remaining. They were in no way molested by the excited crowd. At six P.M. the citizens marched to the Chinese quarter and demolished all the buildings, twenty-five in number, including a store, the owner of which had removed his stock of goods. At the inquest on the bodies of the murdered persons facts were developed which led the sheriff to believe that four of the Chinamen in custody were implicated in the murders, and he ordered their removal to the county jail at Auburn. A crowd collected when the officers, with their prisoners, boarded the train, and the mutterings of the throng broke out into exclamations such as "Have them out!" "Hang them!" A rush was then made for the doors of the car, and the sheriff and his deputies were seized upon, and but for a fair show of pistols by the officers and conductor of the train the purpose of the mob would have been accomplished. The crowd was finally forced back, and the train moved out of the station, followed by the yells of the throng. The moderation displayed by the citizens, with the exception of the above incident, was partly due to the fact that throughout the day, and by common consent, all the saloon keepers closed their doors, otherwise serious consequences would undoubtedly have ensued. The coroner's jury found that the murder of Sargent was committed by Ah Sam, Ah Jim, and another Chinaman unknown, Sargent having mentioned a third assailant subsequent to his first statement. The jury failed to indicate the murderers of Oder and his wife, and the other prisoners were liberated for want of evidence against them. In the evening the buildings connected with a Chinese garden about a mile from Rocklin were burned. It is positively denied that the fire was caused by whites, and it is probable that the premises were abandoned and fired by the Chinese. A later despatch says Mr. Sargent's teamster is missing, and it is supposed he has been killed. A party of armed citizens visited various Chinese camps in the township, but found them all deserted, the occupants having taken alarm and decamped in haste. It is believed the trouble is not yet ended. The citizens of Roseville, a few miles from Rocklin, notified the Chinamen to leave the town before ten o'clock the following morning.

A CHINESE TEMPLE.

The Chinese have lately erected a temple in Nevada, which, from the description given of it in the Virginia City Chronicle, seems to be in its way a model of church architecture. On both sides of the door are gigantic figures about ten feet high, made entirely of coloured paper. Each has one leg lifted in the air, and they look like Chinese gods dancing a "double clog." Banners and lanterns are displayed on the walls outside; within is an altar covered with burning punk, fruit, varnished hog, incense, and little metalic gods, surrounded by feathers and paper ornaments. The walls are hung with pictures portraying the terrors of a future punishment and the rewards of a prospective paradise. The Chinese hell is depicted by a sort of brick oven with big folding doors, by the side of which sits the devil. Subordinate devils are seen driving the sinner towards the spot, while the big devil, viewing the procession with a look of satisfaction, is just reaching for his forked spear with one hand and taking the keys out of his waistcoat pocket with the other. Another picture represents the judgment. An immense figure sits at a big desk judging the sinners at his left, and a man clothed in red garments casts them into a furnace of fire below, while a clerk at the right of the desk checks off their names in a large book One picture represents a woman beating the devil over the head with a club, the heathen gods applauding. The joys of paradise are depicted by a number of persons sitting on clouds of glory and dining on roast pig, while angels hover above and fan off the flies.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, OCT. 2.

The past week has been remarkable for its insignificance in almost every way; certainly the high classes of society and the members of the Government are returned to the city, but of the active life which always used to prevail here at the fall of the year very little is perceptible. A sort of depression is felt by everyone, and a feeling is becoming more and more uniform, that the fearful events in the East of Europe must some day draw our country into the great quarrel.

General Haug, one of the officers of Garibaldi's Legion, who of late has resided in the vicinity of Jthehoe (a little town in Holstein), has been summoned by the Italian Government and restored to his former rank in the Italian army.

On the occasion of the military manœuvres of the 14th division of the German army, the Grand Duke of Baden, son-in-law to the Emperor, has been appointed Inspector-General of the 4th Army Corps, consisting of the mentioned, and of the 15th (the Alsatian) division. This nomination is not only a proof of the Emperor's being satisfied by the performance of the 14th division, commanded hitherto by the Grand Duke, but also of the reconciliation of the inhabitants of the newly annexed province (Alsatia) to German rule. The recruits of that province were attached hitherto to regiments in the old provinces, but now they will form own regiments.

The Emperor has promulgated a decree according to which the members of the "Bundesrath," the German Upper House, shall reassemble on the 8th of this month at Berlin; thus Parliamentary life will begin again, and the dead season therefore may be considered as finished. The sittings of the Reichstag will hardly take place this year, but the members of that corporation are expected to be called together early in the month of January, 1878.

Mr Crispi, the Speaker of the Italian House of Commons, has made a trip through Germany, and has now left for Great Britain. During his stay at Berlin he has been welcomed, among other persons, by Herr von Beningsen, the President of the Prussian Diet, and on the 23rd of last month he responded to an invitation for a parliamentary dinner, given to him by the leading deputies to the Reichstag and to the Prussian Landtag. A great number of political celebrities partook in this festival, and several speeches have been held on this occasion, pointing to the amicable relations of the Italian and German people.

On Thursday last an Exhibition of German coal was opened at Hamburg, with the purpose of enlarging the sale of this produce, not only for consumption in our town but also for export. All exhibited coal came from Westphalian pits, and it is a matter of great interest to see the increased traffic to Hamburg of this article during the last five years. For 1872 the total quantity sent to our town did not exceed 333 double-hectolitres, in 1873 it amounted to 13,519, in 1874 to 71,508, in 1875 to 479,659, and in 1876 to ca. 845,000 double-hectolitres. It must be taken in mind that this last-mentioned quantity is only one-seventh of the total import of coal to Hamburg, six-sevenths of which came from Great Britain, but now Germany is trying to emancipate herself from British fuel, and perhaps it may in course of time be successful, as the quality of our own produce does not fall short against English coal, and the price of it is really the same as a cheaper one.

A number of Ultramontane journals have set the rumour afloat according to which the German Empire intended to annex or incorporate the whole or a part of the hitherto Russian Poland, but the official press of Berlin is now declaring these said rumours to be false, and states those rumours to be trials to disturb the friendship between the Russian and the German Empire.

In one of my former letters you will remember I wrote to you about the East Siberian Trading Company, that the promoter and real manager of this establishment, Mr. Luchdorf, was gone to Nikolajewsk, on the Amoor, in order to make arrangements, as the chief officer of the Company in that town had given his dismission. Mr. Luchdorf has now returned, and is now at Berlin, but nothing reliable has transpired about the result of his endeavours. The position of the company is said to be hopeless—and the whole paid-up capital may be considered as a total loss; the shares are distributed among a very limited number of people, as I hear only six or seven persons are the shareholders of the establishment, mercantile people of more or less great fortune, so that this failure of the undertaking may be disagreeable, but not a ruin to them.

An official report about the trade of Germany with Siam, which recently has been published, shows that the number of German vessels visiting the port of Bangkok of late has been constantly increasing. In 1875 the vessels which arrived in the said port under German colours only numbered sixty-six in all; but in 1876 amounted to 100, outnumbered all other nations, and were only surpassed by the own Siamese vessels. Of Hamburg vessels no less than forty-seven visited Bangkok during the past year, the rest of fifty-three being distributed amongst the other German ports.

The German Steamship Company is far from realising the great hopes which were manifested in this undertaking when it was first founded. The considerable taking off in the export of German articles of industry to East India, as well as the uniform bad situation of all business, have not been without consequences for this company, and their shares are at present noted not higher than 50 per cent. below par. After the opinion of experienced seamen, the main reason of the unsufficient results hitherto experienced is the construction of the vessels themselves; these steamers, instead of being built only for carrying cargo, are a sort of androgynus between a passenger boat and a trader, and therefore insufficient as well in one as the other direction. A second reason is the great expenses endured by these vessels, and their relative unfitness for coasting trade in China, because they are too large for the latter. Consequently, notwithstanding the exertions of the masters, hardly ever a good result will be gained. That the steam trade from Germany to East India is not altogether hopeless is sufficiently shown by the Flensburg Steamship Company, whose vessels employed mainly with the rice ports, of late have given the most satisfactory results.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

In comparison to the previous week business during the past seven days has shown rather less activity, and transactions for delivery as well as on the spot are of small extent. Money remained abundant, but rates of discount in the open market are a little higher.

COFFEE.—Demand for consumption remained a good one, and sales have been considerable. Supplies are coming in slowly, and values are therefore showing higher tendency. Quotation for Java quality m.1.05 to 1.50.

SUGAR.—Sales of first hand parcels have been of no importance. Quotations are:—Manila brown, clayed m.23 to 25½; do. unclayed, m.18½ to 20; Mauritius, brown, m.18 to 24; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.27 to 29; do. brown, m.18½ to 24½; Siam, Benares and China, white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.21 to 30; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 28, per 100 lbs.

RICE.—Transactions of dressed quality have been of a regular extent; sales of raw quality are not reported.

TEA.—Of first-hand parcels the following transactions are reported: 366/8 boxes Congo, 543/8 boxes Souchong, 57/4 boxes Pecco, 7/4 boxes Haysanchit, 17/4 boxes Tonkay, 65/8 boxes Younghayson, 62/8 boxes Haysan, and 160/8 boxes Gunpowder.

CHARGE AGAINST THE CAPTAIN OF THE "COLDSTREAM."—An inquiry, ordered by the Board of Trade, has been held before the Local Marine Board, Tower-hill, into a charge of drunkenness and misconduct preferred by Mr. J. Willis, of the firm of J. Willis and Son, owners, against Captain Randall, late master of the Coldstream. Mr. Scrutton, the Chairman of the Board, presided, Mr. Balguy, the magistrate, acting as Legal Assessor. The voyage was from England to Singapore and Shanghai, and thence to Manila and Ilo Ilo, where the master was superseded. After a lengthened investigation the Court found the charges were proved, and cancelled Captain Randall's certificate.

LONDON: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1877.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

There is but little political news of importance by the present mail. At Peking the Ministers appear to be preserving the attitude of dignified inaction which was noticed in the last mail's papers. That such is the fact is perhaps not very astonishing when the knot into which things have been allowed to drift in connection with the Chefoo Convention is borne in mind. It is of course difficult for any of the Ministers—including the German Minister who is negotiating for the revision of his treaty—to move while it remains uncertain what will be done in this matter. At the same time it is probable that after the hot weather is over and their Excellencies have returned from their trips to the Hills, something definite will be done towards settling outstanding questions. From Tientsin the welcome news is brought that the long-looked for rains had at last fallen, but it still seems that they were too late to affect the crops very greatly, and that consequently the damage from the drought will be as great as was anticipated. At Shanghai the locusts were again causing anxiety, and rewards had been offered to the Chinese to catch the destructive insects. One very undesirable effect which has more than once attended the opening of new ports in China has followed the throwing open of Wenchow. The dreaded Lekin tax has been introduced on all imports as soon as they enter the city, and it is said to be very much heavier than at any other foreign port. This step is entirely in accordance with the grasping and narrow-minded financial policy of the Chinese officials, who have repeatedly shown themselves so near-sighted as to "kill the goose which lays the golden eggs" by placing such imposts upon foreign trade while still in its infancy at a given place as have before long effectually stifled it. At Shanghai the important item of news is that the Mixed Court have given judgment on the charge of perjury brought against one of the witnesses in the Tunsin collision case. The verdict is spoken of in one of the local journals as amounting to one of "not proven"—for what reason, however, is not very apparent, as it really amounts to a clear acquittal of the accused. Details are given of a serious collision which has taken place between the steamer Dragon and H.M.'s gunboat Frolic a few miles outside Woosung. The flood tides in the river Wongpoo, which are described as having been unusually high, have caused several accidents to the vessels in harbour. The scheme for establishing a sanitarium at Pootoo was still attracting attention. A steamer was already running at regular intervals between that place and Ningpo. It has been suggested that the collection of books on Natural History belonging to the late Mr. J. P. Martin should be acquired for the Shanghai Museum. A somewhat important decision has been given at the Mixed Court, by which the responsibility of the Chinese owners of passenger ships for luggage entrusted to their employés is established. At Hong Kong there has been no little excitement produced in consequence of the gentleman occupying the position of Consul General for Portugal having been removed from his post through the influence of the Roman Catholic ecclesiastics. The Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Company have held their meeting, and the state of the Company's business is pronounced to be much improved. The publication of the answers to the examination papers set to the Chinese competitors for a clerkship in one of the police courts have caused no little amusement. On the other hand, one of the examiners has been "spotted" in fourteen errors in the translation of a Chinese document—from which it would appear that the learning of Hong Kong requires a little stringing up.

From Japan the present mail brings news that Rear-Admiral Reynolds, in command of the United States Squadron, left for home, on sick leave, on August 13. It was stated that the Japanese Lighthouse Department is to be made a branch of the Home Department. The accounts from the seat of the civil war confirm the progress previously reported on the part of the Imperial arms.

CHINESE EMIGRATION.

Within the last few weeks public attention has been drawn to the subject of Chinese emigration from two very distinct points of view. On the one hand we have had to consider the complaints—ungrounded as we believe—of the evils resulting from the advent of Chinese to the United States and to our Colonies; on the other, attention has been forcibly directed, by means of the deputation which recently waited upon the Chinese Envoy, to the sufferings of the unlucky coolies who have been induced to proceed to Cuba. Though apparently unconnected, and differing widely in their directly practical bearings, these two questions are in many respects one, and are at least so closely connected with one another that they may with advantage be considered together. Coolie emigration—in the sense in which it was long known—that is mixed up with the abominable system of chicanery and kidnapping at Macao and elsewhere, is happily a thing of the past. The last blow was struck to it a few years ago at Hong Kong by the passage of a local ordinance so severe in its provisions as to put an end to the possibility of making use of that Colony for the repairing or fitting-up of ships to take the coolies from Macao, and doing away in consequence with the traffic from that Colony. Since that time it has been impossible to ship coolies in the old way. Peru, after great difficulties, has concluded a treaty with China, and hopes have been entertained of establishing coolie emigration to that country upon a sound basis; but up to the present it does not appear to have been possible to do so—nor is it likely that traffic with that country can be reopened unless substantial guarantees be given to the Chinese Government that the coolies will be properly and justly treated. As already noticed, it is now desired to form a company for the purpose of reviving the traffic to Cuba; and it was the chief object of the deputation which recently waited upon H.E. Kuo, the Chinese Envoy, to prevent the objects of this association being carried out, and we are confident that they will have the wishes of all who are actuated by right principles for their success. Though some statements which have been made upon the subject have been exaggerated, and being exaggerated have done more harm than good to the cause they were intended to further, there is no doubt whatever that the unlucky coolies who go under contract to Cuba are unjustly and cruelly treated, and that no sufficient guarantee has been given that this state of things will be in any way ameliorated. The conditions of engagement as set forth in the company's prospectus appear fair enough, but past experience teaches only too well at what point they will be evaded. "The coolie," it is said "as a free man can return to his own country when he "has fulfilled his first contract, otherwise he must make a "new engagement for the day's work for a period of two years." The proviso in italics looks a little doubtful in the clause itself, and is fully explained in the subsequent clause, which provides that: "If at the termination of the third "contract the coolie wishes to return to his own country, "and has not the necessary means of doing so, he shall be "sent back at the expense of the Government"—by which it is seen that the possibility of the coolie not having the means to return after the completion of his third contract is deliberately contemplated. It has been at this point, in fact, that all the iniquities have been introduced into the Coolie Emigration to Cuba and Peru. The terms of the original contracts are fair enough in appearance, but the unfortunate coolies when they have once arrived are forced to renew them over and over again, and thus to pass a prolonged period of servitude, if they are indeed fortunate enough ever to be able to return to their native land.

The suicidal policy of this injustice has, after a long series of years, begun to work its own cure, in its being almost impossible to find means to obtain emigrants now from China to the proscribed places, though it would seem that the promoters of the Company have some hopes of being able to steer clear of the stringent regulations at present in force at all ports in China, at Hong Kong, and even at Macao. If such be the case, it is to be hoped that the Chinese Government will be active in the matter, and will, if necessary, represent it to other foreign Governments, from whom it would, doubtless, receive valuable moral support. Unless a Chinese

Consul be appointed to Cuba there can be no security for the better treatment of the coolies than that which they have hitherto received; and while this is the case no further emigration should be permitted. The question, so far as Cuba is concerned, does not, however, end here. There are at present thousands of Chinese in that colony who, there is but too much reason to know, are unjustly detained, and some efforts ought assuredly to be made to obtain their release. This must be by no means an easy task; but suitable representations to the Spanish Government might go some way towards its accomplishment. It is to the interest of Cuba that the necessary security should be given, and what has taken place in our own Colonies shows that the Chinese are willing to emigrate of their own accord, when they know they will be secure and fairly treated. Our West India Colonies, to which Sir RUTHERFORD ALCOCK'S Coolie Convention of 1860 put an end to emigration from China under contract, are, we learn, endeavouring to complete arrangements for the encouragement of free emigration, the main element in the scheme being that the engagement of the emigrants shall be entirely in the hands of the Chinese themselves, and that no contracts for time will be made. If Cuba would do justice to the Chinese already there, set emigration on foot upon a similar basis, and give security to the Chinese that they would be properly protected for the future, there would probably not be any difficulty in obtaining labourers, seeing that at the present moment the complaint from other places is not that Chinese labourers cannot be obtained, but that they are coming in too great numbers. Of the value of emigration, if properly conducted, both to the large number of Chinese seeking employment and to the Colonies which would benefit by their labour, there can be no doubt, and it is to be sincerely regretted that the injustice inflicted upon them in a few places should throw obstacles in the way of their proceeding to others, where they would enjoy good treatment and proper protection.

THE GOVERNOR OF HONG KONG.

A CORRESPONDENT of the London and China Telegraph has called attention to the influence which is being exerted by H.E. Mr. POPE HENNESSY to further the views of the Catholics in Hong Kong in opposition to the general interests of the colony. We have hesitated to allude to this subject hitherto, as we have always made it a principle to avoid as far as possible anything in the form of religious controversy in these columns. But when those high in authority allow their religious proclivities to interfere with the discharge of their public duties, it is impossible for the press to preserve silence. The statements which we have received from a variety of correspondents, some of whose communications have been published, can leave no doubt that between the Catholic Governor and the Catholic Bishop in Hong Kong a strong tendency is shown to favour everything Romish, and to oppose all that is Protestant. This should not be tolerated in a Protestant colony. It is no religious question, but the question simply whether the residents shall be impartially and equitably governed. The Catholics in Hong Kong have always enjoyed full toleration, and have had ample Government support; and we would warn them that they will assuredly best consult their interests in the long run by abstaining from placing themselves in opposition to he general weal. The Governor is called upon to remember that he has been appointed to rule over a Protestant colony, and that, whatever his individual views may be, he is bound to bear in mind that the Catholics are but a section of the community; and that he has no right in matters relating to the education of the Chinese to use his influence in favour of one religious denomination over another. It appears even that the large bulk of the Catholic community themselves are seriously discontented with the manner in which influence of this kind has been brought to play in regard to secular matters. The last mail only brings intelligence that Mr. ROMANO has been superseded as Consul-General for Portugal through what both the papers in the colony do not hesitate to denounce as "priestly intrigue." The act has been the subject of great excitement in the colony, where there is no doubt the feeling on such matters is—and with only too good reason—increasing to a most undesirable and most dangerous intensity. If such priestly influence can be brought to bear upon the Portuguese Government in Europe, it is easy to conceive the mischief it may work with the Governor on the spot.

On the other hand, we are glad to note that many of the fears so generally felt respecting Mr. POPE HENNESSY'S intentions regarding what is termed "class legislation" have turned out to be unfounded. It was quite natural that, at first sight, he should have viewed with suspicion measures which, looked at from a purely abstract point of view, seemed calculated to place one section of the community, and that the most numerous and indirectly influential, at an undue disadvantage. Inquiry, however, seems to have convinced his Excellency that what really seemed an oppression was in reality a boon to those whose cause he had, somewhat over ardently, espoused. The peculiar position of Hong Kong had long rendered it the favourite place of refuge for all who found their native province an inconvenient residence. Not merely a political but a social "Cave of Adullum," all who were in trouble resorted to it as the best means of avoiding inconvenient inquiries as to their past lives. It was of course natural that the refugees should number in their ranks some few who merited rather the sympathies than the hatred of their involuntary hosts. Thus at the present moment Hong Kong offers a secure asylum to the once famous leader of the "Small Knife Rebels" of Amoy, whose doings are graphically recorded in a paper in the China Review from the pen of Mr. HUGHES. But the majority are naturally enough from a class who have offended social rather than political law.

To satisfactorily govern so undesirable a body of residents stringent laws were found necessary. Up to the end of 1865 what may be termed the Singapore fashion of government prevailed—with the result that on an average seventy-two piracies per annum took place within Hong Kong waters, while on land some ten crimes of violence per week loaded the list of her criminal calendar. Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL, who was sent out to accomplish the trifling tasks of both rescuing the colony from impending bankruptcy and of restoring ordinary safety to its European and respectable Chinese inhabitants, was a man of no ordinary talent for governing; and amongst the first fruits of his administration were the Order and Cleanliness Ordinance (which includes what is termed the J.D.O.), the Junk Disarmament Ordinance, and a few other measures which in a few months raised Hong Kong from one of the most unpleasant to one of the safest places of residence in the Far East. As a matter of fact, ten thousand of the worst class of Chinese left the colony. But Sir RICHARD and those who thought with him were firm. The new legislation was stringently enforced, and in less than two years both trade and personal comfort reached a degree of safety never before experienced. Sir ARTHUR KENNEDY had the sense to continue the good work of his predecessor, and when he left in April last bade farewell to a community sensible of and grateful for his action. That Mr. HENNESSY will continue in the same course is much to be desired.

The lesson taught by Hong Kong should not be without its influence to other colonies possessing large Chinese populations. Singapore and Penang possess two classes of Chinese—those who are respectable, or, in other words, have more to lose than gain by disturbance; and those to whom riot and bloodshed afford the most likely means of making something extra. Thanks to wise action on the part of recent Governors, and to the quiet, yet effective, pressure exerted through the Chinese department, which, if it did nothing else would be well worth its expense, the secret societies have at length been brought under something like control. We do not support the idea of recognition, as opposed to the total abolition of dangerous secret societies. But it must be admitted that something has been gained when any member of such organisations can be found when wanted through the unostentatious services of those whose duty it is to deal more especially with the Chinese population. But does not this fact suggest that a little more vigour in suppressing acknowledged abuses would be neither dangerous nor impolitic? If Hong Kong can, in face of the whole moral support of the Canton province, do as it chooses with its Chinese population, why should not Singapore, with an equal European force and no larger population to deal with, do likewise? The old cry of "injury to trade" is well nigh exploded. People are beginning to see that Chinese merchants are quite as ready to see vigorous legislation put in force against Chinese blackguardism as anyone else, and that if twenty thousand Sam Sings were forced to leave Singapore not a dollar less would flow into either European or Chinese coffers. We commend these considerations to the Government, and trust that Sir W. Robinson will find its more intelligent members, backed by the representatives of the mercantile community, ready to support any measures having good government for their end.

The amended or supplementary Order in Council for the Supreme Court of China and Japan still hangs fire, but our readers at Shanghai will be glad to know that there is no probability of the proposal to combine the duties of Judge with that of the Consul-General being carried out. Better to shut up the Court than have such an amalgamation.

Our Hamburg correspondent notices that an official report recently published gives evidence of the increase of the German shipping trade in Siam. The number of German vessels visiting Bangkok in 1875 was sixty-six, which increased last year to 100, of which number fifty-three were from Hamburg alone.

We understand that a section of the passengers of the wrecked steamer Meikong have decided to take law proceeding against the Messageries Maritimes Company for the loss of baggage, &c., which it will be remembered some of them asserted at the time might have been saved.

The regulations with reference to Chinese immigrants into Queensland, instituted by the local Government, have been approved by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, subject, however, to revision.

Literature, Science, &c.

A large number of books have been announced for the coming season, embracing the variety of subjects usual during the Christmas quarter. Mr. Gladstone, who appears to be acting on the principle of "otium sine literis, mors," is engaged upon a "Primer of Homer," for Messrs. Macmillan and Co.'s series of Literature Primers, edited by Mr. J. R. Green, but it is stated that finding his time fully occupied with his own correspondence, will not take an active part in editing that of Mr. Cobden. M. Chevalier, to whom, along with Mr. Gladstone, the late Mrs. Cobden bequeathed her husband's private papers, is also indisposed to interfere with the arrangements previously made for their publication. Messrs. George Bell and Sons promise a new edition of Kent's "Commentary on International Law," edited by Dr. J. T. Abdy. Among the forthcoming volumes of Bohn's Libraries will be Miss Martineau's "History of the Thirty Years' Peace," in four volumes. Mr. Bentley will publish early in November a work on which Dr. Doran has been engaged for some years, and which is entitled "London in Jacobite Times." It will illustrate Court and City, St. James's and Tyburn, Church and Conventicle, the Stage and the Streets, in short every particular of Jacobite times in the metropolis.

The Friend of China (organ of the Anti-Opium Society) publishes the text of the Chefoo Convention with a mourning border round the section relating to Opium. In commenting upon the Convention it is stated:—"If Lord Derby advises Her Majesty to ratify, the Chinese Government will not be able indeed directly to exclude Indian opium, but they will be able to tax it at their pleasure, and could increase the inland burdens upon the drug pari passu with their success in putting down the poppy growth in China." This statement seems somewhat strange in view of the fact that the editor does not overlook that the Chinese Government is at present able to tax opium inland at pleasure. He holds, however, the fact to be that the Chinese Government can at present levy only so much duty as their internal Customs stations can collect; and that it is manifest that a drug so easily smuggled when once it has got into native hands, and is scattered over great cities like Shanghai, Foochow, and Canton, can only be partially controlled by the Custom officers. The new regulation would enable the Chinese to collect the internal dues as well as the import duty before the drug leaves the custody of the Custom-house. For this reason it is considered that the anticipation of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce that the drug will be practically delivered into the hands of the Chinese Government to deal with it as it pleases, is not without ground.

From Swatow to Canton Overland. By Herbert A. Giles of H.B.M. Consular Service. London: Trübner and Co.—The above little work gives a very interesting account of a journey performed by the author, who was instructed to proceed to Hui-chou-fu to verify the good faith of the Chinese Government in regard to the proclamation respecting the Margary murder. It gives a good insight into Chinese life, and it is to be hoped that others who have occasion to travel inland in China will follow Mr. Giles's example, and publish the account of their journies in pamphlet form—as notwithstanding our long commercial intercourse with China our information as to the interior of the country is still sadly deficient.

The Church Missionary Intelligencer for this month, gives a portion of the account, by the Rev. J. R. Wolfe, of Bishop Burdon's visitation tour in Fukien. Speaking of the Mission at Siu Hung, he says:—

> We rose early, and after breakfast proceeded to the little church at the head of the village. It was well filled; most of the Christians were present, and a number of heathen men and women. After the baptismal service, the Bishop delivered a most earnest and appropriate address to the assembled Christians, and then confirmed the twenty-six candidates that were presented to him, as they knelt in order before him at the Communion rails. After this, thirty-six of the Christians partook of the Lord's Supper. It was to me a deeply interesting service. Here in this little village, buried high up among the mountains, away from the haunts of civilization and refinement, were administered the most solemn services of the Church, by one of her chief pastors, to a congregation of simple but earnest Christian men and women, who, not very long ago, were poor, blind, ignorant idolators, without hope and without God in the world. Surely it was a sight over which the angels in heaven rejoiced. It was an event well calculated to make a missionary's heart glad, and to encourage him still to sow the seed beside all waters with redoubled energy and increased faith. I trust it had this effect upon my poor wavering spirit. It was a seasonable rebuke to my sinking faith.

Street Life in London. By J. Thomson, F.R.G.S. London, Sampson Low and Co. The October number of this publication has for its subjects the "London Boardmen" and "Mush-fakers" and "Gingerbeer makers." The mush-fakers are itinerant menders and makers of umbrellas, and some interesting details are given of the curious manner in which the trade is conducted, and the ruses which are resorted to by itinerant street-vendors to parcel off old umbrellas for new upon unsuspecting purchasers.

In The Gospel in China (published for the Foreign Missions Committee of the Presbyterian Church of England) for this month, a well-deserved tribute is paid to the memory of the late Rev. Carstairs Douglas, in the form of a history of his career, written by Mr. John M. Douglas, one of his brothers. He says in his concluding remarks:—

> Only those who knew Dr. Douglas well can understand how entirely he devoted himself to that work, to which in the bloom of his youth he gave himself—the work of his Master, in China. 'With regard to it, he might emphatically have said, "This one thing I do." His studies, his work of every kind, even his hours of relaxation, were directed to the one end of building up the Church of Christ in this land. To this his conversation ever turned; on this his thoughts ever ran; and ran, not in the shape of vague day-dreams, but in the way of planning and arranging some practical work, or of preparing for such work. The amount of work he could get through was almost incredible; and no doubt the secret of it was that he never rested. He did the work of one man in active evangelistic labour, and another man's work in his study and with the mission students—all directed to the one end; the bringing of China to the feet of Christ.

The Contemporary for October contains a paper by the Bishop of Salisbury on "The Divine Guidance of the Church," in which the right rev. prelate, in reply to Mr. Lyttelton's paper in the August number, amplifies and supports the theory sketched out in his Bampton Lectures in 1868. That theory, while admitting the existence of an undeniable personal priesthood which belongs to every Christian man duly admitted into the membership of the Church, also insists upon there being a "collective priesthood" appointed by apostolic ordination to exercise upon the individual members the sacred powers of the Church. Professor Beyschlag contributes the first part of an elaborate examination and refutation of the arguments of the modern German critics who have attacked the authenticity of St. John's Gospel; and Mr. Alex. T. Innes, in his second paper on "The Trial of Jesus Christ," deals with the Roman trial. The Rev. S. Baring-Gould directs attention to the "Early Christian Greek Romances," some of which are of remarkable beauty. For those who take special interest in industrial questions, Mr. George Howell provides an almost exhaustive essay upon the action of Trades Unions with regard to apprentices, in which he makes some judicious comments upon the efforts now being put forth for the promotion of technical education.

To the Nineteenth Century Lord Blachford contributes an article on "The Integrity of the British Empire," written apparently with no very definite object, but in which his lordship asks, "those who are most keenly set on maintaining the integrity of the Empire to examine accurately what is the meaning of these words, not, of course, with regard to India and the Crown colonies, in respect to which England really possesses Imperial powers and duties, but as to the constitutional colonies which govern themselves." Mr. Gladstone contributes, under the title of "The Colour-Sense," an elaborate disquisition on the doctrine that colour was little known to the ancients, presenting the results which he has obtained from a study of Homer.

In Blackwood this month the story of "Pauline" is brought to a conclusion. "The Khedive's Egypt and our Route to India" forms the subject of a thoughtful article. The course of the war is reviewed in a paper entitled "The Storm in the East," in which the writer suggests for the consideration of those who so persistently clamour for the overthrow of the Turkish Government that as nothing could be more surprising than the exhibition of military capacity which the Turks have suddenly made, "may they not, under the pressure of necessity, give evidence of an unsuspected ability in civil matters?"

In the Dublin University, Mr. J. W. Ozanne, who resided some years in Roumania, gives an interesting sketch of its history, and contends that Turkey can no longer possess the slightest right to regulate the fate of the Danubian Principalities, while Russia has equally lost every claim to a hearing in the matter from the manner in which time after time it has thrown its promises to the winds. The result of the war will show what is best to be done, but "it is for Europe, and Europe alone, when the opportunity arrives, to decide whether Roumania shall form an independent kingdom under King Charles I., or once more resume its position, now happily of easy vassalage, under the tutelage of the Porte, in the interests of the general peace, and for the better maintenance of the balance of power."

Mr. Gladstone also contributes a paper to Macmillan on "The Dominions of Odysseus, and the Island Group of the Odyssey," and expresses a hope that some worshipper of Homer may yet be induced to undertake on the spot, with the whole evidence of the text fresh in his mind, a closer and more comprehensive examination than has yet been made of the topography of Ithaca in all its material points.

For lovers of light literature Temple Bar contains, among other articles, four more chapters of "A Blue Stocking," three of "Cherry Ripe," a biographic sketch of the famous actress, Mrs. Jordan, and a paper on Clubs and Club Life. Belgravia is scarcely so attractive as usual, though some "Random Notes," by Mark Twain, are worth reading.

The Academy states that Sir Joseph Hooker is expected to arrive at Kew, from his botanical journey in the United States, about the 10th of October. From Colorado, where his collection of plants exceeded expectation, he crossed, in company with Professor Asa Gray, to the Yosemite Valley, the home of the "big trees," and subsequently visited San Francisco and Sacramento. All Sir Joseph's friends will rejoice over the success of his interesting expedition.

Since the Franco-German war, German officers are expected to add a knowledge of Russian to their linguistic attainments. Our Government having now resolved to follow this example, the Russian language will hereafter be included among the subjects upon which candidates for commissions are examined.

It is stated that Mr. Delane has resigned the editorship of the Times, and that Mr. Chenery, the Lord Almoner's Professor of Arabic at Oxford, will be his successor. Professor Chenery, to whose chair no salary and no duties are assigned, has been connected for many years with the staff of the leading journal.

SALES OF TEA BY AUCTION.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—Will you permit me to correct what appears to me to be a popular error, which is constantly repeated in regard to the weekly auction sales of Tea? It is customary to condemn them and the "Sphinx of the Tea market" as the cause of them in no measured terms as though the low prices were exclusively attributable to them. Now it must be evident that the mode of sale cannot continuously affect the range of prices, but that these must be regulated simply by the relation between supply and demand. An auction per se is not more calculated to produce low prices than high. Its theory (Dutch auctions, I suppose, excepted) is that it does the latter; and we can easily perceive the unreasonableness of the outcry if we conceive an opposite state of the market to that which has long been existing. Imagine that there were about 20,000,000lbs. short export of common Congous, what would be the effect of successive auctions then? Clearly to "send the market up"—as the expression would be, or rather to make the necessary rising tendency of the market at such time practically apparent. The cause of this would not be, the auction, but the short export; and in precisely the same way, in my opinion, the cause of the flatness which has existed for common Teas has certainly not been the periodical sales but the excessive shipments.—I am, &c., A CHINA MERCHANT.

London, Oct. 1, 1877.

THE LAW COURTS IN CHINA.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—Although there is very little likelihood, in face of the facts familiar to all who are acquainted with China, that the Government will be induced to relinquish exterritoriality by such arguments as are adduced in the letter you publish from Mr. Chesson, I cannot allow it to pass without raising my voice against the absurdity of the practice of hunting up grievances for the Chinese which they would never dream of finding out for themselves, and which have, when the true facts are known, no real foundation. The pamphlet from which Mr. Chesson quotes, "Two Episodes of recent Anglo-Chinese History," is well-known to emanate from Mr. Drummond, of the Shanghai Bar, and to be influenced by even more than the amount of bias naturally to be expected from an advocate in a given cause. Mr. Drummond's standing at the Shanghai Bar was at the time he wrote the pamphlet something between two or three years, and his knowledge of the subject and of the feelings of the Chinese with regard to it cannot assuredly be placed against that of Sir Thomas Wade, with over thirty years' intimate acquaintance with their language and their legal institutions and proceedings. I should be quite content to leave Mr. Chesson his "well-known" member of the Shanghai Bar against Sir Thomas Wade, whose emphatic opinion you quote in your article, but I can, from a lengthened residence in China, add my own testimony that a large number of Chinese would have far more confidence in a single English judge than in one assisted by a Chinese Assessor. At least they would feel certain that nothing like bribery could be exerted, a security they can never feel in regard to their own judges. I can quote a case within my own knowledge where a merchant had a dispute with a Chinaman, which if pushed would have involved a claim against the Chinaman, which consequently would have come before the Chinese authorities, but in regard to which the Chinaman of his own accord proposed to take the arbitration of the British Consul as a basis of settlement. May I ask, in conclusion, whether Mr. Chesson is aware that torture is to the present day a recognised element in Chinese judicial proceedings, and that but for the presence of a Consular Assessor in the cases in which we claim justice from them it would beyond question be resorted to? If Mr. Chesson will remove torture and otherwise reform Chinese law, I am sure our Government will be very glad to see exterritoriality and the consequent heavy expenses for the law courts in China and Japan removed also.—I am, &c., JUS IN PERSONAM.

THE CONVENTION AND THE GERMAN TREATY.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—With reference to the remarks which you make upon the delay in the ratification of the Chefoo Convention, will you allow me to call attention to one very important bearing of the question, which does not appear to have been noticed as much as it deserves. The German Minister at Peking is at the present time engaged in negotiating for the revision of the Treaty between China and his country; and many of the points which have been raised with respect to the Chefoo Convention will be settled by him—among others the vexed Lekin dues question. If, therefore, we go on as at present, delaying the ratification of our Convention, we shall drift into the position of having to accept the treaty as agreed to by the German Minister, by virtue of the most favoured nation clause. There seems every likelihood that he will obtain from the Chinese Government all that can be obtained by peaceful means, and Great Britain, in whose hands something like eight-tenths of the whole trade with China rests will be in the dignified position of being indebted to the German Minister for the practical conclusion of negotiations which have now been going on for some three years.—I am, &c.,

THE LATE ACTING PORTUGUESE CONSUL-GENERAL IN HONG KONG.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—The address which was presented by the Portuguese community to Mr. A. G. Romano, late Acting Consul-General for Portugal in this colony, well expresses the esteem and respect in which that gentleman is held among his countrymen here, and the regret they feel at his having been superseded. The news of the appointment of Mr. J. A. Barretto to be Consul took everybody, including that gentleman himself, by surprise, for Mr. Romano has always been very popular, and has never in any way given occasion for a word to be said against him. The appointment of another to the position he is so eminently qualified to fill, therefore, is a slight which is most undeserved. Mr. Romano was appointed Secretary to the Portuguese Consulate in 1861, Vice-Consul in 1867, and Acting Consul-General in January, 1876. For sixteen years he has given his unpaid services to his Government and country, and during the whole of that time no complaint has ever been lodged against him. And now, when he is justified in looking for confirmation of his acting appointment, he is coolly told that he has been superseded. No cause is alleged, no fault found with him; he is simply requested to hand over the archives of the Consulate to his successor, without a word of thanks from his Government for his long and conscientious services. The Government of Macao and his countrymen here alike regret the shabby manner in which he has been treated, and the latter have fittingly expressed their feelings on the subject in the address they have presented to him. Mr. Romano is scarcely less widely respected among the British and foreign community in this colony than among the Portuguese residents, and they unite in regretting the injustice done to him, the more so as there is good reason to believe that it is the result of priestly intrigue. In no other direction can Mr. Romano have offended. But his liberal views and independent spirit have no doubt given umbrage to the ecclesiastical authorities, and hence the intrigues which have led to his removal from office. It is a great pity that the Lisbon Government should lend so ready an ear to ecclesiastical representation, for by doing so they have lost the services of a good and faithful representative. Mr. Romano has very properly sent in his resignation as Vice-Consul, for he could not continue to hold office under the circumstances. He has a right, moreover, to know what accusation has been made against him. The meanest criminal is not condemned without first knowing the charge preferred against him, and it would be shamefully unjust to refuse Mr. Romano. It is to be hoped, however, that the Portuguese Government will repair the injustice done and fittingly reward Mr. Romano's lengthy and valuable services.

Publishing the above in your valuable paper will oblige,—
Yours faithfully, B.

Monetary and Commercial.

The following are the latest quotations of Banking and other Companies connected with the Far East :—Agra Bank, 10¾ to 11¼; Chartered Bank of India, 22½ to 23½; Chartered Mercantile Bank, 27½ to 28½; Comptoir D'Escompte, f.647½; Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, 33 to 35; Oriental Bank, 45 to 46; P. and O. Company, 37 to 39; Messageries Maritimes, f.611¼; Suez Canal, f.691¼; Japan Loan 9 per cent., 110 to 112; ditto, 7 per cent., 102 to 104; China Loan, 103 to 105.

The interim or half-yearly dividends to be declared at the October meetings of the India and China Banks are as follows :—Chartered Mercantile, 4; Chartered Bank, 3 (not at the rate of 9 per cent., as stated in our last; National Bank, 3; Agra Bank, 2½ per cent.

The Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China announces a dividend for the half-year ended 30th June at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, which will be paid to shareholders on the London register on the 15th inst. The distribution is the same as for the corresponding period in 1876. The half-yearly meeting of the Bank is convened for the 16th inst.

The general meeting of the Singapore Gas Company will be held at the Cannon-street Hotel on the 23rd inst., to receive the report of the directors and the balance-sheet and accounts for the half-year ending June 30. The report is as follows :—

The balance-sheet to 30th June, 1877, shows the financial position of the company. The directors have written off for depreciation of works and plant, and off the expenses of first establishment, as per balance-sheet, at the rate of 1 per cent. per annum. The profit for the half-year, after writing off these sums, amounts to £2,323 3s. 2d., which together with £626 18s. 3d. the unappropriated profit of the preceding half-year, makes the available balance £2,950 1s. 5d.; out of this sum the directors recommend the declaration of a dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, less income-tax, on the amounts called and paid up on the preference and original capital; the balance of £653 11s. 11d. to be carried forward to the profit of the succeeding half-year. The dividend is payable on November 20.

Rumours have been current during the week of further failures in Java, owing to the late speculative operations in sugar, but in well-informed quarters we understand that the difficulties have been arranged.

Telegrams from Hong Kong announce that owing to the turn of exchanges in India shipments of silver to the extent of about £350,000 have been made to Calcutta.

Mr. McIver the Superintendent of the P. and O. Company at Hong Kong, who was booked by the first mail of November, has postponed his departure until March.

Consequent to some extent upon the advices from China of an advance there, there has been a slightly better feeling in the Tea market, which has been increased by the fact that the latest telegrams speak very confidently of an ultimate deficiency of 17,000,000 to 20,000,000 lbs. At the same time the market here presents an appearance such as would put a stop to further shipments, were it realised at the ports. The bulk of the teas placed during the week have been from 6¾d. to 1s., and while the importers are losing, the retailers must be realising handsome profits, there being very little tea selling under 2s. per lb. in the shops One cause which has tended to improve the tone of the market slightly is that there have been large orders for common teas, a syndicate of German and Russian firms having been formed to supply the Russian Commissariat. A noticeable feature has been that small supplies of Japanese leaf made into "black" have been received, and are said to have produced satisfactory results. Several parcels of old season's red leaf have been sold at low prices, and "fair to good" useful Congous ex Galley of Lorne, recently arrived from Hankow, realised at public sale only 7½d. to 9d. per lb. All tea with quality fairly maintains its value, and will undoubtedly run into short supply as the season advances.

The total quantity of tea delivered from the bonded warehouses in London for the week ended 29th ult. was 3,855,006 lbs. or a decrease of about 6¼ per cent. Of this total, 2,314,245 lbs. was for home consumption, 802,821 lbs. was removed coastwise, 573,910 lbs. was exported, 152,552 lbs. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 4,478 lbs. was for ships' stores. The duty paid during the week amounted to £57,856, against £57,254 in the previous week, or an increase of 1 per cent.

The Silk market, though still disappointing, shows some signs of improvement, which it is hoped may be the prelude to a more satisfactory state of affairs than that for a long time existing. During the last day or two there have been some inquiries from Lyons, where the stock appears to be entirely exhausted. Prices have in consequence been firmer, and the tendency of holders is to demand higher rates. The manufacturers have, as has long been foreseen likely to prove the case, evidently over-stayed their time; and the fact that the tone of the market is better at the present moment is the more encouraging when it is remembered that business generally continues bad. One good feature in the Silk market is that for some time past the silks held have been drifting into strong hands, by which they are likely to be firmly held.

In the Produce Markets business has become very quiet, and the tendency towards improvement noticeable last week is not maintained. The advance in the Bank rate of discount has exercised little if any influence. A dull tone has pervaded the Coffee market, and prices are slightly lower. Sugar is very flat, and transactions have been greatly restricted. Rice has continued dull, but there is a slight improvement at the close. The activity in Spices is increasing. Gambier is quiet and lower. Tin shows a slight advance, Straits being quoted £66 10s., Banca £69 10s. to £70 per ton. Other articles are without alteration.

It is announced that the founders' shares of the Suez Canal Company, which were recently sold at f.12,800, have, within the past few days, changed hands at f.13,700. It is already estimated that the dividend on them, which was f.208 for 1876, will reach nearly f.400 for the present year, as 10 per cent. of all the increase in the net earnings is divided among these shares, which are only 1,000 in number. The receipts, as recently shown already at the end of August, exceeded by over two millions those at the same date in 1876, and but for the million which is to be expended during the year, and annually for thirty years, in improving the canal, the profits would have permitted a dividend of f.500 on the founders' shares.

A correspondent at Shanghai writes :—As consignees of cargo in China often suffer by deviations in voyages, for the sole benefit of the owners, I think it is well to call your attention to the fact that the Galatea, one of the Hamburg line, had a very tempting offer when just on the point of starting with a full cargo for London, to tow the Oceanic to Hong Kong, for £1,500, but the captain and agents very properly refused it, as it involved a risk which might be very prejudicial to the interests of his shippers.

The practice which prevails among some of the wharf and dock companies of making a return of 35 per cent. on landing rent and charges has lately attracted some notice. It is certainly of an unsatisfactory character, as some merchants here make an allowance in consequence to their constituents whilst others do not. It would be far better that a net charge should be made.

At an adjourned meeting of the creditors of the London partner of Messrs. Van Oordt and Co., merchants of Yokohama, it was resolved to liquidate by arrangement, Mr. James Waddell being appointed trustee, with a committee of inspection of the principal creditors.

Messrs. David Sassoon and Co. announce that they have opened a branch at 40, Dickinson-street, Manchester, which will be conducted under the management of Mr. Charles J. Sassoon, who is duly authorised to act and sign for the firm there.

The traffic receipts of the Great Northern Telegraph Company in September 1877, were £18,445. The total receipts from January 1 to September 30, 1877, were £151,449, and in the corresponding months, in 1876, £154,868, do. do., 1875, £124,923.

The Eastern Telegraph Company's traffic receipts for the month of September amounted to £35,440, and to £33,785 in the corresponding period of 1876. The Eastern Extension, Australasia, and China Telegraph Company's traffic receipts for September amounted to £22,113, and to £19,024 for September 1876.

Bar Silver has steadily advanced during the week, considerable amounts having been sold at 55d. 55¼d. and 55½d. per oz.; the last is the closing rate. There has been but little enquiry for Mexican dollars for export, consequently the bulk of those lately arrived were sold at refining prices, 53 d. per oz. With the improvement in the price of silver a co ⁵ sponding rise in dollars may be looked for, and 53⅞d. may be rr nsidered as the nearest quotation. co

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

The public sales of Thursday are reported upon as follows:—9,022 packages sold without reserve at the following prices :—1,701 chests Congou at 7¼d. to 9½d. per lb.; 5,083 half-chests ditto at 6¾d. to 1s. 1¾d.; 1,113 half-chests Souchong at 7d. to 11½d.; 180 packages Gunpowder at 1s. 3½d. to 2s. 4½d.; 134 half chests Imperial at 6¾d. to 1s. 0¾d.; 218 ditto Young Hyson at 6¼d. to 1s. 4¼d.; 593 packages Hyson at 5½d. to 1s. 8d. The prices obtained exhibit no improvement on the last week's auction, new season's Moning in chests at 9d. comparing favourably with private sales at 11d., and 320 half-chests Congou at 10½d. are about 2d. cheaper than similar quality sold a fortnight since. New season's red leaf went irregularly, the medium kinds from 11½d. to 1s. 1½d., as has usually been the case lately, show a margin of about 15 per cent. below private contract prices. Moyune Gunpowder and Young Hyson sold lower at this auction, although a stronger feeling is reported in the private market. Hyson in cases brought unusually low prices.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says :—There is no improvement to report in our market during the past week. Although the deliveries continue large and there is a fair amount of export business doing, the quantity offering is more than ample for all wants. Prices show no material change since our last, common Teas being well maintained by export orders. The better kinds are generally dull of sale, except when the Teas have special point or character to attract attention. Congous.—Red-leaf kinds : Siftings have again sold at auction at a shade lower quotations ; common to good common of old import have sold at previous prices. In new season's prices have been rather easier ; fair kinds are without improvement ; medium to good and fine kinds show no change in prices, but the demand is limited. In finest but little has been done. Pak Lin kinds remain much as before. Black-leaf kinds : Siftings have sold at the decline last quoted ; common to good common remain without change, the demand for export being good. Fair kinds of Oopak sell cheaply at 10½d. to 11d. per lb. ; fair to good medium, as also good to fine kinds, are dull of sale generally, unless for parcels with special attraction. In finest a few sales have made at rather lower prices. New-make kinds : Common have sold from 8d. to 8½d. per lb., being previous rates ; fair to good are in moderate demand, without alteration in prices. Oolongs : The common to fair kinds have been inquired for at public sales' prices, but holders generally require more money ; good to fine sell slowly at previous prices. Souchongs : The demand is fairly steady, and prices show no material change. Scented Teas : Canton Capers have sold slowly at rather below last week's prices. Orange Pekoes remain without change. Foochow Capers are still difficult to move, there being being little if any demand. Orange Pekoes : Finest kinds show no change ; good to fine sell slowly at rather under previous rates. Green Teas : The bulk of the business continues to be at public sale, where prices are rather irregular. Fine Young Hysons have sold rather better. The public sales have been rather smaller, comprising 13,894 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve.

Mr. D. D. Lewin's Market Résumé says :—Our market has been in a very unsatisfactory state throughout the past month, and though a large business has been doing, it has been effected with much difficulty. Several causes have contributed to the present position of things—first, the immense amount of Tea which has lately been placed before the dealers, particularly Common Congous, ranging in price from 7d. to 11d. per lb., which has been greatly in excess of requirements ; and, secondly, business in the country continues exceedingly dull from the effects of the recent strikes, and the bad harvest generally announced. The present cruel and unjust Russo-Turkish War also is not without its baneful reflex action upon all trading matters. Clearances from 1st January to 29th ult :—

SILK.

Messrs. John Kershaw, Kilburn and Co.'s Circular says :—During the last day or two there have been orders for Chinas and Japans in this market from Lyons, where the stocks of Silk appear to be very small, and although the prices offered do not generally tempt holders, still it is an important feature that Continental manufacturers have again to supply their wants here.

Messrs. Hogg, Walker and Co.'s Circular says :—During the earlier part of last month there was a decided reaction from the depression of August, and for some days an active business set in, and prices quickly recovered a large portion of the recent decline ; this however did not last long, and as business became again restricted, prices of some descriptions slightly gave way ; latterly a fresh demand has sprung up, and prices of nearly all descriptions show a hardening tendency. In China Silk the principal business has been in common to good Tsatlees, and as these classes are now in limited supply, holders decline to sell at anything under the full market price of the day. Cantons have not been in much request, and to effect sales a slight concession in price has had to be made. In Japan Silk some rather large speculative purchases have been made, but consumers have hitherto declined to operate beyond their immediate requirements, although prices as compared with other Silks appear cheap. Italian Silk, which was offered at very low prices a short time ago, is now held for higher rates. Deliveries of Silk from the warehouses are 2,727 bales, against 2,615 bales in August, and 5,923 bales in September, 1876.

Messrs. O'Donoghue and Co.'s New York Circular dated September 20th says :—The course of the market during the month under review has been varying and uncertain. In the first week of the interval a fairly active demand was noticed, then European advices coming to hand showing a weaker condition of those markets checked operations here for quantities, and buyers have since taken only sufficient to cover their daily wants, and that they have been justified in their course is proved by the almost daily weakening of prices in a market so very lightly stocked with available silk. Later reports of an improvement in the tone of the Eastern and European markets have had no perceptible effect on the disposition of consumers, and the outlook for any material change for the better, is at present very unpromising.

COFFEE.—The market has exhibited a dull tone throughout the week, and small supplies of Plantation Ceylon at auction, partly in second hands, have gone off slowly at easier rates ; Native Ceylon has sold steadily. Plantation has realised, triage 85s. to 86s., small 100s. to 101s., bold 112s. 6d. to 116s. 6d., pea-berry 113s. to 113s. 6d., low middling 103s. 6d. to 106s., middling to good middling 109s. to 112s., 305 bags ordinary Ouvah Native have been sold at 87s. 6d., to 88s. Of other East India 202 bags Java sold, low mixed at 79s. 6d. to 80s., ordinary at 85s. 6d. Of 223 bags Singapore offered 65 bags bold Campar sort sold at 80s. 6d., the rest bought in, unpicked Bally at 76s.

COTTON.—There has been more demand, and a larger business has been done at advanced rates. The sales for the week are about 11,000 bales. On the spot, Tinnivelly 5d. to 5⅝d., middling fair to good ; Western Madras 4½d. to 5 7-16d., middling fair to good ; Coconada 5¼d., good fair ; Salem 5d, middling ; Bengal 4¼d. to 5¼d., fair to good ; Machine Ginned Broach 6¼d., good ; Dhollera 5¼d., good fair. For arrival, Tinevelly 5⅝d. to 5¾d. May to August, good fair ; American 6¼d. to 6⅜d. October to December, middling (l m clause).

COCOANUT OIL.—The market has been steady but quiet. Cochin has ruled at 43s. 10s. to £44, Ceylon in pipes is quoted £39, and a few puncheons have been sold at £39 10s. per ton.

GAMBIER.—There has been less inquiry, and of 534 bags cubes offered only 100 bags damaged sold, good, rather dark, first-class at 26s. to 26s. 6d. per cwt. For arrival 200 ton slate June sailing has been sold at 20s. ex ship all faults, being cheaper.

GALLS.—About 150 cases China have been sold during the week at 54s. per cwt.

GUM BENJAMIN.—At the auctions 1 case rather ordinary block sold at £17. Of 90 cases Sumatra 10 cases fine sold at £14 7s. 6d. to £14 12s. 6d., and 7 cases dark seconds at £5 17s. 6d. to £6 10s., the remainder bought in at £6 5s. to £8 according to quality, almondy thirds at £5, and ordinary at 55s.

JAPAN WAX.—Of 84 cases offered 45 cases sold, good squares 48s., good fair saucers 47s. 6d., yellowish 47s., and 5 bags Carnauba yellow grey at 65s. 6d. per cwt.

MUSK.—Of 35 tins Tonquin offered 33 tins sold, pile 1, chiefly bally and skinny pods with a few rather hard 45s. to 46s. 6d., rather bally to fair shaped with some rather skinny and hard at 42s ; pile 2, hard, rough and skinny but genuine 31s. 6d.; pile 3, mixed bally partly rough skinny and doubtful 13s. to 13s. 6d., wet pickings 19s. 6d. Of 32 packages Yunan 14 caddies sold, dry rather hard, &c., at 31s. to 31s. 6d. One parcel trimmings sold at 1s. 4d. and 1 tin skins at 4s. Of 38 tins grain 3 tins fair to good sold at 55s. to 67s., and 1 bottle at 45s. per oz.

PEPPER.—Black : Small quantities at auction were chiefly disposed of at steady rates ; 456 bags Singapore sold, greyish at 3½d. to 3⅝d., fair at 3⅝d. ; 248 bags Penang sold at 3¼d. to 3⅜d., 100 bags Saigon bought in at 4d. White: Large supplies, amounting to 1,180 bags, at auction, met a steady demand, and a good part sold at previous rates. Of 1,108 bags Singapore 600 bags sold, old brownish at 6d., fair at 6¼d., good fair at 6½d. to 6¾d., good 6¾d., fine bold at 6⅞d. to 6⅞d.; 72 bags Penang bought in at 6d. to 6¼d. per lb.

PENANG CANES.—20,000 were bought in 2d.

RATTANS.—At auction 1,178 bundles (9 tons) damaged Singapore sold at £9 to £12 10s. per ton.

RHUBARB.—Of 126 cases China offered 110 cases sold, fair rather mixed 2s. to 2s. 2d., ordinary to pinky fracture with some rather dark 1s. to 1s. 6d., small roots pale and rather dark fracture 11d. to 1s., rather inferior 10d.

RICE.—There has been more inquiry for floating cargoes, and business has been done at steadier rates. Two cargoes have been sold, viz., the Vaeni, 1,400 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 6d. for Antwerp, and the Aquila, 1,106 tons Necransie, off coast, at 10s. 2¾d. for Antwerp.

SPICES.—A general improvement is observable. Cassia Lignea: In auction of 1,000 boxes unworked about 600 boxes sold at barely the previous value, chiefly at 45s. 6d., good at 47s. Cinnamon Chips: 40 bags bought in at 6d. Cloves: With a good demand for Zanzibar 149 bales at auction sold readily at a further advance of ¼d. per lb., middling at 1s. 1⅞d. to 1s. 1¾d., good at 1s. 2d. to 1s. 2⅛d. 31 cases Amboyna chiefly sold at 1s. 6d. 28 cases Penang chiefly sold at 2s. 0¼d. Nutmegs: Of 81 cases 14 boxes Penang only about 30 cases sold at 1d. advance for bold, but small were easier; average 76 nuts to the lb. sold at 3s. 11d., 79 and 78's at 3s. 10d., 82's at 3s. 9½d., 86's at 3s. 8d., 87's at 3s. 7½d., 112 to 115's at 2s. 4d., 154 to 146's at 1s. 6d. to 1s. 7d., 116 to 117's bought in at 2s. 6d.; 10 cases limed Java bought in at 1s. 2d. Mace has again met a good demand, and 18 cases Penang sold at firm rates, pickings at 11d., old and ordinary dark and red at 1s. 7d. to 1s. 11d., low middling to middling at 2s. 2d. to 2s. 6d. per lb.

SUGAR.—The market has exhibited a decidedly dull tone, and at the public sales there has been little demand except on lower terms, which holders have been unwilling to accept, and consequently nearly the whole of the supplies at the public sales have been bought in, while by private contract business has been almost entirely suspended. On the 28th ult. privately 6,000 bags clayed China were sold at 24s. 6d. On the 1st inst. for arrival 100 tons Native Penang, near at hand, were sold at 17s. 6d. per cwt. The proportion of each description of Raw Sugar delivered for home consumption and exported at the port of London for the first thirty-nine weeks of the year 1877 has been as follows:—

	Tons.		Tons.
British West India ...	78,882	Mauritius	5,496
Beetroot	40,726	Penang	4,481

SAGO.—The large supply of 3,102 bags offered by auction met a fair demand, and 2,100 bags sold, chiefly small pearl at steady rates, grey to fair small at 16s. to 16s. 9d., good bright at 17s. 6d., superior at 20s. 6d., good large at 21s. to 21s. 6d., medium bought in at 19s.

TAPIOCA.—Supplies continue to consist almost exclusively of Singapore, of which 1,296 bags were chiefly sold at previous rates, ordinary small and grey at 2¼d., middling to good at 2⅜d. to 2⅞d., fine at 2⅝d. Pearl: Of 310 bags about 220 bags sold, medium at 20s., being steady, bullets at 30s., or 1s. lower.

TIN.—Early in the week the market became firmer, and the quotation for Straits advanced to £67 per ton. Subsequently the value has again slightly receded, and business has been done at £66 to £66 10s. per ton. Banca is quoted £69 10s. to £70, Billiton £67 per ton.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

The increased activity in Liverpool has imparted additional strength to the tone of this market, but only a moderate amount of business has been done in both Yarns and Goods. Prices remain quotably unaltered, full rates are held for, and the tendency is decidedly against buyers.

GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

THE CLYDE SHIPBUILDING TRADE.—The month of September has been a remarkably quiet one in the Clyde shipbuilding trade so far as the launching of new vessels is concerned, the returns of completed work being considerably smaller than they have been for many years past. The trade is, however (says the Glasgow Herald) fairly well supplied with work, and the stocks are pretty well filled. In ordinary circumstances this would have been a highly satisfactory condition of matters, but owing to the long absence of the shipwrights work has proceeded exceedingly slowly, and the progress of vessels in course of construction has been very materially crippled. There were put into the water during the month, in the upper district—which includes Govan, Partick, Whiteinch, Dalmuir, Scotstown, Renfrew, and Dumbarton—10 vessels, representing an aggregate tonnage of 10,651 tons, or an average of 1,065 tons. This, so far as the upper district is concerned, is an increase of 3,598 tons on the aggregate and an increase of 60 tons on the average as compared with the preceding month. Of the vessels launched four were steamers and six sailing ships. In Renfrew there were no launches during the month, and trade is not in a particularly bright condition. In Dumbarton there were two launches during the month of large vessels, which help very materially to increase the returns. In the Greenock and Port-Glasgow district there were no vessels launched during the month. In the various yards there are twenty-four vessels on the stocks, none of which are very far advanced.

SHIPBUILDING ON THE TYNE.—Several orders for new steamers have come to the Tyne. The winter prospects in this trade are not bad. Messrs. Palmer and Co., Limited, have recently got some fresh orders; the Tyne Iron Shipbuilding Company, Willington Quay, have booked two orders to build vessels for local owners; and Messrs. Swan and Co. one within the month; and other business is about.

TEMPORARY STOPPAGE OF THE SUEZ CANAL.—The Messageries Maritimes homeward bound steamer Irrawaddy grounded at the mouth of the Suez Canal on the 30th ult., completely stopping all traffic. She discharged her cargo, and after great efforts had been made she was got afloat again on the 3rd inst., and the passage of the Canal was reopened, after a block of three days and nights.

LAUNCHES.

On the 24th ult. there was launched from the shipbuilding-yard of Mr. Robert Thomson, jun., Southwick, an iron screw-steamer, 300 feet long, breadth 35 feet, and depth of hold 25 feet. She has been built under special survey at Lloyd's for 100 A class. She is 2,000 tons register, will carry 3,000 tons of cargo, and is built on the three-deck principle, one being of iron. She was named the Altmore by Miss Ramsey, of Walbottle-hall, after which she was towed to the South Dock, where she will receive her engines of 200-horse power nominal, constructed by the North-Eastern Marine Engineering Company. This vessel has been built to the order of Messrs. Adam Brothers, of Aberdeen and Newcastle.

On the 22nd ult. Messrs. C. M. Palmer and Co., Jarrow, launched the screw steamer Nerissa, measuring 286 feet by 34½ feet by 24¼ feet. Gross tonnage 1,500 tons, classed 100 A1, three-deck class, at Lloyd's. She will be engined by direct-acting compound surface condensing engines of 140-horse power nominal. The Nerissa is built for Messrs. John Fenwick, of London, and is intended for the Mediterranean trade.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,600 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23; Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

PAINTS AND OILS PROPERLY PACKED FOR EXPORTATION.

CAUTION.—In April a native dealer at Hong Kong was prosecuted and convicted of a fraudulent imitation Hubbuck's name and mark by placing them on some spurious goods shipped from London.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

Sir SAMUEL BAKER,

In his work on the Sources of the Nile, says:—

"I ordered my dragoman Mahomet to inform the Faky that I was a doctor, and that I had the best medicines at the service of the sick, with advice gratis. In a short time I had many applicants, to whom I served out a quantity of Holloway's Pills. These are most useful to an explorer, as, possessing unmistakable purgative properties, they create an undeniable effect upon the patient, which satisfies him of their value."

This fine Medicine cures all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Bowels, is a Great PURIFIER of the BLOOD, and wonderfully efficacious in all ailments incidental to Females—young or aged.

"PUBLIC HEALTH."

"The requirements for a Brandy likely to be of any medical use are all present is that supplied by Messrs. Pellinson and Co."—Vide Public Health.

UNCOLOURED, UNSWEETENED, PURE OLD BRANDY.

BOTTLED AT COGNAC. FOR MEDICINAL AND DOMESTIC USES, AS ANALYSED.

 We call the attention of all readers to the following extracts from the Analysts' Reports and Opinions of the Press :—

"Laboratory, 39, Duke-street, Grosvenor-square, London, W., May 26, 1877.

"I have procured several capuled Bottles of MESSRS. PELLISSON AND CO.'S UNCOLOURED AND UNSWEETENED BRANDY from three of their Agents in the ordinary way of business, and without allowing it to be known that they were purchased for Analysis. The Analyses shows that they have attained a quite exceptional purity and quality in every essential. Such Brandy may therefore be used with the greatest confidence when stimulants of the best Cognac type are recommended.

"H. C. BARTLETT, Ph.D., F.C.S."

"Laboratory, Gresham House, 24, Holborn Viaduct, London, E.C."

"This Brandy is a pure grape spirit, remarkably rich in fragrant ethers; contains a large amount of tannin derived from storing in oak casks, which imparts to fine old Brandy one of its valuable medicinal properties, and will be of the greatest value to the physician in those numerous cases where pure French Brandy is the most useful of all medicines.

"EDMUND R. SOUTHBY, M.R.C.S., F.C.S."

The only two qualities shipped, "seven and ten years old," can be had in One Dozen Cases.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

PUBLIC HEALTH.—"Many persons ordered the use of Brandy medically are too careless as to the character of the article they procure, and the consequence is biliousness and injury to the stomach by the use of raw fiery spirit sweetened and coloured to deceive the eye and palate. The requirements for a Brandy likely to be of any medical use are all present in that supplied by Messrs. Pellisson and Co."

COURT CIRCULAR.—"The medicinal virtues of Brandy are now widely known, but to be efficacious as a medicine, or beneficial as a stimulant, it must be pure. A Brandy introduced to public notice by Messrs. Pellisson and Co., of Cognac, possessing all the essentials of good Brandy. A Brandy so highly recommended should be tried by all who are interested in obtaining so essential a commodity in a pure state."

The Uncoloured, Unsweetened, Pure Old Brandy, as described above (see Analysts' full Reports, and extended opinions of the Press), can be obtained of the following Wholesale Agents in India, &c. :—

Where all applications for sole Agencies abroad will be received for places where Agents are not already appointed.

More than twenty years ago, and before Pure Light Wines were so generally appreciated as they now are in this Country and the Colonies, E. J. BRAND and CO first exported their PURE, NATURAL "CROWN" WINES, which they have since continued to ship, in Cask and in Bottle, with such marked success, in contra distinction to the usual stronger and coarser qualities. Besides their specially selected "Crown" Wines, protected by their Registered Trade Mark, they supply as well every other description of Wines, Spirits, and Liqueurs, either direct from the places of growth, or from their Bonded Stocks, at the lowest market rates consistent with genuineness, age, and quality.

EXPORT ORDERS are shipped as may be required, either f.o.b. at the ports of growth, or from London or other ports, prepared expressly to suit the different foreign markets where E. J. BRAND & Co.'s shipments are well known and meet with the highest approval. Their Bonded Stock consists of first-class Wines, &c., the higher qualities being of great age and character, are specially recommended to those who supply Connoisseurs.

CAUTION.

WHEREAS Persons are shipping Wines to India marked with the Crown, in imitation of CHILLINGWORTH and SON'S WINES, which are branded with a Crown, they having the appointment of WINE MERCHANTS to HER MAJESTY QUEEN VICTORIA; it is deemed expedient for the protection of dealers and consumers of their superior Wines selected from their extensive and valuable stock expressly for the Indian market, which have been so well known and approved by Connoisseurs for the last thirty years for their extreme quality and purity, combining flavour and softness, together with great age, body, delicacy, and bouquet, being more free from acidity, or alcohol than any other Wines—to Caution all Purchasers to ask for

CHILLINGWORTH & SON'S

CROWN SHERRIES & OTHER WINES.

And to be particular in observing that the Cases and Cask-heads are branded with their names at full length; also, on the side of the Corks, inside the bottles, as well as the Crown; and also on the Seals; in accordance with the heading of this notice, as a necessary precaution to ascertain that they are really CHILLINGWORTH and SON'S CROWN WINES; more especially there being a firm recently established under a title very similar to that of W. CHILLINGWORTH and SON, and who are in no way connected with the original firm of W. CHILLINGWORTH and SON, WINE MERCHANTS to HER MAJESTY, whose Crown Wines are so celebrated in India, China, and other parts of the World; this is necessary to protect the public from purchasing Wines that are in no way to be compared with those of W. CHILLINGWORTH and SON; therefore, to prevent mistakes, purchasers are requested to address in full—W. TANJONG PAGAR DOCK COMPANY

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

CHINA.

PEKING.

An important notification has been issued by Mr. Hugh Fraser, H.M. Chargé d'Affaires, by which five of the places of call on the Yangtsze, stipulated for in the Chefoo Convention, are formally declared open. These are Tatung and Nganking, in the province of Anhwei; Wusueh, Luchikow, and Shasi, in Hukwang. The opening of Hukow at the mouth of the Poyang Lake, in Kiangsi, is deferred for the present, on the ground that it requires special regulations.

The conditions which the Chefoo Agreement provides for trade at these places are the following:—

Steamers shall be allowed to touch for the purpose of landing or shipping passengers or goods; but in all instances by means of native boats only, and subject to the regulations in force affecting native trade.

Produce accompanied by a half-duty certificate may be shipped at such points by the steamers, but may not be landed by them for sale. Imports accompanied by a transit duty certificate, and exports similarly certificated, will be severally passed free of the native duties on exhibition of such certificates. Imports or exports not protected by transit certificates will be liable to the duties in force for native trade.

TIENTSIN.

Fears were still entertained regarding the crops. The Daily News correspondent writes on the 17th August:—

We are, however, not yet in possession of sufficient data to speak with certainty in regard to the present or the prospective condition of the crops, and the probable necessities of the people over any considerable extent of territory; but so far as we have any information, it affords anything but a pleasant outlook. In all this region, the millet, large and small, is not likely to yield over, if up to half a crop. Up to within six weeks ago, there had been no rain in the region of Tai-yuen-fu, Shansi, and no millet or maize could be planted. Since then there may have been abundant rain, but I have no information. I have heard that the Tsung-li Yamên has become alarmed at the prospect, and that measures for relief are in progress. But I know of no facts bearing on this rumour.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 26th August; no later mail from London had been received.

Some sharp and rather acrimonious correspondence—not, however, altogether inexcusable under the circumstances—appeared in the local papers on its becoming known definitely that the Woosung Railway was to be closed. The step appears to be a subject of regret among many upon almost personal grounds, as the convenience of the railway was appreciated by foreigners and natives alike, and its being now closed is felt not only as a piece of needless retrogression, but as an immediate and practical annovance.

An important memorial with reference to the opium question from H.E. Kuo, the first Chinese Envoy here, has appeared in the Peking Gazette, and is translated in the North China Daily News. It was written in April last, and makes suggestions for the "gradual suppression of opium smoking" One of the most noteworthy features is the conspicuous absence of those arguments connected with the physiological results of opium-smoking, which are the ground work for the denuncia tions indulged in by the philanthropists at home. The question is treated almost exclusively from the point of view of the agricultural theory of the Chinese Government, and as a question of expenditure. The admitted fact that opium was prohibited in China prior to A.B. 1735—i.e. about half a century before the first importations worth speak ing of arrived from India, is also valuable as showing that the cultivation and use of opium date a long way back in China. Speaking of the cultivation of the poppy in Sze-Chuen and Yunnan, Kuo states that "the authorities at the provincial capital, in the departments, and in the subordinate districts, have introduced additional levies of an illegal character, and collect an unauthorised duty upon the opium produced, whereby a revenue is obtained, itself larger by several times than the amount established by law for the regular taxation. Both officials and people having in this wise a source of profit open to them, the practice has spread far and wide this long time past, in every direction." The scheme suggested by Kuo contemplates the suppression of opium smoking within twenty years; and a decree based upon the memorial was issued to the Provincial Governments, but not published, on or about the 1st June, directing the Governors-General and Governors to "see what can be done" in the matter. From the tone of the decree, it is not thought very probable that much is expected of the provinces.

A judgment of importance as bearing upon the laws of principal and agent in China has been delivered at the Mixed Court, in the case of Gilman and Co. v. Ting Ping-chai. The defendant had tried to repudiate his interest in a consignment of silk which resulted in a heavy loss, alleging that it was sold to, and not consigned on his account through, the plaintiffs. The Magistrate upholds the claim of the plaintiffs, and condemns the untruthfulness and prevarication of the defendant, in unhesitating terms. Both he and his assessor, however, remark that strong confirmation of the claim would have been furnished, and much time and trouble saved, if the defendant's signature had been required, attesting the consignment. The neglect is blamed, and the adoption of so essentially desirable a precaution in future in the Shanghai trade recommended.

The cool weather has set in, accompanied by heavy rains, which appear to have had the effect of destroying the locusts which had made their appearance in the neighbourhood. The rains are described as having been heavier than within the recollection of some of the oldest residents in the Settlement. Some fears were entertained that they might injure the cotton and rice crops.

We take the following items from the North China Herald:—

We hear the China Navigation Company's steamer Tunsin is to join the Soochow on the Ningpo line. This hardly looks like the reported agreement between the two companies.

The Taoutai's organ, the Sinpao, makes a great grievance of the ill-treatment received by Chinese gold diggers in Australia. The writer seems to be ignorant of the fact that they are not privileged by any treaty to go to Australia at all; and that even if they were, the residents there have as good a right to prevent their digging for gold as the Chinese authorities have to prevent foreigners from opening mines in China. The Sinpao also boasts of the performance of some runners (or coolies) attached to the Chinese Legation, who went to Epsom and were received by Royalty, dukes and duchesses, on a footing of perfect equality! As a matter of fact, without any treaty, the Chinese are allowed to open mines and obtain land in Australia; while on the other side, foreigners, notwithstanding their treaties, are not even allowed to purchase land to make roads in China. The assertion as to the exaltation of Chinese runners, and self-abasement of English royalty, is of course too absurd for serious contradiction; though the endeavour to show how small these barbarian Princes are, by the light of their condescension to Chinese coolies, is genuinely Mandarin. But even without this the difference in the position of the two Legations is sufficiently annoying.

Mr. G. F. Seward, American minister, has arrived from Tientsin.

The prolonged dulness of the Silk market has forced upon the Municipal Council the reflection that their revenue may very possibly suffer from the smallness of the export; and a judicious curtailment of outlay is proposed, until the way is clearer. A tender for cleaning out the Yang-king-pang has been accepted, and work will be begun as soon as the Health Officer allows.

NINGPO.

The North China Herald correspondent writes:—

The only news here is of an accident to the yacht Heron, which the lowdah succeeded in some incomprehensible way in running on Dumb Island, about four miles outside Chinhai. The Heron had been very kindly lent by Colonel Cooke to take a party of ladies and children to Pootoo, whose trip was rather summarily stopped by the misadventure. The yacht was at once beached; and the passengers landed and passed some four or five hours on the rocks before they were taken off in a passing pilot boat The fishing boats were willing to take them, but were also anxious to squeeze, when the chance arrival of the pilot boat put an end to the difficulty. They all got back safely to Ningpo.

FOOCHOW.

The Foochow Herald has the following:—

We hear that something like a general fast, humiliation, and prayer has been ordered by the native authorities, to commence to-day, and to continue for three days, during which period the people are supposed to adhere to a strict vegetarian diet.

The steamship Fu Yew, belonging to the C. M. S. N. Company, arrived on the 22nd ult., with a cargo of rice from Chinkiang. She was brought in by Captain Wilson (chief officer of the Han wang) her regular commander—Captain Croad—having we regret to learn, sustained rather serious injury during the late gale.

We hear of an unusual amount of sickness in the city and suburbs; but there is no foundation, we are glad to add, for the report that Asiatic cholera has appeared. The prevailing malady is common to the season, and is mainly induced, we believe, by a too free indulgence in unripe fruit, putrid fish, and other delicacies to which the native populace are notoriously partial.

The exact height of the Kushan Monastery has long been a moot point. We have heard it variously stated at anything between 1,000 and 2,000 feet. A friend, thoroughly competent to arrive at the measurement to a nicety, has furnished us with the following table which may be of interest to our readers. From the base of the mountain to the first rest house 340 feet; second rest house 525 feet; third rest house 800 feet; fourth rest house 1,190 feet; fifth rest house 1,425 feet; monastery 1,662 feet. The height of the Peak was not taken by our informant, but it is, we believe, about 2,500 feet.

The semi-religious fête at the Canton Temple commenced on the 29th ult. As compared with former displays the decorations and trophies show a great falling off, and we notice scarcely any of the bronzes, porcelain, and curios that attracted so much attention last year. We believe that the authorities have, in view of the prevailing distress, forbidden any extravagant outlay in connection with this and similar celebrations; but if such were not the case we could quite comprehend the reluctance of the Canton Guild to make an unnecessary flourish of its wealth. It would be highly imprudent to cut a figure in these days of forced contributions.

FORMOSA.

The Peking Gazette of the 3rd August contains an amusing memorial from the Governor of Fohkien, regarding his recent trip to Formosa. Ting is penetrated with admiration for an officer named Wu Tsan-cheng, who did not get sea-sick when he himself did, but was able to continue walking happily about the deck of the steamer; and declares that "in vigour both of mind and body he (Wu) excels the memorialist in a tenfold degree." But this is only one of Wu's achievements. Hardly had he arrived in Formosa, when he boldly proceeded to a place "which has hitherto been untrodden by the foot of man since the creation of the world"—which means presumably that no Chinese official has yet had the pluck to visit that portion of aboriginal territory. In contrast to Wu's merits, we have the misdeed of a brigade-general, who has failed to weed out the inefficient men from his contingent. It is not very difficult to conceive what is the state of the case here. The General has been going on the Chinese principle of keeping ten soldiers when he was paid for 100, and filling up the ranks with coolies when called out for inspection. Ting denounces the ninety as incompetent. The General has contented himself with reporting that he has dismissed twenty-five. Whereupon Ting gives a strong hint that he means to have a much larger proportion of the force kept up to an efficient standard.

HONG KONG.

Dates by this mail extend to the 1st September; the P. and O. mail from London, July 20, arrived out on the 25th August.

Piracies appear again likely to become a trouble to the Colony. A report had gained currency that one on a considerable scale had been committed within a short distance of the island. The amount of specie said to have been captured was set down at between $25,000 and $30,000. The police had been informed of the matter, and were making energetic inquiries. The notorious Chun Afook, recently discharged at the Supreme Court on a charge of returning from deportation, has made another public appearance. He was brought up at the police-court on a charge of larceny, and committed for trial. The circumstance is taken hold of by the Daily Press which alludes to the trouble likely to arise from the too humanitarian principles of H.E. the Governor. That paper says :—

The abolition of flogging is sure to give encouragement to criminals, and will inevitably lead to the increase of crime. The report that the new Governor of Hong Kong is a "merciful man" has already spread far and wide in Kwangtung, and the idle, the worthless, and the desperate characters of that misgoverned province will flock here in shoals to carry on their predatory operations, knowing that at the worst only incarceration in gaol and hard labour will overtake them, softened by the hope that the "merciful man" will take care that they endure no severe punishments, and are well fed. The infatuation of Mr. Hennessy —for we can call his strange leniency towards undeserving scoundrels by no other term—is simply marvellous. We understand that on the discharge of Wong Afook, the criminal recently charged with returning from deportation, his Excellency gave instructions that employment should be offered to this man as a coolie in the police station. Wong Afook disdainfully refused the opportunity to earn an honest livelihood; he preferred to continue his Ishmaelitish career, and lost no time in renewing his designs upon other people's goods. It is to be regretted that his Excellency should have tried such an experiment on so notorious a reprobate. The motive that prompted the act was very good, no doubt; but the act itself was most injudicious, especially on the part of the head of the Government. It would appear to the natives very like offering a premium to crime.

The new system which Mr. Hennessy desired to introduce into the gaol, that, namely, of appointing Chinese instead of European turnkeys, seems likely to be little more successful than his treatment of deported criminals. It has been found that the old hands among the Chinese police who had been recommended to become turnkeys, in spite of the large increase in their pay, generally refused to stay. It was said that the prisoners they had been the means of convicting have threatened their lives, and hence their unwillingness to remain as turnkeys.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders and subscribers to the City Hall, the Chairman said it was a matter of considerable anxiety how they could meet the expenditure of the year they had entered upon. He added that Dr. Denny's having gone to Singapore they had every expectation, through his connection with the museum there, and his general interest in the museum in Hong Kong, of getting specimens that would make the museum much more interesting. In connection with the museum, he also mentioned the loss which had been sustained by the death of Mr. Martin, of Shanghai, as he took a great interest in the museum, and was always most redy to assist it.

It is notified in the Gazette that during the absence of the Postmaster-General on his tour of inspection in China and Japan Mr. S. Barff, Assistant Postmaster-General, will be in charge of the General Post-office in this colony. Mr. J. S. Rodrigues, first clerk in the Stamp Office, is appointed Acting Collector of Stamp Revenue.

It is with regret we hear of an accident to the Eastern and Australian Mail Company's steamer Normanby, due here on the 29th August. From the telegrams received by Messrs. Gibb, Livingston and Co., the agents here, it appears the Normanby struck on some unknown shoal or rock in the vicinity of Port Bowen. She was beached on No. 2 Island of the Percy Group, some fifty miles north of the place where the accident occurred. The agents here have received no intelligence of any transfer of mails having been made.

During the late outbreak of cholera on board the Chinese customs cruiser Fei Hoo, one of the crew was, we understand (says the Foochow Herald), saved, while in a dying state, by the novel experiment of placing him between the heated boilers of that vessel. This extemporised Turkish bath completely cured the patient.

The following has been forwarded to us by the Harbour-Master :—Captain de Souza, of the Portuguese barque Alva, reports that on the 29th ultimo, when between Pedra Branca and the Pratas Shoal, he met part of a ship having the deck burnt and the stem and stern gone. The vessel appeared to be built of wood with iron framing.

A correspondent writes :—

You will see from the papers by the present mail that H.E. the Governor is still pursuing his novel course as to the government of the Chinese—with results as successful as anyone acquainted with the nature of native society here could easily have foreseen—in other words, with signal failure in all directions. He is, however, not very easily discouraged, and seems as much bent as ever upon doing something which shall show his great superiority to the bulk of people who think that the Chinese are not to be managed by being made pets of—especially when they have committed offences. The Home Government ought to set its face against Governors who wish to make a great coup in Hong Kong. The place is too small to do any thing wonderful, and we want governors who will not be above following to some extent in the wake of their predecessors, and taking the advice of experienced people on the spot—neither of which Mr. Hennessy seems disposed to do. I hear, indeed, that he intends publishing a large number of details sent in with the reports which appeared in the Government Gazette during Sir Arthur Kennedy's time, but which were not made public then—probably (or at least presumably) for sufficient reason. Such a step is surely altogether unprecedented, and argues very badly for Mr. Pope Hennessy's powers of administration—if, indeed, any new argument is required after the display he has made in other colonies. Hong Kong is the last place to which a man with his antecedents should have been sent.

CANTON.

CANTON, AUGUST 31, 1877.

You will doubtless remember that in two or three of my former communications I informed you of the sad distress which the inhabitants of certain districts of this province had been called upon to experience in consequence of the unprecedented over-flowings of the Canton river. I called your attention at the same time to the very praiseworthy attempts which were made on the part of the Viceroy and the local gentry to alleviate, as much as possible, these sufferings. Now it is my agreeable duty to state that, during the last few days, the Viceroy has received Imperial commands from Peking to the effect that rice coming to Canton from the various rice-producing districts of the empire shall be admitted into the port in question free of all imposts. His Excellency has been further instructed by his Imperial Majesty to open the Government granaries of the city and to retail, at a very cheap price to the almost famished people, the many measures of rice which they contain. The gentry, too, of the suffering districts have received Royal commands through the Viceroy to superintend the distribution of food in their respective localities in order that all who are in need may be supplied with the common necessaries of life according to their actual wants and requirements.

Nor have the local rice merchants and provision dealers been overlooked by the Emperor. On the contrary, they have been very urgently bidden by him not on any account to charge "famine prices" for the articles of diet which they have for sale. Let us hope that this exercise of parental care and authority on the part of the Sovereign of this great Empire may be attended with the most satisfactory results. On the 21st inst. this city was visited by a whirlwind which, though of short duration, effected much destruction. It occurred at noon, and was attended with a sound which was in itself startling. The river, which, ere the whirlwind came, was as smooth as a duck pond, was suddenly lashed into a fury, and, consequently, several boats were upset and inmates drowned. In the western and southern suburbs, too, some houses were rased to the ground by this madly rushing wind. Surely it is almost needless to observe that the casualties resulting from the fall of these houses were, in some instances, very serious. During the past three weeks the Cantonese, and indeed Chinese in general, have been much occupied in celebrating with all due solemnity the annual festival of All Souls. It consists in offering each night paper clothes, paper money, and lighted tapers to the names of all persons who during the past year have died

Unwept, unhonoured, and unsung.

Between the hours of seven and eight each evening of this festival the streets of the city were actually in a blaze, owing to the heaps—pyramids I ought to say—of paper clothes and paper ingots which were prepared and set on fire by various citizens with the view of appeasing, as I have already intimated, the manes of hungry and restless ghosts, or, in other words, the souls or beggars and destitute persons who had died in the streets. It is by the action of fire that the articles in question are supposed to be conveyed to the wretched and forlorn spirits for whom they are intended. Thousands of tapers, too, were burned on the occasion; and as they were arranged in order, on the sides of the streets, like so many "foot-lamps," they contributed much to the brilliancy of the scene. Nor was the celebration of this great annual festival confined to the streets. On the contrary, the river on which the city stands became a centre of attraction, inasmuch as its waters were navigated nightly, throughout the fête, by several large boats, elaborately carved and gilded, and illuminated on the occasion by hundreds of lanterns. From these barges offerings similar to those which we have already described (were having been first of all set on fire) cast into the river for the special service of the souls of all persons who during the past twelve months have perished by drowning. In each of these boats were assembled priests of the sect of Tau, clad in richly embroidered vestments, whose duty it was to chant, to the sound of cymbals and flutes, masses for the repose of the souls of these departed ones. As the season for cricket-fighting has now commenced, all Chinese who find pleasure in the pursuit of such a singular pastime can scarcely give their attention to any other subject. On Saturday last I visited a cricket-pit, which is situated in the northern suburb of the city, and found it thronged by Tartars, Chinese, and Ki-Ha or Bannermen. They had many crickets, which they were matching one against the other, for both small and large stakes. It is astonishing with what ferocity these insects fight, withdrawing, as is not unfrequently the case, from the contest with the loss either of their wings or legs. During our short stay at this place of amusement several dollars exchanged hands. All English and American travellers who visit this city are invariably impressed, and very justly so, with the idea that the Chinese are a peace-loving and a law-abiding people. No policemen are to be seen in the streets, and the crowds of citizens who throng these thoroughfares from morning until evening are most orderly in their conduct. Notwithstanding, however, these indisputable facts, quarrels do sometimes arise, which lead to very unsatisfactory results. Thus, on Saturday last, shortly after meridian, seven men, carvers-in-ivory by trade, entered a large tea saloon, which is situated in the Luung-chuang-kiu-street, and called for refreshments. They were served with "creature comforts" in accordance with their commands. On the bill being presented for payment, finding that they were charged for a tea-cup which one of them had broken, they not only refused to pay for that article, but also for the repast of which they had just partaken. The result was that a fight took place between the waiters of the establishment and these unprincipled guests, which ended in favour of the former. These scoundrels, however, on retiring to their homes assembled not less than forty persons, who were their fellow craftsmen, and repaired with them to the scene of their recent disaster. On reaching the tea-saloon they made a fierce attack upon its inmates, and, being armed, seriously wounded three of them. As you may easily imagine, the whole neighbourhood was suddenly seized with terror; shops were quickly closed, and streets were barricaded. Nor was confidence restored until these peace-breakers had been dispersed by sixty soldiers, who arrived at a most opportune moment. Several of these aggressors have been arrested, and are now undergoing a very searching examination before one of the leading tribunals of the city. On the same day another quarrel occurred, which for the space of two hours greatly disturbed the peace and good order of one of the principal quarters of the city. An apprentice, who had been sent by his master to a bookseller's shop in the street called Sheung-moon-taai to buy a book, tendered in payment of his purchase a counterfeit dollar. The shopkeeper and his assistants on detecting this attempt on the part of the youth to pass base coin seized him, tarred his face, and then cast him into the streets as an object of scorn. On returning home he explained the cause of his blackened face, whereupon his master, in a moment of great anger, resolved to be avenged. Accordingly, having enlisted into his service three powerful men, he hastened to the bookseller's shop, and there caused a disturbance, which was only quelled by the timely interposition of a company of soldiers. As a vast number of "roughs" had congregated, and as they openly manifested a strong sympathy with the master of the youth who had endeavoured to pass the bad dollar, all the neighbouring shop-keepers, fearing lest an attack should be made upon their respective establishments, wisely closed them until order had been restored. Let me now close my remarks on this subject by stating that it is a very old custom on the part of Chinese, to tar or blacken the faces of all persons when caught in the very act of circulating base coin. King-qua, the last of the old Hong merchants, died here a few days ago, at the age of eighty-eight years.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

MANILA.

The following items are from the Straits Times:—

During the fortnight several rice laden vessels arrived at Manila. White rice was quoted at $4 per cavan; rice from Ilocos, $3 per cavan and current Pangasinan $2.7 to 2.6 per ditto.

The Comercio states that the province of Albay was then passing through a crisis such as had been unknown for several years. Owing to a continuous drought during the last two years almost all the hemp plants have perished there, traders who formerly collected 1,500 piculs weekly obtaining now with difficulty 100 piculs. This, together with the low price of that article and there being no other produce in the province for meeting the wants of the natives, is the principal cause of the backward condition of the towns there. Nothing definite has been published as to the official trial of 150 tons of coals from the Sugud mines in that province.

Of 10,000 quintals of leaf tobacco offered for sale by auction at Manila only 1,000 quintals were sold, which were bought by Messrs. Inchausti and Co. of that city at the reserved price, $68 per quintal. Of 15,718 mils of cigars 7,275 mils were sold for $95,420.90, 1,000 mils Nuevo Cortado obtaining the highest premiums—$2.20 to 2.60 per mil.

During the first fifteen days of August 523 dollars in gold and 1,523 dollars in silver Spanish coin were imported into the Philippines. During the same period there were exported from there $270,000 in bar gold, $1,240 in unwrought gold, and $3,400 in gold dust.

SIAM.

—o—

BANGKOK.

Subjoined is a translation of the Notification which has been issued by the Siamese Government prohibiting the export of rice from the 24th September last until the 13th September, 1878:—

THE MINISTER FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS TO THE FOREIGN CONSULS IN SIAM.

By command of his Majesty, and in concert with the Senabodi, I have the honour to inform you that this year, owing to a great scarcity of rains throughout the entire kingdom of Siam, the people have not been able as yet to cultivate their fields. In some of the lowland districts the cultivators have only succeeded in some instances in obtaining one share, and in some two shares out of ten, and others who have not been favoured by any rain have not been successful at all. Even the cultivators who have succeeded with one or two shares out of ten do not know yet whether there will be rain enough to bring the young plants to maturity. In the meantime, prices for paddy as well as rice have risen daily, and his Majesty, together with the Senabodi, anticipate serious difficulties should the rice in the country not prove sufficient for them, being almost the sole article of sustenance for all the people. The present high-ruling rice prices are likely to induce many holders of paddy to avail themselves of such advantages and to sell their stocks; and the inhabitants of the Kingdom and many of the poor may suffer for want of food, thus causing great anxiety to the Government. In consideration of such circumstances, I have received instructions to notify all the representatives of the Foreign Powers and to request them to issue, in accordance with the article 22nd of the Treaty, a notification to all persons under their jurisdiction, forbidding them the exportation of rice on and after the 2nd day of the 10th Waning Moon year of the Cow (24th September, 1877), till the 2nd day of the 10th Waning Moon year of the Tiger (13th September, 1878). However, should the weather hereafter prove in every respect favourable for the cultivation of the fields, a further proclamation will be issued to the effect that the exportation of rice can take place as before. Will you kindly send me a specification of the amount of rice in the hands of all merchants and traders under your jurisdiction, on the day before this proclamation comes into force, i.e., within thirty days from this date; thus enabling the authorities to know the exact stock of rice on hand that day. This stock they will be allowed to export at any time, but not more than is mentioned in the specification rendered.

You will be good enough to inform all people under your jurisdiction of the contents of this my despatch.

We note with regret the death in Bangkok, on the 24th Aug., of an old Singapore resident, Mr. Samuel Bateman, H.S.M.'s Commissioner of Customs. The Siam Advertiser describes the funeral as follows:—On the 25th (August) at four P.M. a large company, including almost the entire European and American community, his Grace the ex-Regent, H.E. the Minister of Foreign Affairs, H.E. the P'ra Nai Waiyawat, and other prominent members of this distinguished family, followed to their last resting place the remains of S. Bateman, Esq., Commander of H.S.M.'s Customs.

The flags of the ships in harbour, the flag of the American Consulate, and of the Harbour Master were half-masted all day. The boat containing the remains was towed by a small steamer, and a long line of boats made a solemn and imposing procession. As the procession passed H.B.M.'s Consulate General, the flag of the Consulate was half-masted.

Mr. Knox, H.B.M.'s Consul General, and Mr. Newman, Mr. Gould, Mr. French, and the other Consular officers, were at the cemetery awaiting the arrival of the remains. The Rev. William Dean, D.D., of the American Baptist Chinese Mission, officiated. The funeral service was appropriate and impressive. When the body was deposited in the grave, beautiful flowers from numerous large trays were thrown upon the coffin. These were demonstrations of the esteem of numerous appreciative survivors, who wished to show they had lost a friend.

Mr. Bateman has been a resident of Bangkok since 1862. He first came here as Deputy Commissioner of Police. Not long after he became Private Secretary to H.E. the then Prime Minister, now his Grace the ex-Regent. Subsequently there was superadded to this position, the honour of being Chief Commissioner of H.S.M.'s Customs. Both these positions the late and much lamented Mr. Bateman held till the day of his decease.

In regard to the rice export the same paper says:—

Rumours had been in circulation that the Siamese Government contemplated prohibiting for a season, at least, the further exportation of rice, but we were not disposed to place any faith in these rumours. In this it seems we have been too sanguine. On the 23rd we saw the notification of H.E. the Foreign Minister, for the information of the community in Bangkok.

We have met people from Nakaun Nayok, who say that the growing grain in that province bids fair to yield a good crop.

Digitized by Google

Advices from Supan are equally favourable. Advices from Ayuthia are unfavourable. The Ayuthia grain, however, is of an inferior quality to the Na-mu'ang grain. Advices from Petchaburee are unfavourable. The grain from this region is Na-suan.

Those with whom we have conversed say that there is more than rice enough in the country for home consumption. Fears of destitution are groundless. The effect of the prohibition, if executed, will only be a great good to the poorer classes of the country. The price of rice will recede, and the poor may hope to be able to purchase paddy from 8 to 16 ticals per coyan. If this is to be the result, the temporary prohibition will be a great boon. The Government, for the time, will be losers of a certain amount of revenue, that which results from the export of rice 4 ticals per coyan, and from the export of paddy 2 ticals per coyan.

The 21st of next month will be the anniversary of the birthday of H.M. the present King of Siam. H.M. was born Oct. 21st, 1853. Preparations are being made for the celebration of the day by the natives and the foreigners residing in Siam. This year is the 1,239th of the Siamese civil era, and has had an intercalary month, that is, there were two 8th Lunations of thirty days each. The annual fireworks and the temple visitation therefore will occur thirty days later than in the non-intercalary years. The annual fireworks this year will occur for the first time on the evenings of the 22nd, 23rd and 24th of October. The second time the 20th, 21st, and 22nd of November. Between the 24th of October and the 20th of November, H.M. will visit the temples under the Royal patronage, and the common people will visit their favourite temples and make presents of clothing and other useful articles to the priests in whom they are specially interested.

The semi-annual oath of allegiance will be administered to the Government employés on the 15th of October this year.

Those in Siamese Government employ will welcome its administration, as salaried servants are usually paid off soon after this solemn oath has been administered. This oath is administered twice a year, the second time it is administered a little before the true Siamese New Year or Songkrant, and occurs usually in the month of March, the 3rd of the Waxing of the 5th Siamese lunation.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

The present French mail brings advices from this port to the 8th September; no later mail from London had been received. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times:—

The community will be glad to learn that Mr. W. Adamson has consented to occupy the seat in the Legislative Council vacant through the absence on leave of the Hon. W. H. Read.

The following is the report of revenue and expenditure of Perak during the first half of the present year.

Residency, Kwala Kwangsa, 13th Aug., 1877.

SIR,—I have the honour to forward a Return of the Revenue and Expenditure of the State of Perak taken from the books of the Treasury at Kota for the six months ending 30th June, 1877.

One column of the return shows the expenditure appropriated for the six months in the Estimates prepared by Mr. Maxwell for 1877.

The Revenue collected in the Perak river, according to the Estimates, ought to have amounted to $42,850; the amount received was $32,525, showing a deficiency of $10,325.

The revenue of Larut was estimated for the six months at $94,785; the amount collected under the estimated heads of account was $96,567, showing an excess of $1,772.

The sum of $8,287, was received from the Kurau and Krian, and Salama districts. This is principally made up of the farmers' monthly payments,—the small sum of $561 only has been received from Krian and Salama during the period.

A loan of 5,000, was received from the Straits Government, and an advance was also made of 5,000 worth of copper coin.

A sum of $11,700, which I found in Mr. Marples's hands as Sikh deposits, has also been paid into the public account. This, with some small irregular items, makes the total amount of receipts for the whole State during the first six months of 1877, $163,205.

The total expenditure for the same period reached the sum of $155,869.

The expenditure for the period, as estimated by Mr. Maxwell, wa $143,743, so that the sum of $12,126 in excess of his calculations w s spent.

I have enclosed some explanatory remarks on the items of expenditure which are in excess of the estimates.

The chief liabilities incurred and unpaid during the six months, and which were at the close of the period a charge against the balances were the loans of silver and copper money from the Straits Government and the Sikh deposits above referred to.—I have, &c., HUGH Low, Resident.

The meeting of the Tanjong Pagar Dock Company has been held, Mr. Adamson in the chair.

The Chairman stated that, owing to unavoidable circumstances, the director's report and balance-sheet had been only distributed six days before the meeting, and that it was competent for any shareholder to ask for a postponement; but no objection being raised, he in a few words referred to the late disastrous fire and to the course adopted by the board to re-build the premises, and took that opportunity to thank all those who had rendered assistance to the company during that trying time.:

The Chairman proposed, seconded by Hon. J. R. MacArthur —"That the directors' report and balance sheet be taken as read and adopted."—Carried unanimously.

The Chairman proposed, seconded by I. Henderson Esq. :— "That an interim dividend of 5 per cent. for the half-year be declared."—Carried unanimously.

The Chairman proposed, seconded by J. Brussel, Esq.:—"That a vote of thanks be recorded to the manager, assistant manager, and the employés of the company for their services generally, and for their exertions during and subsequent to the late fire, as also to Mr. E. Jackson, the engineer for the new dock."—Carried unanimously.

Proposed by Dr. Little, seconded by T. C. Bogaardt, Esq. :— "That the employés of the company should receive a substantial acknowledgment of their extra service during the fire and subsequently, and that the amount to be given and the persons to receive the same should be left to the discretion of the directors."—Carried unanimously.

Proposed by E. J. Wells, Esq., seconded by M. Little, Esq. :— "That the thanks of the shareholders be accorded to the chairman and the directors for their valuable services rendered to the company, and specially for the services rendered in connection with the fire." -Carried unanimously.

There being no other business to be transacted, the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

The following notifications are from the Gazette:—

An order of the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council giving effect to the Straits "Extradition Ordinance," No. 4 of 1877, is published.

Mr. E. Karl, Protector of Chinese, Penang, is appointed J.P. for Penang.

Mr. Edward H. Bell, Chief Inspector of Police, S.S., acts as Registering Officer, Penang, C.D.O., vice Capt. Walshe, resigned from 1st September.

Captain F. C. Annesley, Assistant Superintendent of Police, Province Wellesley, acts as Registering Officer C.D.O. in the Province.

Mr. Edward H. Bell, Chief Inspector of Police, S.S., acts as Assistant Superintendent in Penang, vice Mr. A. P. Talbot.

On the 31st August Mr. Hermens, Acting Consul-General for the Netherlands, notified Government that the blockade of Pulo Way, Atchin, was raised on the 4th August.

The note circulation of the Banks in August was as follows:—

Oriental Bank	$219,145
Chartered Bank	698,175
Mercantile Bank	492,915
Ditto Penang	385,940

The Acting Auditor-General gives the balances due to the Colony from various Native States on the 30th June last as follows, five per cent. interest being charged:—

Perak	$226,303	71
Ditto Inquiry	32,560	45

Market Reports.

(For dates see first page.)

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HIOGO-OSAKA.—The Chamber of Commerce Circular says:—Business has fallen off considerably during the past month, settlements amounting to less than one-third of the quantity purchased during the previous one, and making an aggregate of about 41,000 piculs for the season to date, against 33,200 piculs last year at the same time. Purchases have largely consisted of Bancha, at from $6 to 8, while some attention has also been paid to finest and choice kinds, the intermediate grades being comparatively neglected. Holders appear unwilling to make sufficient concessions to induce any transactions of importance. Stocks have increased and are estimated at 6,000 to 7,000 piculs. The export of leaf from this district made up after the style of Congou is to be noticed. The enterprise is a private one, and under Government licence.

HANKOW.—There had been but a very moderate business done during the week, amounting to about 4,500 chests, at comparatively high prices; about 1,500 chests being upon Russian account. The market had been very firm, and it had been very difficult to buy, inferior Oanfas bringing up to Tls. 17¾, the same price as paid for much better teas a month previously. The stock was very trifling, and arrivals few and far between, and the season was expected to close early; the rates current in Shanghai being so high as to induce the teamen to send on all they can to that market. Common teas, having been so generally neglected by buyers, were in very small supply. Statistics to date were:—

Total arrivals	599,000	...	658,000
Settlements and shipments	598,000	...	653,000
Stock	1,000	...	5,000

Total export from Hankow to all points:—

SHANGHAI.—Black: There had been a smaller business done during the week, settlements being:—Oopack, 1,500 chests at Tls. 13¾ to 21½; Oanfa, 1,000 chests at Tls. 16 to 23; Ningchow, 4,000 chests at Tls. 14 to 43½; Hohow, 500 chests at Tls. 13.10 to 15¾; total, 7,000 chests; against for the same week last year 1,200 chests. The active demand reported last mail had subsided, the week's settlements amounting to just half the quantity. Arrivals had kept pace with the sales and stock remained at 11,000 chests. Prices showed little change, being, if anything, a trifle more in buyers' favour. This was owing to the diminished competition consequent upon the very low quotations telegraphed from London. Green: There had been a larger business done, settlements being:—Moyune, 1,000 half-chests at Tls. 24 to 31½; Fychow, 500 half-chests at Tls. 24; Pingsuey, 6,500 half-chests at Tls. 12 to 42½; total 8,000 half-chests against for the same week last year 9,000 half-chests. The business of the week, though small, had been double the previous week's amount. Buying had been chiefly for New York. Prices showed little change, though teamen were anxious to sell at quotations. A heavy fall must occur to bring prices to a par with those telegraphed from both home markets.

FOOCHOW.—Messrs. Westall, Galton's and Co.'s Weekly Letter of August 25 says:—A steady business has continued on this market during the past week. Settlements amount to 21,615 chests of Congou for England and the Colonies, and 1,380 half-chests of Oolong for America. Arrivals and settlements during the week are:- Arrived: 23,800 chests Congou: 2,100 chests Souchong; 2,000 half-chests Oolong; 5,000 boxes Scented Teas. Settled: 21,615 chests Congou; 1,904 chests Souchong; 1,380 half-chests Oolong; 96 chests Flowery Pekoe; 3,160 boxes Scented Teas. Congou: The stock and late arrivals are composed almost entirely of common to good common Teas. These have been freely dealt in, and a rise of Tl. ½ to 1 per picul may be quoted. Only a very few chops of flavoury to medium have been placed on offer. These have met with eager competition, and towards the close of the week have been taken on quite a tael worse terms than last quotations. Arrivals are now coming freely to hand, and should business continue on the same scale and prices be maintained, supplies will, no doubt, exceed the lowest estimate that have been formed. Souchong: Prices are fully supported Oolong: 1,380 half-chests have been taken for America. Flowery Pekoe: A few small chops, amounting to 96 chests, have changed hands on the basis of the last settlements. Scented Teas remain about the same. Quotations are:—Congou: Medium, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 4d.; Flavoury to fair medium, 11½d. to 1s. 1¾d.; Common to good common, 8¾d. to 11d.; Dust to common, 5¾d. to 8d. Souchong: Fine, 1s. 8d.; Fair to fine, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 7½d.; Common to fair, 11½d. to 1s. 1¾d. Oolong: Fair, 11½d. to 1s. 1¾d. Flowery Pekoe: Fair to good, 1s. 6½d.. to 2s. 2d. Scented Orange Pekoe: Fair, 1s. 3¾d. to 1s. 4½d. Scenteds Caper: Fair, 1s. 6½d.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—The North China Herald report says:—A very limited demand for silk at about Tls. 25 per picul lower than last mail's rates has to be recorded. Public and private telegrams differ considerably as to values of the article in London and Lyons, but the latter are accepted generally as showing the true position of affairs, unaltered apparently except for the worse. The settlements of 500 bales include:—Bird chop "Kin-hock," Tls. 340 (15s. 10d.); Bird chop "Fung-ling," Tls. 330 (15s. 4d.); S.S.S., Tls. 325 (15s. 2d.); Kukee's "Kin-ling," Tls. 320 (14s. 11d.); Common to Market No. 5 Tsatlees, Tls. 290 and 315 (13s. 6d. and 14s. 8d.); 9/12 moss (old silk) Tls. 225 (10s. 7d.), and some consignments on native account amongst which are about 150 bales of "Pah-hoc" and "Pah-ling" Hochun Tsatlees. The lower classes it will be noticed have been chiefly inquired for, chops being entirely out of favour. Purchases up country are said to continue on a very limited scale; arrivals only keep pace with settlements and the unsold stock is about 16,500 bales. Export remains comparatively very insignificant with prices nearly on a level with those current eighteen months since.

Naval and Military.

We understand that Admiral G. Greville Wellesley, C.B., will succeed Admiral Sir Hastings Yelverton, G.C.B., as senior Naval Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty on the retirement of the latter officer.

The Tamar, troopship, Captain Liddell, sailed from Portsmouth on the 13th inst., with reliefs for the Vigilant, Lapwing, Egeria, and Fly, on the China station; Captain Moore-Lane, Sub lieutenant Pilkington, and eighty-eight men of the 28th Regiment, and Surgeon B. Large, A.M.D., for Hong Kong; and Sub lieut. Midwood, 74th Regiment, for Singapore. She will embark at Kingstown for Gibraltar and Malta Captain Graves and Sub lieut. Lloyd Mostyn, 2nd Battalion 23rd Regiment; Captain Vetch, 102nd Regiment; Sub lieut. Longe, 57th Regiment; and Lieut. Macdonald, Sub lieut. Heneage, and Lieut. Synge, of the 74th Regiment.

The current Navy List announces that H.M.'s ships Amethyst and Fantome, on the Pacific station, and H.M.'s ship Encounter on the North America and West India station, are ordered home. The Amethyst was commissioned at Devonport, July 1873; the Fantome at Devonport, Dec. 1873; and the Encounter at Sheerness, August 1873.

The Wild Swan, 6, composite sloop, Commander Powlett, has sailed for the East Indies, via Suez Canal. She will call at Gibraltar and Malta en route. The Penguin, 6, composite sloop, Commander Paget, has sailed for the Pacific station, and the Turquoise, composite screw corvette for the West Indies.

Major-General Arnold E. Burmester, C.B., late of the 59th Regiment, died at Bayswater, on the 3rd inst., in his sixty-sixth year. The deceased officer commanded the 59th Regiment at the operations before Canton, and capture of the city, for which he was rewarded with the medal with clasp, was promoted to brevet lieutenant-colonel, and made a C.B.

Col. G. T. Field, R.A., late superintendent of the Royal Carriage Department, and at present in charge of the Field Artillery at Woolwich, will shortly take over the command of the Royal Artillery in the Northern District. Col. W. E. F. Gosling, R.H.A., will succeed Col. C. S. Henry in command of the Royal Horse Artillery at Aldershot.

Major H. S. Palmer, R.E., acting as aide-de-camp to Capt. G. C. Strachan, C.M.G., Royal Artillery, Governor of Barbadoes, has received orders to vacate his appointment and proceed to Hong Kong for duty at that station.

The Lords of the Admiralty completed their annual inspection of the naval establishments at Portsmouth on the 5th inst. and proceeded to Devonport. Having inspected the dockyard there their Lordships proceeded to Pembroke on the 10th inst.

Captain C. J. Brownrigg has been appointed to the command of the Jumna, v. D'Arcy, whose period of service has expired.

The Sultan, with the Duke of Edinburgh on board, arrived at Malta on the 10th inst., from Besika Bay and Syra.

Lieutenant G. A. G. Grey has been appointed to the command of the Mosquito on the China station.

AT the Marylebone Police-court Sheng Kusi, one of the servants of the Chinese Legation, was charged with being drunk and disorderly at Stanhope-street, Euston-road. Dr. Macartney, the secretary of the Legation, was in attendance, and was sworn as an interpreter. He said he presumed that, on his identifying the defendant as belonging to the Chinese Legation, and one of those whose names had been given to the police and the Foreign-office, on that ground the man would be liberated, to be dealt with by the Legation. The magistrate having heard the evidence discharged the accused.

MR. W. R. FIGG, a gentleman well known in connection with the Tea trade, and having many friends in China, has died suddenly.

The London & China Telegraph.

LONDON: MONDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1877.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

By the present mail intelligence is brought of a further development of the "cart before the horse" policy which has been adopted in the carrying out of the provisions of the Chefoo Convention before it has been ratified. A notification is published from H.M. Chargé d'Affaires at Peking with reference to the opening of five new places of call for steamers on the Yangtsze, and the rules with regard to the landing and shipping of merchandise at them have been given out by the Chinese. These rules, it is understood, are to be adopted experimentally by the native Customs officials at these places—which, not being treaty ports, will not fall under the Imperial Maritime Customs régime. Very careful provisions have been made for the payment of lekin, but the transit-pass provisions of the treaties of course retain their full power as regards foreign goods. A translation of the text of the memorial with reference to opium smoking which was forwarded by H.E. Kuo, the Chinese Envoy here to his Government, has been published. The arguments which he advances are noticeable, especially as showing the length of time which opium has been cultivated in China. The authorities at the capital have at last taken official notice of the recent public distress. The Peking Gazette of the 1st August contains a decree, based upon a memorial from the Censor Shen Hung, lamenting the afflictions of drought, floods, locusts, and storm, which have lately visited nearly every province in the Empire; and expressing the profound sympathy of the Emperor with the sufferings of the people. The high provincial officials are instructed again to report the extent of the harm sustained, and the measures that should be instituted for relief, "In order that his Majesty's anxious care may be assuaged." Two magistrates in the department of Yeoyang have been impeached, it is supposed in consequence of their not putting down disturbances between the Roman Catholic proselytes and non-Christian Chinese, though other grounds are ostensibly adopted for their degradation. The apprehensions with regard to the locusts in the neighbourhood of Shanghai have diminished in consequence of heavy rain setting in, since which time the insects seem to have disappeared. At Canton, in consequence of the disasters to the crops rice was to be imported free of duty and Government granaries were to be opened. The native merchants were also ordered not to charge famine prices for the article. A severe whirlwind visited Canton on August 21. King-qua, the last of the old Hong merchants, has died at the age of eighty-eight years. In Hong Kong the attempts of Mr. Pope Hennessy to govern Hong Kong upon ultra advanced principles do not appear to be very successful. Last mail brought news of the fiasco connected with the competitive examination of Chinese clerks for the magistracy, and by the present mail we are informed that the scheme for introducing native turnkeys into the gaol has failed for the very simple reason that Chinese are afraid to take such dangerous posts. His ultra views are strongly animadverted upon by the local press, and in a communication which we publish this mail from a correspondent.

From the Straits we have the report of the meeting of the Tanjong Pagar Dock Company, the returns of Revenue, &c., from Perak, and the acceptance by Mr. Adamson of the seat in the Council during the absence of Mr. Read. From Bangkok the chief items of news are the Government notification of the stoppage of rice exports, and the death of Mr. Bateman, for fifteen years in the service of the Siam Government, latterly as Chief Commissioner of Customs. From Manila advices report scarcity of grain, owing to drought.

According to telegraphic advices received at the Colonial office, Sir Wm. Robinson, the new Governor for the Straits Settlements, left by the P. and O. mail on the 6th inst. for Galle and Singapore. Sir William Jervois was sworn in as Governor of South Australia on the 2nd inst.

THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS AND THE CHINESE MINISTER.

In another column we give in detail the answer which H.E. Kuo, the Chinese Envoy, gave to the address sent to them by the Society of Friends on the subject of the Opium traffic. The statement which his Excellency makes with respect to the Chefoo Convention, to the effect, namely, that "The Shanghai Chamber of Commerce contemplate petitioning the Foreign-office and protesting against the ratification of the Convention," goes somewhat further than the information which those in a position to be fully informed on the subject appear to possess. That the Shanghai Chamber has through its chairman forwarded to its London Committee some representations upon special points has been known to the public for some time back; but this is a very different matter to "protesting against the ratification of the Convention." Whether this statement is due to inaccuracy in rendering the Envoy's utterance or to a misapprehension on the part of his Excellency is of course not clear; but it is evident that it is founded upon some misapprehension. This system of obtaining ex parte statements from the Chinese Ministers is, we think, to be deprecated, chiefly on the ground of its extreme liability to lead to mistakes such as the one which appears to have been made. With the views enunciated by H.E. Kuo with regard to Lekin few who are acquainted with the true facts connected with foreign trade in China will agree. It is, in fact, notorious that the Lekin and Barrier dues hamper foreign trade most seriously, and the fact that prices of certain imports have fallen is clearly no argument to the contrary. There is also a rather marked inconsistency between the view which H.E. now takes as to the benefit which China would derive from India ceasing to grow opium, as compared with the view he gave forth a short time back to the deputation from the Anti-Opium Society which waited upon him with regard to this special subject, and to whom he expressed his opinion that in order to effect any good in this way it would be necessary that all foreign nations should combine in the matter. The Envoy appears to regret that his Government at present derive a large revenue (estimated with Lekin at £1,000,000) from opium. He says, however, "This sum is not great, and its collection cannot have much effect upon foreign trade;" but it is evident that, conscious of the evil effects which opium produces, he would prefer that his Government derived no profit from the traffic. The Chinese Envoy may rely upon the public here going as far as he can wish in deprecating the injury which opium produces; but it cannot be lost sight of that the matter is entirely in the hands of the Chinese Government, and that they are perfectly free to take any steps—both by increase of inland duties and otherwise—to put down the use and cultivation of the drug in China. H.E. Kuo tells us that "The Chinese Government now contemplate taking measures to prevent opium-smoking in China." No one can doubt their sincerity, seeing that they have been intending to do so for so many years past; but it is to be hoped they will now find out some more effectual mode of attaining the end in view than those which they have hitherto essayed.

OPIUM AND THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

While the subject of opium as connected with the Chefoo Convention is attracting some attention, it may be well to lay before the public the precise nature of the question which has to be decided. The simple issue is: Will the arrangement proposed by Sir Thomas Wade, whereby the likin will be collected by the Foreign Customs Establishments at the Treaty Ports result in the Chinese further imposing the same likin dues as before upon the drug after it has left the limits of the Settlements? If so, all that we shall do by the proposed arrangement is to increase the taxation, and leave the matter otherwise precisely as it was before. The probability certainly is that only this result will be brought about; and it thus becomes a fair question whether we are called upon to assist the Chinese Government to levy internal dues, which will be directly against our own interests. The Chinese Government are, and always have been, at full liberty to raise any taxes they please upon opium in the country, and they can therefore take any reasonable measures they like for doing so. The point at issue at present is within the narrowest limits. It is purely a financial question, and whatever the general merits of the opium trade may be, it may be taken as certain that both our own Government and the Chinese Government can and will only consider the matter at issue officially upon the economical and financial grounds upon which it has been raised. The complaint of the Chinese which induced Sir THOS. WADE to introduce the new clause as to the likin into the Convention was not directed against the importation of opium, but it was that they found a difficulty in levying the likin duty upon the drug when imported, and thus the only question raised by the Convention on this head is whether we shall assist the Chinese authorities out of this difficulty or leave them as heretofore to make whatever arrangements they please for the levy of all internal duties upon the drug.

WE reproduce from The Times a leading article on the Woosung Railway, founded upon the information of this subject supplied by its Shanghai correspondent, which coincides with that which we gave some time back, and which is confirmed by the news brought by the last mail. Mr. JOHN DIXON, the constructor of the line, writes to the paper above named in a hopeful strain. Nil desperandum, he says, is his motto; and he goes on to observe with much justice that a railway in active operation in the heart of China has been working for a twelvemonth, its trains crammed to such an extent that they have constantly had to start (being full) long before the appointed time. The passenger traffic has been so great that the railway has never been able to carry an ounce of goods. Yet it has in the first year of its existence shown its capacity to earn a dividend of 10 to 15 per cent.—and has earned it too—and it has done all this without any single accident; for he does not regard as an accident the suicide of a stupid maniac before the train. Whatever, therefore, may be the fate to which the personal prejudice of the Viceroy of Nankin may consign it, a great step has been gained that will tell its tale before long. But he notes the "funeral dirge of the Woosung and Shanghai Railway is not yet to be sung; it is still in active life, and while there is life surely there is hope."

THE China Customs Medical Reports for the half-year ending March 1877 do not contain much of interest to the general reader; but this is compensated for by a paper on Hæmatoza by Dr. PATRICK MANSON, of Amoy, which will be of great value in a professional point of view, though perhaps rather horrifying to the lay reader. He gives particulars of a minute parasite which finds its way into the blood both of dogs and men, giving rise to a variety of diseases—the details of which are very curious, if somewhat startling. From the remaining reports, the general health in China during the period under review appears to have been good. Dr. JARDINE, of Kiukiang, speaks in high terms of the bungalow on the summit of Lushan, where the community have a pleasing summer retreat, which is regarded as the Sanitarium both of Kiukiang and Hankow. The community during the latter half of last year were peculiarly healthy, and no deaths occurred. At Tamsui Dr. RINGER reports the general health as good, and Dr. SCOTT gives a similar report from Swatow. Dr. JAMIESON, of Shanghai, is disappointingly brief (his papers being usually of much general interest.)

THE WOOSUNG RAILWAY.

(THE TIMES.)

Our Correspondent at Shanghai does not state that the Viceroy has announced that the traffic on the Woosung line will be suspended after the 31st inst. The authorities are said to be "remarkably reticent" on the point. But the intentions of the Provincial Government are reasonably inferred from the manner in which the Viceroy not long ago received an inquiry from a subordinate officer respecting the payment of the last instalment of the purchase money and the re-engagement of the official staff. Of course, if the Chinese contemplated working the railway themselves, they would have either to retain or to replace the present staff. But the Viceroy has given no instructions for the one or the other. He has simply directed the final payment to be made, adding that he had long made up his mind what to do with the line when it came at last into his hands. Li-Hung-Chang, to whom an appeal was made, "confirmed the impression that he line was doomed, and declared his intention of not interfering in the matter." All this points to a settled design of extirpating the new enterprise, though after the transfer of the railway to the Chinese themselves there can be no pretence that it was giving a dangerous influence to foreigners. Nor for months past has there been any ground for alleging that the trains had a tendency to excite panic or disturbance, for the people, as we have said, have freely and contentedly used them. The abandonment of the line, if it be abandoned, will be, as a Shanghai newspaper says, "a simple piece of stolid, stupid, sulky Conservatism." But what is the use of calling Chinese Conservatism hard names? We know that it is the most potent influence in Chinese society. Strong in the peasants and middle class, it is strongest of all in the official hierarchy who monopolise power in China. We do not know how far the Mandarins are "incapable of taking in new ideas," but it is certain that they do not wish to take in new ideas, and until the appetite for novelty begins to be felt in high places there is little use in bringing new ideas, either in a practical or a theoretical form, before the Chinese mind. If the authorities will not work the Woosung Railway when they are placed in possession of it in full working order, and when they have paid for it in hard cash, there is little hope for the sanguine speculators who persuade themselves and others that they can obtain concessions for such undertakings as the line from Shanghai to Soochow referred to in our Correspondent's letter. Those Chinese, be they many or few, who "would be thankful to a foreign Government which would dictate a more intelligent course of action," have not the courage to speak their minds. Foreign Governments cannot undertake to compel their own subjects, not to speak of Chinese Mandarins, to adopt an "intelligent course of action." We must wait for a long time, it is feared, before the official class in China will tolerate any of the beauties of European civilisation, and we have neither the will nor the power to hasten the progress towards toleration by the use of force.

THE CHINAMAN IN COURT.

(DAILY TELEGRAPH.)

Had either Bret Harte or the author of "Hans Breitmann's Ballads" been present at the Marylebone Police-court the other day, we might have had another tale of the "Heathen Chinee," not perhaps as full of original humour as the grand romaunt of Ah Sin, but at the same time sufficient to afford matter both for amusement and serious reflection. Sheng Kusi, aged thirty-six, resident at 45, Portland-place, and described as a native of China, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly in Stanhope-street, Euston road. What precise kind of "disorder" Sheng Kusi had committed we are not told. History is silent as to whether he had merely sat down on a doorstep, and declined to "move on," or—as he himself would perhaps put it—"Velly muchee glate folo;" or whether he had gone so far as to create a disturbance and cause a crowd to assemble—whether, in other words, he had "catchey muchee dlinkee, catchee muchee dlink insid 'um, makey one glate piecey bobbely," Suffice it to say, that no sooner was the guilty Sheng Kusi placed in the dock than Mr. Macartney, the learned Secretary of the Chinese Embassy, appeared in Court, and, having been duly sworn as interpreter, deposed that the defendant was in the employment of the Chinese Envoys, and, consequently, claimed exemption from the jurisdiction of the learned magistrate. This fact having been satisfactorily established, Sheng Kusi was liberated, to be dealt with by the authorities of the Legation. What they are likely to do with him it is somewhat difficult to conjecture. They can hardly discharge him from their service, as to turn the Chinaman adrift in London would be an act of cruelty disproportioned to his offence, for there are not many respectable Chinese families resident in the metropolis with whom the imprudent Celestial might get another situation, while domestics of his race have not yet found favour among ourselves. Probably the amiable and intelligent Envoys will find some means of keeping their yellow retainer in order, and in a state of sobriety, for the future.

Sheng Kusi, no doubt, has his own view of the affair. He does not understand that, exactly as by the famous precedent established in "Semayne's case," an Englishman's house is his castle, so, by the comity of nations, the house of an Ambassador is part of the soil of the country which he represents, and his servants owe allegiance to that country and to no other. There is no better recognised portion of international law than that relating to ambassadorial privilege. Some twenty years ago, it is said, the Persian Envoy at one of the chief European Courts ordered a servant of his to be flayed alive. The offence that the luckless menial had committed was of an excessively heinous character. He had been put in charge of a charcoal stove; he had allowed it to get out of order; and the noxious vapours from it had asphyxiated the Ambassador's son. In Persia instant impalement would have been the reward for such crassa negligentia, and in contenting himself with simply ordering the offender to be flayed alive, the Envoy probably felt that he was exercising considerable mercy and forbearance, and doing much to meet half-way the foolish prejudices of a nation of Giaours and Franks. Unfortunately the Giaours took a different view, but withal firmly intimated to the Ambassador that, although by the comity of nations he was at liberty, if he so chose, to flay his servant alive in his own back garden, the taking of such a step would none the less be regarded as an indication of a wish to break off diplomatic relations. The Envoy's answer showed him a profound adept in the Machiavellian art. He replied that the offender, in deference to the wishes of the Court to which he, the Envoy, was accredited, should not be flayed alive, but should be sent back to Persia. The letter of this promise was strictly fulfilled. The wretched man was sent back to Persia, it is true; but he was heavily manacled in a ponderous iron cage and with instructions that he was to be, on his arrival in Persia, pegged down over an ants' nest. So, at least, the story goes. Had such an incident occurred in England a singular conflict of laws would have arisen. A habeas corpus could have been applied for in behalf of the miserable prisoner, and would have been granted as a matter of course, inasmuch as the Court of Queen's Bench cannot possibly recognise the comity of nations as overriding the law of England. No cause having been shown against the writ, the offender would have been discharged, and it is excessively doubtful, as a Constitutional question, whether he could have been again arrested by virtue of a warrant under the Privy Seal. The sole object of habeas corpus was to put a stop to illegal detention of its subjects on the part of the Crown, and, although the point has never yet arisen, there is every reason to believe that habeas corpus is a writ of even more than that sanctity which Mr. Weller ascribed to it, and overriding the Royal prerogative itself. Mr. Sheng Kusi himself is, in all probability, hardly aware of these nice legal points. In his opinion his liberation is, no doubt, merely another proof of the triumph of the Chinese race over the barbarians. When returned to Peking he will tell his story in his own way. "One tim, some tim," he will say, "me makey go Inglis side, longside Fankwei debils; makey go one small piecey walk. Catchee dlink. Debils' dlink velly glate stlong. Sheng Kusi catchee dlink topsid 'um head; makey much glate bobbely. Fankwei mandalin pidgin man, he catchee Sheng Kusi; make Sheng Kusi catch one glate bang topsid 'um head; takey Sheng Kusi longside mandalin pidgin house; give 'um no chow chow. Nex day, sun-down-side, mandalin say, 'No can do so fashion. Sheng Kusi he Chinaman, belongey Pekinside, no can touch Chinaman belongey Pekinside.' Mandalin let Sheng Kusi go. Mandalin he velly much chin-chen Sheng Kusi. Dat belongey be Chinaman Pekinside. Fankwei debils velly glate flade of Chinaman. No can do." So will Sheng Kusi tell his artless tale.

Monetary and Commercial.

The Tea market during the past week continued in the extraordinary position we have noticed for some weeks past, the bulk of the teas selling at 6¾d. to 1s. per lb., from which our readers in China can realise the protracted unsatisfactory condition of the trade. The well known clipper Cutty Sark arrived yesterday with the first cargo this season via the Cape, and a fair inquiry is anticipated for the cargo. The finest teas, the "Kin-Tuck," usually bought for Russia, have, in consequence of the unfavourable exchange, which has led to a lower class being used there this season, only gone partially into consumption. To effect sales of those still held by importers, considerably lower prices would have to be submitted to. They have also been largely interfered with by the heavy arrivals of Indian of late. The shipments of common teas to Russia continue upon a large scale. Green Teas show no improvement, and the consumption is without doubt becoming more and more limited. We hear by the latest telegram of large stocks accumulating in China, where the stock is estimated at 100,000 ½-chests.

For the week ending with the 6th inst. the total quantity of tea delivered from the bonded warehouses in London was 4,663,190 lbs., or, as compared with the preceding week, an increase of close upon 21 per cent. Of the total, 2,364,152 lbs. was for home consumption, 1,331,073 lbs. was for export, 819,872 lb. was removed coastwise, 145,812 lbs. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 2,281 lbs. was for ships' stores. The duty received was increased by £1,248, or 2½ per cent., the total being £59,104, as against £57,856 in the previous week.

During the nine months of the present year, which have just terminated, the importation of tea has been about 10,000,000 lbs. less than the quantity imported during the corresponding nine months of last year. There has, however, been an appreciable increase in the quantity taken out of bond; for, whereas, during the first nine months of 1876 the quantity cleared was 132,780,025 lbs., the quantity released from bond this year has been 139,182,220 lbs. The tea duty paid in London from the 1st January to the 30th September, 1876, was £2,128,982 19s. 6d.; while during the first nine months of the present year the revenue derived from the same source was £2,173,511 9s.

The strong position of the Silk market which we indicated last week has had the anticipated effect of inducing transactions at greatly improved prices. The large business done during the week has resulted in an advance of 2s. 6d. on Chinas and Japans from the lowest point of last month. The deliveries also show a decided improvement, and the other features of the market are more encouraging than they have been at any previous time this year. The arrivals of new Silk to the end of the year cannot be sufficient even for the moderate consumption going on previous to this month. Consequently stocks must be greatly reduced within that period. Although the present movement is largely speculative it is still based upon consumption, and the fact that prudent manufacturers are laying in some little stock augurs well for still further advances.

In the Produce Markets dulness is still the prevailing feature, and prices for several articles present a declining tendency. The Coffee market continues dull, and has undergone a further decline. Cotton has been active at rising values. Sugar is inactive and lower; Hainan China has sold at 19s. 6d. to 20s. 6d., Penang at 18s 6d. per cwt. There has been an active demand for floating cargoes of Rice, which have realised higher prices. Pepper, China Galls, Cutch, Gambier, Sago and Tin have likewise improved in value; Sticklac has declined.

A despatch from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Bangkok reports that the Siamese Government have notified their intention to prohibit the exportation of rice from the 23rd of September, 1877, to the 13th of September, 1878, but that the prohibition will be withdrawn at the earliest possible date if the next crop should prove satisfactory. From private information we learn that the reason for this measure is the drought which has taken place. Though the prohibition is nominally for a year, it will be taken off should there be a good rainfall and the crops appear satisfactory. The full text of the notification will be found in another column.

The directors of the Oriental Bank Corporation announce an interim dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum for the half-year ended the 30th June last.

The directors of Reuter's Telegram Company have declared the usual interim dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum for the half-year ending June 30 last, payable on the 15th inst.

The partnership of the late firm of Galbraith, Stringer, Pembroke and Co. having terminated, Mr. E. P. Stringer has taken into partnership his son, Edgar Lindsay Stringer, and will continue the business of ship and insurance brokers and commission agents, under the style of E. P. Stringer and Co., at 36, Leadenhall-street. Arrangements have been made with Messrs. Thos. and Wm. Smith, of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, to act as their agents.

The managers of the German Steam Company (Deutsche Dampfschiffs Rhederei) ask us to state, in reference to the paragraph in the Hamburg letter of our last issue, that their steamers are quite suitable and constantly employed in the China Coast service. That they are well patronised is shown by the Egeria having to shut out over 100 tons cargo, and the Feronia sailed on the 6th with a full cargo.

The Comptoir d'Escompte de Paris notify that their London offices have been removed to 52, Threadneedle-street.

One effect of the termination of the civil war in Japan will be a considerable fall in the prices of blankets and woollens, as large quantities of these goods which were sent out to meet the demand for the troops will now be thrown upon the market.

The market for Bar Silver has been very unsettled, and owing to the near approach of the holidays in Calcutta, which continue for a fortnight, transactions have been limited, and prices have gradually declined from 55½d. per oz. to 54¾d. per oz., a rate at which business has been done. Mexican Dollars have been sold at 54d. per oz.; the market is, however, now weaker, and the amounts now here will not be placed for a few days.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says:—There has been a fair amount of business done in our market during the past week, exporters having been buyers of common to fair black-leaf Congous. Prices show no material alteration, but for most descriptions it is difficult to effect sales at previous quotations. Congous:—Red-leaf kinds: Siftings are without alteration; common to good common have sold at previous prices; fair kinds are only saleable at easier rates; medium to good medium and fine are in limited demand, and show no change in prices. Pak Lin kinds are unchanged. Black-leaf kinds: Common to good common have been more inquired for to execute export orders; fair kinds with good leaf have been taken for export to some extent at 10d. to 11d. per lb.; fair to good medium and fine descriptions are neglected, the demand being at present very limited. In finest but little has been done. New-make descriptions of common quality are saleable at 8d. to 8½d. per lb., and fair to good are in moderate demand, the few parcels out of late arrivals having realised full prices. Oolongs: A parcel of low quality has been sold in public auction at 8½d. per lb.; common to fair have sold slowly at 11d. to 1s. 1d. per lb.; good to fine Formosa kinds have been inquired for, and desirable parcels of fine would be competed for. Souchongs are in limited demand at previous rates. Scented Teas: Canton Capers have been moved off at prices in favour of buyers, common to fair qualities realising 9d. to 1s. 1d. per lb. Orange Pekoes are difficult of sale at lower prices. Foochow Capers are not wanted, and Orange Pekoes sell slowly at declining rates. Green Teas at public auction have gone at slightly improved prices. The public sales have been small, comprising 12,806 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve. The deliveries for the week, as compared with last year, are as follows, viz.:—

	1877. lbs.	1876. lbs.
Coastwise	763,524	857,404
Exports	1,238,910	731,247

SILK.

There has been a great improvement in the market, and an important advance in the prices of most descriptions of Silk. In China Silk the chief demand has been for Tsatlees, the coarser descriptions having been comparatively neglected. Cantons have participated in the movement during the last few days, but prices have not yet undergone much improvement. Japan Silk has been much sought after, and prices have advanced considerably. The deliveries although better than last month are still on a moderate scale. Deliveries from 1st to 10th inclusive have been China, 918 bales; Canton, 287; Japan, 175; Bengal, 25; total, 1,405 bales.

Messrs. Arles, Dufour, and Co.'s Lyons Circular, dated 6th inst., says:—We confirm our advices of the 8th September. The demand existing at that time was soon checked by the stoppage of some further embarrassed houses. The Manifest of our President also made buyers hold back. Although business was not active, the market kept firm, prices being considered low. Towards the close of September telegrams were received from Shanghai reporting a rapid rise in prices there, and the probability of a reduced export. This news provoked some activity in China silk, prices of which were much lower than the reported cost in China, and induced many holders to withdraw their stock from the market. Very little silk being offered for sale, the rise on these sorts from the lowest point to this day may be estimated at from f.3 to f.4 At the same time some 3,000 to 4,000 pieces of black silk goods were purchased for Paris. Although prices obtained show a considerable loss upon actual rates of raw silk, yet manufacturers, having lightened their stocks and also having received some orders in coloured goods, resumed purchases of European silk. During the last two days business has been active on this class, and prices show already an advance of from 2 to 4 per cent.

COFFEE.—A dull tone has prevailed, the general position not encouraging exporters to operate, and sales have been effected slowly in all descriptions; prices have, therefore, shown a downward tendency. The present stock of Plantation Ceylon is twice the weight of that at the corresponding period last year, and the value of middling only 4s. below, which exerts an unfavourable influence on the market, and the light supplies at public sale have gone off flatly at declining prices, closing, middling at 106s. 6d. to 107s. Business in Native Ceylon has been very small. Closing prices are—Plantation triage 76s. 6d. to 90s., common grey to fine coloury small 91s. to 100s., low middling 100s. 6d. to 105s., middling 105s. to 108s., good middling to fine middling coloury 108s. 6d. to 113s. 6d, dull to fine bold 112s. to 128s., peaberry 108s. to 116s.; fine ordinary Ouvah Native 87s. 6d. to 88s. per cwt. No sales of other East Indian descriptions have occurred.

COTTON.—Receipts at the American ports have been much below those of the previous year, and the total since the 1st September is less than half the amount of the previous year; these circumstances have imparted more activity, and sales have been on a large scale, the bulk consisting of American, which has advanced ⅜d. per lb., but with an unfavourable reaction towards the close, a good part of this rise has been lost. Business in East India has been larger than for a long time past, prices being ⅛d. to ¼d. higher than a fortnight ago. The sales for the week are about 22,000 bales. On the spot, Tinnivelly 5⅜d. to 6¼d., middling fair to good; Western Madras 4¼d. to 5⅜d., middling to good; Coconada 5¼d. to 5⅜d., fair to good fair; Salem 5d. to 5¼d., fair to fully fair; Bengal 4¼d. to 5¼d., fair to good; Rangoon 4⅞d. to 5d., good fair; Machine Ginned Broach 6¼d., good; Dhollera 5¼d., good fair. For arrival, &c., 24,000 bales; Tinnivelly 5⅜d. to 5⅝d. May to November, good fair; Coconada 5 3-16d. to 5¼d. July to October, fair red; Bengal 5¼d., ship named, good (f.g.f.c.); American 6¼d. to 6 11-16d. September to December, middling (l m clause).

COCOANUT OIL has been in moderate demand, 22 pipes fine Cochin offered by auction were bought in at £43 15s., but 100 tons have been sold privately at £43 10s. Of Ceylon there are buyers for arrival at £39 to £39 5s., but £40 is required. At the close the market is quieter, Cochin is quoted £43 10s., and Ceylon in pipes at £38 15s. to £39.

COIR YARN.—The supplies at auction consisted largely of damaged, but there was a steady demand, and the whole was disposed of at about previous rates, and 42 tons Ceylon low mixed sold at £20 15s. to £23, ordinary to good ordinary £23 10s. to £25 10s., medium to good £26 to £30 10s.

CHINA STRAW PLAIT.—At auction 409 bales met a restricted demand, and barely one-fourth sold, white £9 10s. to £10, with cord edge from £11 15s. to £25, mottled £7 per bale.

CHINA GRASS.—47 bales sold at £59 10s. to £60.

CUTCH.—100 boxes fine Pegu (Engine brand) have been sold at a further advance at 25s. 9d., one lot 25s. 6d. 500 boxes Pegue (Cock brand), have been sold at 23s. per cwt., 110 boxes fine black Pegu (SM and Co.) in papers sold at 29s., being firmer; 40 boxes bought in at 25s.

EBONY.—At auction 69 logs (9 tons) Ceylon partly sold at £28 per ton.

GALLS.—135 cases China offered were chiefly sold, good at 54s. 6d. per cwt. A subsequent offer of 248 cases China sold firmly at 54s. 6d.

GUM COPAL.—9 cases 21 bags Manila sold, dark at 20s., fine pale hard 42s. per cwt.

GAMBIER.—On the spot 140 bags good dark pressed cubes partly sold at 27s. 6d. 40 bags blocky ditto bought in at 29s. For arrival prices are again lower, 100 tons September-October shipment having been sold at 19s. 9d. ex ship, also 50 tons ex ship arrived at 20s

HEMP.—The market for Manila remains very quiet, but the moderate supply at the periodical auctions, consisting chiefly of damaged, was mostly sold at previous rates. Of 1,058 bales offered about 60 bales sold, brown at £25 15s. to £26, the bulk damaged, first-class at £24 15s. to £25 10s., sound Quilot No. 2 at £29 15s., No. 1 at £31 5s., ditto first-class damaged £29 5s. to £30 10s., the remainder sound being bought in at £26 to £28; 73 bales China chiefly sold at £21 10s.

HIDES.—At the periodical public sales East India in the hair were dull of sale at last sales' prices to ¼d. per lb. decline, the most difficult to sell being common descriptions. Singapore Ox and Cow sold fairly at late rates. Rangoon ditto were only partly sold. China ditto were in small supply; heavy weights brought an advance of ¼d. per lb., but light barely supported the extreme prices previously current. Singapore and Penang Ox and Cow realised light average 6½ to 7½ lbs., seconds 8d. to 9d., thirds 6¼d., heavy average 8½ to 9¼ lbs., seconds 7d., extra 7d. 18,295 China Ox and Cow offered, 12,773 sold; Light, average 9¼ to 11⅞ lb. 6⅞d. to 7⅜d.; heavy, average 14½ to 17½ lb. 6⅝d. to 7¼d.; extra heavy, average 23⅛ to 21⅞ lb. 7d. to 7⅞d.; kips and skins, average 4 to 7⅝ lb. 7⅝d. to 9d.; thirds, 5d. to 5¼d. per lb. Buffalo: Singapore were in fair supply, were well competed for, and made from last sales' prices to ¼d. per lb. advance. Bombay and Kurrachee sold at former rates. Other sorts unchanged. Of 8,191 Penang and Singapore offered 5,055 sold; Penang, slaughtered, good, 1st heavy, average 43⅜ lb. 6¼d.; ditto, inferior, 1st heavy, average 35½ lb. 5⅝d.; 2nd heavy, average 31⅝ lb. 5d. Singapore, fair to good, 1st heavy, average 37¾ to 33 lb. 5¼d. to 5½d.; 2nd heavy, average 25⅞ to 33⅝ lb. 5d. to 5⅛d.; 1st light, average 13¼ to 15 lb. 5⅞d. to 6¼d.; light, average 11⅝ to 15⅜ lb. 5¾d. to 5⅞d.; fair, ordinary, 2nd heavy, average 29¾ lb. 4⅞d.; light, average 12 lb. 5¼d. per lb. 379 Saigon sold; heavy, average 29½ lb. 4¾d.; light and Calf, average 6¼ to 11⅜ lb. 4⅝d.; thirds 4¼d., per lb. 83 Batavia were withdrawn. 91 Ceylon sold; heavy, average 29½ lb. 4½d. per lb.

PEPPER.—Black has been sold privately at steady rates, about 600 bags have changed hands, Singapore at 3⅜d., Penang at 3 5-16d. The good supply of 4,263 bags at auction met more demand, and a good part was disposed of at firm rates; of 1,979 bags Singapore 1,600 bags sold, grey at 3½d. to 3⅝d., good 3⅝d., two lots fine clean at 3⅞d.; of 2,284 bags Penang 1,000 bags sold at 3½d. to 3⅝d., two lots fine clean 3⅝d. White: With a better demand privately about 700 bags Singapore have been sold at 6½d. to 6¼d., and for arrival about 100 tons Singapore, August-September shipment, have been sold at 6 3-16d. There was a good demand at public sale, and prices were ⅛d. dearer than a week ago; of 658 bags Singapore only 100 bags sold, fair at 6¼d., good fair bold 6½d. to 6⅝d.; 247 bags Penang were all sold at 6d. to 6¼d. per lb.

PLUMBAGO.—At auction 391 barrels Ceylon, of old import, were freely offered, and the bulk found buyers at extreme rates for fine lump, of which the bulk consisted, good chips being dearer, fine small and medium to superior bright lump sold at 15s. to 15s. 9d., and one lot fine bright chips at 13s. 6d. per cwt.

RATTANS.—At auction 157 tons met little demand, and only about 40 tons sold, Singapore chiefly at £10 7s. 6d. to £10 10s., the remainder bought in, Singapore at £11 to £25 10s., Penang £26.

RICE.—Floating cargoes have been in demand for the Continent, resulting in considerable sales, and the market exhibits a firmer tone. Fifteen floating cargoes have been sold, viz.:—The Alphæta, 1,232 tons Rangoon, off coast, at 10s. 6d. for Bremen. The Jennie S. Barker, 1,542 tons Rangoon, off coast, at 10s. 6d. for Holland. The Carmel, 1,110 tons Ngakyouk Rangoon, off coast, at 10s. 1½d. Continent. The Bacchus, 1,768 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 6d. Continent. The Charles Murdoch, 909 tons Rangoon, May sailing, at 10s. 6¾d. open charter. The Jesse Osborne, 1,462 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 6d. for Bremen. The Churchstow, 707 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 6d. Continent, the Joshua, 997 tons Necranise, off coast, at 10s. Continent. The Guiseppe, 1,041 tons Rangoon, off coast, at 10s. 9d. Continent. The Carmelina, 1,198 tons Rangoon, May sailing, at 10s. 9d. open charter. The Goatfell, 952 tons Rangoon, May sailing, at 10s. 9d. open charter. The Charles Murdoch, 109 tons Rangoon, May, resold at 10s. 10½d. open charter. The Daporta Padre, 907 tons Rangoon, June sailing, at 11s. open charter. The Lamuise, 930 tons Bassein, June, at 11s., the Svea, 1,157 tons Necransie, off coast, at 10s. 3d. for Bordeaux. On the spot 500 bags Askoolie have been sold at 11s. 3d.

SPICES.—Cinnamon: 210 boxes China, coarse quill, bought in at 7d. Cloves: The good supply of 691 bales Zanzibar went off irregularly, and 600 bales sold at a decline of ½d. to ⅝d. per lb., fair dark at 1s. 1½d. to 1s. 1⅝d., good at 1s. 1⅝d. to 1s. 1¾d., a few at 1s. 2d. 22 cases Penang sold at 2s. to 2s. 0½d., chiefly the former price. Ginger: 110 cases Japan offered were bought in at 32s. Mace is steady, 2 cases middling Penang sold at 2s. 6d., 1 case Java bought in at 2s., 8 cases low mixed per land carriage sold without reserve at 1s. to 1s. 1d. per lb. Nutmegs: No sales.

SUGAR.—The market has shown a dull tone, and excepting refining West India, which has brought previous rates, sales have been effected with difficulty, and prices are again rather lower, other refining and low brown being 3d. to 6d., and crystallised Demerara also 3d. to 6d. cheaper than last mail's rates. The business in East Indian sorts has been as follows:—On the 5th inst. 312 mats soft brown Penang were bought in at 19s. 6d., but afterwards sold at 18s. 6d. On the 8th at auction of 3,423 bags Hainan China offered 400 bags sold, fine brown at 21s. 6d., the remainder ordinary to good were bought in at 19s. 6d. to 20s 6d., but 1,950 bags afterwards sold at 19s. 6d. to 20s. 6d. per cwt.

SHELLS.—The periodical sales were held on the 9th inst. with the subjoined results:—Mother-o'-Pearl: The auctions were much less extensive, the total amounting to 1,334 cases 157 casks 509 bags and 12 tons, and with a considerable improvement in the demand, nearly the whole was disposed of at a general advance in value. The greater part consisted of Sydney, which sold with spirit at an irregular advance of 10s. to 20s., and in some instances more; Freemantle advanced 15s. to 20s.; Manila sold at steady rates to 10s. advance, Bombay were 10s. to 15s., Egyptian 5s. to 10s., and black-edged £2 to £3 per cwt. higher. Of 308 cases Manila offered 290 cases sold, fair bold at £8 to £8 17s. 6d., good bold clean at £9 5s. to £9 7s. 6d.; chicken at £7 2s. 6d. to £8 2s. 6d., defective and pickings 63s. to 83s. Of 17 cases 25 barrels Macassar 25 barrels small sold at £10 7s. 6d. to £10 10s. Tortoise: There was a better demand for West India kinds, and shell sold rather dearer for good, hoof was also rather higher; East India consisted chiefly of common, which went off slowly, 11 cases (1,113 lb.), Bombay and Singapore sold, pickings at 5s. 9d., medium to fair shell 13s. to 14s. 6d. Ear:

The good supply of 416 cases 22 bales Japan met an exceptionally brisk demand, and the whole was disposed of at an extraordinary advance in value; untrimmed low defective at £7 to £19, small and medium more or less defective £30 to £36, medium to bold part defective and small £47 to £59, good ditto £60 rising to £66, trimmed defective £33 to £44, medium and small £78 to £85, medium and bold £92, fine cut pieces £250 per ton. Green Snail: 1,102 baskets 417 bags 30 cases 31 casks and 4 tons loose met a better demand, and 350 baskets 20 bags 10,000 loose were sold at an advance of ½d. to 1d. for large, but previous rates for small and medium, fair to good bold at 6d. to 7d., medium at 4d. to 4¼d., medium and small at 3d. to 3¼d., chicken 1¼d. to 1½d. each.

STICKLAC.—At auction 404 cases fresh Siam sold readily at cheaper rates good free but dusty at 49s., rising to 50s. 6d., very fine bold free 51s. to 52s. per cwt.

SAGO.—In auction 772 bags met a good demand, and were nearly all sold at 3d. advance, fair to good fair small at 17s. to 17s. 3d., a few lots good large at 21s. 6d. Sago Flour: 201 bags bought in at 20s.

TAPIOCA.—Privately 150 bags Singapore have been sold at 2 11-16d. At public sale of 841 bags Singapore offered only about 200 bags sold, greyish to good at 2⅞d. to 2¾d., the remainder bought in at 2¾d. to 2⅞d.; 70 bags low discoloured Penang sold at 2¼d. to 2⅜d. Flour: 512 bags Singapore bought in at 2⅛d.

TIN.—With renewed activity higher rates have been paid, but attention has been chiefly directed to Australian. The sales of Straits have been small at £68 to £68 10s. on the spot, at £68 for December delivery, and at £69 for October-November shipment. Banca is quoted £70 to £71, Billiton at £68 10s. per ton.

CASUALTIES.

LONDON.—Oct. 8, the State of Alabama (str.), bound to Singapore, &c., while in a fog below Gravesend, collided with the steamer Contest, and received some damage; she has put back for repairs, which are trifling, and expected to be completed in three or four days.

GIBRALTAR.—Oct. 10, the Herzogin Anna is reloading her cargo.

SAMARANG.—Oct. 9, the Stad Middleburg (str.), from Sourabaya to Holland, with coffee, has struck on the rocks. She is leaking, and will have to discharge cargo and dock for repairs.

CAPE TOWN.—Oct. 12, the Hannah and Mary, from Hong Kong to Falmouth, put into Simon's Bay Sept. 22, with damage to bulwarks, galley swept overboard, captain dead, and first officer in charge.

HONG KONG.—Oct. 14, the Merse (British barque) thence to Newchwang in ballast, has been totally lost off Aritas.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CADIZ.—Sailed, Sept. 30, Victoria (str.), Liverpool for Manila. Arrived, Oct. 4, Cadiz (str.), from Manila.

GIBRALTAR.—Passed, Oct. 8, Glenroy (str.), China for New York.

NAPLES.—Sailed, Oct. 5, Comet (str.), for Batavia.

MALTA.—Arrived and sailed, Oct. 6-8, Celebes, No. 5 (steam dredger), Glasgow to Batavia. Passed, Oct. 10, Benledi (str.), Hong Kong for London; Drenthe (str.), Batavia for Flushing.

BERMUDA.—Sailed, Sept. 9, The Frederick, for Java.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

Current Rates of Freight for Vessels on the Berth.

Rates for steamers and sailing ships on the berth have a downward tendency. The berth is fully supplied. Homeward chartering is quite at a standstill, and spot quotations nominal.

GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

THE NEW DOCK AT FLEETWOOD.—The new dock, constructed under the direction of Sir John Hawkshaw at Fleetwood, has been opened amid great rejoicings. It has cost £300,000, and covers, with the quays, a total area of sixty-five acres, the dock itself being 1,000ft. long and 400ft. broad. Beyond it there is a timber pond fifteen acres in extent. The town was decorated with a profusion of flags, and the shipping and steamers in dock were gay with bunting. The timber-laden ship Armstrong was towed in dock by a steamer, amidst cheers and salutes, and the chairman of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Company declared that the dock henceforth will be called the Wyre Dock, and will be open to the commerce of the world. Subsequently the directors and shareholders, with some leading North of England merchants, were entertained at a banquet. Sir John Hawkshaw, Lord Houghton, and others being amongst the speakers.

A COLLISION has occured off the Fastnet, between the Bristol steamer Consett, Captain Pringle, from Antwerp, for Montreal, in ballast, and the Liverpool ship Jessore, in which the latter was so seriously damaged that she sank. Fortunately the crew and passengers, sixty-four all told, of the vessel managed to get on board the steamer, which landed them at Queenstown. The Jessore was a fine iron ship of 1,701 tons, classed A 1, belonging to Mr. W. Rome, of Liverpool.

AN UNSEAWORTHY SHIP.—At the Colchester County Court an action has been brought by the Board of Trade to recover £11 5s. for expenses incurred in surveying the Polyphemy, of Colchester, then in the port of Shields, which was condemned as unseaworthy and detained. The defence was that the ownership of the vessel had passed from defendant at the time of the detention, and that a copy of the surveyor's report had not been served upon him. A verdict was given for the Board of Trade, with costs.

LOSS OF A MESSAGERIES MARITIMES STEAMER.—The Messageries Maritimes mail steamship Parana has been totally lost off Bahia. The passengers and mails have been saved.

THE Eliza Shaw, China trader, has been sold by Charles Shaw and Co. for €4,750; purchasers, Messrs. John Willis and Son.

RATES OF FREIGHT.

The tonnage loading on the berth for India, China, and the Cape of Good Hope amounts to 60,786 tons, and for Australia and New Zealand to 51,567 tons.

Outward freights for the berths from London to Australia and New Zealand continue steady, and the amount of disengaged tonnage seeking employment in that direction is not abundant. For Cape ports tonnage is in fair request at about rates last quoted. Coal freights to the Cape, India, and China are weaker. Homeward business, both for steamers or sailers, is almost nil.

TONITE, OR COTTON POWDER.

THE SAFEST, STRONGEST, AND CHEAPEST OF ALL EXPLOSIVES.

Recommended to MINERS, PIT SINKERS, QUARRYMEN, and CONTRACTORS as the MOST EFFICIENT and ECONOMICAL BLASTING AGENT ever invented.

Results of practical experience show a saving of from 15 to 20 per cent. over the strongest explosives previously in use.

It saves labour in drilling holes, as a less number of holes are needed.

It does not require thawing, but is ready for use at all temperatures and in all climates.

It can also be advantageously used in breaking up boulders, extracting stumps, removing wrecks, exploding torpedoes, and for submarine purposes in general, as well as for signal lights and fog signals for ships.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23; Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS AND THE CHINESE LEGATION.

The following Address and Reply, which have passed between the Society of Friends and the Chinese Minister, have been forwarded to us for publication :—

FROM A MEETING REPRESENTING THE RELIGIOUS SOCIETY OF FRIENDS IN GREAT BRITAIN, HELD IN LONDON THE 7TH OF THE 9TH MONTH, CALLED SEPTEMBER, 1877.

To Kuo-ta-jin, Ambassador Extraordinary from the Emperor of China.

We approach the Ambassador with the respect due to his high position, and we rejoice at the evidence afforded by his presence in this land of the existence of those friendly relations which we trust may ever subsist between our two great countries.

As the followers of the Lord Jesus Christ it is the joy of our hearts to be made partakers of that love in which the God and Father of all sent his son to be the Saviour of the world. The Lord Jesus Christ gave Himself a ransom not for one nation only, but for all men, expressing in that glorious act the great truth that all are alike precious in the sight of God, who hath made of one blood all nations, and who would have them all to live in love as brethren, the children of the same Almighty Father.

War and bloodshed must not be charged upon Christianity, but upon the evil passions of men ; they are utterly opposed to the precepts and example of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and must cease whenever men and nations come fully to believe and obey Him.

Our religious society has always accepted these great principles of Christian faith, and felt it a duty to act upon them. It is a grief to us whenever anything occurs to interrupt peace and goodwill between nations ; and it is our earnest desire that our countrymen everywhere may increasingly act out these principles both in their public and private conduct, and in all their trade and intercourse with other nations.

Fraud and falsehood, no less than violence, are forbidden by Him who commanded his followers to love their enemies, and to act towards others as they would desire others to act towards themselves. We believe that it is not the will of our Father in heaven that one man should have property in his fellow man ; we look with abhorrence upon slavery in all its forms, and pray that the day may be hastened when this fearful scourge with all its attendant evils may be driven from the earth.

We have deplored the traffic in opium, originating in contravention of the laws of China, and shall rejoice to do our part in every effort to discourage it between our two countries, and at the same time to promote the increase upon right principles of a sound and beneficial commerce.

We rejoice to learn that tranquillity is now restored to the Empire of China. We pray the Almighty Ruler of the universe that it may please Him to bless the inhabitants of our two countries, and so to guide the counsels of their rulers that the peace which now so happily unites them may continue upon an enduring basis, and that our own beloved country in her intercourse with China may more and more manifest the genuine fruits of Christianity in that righteousness which alone truly exalteth a nation.—Signed by direction and on behalf of the meeting by GEORGE STACEY GIBSON, Clerk.

To George Stacey Gibson, Esq., and others representing the Society of Friends of Great Britain and Ireland.

It is now some time since I first heard of the existence of your Society, which has for its object the establishment of universal peace and the amelioration of mankind ; this subject has my entire sympathy ; it affords me, therefore, great pleasure to meet you to-day, and to listen to the expression of your wishes. Of the friendly intercourse between our two nations, and the putting down of the opium traffic of which you speak, it is my duty to take cognisance.

In this connection, I think it right to refer to the Chefoo Convention concluded last year. The satisfactory settlement then arrived at was owing to Sir Thomas Wade's policy of effecting an equitable compromise. I now hear, however, that the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce contemplate petitioning the Foreign-office, and protesting against the ratification of the Convention ; thus further discussion on the subject may become inevitable.

It is argued by foreign merchants that the difficulty experienced in disposing of foreign goods is owing to the heaviness of the import and lekin duties. In my opinion, however, this statement is by no means borne out by the facts of the case ; in the first place, of late years new markets have been opened, trade has been distributed, and profits have been curtailed ; in the next place, opium smoking is becoming more prevalent among the Chinese, entailing poverty and starvation, both by cold and hunger ; the ability, therefore, to purchase foreign goods is small ; take, for instance, cotton piece goods ; formerly a Chinese foot of this fabric cost from eighty to one hundred copper cash ; now it costs but forty or fifty cash, or less by one-half than it did some twenty years ago ; thus the additional levy of the lekin duty has not caused a rise in the price, which, on the other hand, has been considerably lowered. The real cause, therefore, why trade is bad and profits unremunerative must be sought for in the fact that, before opium-smoking was indulged in, families whose incomes were ample to provide them with food and clothing have since the contraction of the habit found these incomes barely sufficient for its indulgence ; raggedness and poverty increase day by day, and the purchase of the necessaries of life becomes impossible ; thus the evils attendant on opium smoking are greatly felt in China. Even, therefore, if China did not insist upon levying both the import and lekin duties the resources of the people would still be inadequate for the extensive purchase of foreign goods. The principle of trade is, that goods purchased at a high price must also be disposed of at a high price ; and that goods purchased at a low price must be disposed of at a low price. As the Chinese say, "When the water rises the boats are lifted." Thus there are no advantages or disadvantages on either side, and the impoverishment of the people is the sole cause of the accumulation of unsold goods.

The total annual import duties collected on opium in China amount to but £600,000 or £700,000, together with the lekin duties, £1,000,000. The sum is not great, and its collection cannot have much effect on foreign trade. The Chinese Government now contemplate taking measures to prohibit opium smoking in China ; thus it may be hoped that the use of the drug will gradually diminish.

For two years India has suffered much from famine, and the people from want of food ; this want is, in a great measure, owing to so much land being devoted to the cultivation of the poppy, by which that of cereals for the sustenance of the people is curtailed ; when, therefore, there is a drought, the people, unless they have accumulated stores, cannot tide over the misfortune. Thus the evil of opium, by the substitution of the poppy for the more legitimate tillage of the corn fields, is seen to be greatly felt even in India. If, therefore, India could be persuaded to grow cereals instead of opium, a great step would be gained towards the future support (in case of similar calamities) of the people.

The Chefoo Convention has now been in existence for over a year ; both China and foreign nations are fully aware of its stipulations, which have on neither side given rise to suspicion ; it is, therefore, desirable to dissuade the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce from protesting against its ratification, as by such ratification many interests will be secured.

The forms and ceremonies of religions are different, but the principle of doing good upon which they are based is the same ; to treat others as one would wish to be treated, to be loyal, and to exercise forbearance are the guiding principles of all religions. I shall ever have before me the fundamental principle of your Society, which consists in treating all men with the same good will, regardless of race or creed. KUO SUNG-TAO.

London, Sept. 21.

The Daily News has the following :—We publish the reply of the Chinese Minister to a memorial from the Society of Friends, by a deputation of whom it was formerly presented to his Excellency. The interview was a private one, and no portion of the long and animated conversation which, we understand, took place between the Envoy and the deputation has been allowed to meet the public eye. Kuo made, as our readers have seen, a careful reply in writing to the address ; and with the instinct of a practical politician he seized upon that passage in it which more immediately affects the interests of his own country. A few days ago we called attention to the fact that the Chefoo Convention, although concluded last year, has not yet been ratified. There is reason to believe that the ratification of the treaty has been delayed by the objections which have been urged against it by the representatives of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, who are specially apprehensive lest the new arrangements for the levy of likin—as the inland duties upon imports are called—should prove injurious to foreign commerce in general, and to the Indian opium trade in particular. It is to this point that Kuo addressed himself with great earnestness ; and his remarks on this subject must be regarded as an appeal both to our Foreign-office and to public opinion in this country to support Sir Thomas Wade's Convention as "an equitable compromise" between the two Governments. He insists that foreign trade has not suffered, and is not likely to suffer, from the Chinese fiscal system, the revenue derived from the likin duties being in amount extremely moderate ; but urges that the real cause of the inability of the Chinese to purchase foreign goods is the poverty and ruin caused by opium-smoking. It is probable that the Chinese Minister does not allow sufficiently for the prohibitive effect of the duties ; and we hope he exaggerates the widespread distress springing from the use of opium. The Chinese Government contemplates taking measures to prohibit opium-smoking in China. How far preventive legislation will succeed in China, we have no means of judging. It is hard to prevent people from getting what they want to have, however undesirable. Everybody must wish that the use of this noxious drug may be discouraged ; but a moral reform need not interfere with the establishment of a sounder fiscal system in China.

LIKIN AND THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

Upon this subject Mr. F. S. Turner, Secretary to the Anglo-Oriental Society for the Suppression of the Opium Trade, has addressed the subjoined letter to the Daily News :—

As the Chinese term likin, must be strange to most of your readers, perhaps you will find space to insert a few lines on the meaning of the term, and its history in connection with the still unratified Convention. Li means the thousandth part of the liang, or Chinese ounce (translated by us "tael"), in terms of which all accounts in China are kept. Kin means money. To take likin, or thousandths money, is therefore exactly equivalent to our levying a percentage. Technically, however, likin was originally used to denote an extraordinary percentage levied upon mercantile transactions to meet exceptional necessities of the Government in time of war or rebellion. Its exceptional character, however, is not unlike that of our income tax, for since foreign merchants in China first became acquainted with it, it has been a constant tax, and there is no prospect of its ever being removed. Likin is not mentioned in the Treaty of Tientsin, Art XXVIII., which recognises the right of the Chinese to levy transit duty, and provides for the foreign merchant the option of commuting all such dues for a single payment of two and a half per cent. ad valorem. In consequence of this omission, some foreign merchants protested against the payment of likin altogether, but our Government has never adopted this objection, Sir Frederick Bruce, Sir Rutherford Alcock, Sir Thomas Wade, and, I believe, all impartial persons, fully admitting the Chinese right to levy inland dues under any name they please, of course subject to the clause about commutation for 2½ per cent. But a more serious objection was raised against the levying of likin within the treaty ports; the foreign merchant asserting that all such dues were only leviable at the first inland barrier after leaving the port. To add to the difficulty the treaty ports have no defined boundary. In consequence of this state of things continual attempts to evade payment of likin, especially upon opium, were made, and a condition of trade ensued which revived on a smaller scale the old abominations of opium smuggling. The opium on arrival at Shanghai was sold to and landed by foreign merchants in comparatively a small way of business. Parsees and others, who brought the opium chests into their offices, opened them and sold to Chinese purchasers. These purchasers would remove the balls of opium, frequently at night, in small parcels, and thus evade the likin. Sometimes foreigners were employed by the Chinese to convey opium away in sedan chairs, and the attempt of the Chinese Custom-house officers to arrest them and confiscate the opium was met by the assertion that the drug was still foreign property, and that the foreign merchant was not liable to pay this duty. Sir E. Hornby, late Judge of the Supreme Court at Shanghai, pronounced a decision to this effect. The Chinese, however, never admitted the competency of the Court nor the validity of the decision. It is evident that here we have a most unseemly state of trade; one calculated to foster smuggling, and to breed ill-will between the two Governments. Sir Thomas Wade seized the occasion to put an end to this state of things. First, he conceded to the Chinese that the treaty port, within the limits of which only import duty and not likin should be leviable. should be defined as the area rented by foreigners, or, as they are called, the foreign "concessions." Next, in regard to opium, he abandoned exemption of likin altogether, and arranged that the drug should be kept in bonded warehouses under the surveillance of the Customs until the Chinese purchaser had paid the likin upon it. As regards the actual money difference these new regulations will make to trade, they cannot, on the supposition that the trade is honestly conducted, amount to more than a small fraction of the whole duties —viz., that portion paid by consumers living within the treaty ports. The great gain to China will be the prevention of smuggling, which, by the Chefoo Convention, will be rendered more difficult in the case of all goods, and apparently impossible in the case of opium. Great Britain compels China to admit Indian Opium; if she refuses this concession to China, then, in fact, she becomes the ally of the native smugglers. Do we mean to revive the flagitious policy which led to the opium war? These is no question of prohibitive duties before us. While India gets £90 per chest of opium in Calcutta, and £60 in Bombay, and China on her side is only levying about £10 per chest, it is not for Great Britain to object to prohibitive duties; but if China desires to increase her taxation upon opium she has the full right to do so already, and the Chefoo Convention does not touch this right one way or the other. One word more. The negotiations between Sir Thomas Wade and the Chinese Government extended over eighteen months. The proposals came from Sir T. Wade, in particular the proposal to deal with the likin difficulty came from him, and he insisted upon the agreement being accepted or rejected by the Chinese "as a whole." These statements are taken from his own report, published in the Blue-book—see pages, 114, 116, 119, 128, 130, and especially 136. The agreement was accepted, "as a whole" by Li Hung-chang and his Government, the threat of war being in the background. Sir Thomas Wade took care to secure all the advantages conceded to him by the clever stipulation that they should be granted without waiting for ratification—see his despatch to Lord Derby covering the Convention (page 63), and the Convention itself. If after this the British Government repudiates the counter-concessions made to China, i.e., these two new arrangements about likin, then good-bye to our reputation for good faith in China. It did not stand high in Commissioner Lin's days, but one would fain hope it has improved since. But if we refuse to carry out this concession about opium lest we should enable the Chinese to checkmate the opium smugglers, it is not China only which will accuse us of sharp practice.

TEA CULTIVATION IN AMERICA.

The Globe says:—Brother Jonathan is beginning to turn his attention seriously to the cultivation of tea in his own domain. He has plenty of ground to spare for the purpose, and the practicability of it has long been put beyond question by the actual growth of tea on a small scale in various parts of the States. In the Southern and Western portions of the Continent it is said that the tea plant thrives quite as well as on the other side of the Pacific, and perhaps if soil and climate were the only consideration to be taken into account, we might soon have Jonathan as vigorously engaged in the growing of tea as he is commonly supposed generally to be in the concoction of spruces and juleps. Almost anywhere within 45 degs. of the Equator this hardy shrub may be grown in the open air and will thrive, and there can be little doubt that the continents of North and South America both present vast tracts of land on which the tea plant might be largely cultivated. The one difficulty to be overcome is that of obtaining labour sufficiently cheap to make it worth while to compete with the Chinese market, and this difficulty China herself seems to be very likely to overcome for her neighbours. As everybody is aware, the exportation of Celestials has long been rather a nuisance to various quarters of the world, and to the western portion of the United States in particular. Possibly it has occurred to Yankee enterprise to retaliate upon John Chinaman after the manner in which the publicans here turned the tables on the grocers by setting up a Licensed Victuallers' Tea Association when the grocers took to selling wines and spirits. To set up the plantations, and draw off the Celestials to work upon them as fast as they are imported, would certainly be one way of solving the formidable coolie difficulty in California, and might ultimately suggest to China the advisability of putting some sort of check on her emigration.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, Oct. 9.

The weather during the past week has been bright, but for the eason cool. The harvest has made fair progress, but the still-standing part of the crop will prove a failure, the only thing being spoken of in a satisfactory tone being the potato crop, which, in spite of the disease prevailing during the summer and autumn, will show a good result.

The Emperor will return to Berlin on the 20th of this month, and the next day the members of the Prussian Diet will reassemble. The opening of the Landtag by his Majesty in person is considered probable. Prince Bismark left his estate at Friederichsruh near Hamburg, and arrived in the metropolis on the 3rd inst. On the 6th he presided at a Council of the Ministers, and yesterday he left the capital for Varzin. At the same momont a rumour has been set afloat according to which the Prussian Minister of Commerce, Herr von Achenbach, has been dismissed, but whether this is true remains to be seen. In the meanwhile Herr von Achenbach has gone on a trip through Schleswig-Holstein, and has visited en route the Exhibition of German coal, which is being held here, as I reported in my last letter. Yesterday the Congress of Social Politicians was opened at Berlin, and will last for three days. On the second-day the commercial treaty between Austria and Germany is one of the topics of discussion.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company held an extraordinary meeting of shareholders on the 6th inst., in order to resolve on a reduction of the paid-up capital of twenty-two-and-a-half millions of marks to fifteen millions. The proposal of the directors was passed, and now we must wait for the resolution of a second meeting, called for the 20th of this month, in order to state that resolution as a legal one. As for the East Siberian Trading Company I am able to report some further details. The creditors of that establishment granted a three years' moratorium, as the technical expression is of one year, which has further to run. All creditors will probably receive 30 per cent., but the capital paid up by the shareholders is considered as a total loss.

With reference to the trade between Europe and Northern Siberia, by way of the Arctic Sea, during the present year we learn that this new route has been already used by three vessels. The steamer Frazer, 150 T.R., Captain Dallmann, left Bremerhaven on the 24th July, loaded with tobacco, sugar, and machineries. On the 9th August, after taking in coals, she proceeded from Hammerfest, reached the entrance of the Jenissei river on the 21st August, and stayed three weeks in the river, leaving again on the 17th September. Already on the 24th Sept. the steamer again arrived at Hammerfest, thus having used only ten days through the Arctic Sea and the Straits of Matoskin Skar; this steamer was chartered by Mr. Sibirjakow, a member of the Geographical Society at Bremen. A far more astonishing voyage was made by the little steamer Luise, 50 T.R.; this vessel, under command of Captain Dahl, was despatched, 18th July, from Hull to the river Ob (North-Western Siberia), loaded with iron and olive-oil. Hitherto, never a vessel had ventured to enter into the latter river, but the Luise not only happily got through all the banks and narrows of its entrance, but even went up fully 1,200 miles to the interior of Siberia, and on the 20th September the captain was able to telegraph his arrival at Tobolsk, the capital of Siberia. This voyage, an undertaking of a merchant, Mr. Trapeznikow at Moscow, has opened an immense field of rich produce to the seafaring trade. A sailing vessel finally, called the Nordlicht, Captain Schwanenberg, which had been built in the Jenissei river, left the entrance of that river on the 21st of August, and passing the Karian Sea without meeting any obstacles, safely arrived at Vardoe (Norway) on the 16th Sept. She brings a small cargo of Siberian produce, especially graphite. The steamer Thames, under command of Capt. Wiggins, after staying all the winter in the Jenissei river, when returning to Europe during the summer, had the misfortune to get ashore at the entrance and could not be brought off again, notwithstanding all the cargo being thrown overboard, amongst it all the valuable collections of the English naturalist, Mr. Seabohm, who intended to return to Europe in this steamer.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Business in our Produce Markets has shown considerable activity during the past week, and transactions both on the spot and for future deliv ery have been of pretty good extent. The raising of the rates of di scount at London and Berlin has had no visible influence here.

COFFEE.—Sales have been large, and the arrivals of Rio and Santos Coffee of the new crop, which is of very good quality, have found ready buyers. The stock declared on the 29th of last month amounted to only 24½ million lbs., thus showing a decrease of 10 million lbs. during the month of September, while only ca. 6 million lbs. have come to hand during the same period. The market therefore closes with a firm tendency. Quotations—Java quality m.1.0 to 1.50 per lb.

SUGAR.—No sales of first-hand parcels are reported. Quotations are:—Manila brown, clayed m.23 to 25½; do. unclayed, m.18½ to 20; Mauritius, brown, m.18 to 24; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.27 to 29; do. brown, m.18½ to 24½; Siam, Benares and China, white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.21 to 30; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 26, per 100 lbs.

RICE.—Transactions in dressed quality have been of limited extent, but the market is rather firm. Fine Java table Rice has been in more demand at current quotations. Of raw quality no sales are reported.

TEA is quiet, and there have been no sales of importance.

COTTON is in good demand at rising quotations. Transactions have only been made in American provenience.

SPICES.—Nutmegs m.2.75 to 3.20 per lb.; Mace, m.2.20 to 2.30; Cloves are in better demand, Zanzibar, m.138 to 139; Pepper unchanged, Singapore quality at m.37 to 37½, Batavia and Penang, m. 34½ to 35, White, m.64 to 72.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

There has been little fluctuation in speculative Stocks during the past week. The interest of operators on the Bourse has been centered in the new Hungarian Loan. Quotations have remained unchanged, but the market closes with a rather feeble tendency. Latest quotations are:—

SHIPPING.

Business on the river-side of late has been fairly active, and as a good many arrivals have taken place our harbour presents a satisfactory show of Transatlantic vessels. Departures have been impeded by a gale from the northward, which caused several casualties at the mouths of the Weser and Elbe rivers, happily without in any case a fatal result. Of arrivals from the Far East I have to report the Galatea, s.s., Boehme, from China; Jules Dufaure, Camille, from Sourabaya; Bodilo, Hacke, from Tonga-Tabu, and Alardus, Voss, from Rangoon. The departures have been the Feronia, s.s., Schultz, for Shanghai; Fortuna, Strohsahl, for Rangoon, and Fidelio, Bohsen, for Hong Kong. At Bremen there have arrived:—Aberfoyle, Tasway, from Moulmain; Viola, Roe, from Bombay. The departures are the Bremen, Furst, Bismark, Kellerr, for East India. On the berth are:—A. H. Wille, Haeveker, for Rangoon; Dione, Brandt, for Penang and Singapore; Indra, Wilder, for same destination; Pandur, Jessen, for Manila (a new vessel); Civiale, Nissen, for Bangkok; Oscar, Windhorst, for Hong Kong; Anna Bertha, Krause, for same direction; Bonito, Wesenberg, for Chefuh, and August, Rus, for Japan. Freights appear to be recovering a little, but owing to the great surplus of disengaged tonnage are still far from being satisfactory.

HOLLAND.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.

We are still anxiously expecting the solution of the Ministerial crisis. It is by no means certain what will happen. The Liberal papers, or most of them, are demonstrating the necessity for a Liberal Government; but there are some organs of the same political colour which think it unfair, that the Cabinet should have been condemned by la mort sans phrase. According to their opinion, either a vote of want of confidence ought to have been pronounced by a large and powerful majority, or the Opposition should have been obliged to wait for the result of the debates upon the Lower Class Education Bill. The question now is whether the King will accept the resignation of the Ministers. Many influential politicians are of opinion that the King will prefer a dissolution of the Second Chamber, although there is every probability that the same members would be re-elected. It seems very easy to overthrow a Cabinet, but it is enormously difficult to find a Ministry which can command a majority for the Bills which are to be brought forward, and I believe that the Liberals would stumble over the same block, which has been thrown in the path of the Conservatives; in other words, that it will be impossible for them to reorganise the Education question in such a way as to please the majority of the nation. This, indeed, would be a most difficult task, and therefore it would have been preferable that the Bill of Mr. Heemskerk should have been discussed, the more because he stated that he wished for co-operation between political parties upon this non-political question. The Liberals were of another opinion, and caused a crisis. It may be that Mr. Heemskerk is somewhat reluctant to apply such a radical measure as a dissolution of Parliament. A rumour is current that the King intends to marry again, and that the Ministers opposed this intention; that the Premier refused to ennoble Mademoiselle d'Ambre, and that this caused discord between the King and the Cabinet, so that Mr. Heemskerk was very willing to resign. I need not add that I cannot guarantee the entire truth of these on dits, but it seems to be the fact that the King, after having tried in vain to have Mademoiselle ennobled by Marshal Macmahon, succeeded in having this done by the Luxemburg Cabinet. Rumours are in circulation that the Prince of Orange intends to marry a German princess, but this tale has been so many times told that it is now generally disbelieved. The Paris paper, Le Français, announces that the King intends to pass the winter in Paris. This can hardly be so, as his Majesty purchased some days ago a beautiful seat near Ryswyk, from Messrs. D. De Boer and Zoon, for an amount of f.85,000. This chateau is now being fitted up in a most lavish manner, and will be, it is thought, the Royal residency for some months. It has created much astonishment that during the last few weeks we have had a shower of decorations. Mr. Van Lansberge has had conferred upon him the Grand Cross of the Order of the Netherlands Lion, which he well deserved for his services at the Conference at Brussels in 1874, and still more by his ability displayed as Governor-General of Netherlands-India.

Mr. Goeman Borgesius, editor of the Liberal paper Het Vaderland, has been selected as candidate for the election, which will take place at Winschoten, to fill up the seat left vacant by the appointment of Dr. Jonchblaet as Professor at the Academy of Leyden. There is little doubt of his being returned.

I regret that I have to note the death of Mr. Ruydenaers, our Consul at Alexandria.

Mr. J. R. Kleyn has had conferred upon him the Christus Order by the King of Portugal. This gentleman resides at Batavia.

The Bourse has remained very quiet, and quotations have undergone but very trifling alterations. The rate of discount is somewhat higher, 3½ per cent. being paid.

In our commercial circles an address has been circulated, to be forwarded to the Minister of the Colonial Department, in order to protest against the selling of Java coffee once a month during ten months in the year. This system is judged to be hurtful, because Java coffee is not nearly of so excellent a quality as it was formerly; the Brazils and the English Indies producing sorts which compete with even superior Java quality. The petitioners wish that supplies should be sold as they arrive.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Trade continues dull, and transactions have been very trifling in extent.

COFFEE.—The market is very quiet, and trade has been most limited. Only some parcels of private import have changed hands.

TEA very quiet; but prices are well maintained.

SUGAR.—Owing to absence of offers trade looks dull. The stock is exhausted, and no floating cargoes are offered in the market. About 2,000 mats have changed hands at October value.

TOBACCO (Java).—The trade is busy inspecting the lots (21,815 bales) to be offered in the latter part of this month. The stock includes 27,412 bales Java, 4,160 bales Sumatra, 3,375 bales Manilla, 3,000 bales E.I.

COTTON is very firm; a good business has been done in this article at advancing prices. A special demand has prevailed for American sorts.

SPICES.—Nutmegs and Mace have enjoyed a good demand. Cloves are somewhat duller, but the transactions have been of some importance.

PEPPER is very firm, the 2,034 bags ex Noach IV. were not sold, the biddings being insufficient.

RICE.—Uncleaned sorts are rather dull, but a good demand has prevailed for cleaned.

INDIGO is very quiet. The last auctions have given a satisfactory result. The trade, however, is now fully provided. About 150 chests have changed hands.

HIDES dull. In the course of this month large parcels will be brought under the hammer.

TIN has met with more demand, and some lots of Banca were sold at f.41.50, and Billiton at f.39 to f.39¼.

THE BOARD OF TRADE RETURNS.

The Statistical Returns of the imports into and exports from the United Kingdom in the month of September have been issued. The total declared value of the imports in the month was £28,234,769, being 8 per cent. less than in the corresponding month in 1876, and 8½ per cent. less than in September, 1875. For the first nine months of the year the total is £292,528,403, or 3¾ per cent. more than in the same period in 1876, and nearly 4 per cent. more than in the first three-quarters of the previous year. The value of the British exports in the month was £17,095,426, being 3¾ per cent. less than in September, 1876, and 13¾ below the total in the same month in 1875. For the nine months this year the aggregate was £147,663,519, or 2¼ per cent. below last year, but 12¾ per cent. below 1875 during the same period. The other principal decreases for the month in Imports are in cotton and flax. The principal increases are in iron ore, silk, both raw and manufactured, sugar, both refined and unrefined, and wood and timber. The principal decreases of the month as regards exports were in coal, coke, &c., copper, cordage, iron and steel, silk manufactures, woollen and worsted yarn and manufactures. The principal increases were in cotton and linen manufactures.

The total of gold and silver imports during September amounted to £4,321,744, against £4,204,367 in 1876, and £1,790,203 in 1875. For the nine months the imports were £28,882,000, against £28,524,663 in the like period of 1876, and £26,457,096 in 1875. The exports of gold and silver in the month of September were £3,436,282, against £2,853,665 in the corresponding period of 1876, and £1,561,953 in 1875. In the nine months just expired the exports were £31,353,785, against £16,155,515 in the like period of 1876, and £16,795,226 in 1875. In September, 1875, the imports exceeded the exports by £228,240, in 1876 by £1,350,712, and in 1877 by £885,462. In the nine months of 1875 the imports exceeded the exports by £9,661,870, and 1876 by £12,369,148, whilst in 1877 the exports exceeded the imports by £2,471,785.

The following is an extract from these Returns of the figures which refer to our export trade with China and the Far East:—

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

A very strong and firm tone has pervaded the market, in sympathy with the continued large sales of Cotton at daily advancing prices. The improved feeling has failed, however, to stimulate the demand for goods, and the extreme rates asked still keep the transactions within narrow limits. Yarns are more easily saleable at the enhanced values, and some resales have been effected at fully ½d. above the lowest point.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 29th August, and we have advices via San Francisco ten days later, viz., to the 8th September. The French mail from London, July 13, arrived out on the 29th August, and the following P. and O. mail of July 20 was received on the 2nd Sept.

Since last mail but little of purely local interest appears to have taken place in Yokohama, but this is compensated for by very startling news, of which the papers are full, having been received from the seat of war. The Japan Mail of the 8th Sept. says:—

The news of the past week from the seat of war in the South must have satisfied the most ardent lover of the sensational, who could scarcely in his wildest dreams have been prepared for the announcement that a body of the Satsuma forces had made their reappearance at Kagoshima and successfully obtained possession of the city. As to the manner in which this manœuvre has been accomplished we cannot yet give full and reliable details, but it seems more than probable that Saigo and the forces under his personal leadership have never been engaged until lately with the Imperialists, but have been quietly lying hidden in some mountain stronghold, where they could watch the progress of events and be ready to take advantage of any carelessness of their antagonists resulting from the over confidence wrought by their apparent success. It is said that the insurgent forces, which were gradually driven into a corner of Hiuga, abandoned stronghold after stronghold with scarcely a blow being struck, and finally surrendering in a body—as it is now stated—without any final struggle, were mere decoy ducks. That they had instructions to act in this manner, leading the Imperialists to suppose that they were following Saigo's real army, and that in forcing their surrender they were crushing out the war. Be that as it may, Saigo or Kirino—it is doubtful which—suddenly appeared at Yokogawa in Osumi, where a terrible battle was fought, resulting in total defeat, with great slaughter, of the Imperialists under General Miyoshi. It is also rumoured that two of the principal Imperial Generals were killed and another seriously wounded. The Satsuma troops then marched on Kagoshima, which in spite of the presence of the fleet seems to have been left nearly undefended. Some fighting took place, and Kagoshima is once more in possession of its former masters. On the entry of the insurgents the greatest panic prevailed, the Governor and other officials managing to get on board the Takachiwo Maru and escape to Nagasaki. It was at first reported that this bold dash was performed by only about three hundred men, but the numbers have already mounted up to as many thousands, and there can be little doubt that Saigo and Kirino are both at the head of formidable bodies. It is also rumoured that a large amount of money, some thousands of stands of arms, several Gatling guns, abundance of ammunition and Government stores of all kinds have fallen into the hands of the victors. This may very probably be the case, as Kagoshima was the head-quarters of the Government, and so sudden was the attack that there was no time to remove anything.

The Mainichi Shimbun states that the Kanagawa Ken officials have concluded an agreement with a contractor for the sum of 300,000 yen to clean out all the wells connected with the aqueduct which supplies the native town with drinking water. This is considered a sanitary measure of the greatest importance, it being one calculated to repress the frequent and virulent attacks of typhoid fever to which Japanese towns are always subject.

The decision in H.B.M. Court, in the case brought by the Tokio fu against a British subject for the non-payment of ground-rent, has been decided, as expected, in favour of the plaintiff. This decision, it is noticeable, is in opposition to one given in the U.S. Court.

The Japanese navy has sustained a severe loss in the ironclad Riojo Kan. This vessel was driven on shore during a typhoon, and it was said was likely to become a total wreck. The Japan Herald gives the following particulars :—

We have received information that the Japanese ironclad Riojo Kan was driven ashore on one of the reefs opposite Kagoshima during the typhoon of the 26th ult. A portion of her guns were thrown overboard to lighten her, but she still remained on the reef, and we hear from private sources that she is so severely strained, and her armour plates are so badly wrenched, that it is doubtful whether she can be got off and refitted for service. A transport called the Kwantsu Maru foundered with a loss of five or six men, during the same gale, and several men-of-war and transports were also injured.

The above paper also gives the following news :—

The Imperial family has been placed in mourning in consequence of the death of the Princess Seikan-in-no-miya, a sister of the late Mikado, and widow of the last Shogun but one.

The Government continue to make large purchases of arms and ammunition.

Large reductions have been made in the expense of the Imperial Household.

Ohara, secretary to the Foreign Department, was assassinated on the 6th Sept. his wife also being severely wounded.

TOKIO.

The Tokio correspondent of the Japan Herald describes the opening of the National Exhibition at Uyeno as follows :—

"The official opening of the National Exhibition at Uyeno took place on the 21st of August, but, owing to some muddling and inexplicable mismanagement of the officials charged with its conduct, neither the foreign consuls nor the foreign press were invited. Taking the Exhibition as a whole, and making allowances for the inevitable difficulties attending enterprises of this kind, it is interesting and creditable ; nor, when the artistic proclivities and patient skill of the Japanese people are taken into consideration, could it well be otherwise. In every department of manufacturing industry—silks, lacquer, bronze, porcelain, and the thousand and one articles of daily life, the Exhibition teems with the best examples of what the artists and artisans of Japan of to-day can produce. Old curios and antiquities are not shown, and the lover of things of the past must look elsewhere for a gratification of his curiosity."

The six principal buildings—or Exhibition buildings in the stricter sense—bear, each of them, an inscription indicating their contents. Turning left from the entrance, these buildings will be found ranged in the following order :—1, Horticultural Hall; 2, Machinery Hall ; 3, Western Hall ; 4, Fine Arts Gallery (forms the side that faces the entrance); 5, Eastern Hall ; and 6, Agricultural Hall. These are all connected with each other by a short covered gallery, and are profusely decorated both inside and outside with flags, sometimes white with red borders, and sometimes red with white borders. The structures being, with one exception, only intended to remain as long as the Exhibition lasts, viz., until the 1st December this year, they are unpretending in appearance, and have been built in the most economical manner. They are all of wood, one storied, roofed with galvanised iron, floored with cement, lit by windows in the walls and by skylights in the roof, and painted, both inside and outside, with colours pleasing to the eye. Each building is built in form of a rectangle, but they vary considerably in size. The one exception from the general method of construction is the building for the Fine Arts, which is intended to remain standing, as an in memoriam, after the Exhibition shall have been closed. It has been erected by the Department of Architecture under the Ministry for Public Works, and is built in red brick, roofed with tiles, floored with boards, and lit by windows inserted in gables in the roof.

HIOGO.

We take the following from the Hiogo News :—

The news from the south tells us very little beyond what was known some days ago with regard to the principal theatre of operations. The leaders have apparently taken a sufficient following with them from Nobeoka to enable them to show some front in the hills, and the disintegration of the rebel forces which, from the appearance of small parties at different points, seem to be going on, was naturally to be looked for after their last base of operations was broken up.

It will perhaps be remembered that about a year ago a man who lived just below Sannomiya Station, suspecting the fidelity of his wife, made a visit to a house in the village just above the old race course, and brutally murdered a man he found there. We have just heard that the murderer has been beheaded in the jail, and it may be worth while to note that the sentence was carried out in accordance with the new law, that is, on the strength of the evidence only, the prisoner refusing to confess his guilt.

We believe it better for the future of Japan that the restless and ambitious pride of the Satsuma clan should receive a check ; in fact, considering what the attitude of that clan has till now been, we say nothing more than the simple truth when we say that only now is the Revolution, begun ten years ago, reaching completion, even geographically. The rivalry begotten of a clannish feeling between different sections of a nation is an excellent thing in its time and place, but it must stand in abeyance before the interests of the nation as a whole. When Japan was all the world to herself, provincial jealousies and hatreds were the yeast which kept her from stagnation and decay, but when she rose to the dignity of becoming a nation, instead of a mere cluster of islands in the Pacific, national unity became of more importance to her than whether Choshiu should carry home the head of Satsuma or Satsuma take home the head of Choshiu. Saigo, for aught we know, may have been, in pursuing his recent course, animated by the highest and purest motives, but from the very nature of the power to which he appealed—the clannishness of the Satsuma shizoku—his cause must stand condemned ; for, had he succeeded, his triumph would have been to a very great extent, whether he so intended it or not, the triumph of provincialism over nationalism. In support of our case we need only ask the question of all those who have conversed with intelligent Japanese, not being Satsuma men, during the progress of this rebellion, whether one of the strongest weapons in the hands of the Government throughout has not been the deep-seated distrust of the Satsuma clan entertained by nearly all other Japanese, and the conviction that, profess what they might, they were only fighting "for their own hand."

CHINA.

NEWCHWANG.

The Daily News correspondent writes under date of Aug. 23 :—

I am happy to say that the cholera has now almost disappeared. A few cases occur occasionally, and they may invariably be traced to a hearty meal off water-melons, cucumbers, raw tomatoes, or (and this seems to be the principal source of contagion, although unhealthy fruit and raw vegetables are perhaps an original cause) the non-removal of choleraic refuse. Two cases of death have occurred with natives in foreign service, but several cures have been effected with castor oil and rhubarb at once administered, and followed by a good dose of chlorodyne—warmth to the feet and stomach, by means of hot water bottles or bricks. In 1862 hundreds of natives were cured with liberal doses of brandy and cayenne pepper.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 2nd Sept. ; the French mail from London, July 13, was received on the 27th August, and the following P. and O. mail of 20th July arrived out on the 30th August.

The cool weather had fairly set in at the date of the last mail's departure, and the training for the autumn races had commenced. The pawnshop question had been further discussed, with a view of obtaining uniformity of action in the English and French settlements, and ultimately the French Council agreed with the English Council as to the advisability of closing the shops at ten P.M., in order to lessen the facilities to thieves for getting rid of their booty. At a meeting on the 20th Aug. the Bill for Tls. 12,299 for building the Bund Bridge over the Yang-king pang was agreed to. A request by a company of fifty Chinese to be allotted the monopoly of the 1,500 jinricksha licenses was refused. A letter from Mr. Cowie was read, asking the Council to cause to be removed certain houses built on the property of Mr. Baron, which, by their appearance and their state of insalubrity, tend to depreciate the neighbouring houses. The Council did not see that it could take such action; as regarded the question of public health, however, it would take care that the rules were enforced.

The North China Daily News notes that in consequence of the promulgation of a set of prohibitory lekin rules by the Taoutai of Wenchow, all shipments thither from Shanghai have been stopped; and the steamer Conquest taken temporarily off the line. It adds:—We have long since realised that the Mandarins believe commerce was created for purposes of taxation; but we have seldom seen more emphatic proof of the fact than in the two sets of rules which have lately come to our hand. Those regarding the ports of call on the Yangtsze seemed especially designed to hinder trade in their neighbourhood; and those which we publish regarding the port of Wenchow, out-do all previous compositions in the audacity of their provisions and of their misrepresentations. Viewed as amongst the first fruits of the Chefoo Convention, they furnish much food for reflection; and confirm all that was said at the time in our own columns, and those of our contemporaries, as to the extreme injudiciousness—to use no stronger word—of the so-called "lekin clause" of that document. Of course, nearly every statement in these rules as to what the treaties do say, is distorted and misrepresented; but it is quite possible also to see how every sentence has been ingeniously founded on the negative recognition of lekin outside foreign settlements, of which Sir Thomas Wade was guilty.

The above-named paper has also the following:—

As most of our readers are no doubt aware, a project has been started lately for getting up a Steam Washing Company in Shanghai, the capital to be Tls. 6,000, in 100 shares of Tls. 60 each. We are glad to learn that three-fourths of this sum has been subscribed; and when a few more signatures have been obtained it is, we believe, intended to call a meeting of subscribers, with a view to appoint a committee and commence operations. We wish Mr. Meller (who is energetically promoting the scheme) all success in his endeavours. The prospect of having one's clothes not knocked to pieces, and possibly of having one's shirts returned a little less the colour of pea soup, is one which only those who have lately come out from home can fully realise; but which every one can imagine with pleasure.

A meeting of debenture-holders in the Shanghai Sailors' Home was held on the 22nd August, when the Home, as a property, was shown to be in a fairly satisfactory position; that is to say, the trustees have some Tls. 6,000 in hand, and the frontage can be sold for sufficient to pay off the outstanding debentures. As a working institution, however, the position is much less promising, the superintendent having been unable to pay rent for nearly twelve months, owing to the falling off in the number of inmates. The sale of the frontage to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson, and Co., for Tls. 10,000, was authorised, and a committee was formed to consult upon some plan of reorganising the Home as a public trust.

Proceedings have been instituted in H.B.M.'s Supreme Court, on behalf of H.B.M.'s gunboat Frolic, against the steamer Dragon, which was placed under arrest by an order of the Court. We understand the necessary bail has been given, and that the Dragon leaves this evening for Japan and Vladivostock.

We hear the greater part of the claim for Hospital Dues, which formed one of the doubtful items in the winding-up value of the S. S. N. Company, is considered untenable at Washington. There is, however, still a question as to some of the steamers, involving about $4,000, which remains doubtful. The sum at first spoken of was $21,000.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. A. S. Harvey, late Acting British Consul at Kiungchow, has been obliged to go home on sick leave.

We understand that Mr. J. Middleton, of H.M.'s Consular service, who is home on furlough, is not likely to return to China.

Speaking of the suggested amalgamation of the offices of Consul and Judge, the North China Herald says:—

The amalgamation of the offices in the hands of one individual will be to over-work the Consul. And that difficulty cannot be met, even by increasing the Consular staff. There is work to which a Consul must personally attend, and the time of the Shanghai Consul, within whose jurisdiction the port of Chinkeang is also placed, is quite sufficiently occupied. To throw upon the same man the duties of a judge would be simply to overweight him, nnd lead to the inefficient performance of some of his duties. If, however, the abolition of the Supreme Court be resolved on, there is still a way of arranging the matter without the pluralism against which we protest. Let the British Consul at Shanghai be made a Consul-General, as he should have been years ago, and another official with the title of Legal Consul be appointed to attend to the law duties which now devolve upon the Judge. Of course it may be said that Consuls discharge the functions both of Consul and Judge at the outports, and that there is no reason why they should not do so equally well at Shanghai. But there are two reasons. In the first place the questions of all kinds, and especially the judicial ones, which arise at the small ports, are less frequent and generally less important than those at Shanghai. In the second place, the men at the outports are trained consuls; and, if it is a question between the two, we would much rather see a trained consul than a barrister placed in charge of the two offices. The former would be much less likely to make a mess of the legal business, than the latter would of the political, in such a country as China.

WENCHOW.

The North China Daily News correspondent writes:—

Trade here received a rude shock the other day by reason of the high lekin tariff which was suddenly sprung on us. A set of "rules," ludicrous in the extreme, accompanied the table of rates; and in it all the clauses in the Treaty alluding to the Customs were twisted round and made to bear on the subject of proclamation. For instance, one rule stated that by treaty (sic) foreigners as well as natives were subject to lekin. Again, another notified that twice a month the lekin officers would inspect foreign godowns, "and by checking the contents with the Customs statement the difference would show what goods ought to have paid lekin," &c., &c. This was stated to be an exact copy of the regulations in force at Ningpo. Extraordinary precautions were taken at first to prevent the circulating documents, containing the rules, falling into foreign hands; but in spite of all it was not long before our authorities were in possession of them. The Chinese immediately combined to resist the extortion, with the result of quite stagnating trade. Orders were sent to Shanghai to stop shipments. This last has had the effect of depriving us of our usual and solitary steamer. The native merchants further threatened to close their places, and in the end so intimidated the Taoutai that the proclamations were withdrawn and modifications promised. The merchants are not quite satisfied yet; but in escaping this Scylla I fear foreigners are threatened with a Charybdis. The "Ningpo lekin guild" have, of course, suffered severely by the opening of this port, and they are afraid that they may not realise even the comparatively small amount they pay for farming the tax.

They are, therefore, making great efforts to persuade one or two of the leading merchants here to join them in farming the likin at Wenchow. Now it will be remembered that at Ningpo they were quietly allowed to do this. They acquired the right to levy for a comparatively small payment, and forming a guild of all the native importers, the amount was readily made up by the imposition of a very low rate.

But the moment an unhappy foreigner dared to import a bale, he was taxed by these conspirators to the full theoretical amount, and not one step could his goods go until this was paid.

HONG KONG.

Dates by this mail extend to the 8th September; the French mail from London, July 27, arrived out on the 1st September, and the following P. and O. mail of August 3 was received on the 7th September.

The lenient policy of the Governor towards the criminal classes in Hong Kong was still the subject of much comment. The now celebrated Wong Apo, the individual convicted of burglary, brutal violence, and cell-breaking, and who said he dared not return to China because he murdered a man who, according to his story, killed his brother, had, however, at last to be thrashed. It seems that Wong had latterly varied his defiance of the prison regulations with occasional yelling and screeching, and these performances got so unbearable that the Visiting Justices were called in to consider what should be done with him. The result was a recommendation to the Governor that he should be flogged. If Wong had reckoned on his "No. 1 good Friend" saving him from a flogging he was rather disagreably surprised. His Excellency, in reply, wrote a despatch (it is said to have been of considerable dimensions) in which he reiterated his disapproval of the practice of flogging, but ultimately consented to the soothing effects of the rattan being tried on the rascal. Wong thereupon received twenty-four strokes from the rattan, and they are said to have worked a wonderful improvement in his condition.

The departure by the last French mail from the Colony of Mr. H. Magniac, of the firm of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., is noted with regret. Mr. Magniac was a very old resident, and, as one of the most honest and enthusiastic supporters of the thoroughgoing English sport of horse-racing, will be greatly missed in connection with the miniature Derby meetings at Wong-nei-chong. He had his first mount here at the Hong Kong Race Meeting of 1855, and ever since that time he has evinced the greatest interest in this wholesome sport in the Colony.

We take the following from the China Mail:—

A daring robbery was committed about noon of the 4th Sept., in the residence of Mr. F. Xavier, No. 59, Wyndham-street (close to the Central Police Station). It appears that four Chinamen, well armed with swords and knives, entered the house (by means of a bamboo scaffolding) while it was occupied by Mrs. Xavier only, her husband being absent on his official duties. The thieves proceeded upstairs, with the apparent knowledge that most of the valuables were there deposited, and having forced the lady downstairs, they gathered together all the money and jewellery they could lay their hands on, and broke into the wardrobe in order to extend their exploratious and add to their booty. Mrs. Xavier, though much frightened, went upstairs, but was stopped on the landing by one of the robbers, who threatened her with an open knife. No violence, however, seems to have been attempted by the rascals, the removal of the valuables apparently being the only object aimed at. Unfortunately, either the robbery was so sudden, or Mrs. Xavier's presence of mind was unequal to the occasion; anyhow, the scoundrels seem to have got away with their spoils without let or hindrance. That such an outrage should be committed in open day, under the very nose of the police, indicates that there is something radically wrong.

The Superintendent of the Jail (Captain Ducat) was robbed on the 5th in the prison of $40 and his revolver! The thief, a coolie employed in the prison, took the money and weapon from the Superintendent's quarters and then decamped.

The above-named paper gives the following particulars of the last of the Old Canton "Hong" Merchants, King-Qua whose death was mentioned by last mail:—

The last of the Hong Merchants has just died here, aged eighty-eight years. He succeeded his father, one of the leading members of the Co-Hong in the early part of this century, in the mandarin department of their Hong, nearly or quite half a century ago (Linchong being the chief partner), and was for many years prominent in the relations with foreign officers as intermediary, in conjunction with one or two other members of the Co-Hong. As such his position was often one of embarrassment and difficulty; but he seemed always to discharge the duties imposed upon him by the authorities with ability and untiring patience. His position was one of considerable advantage, in that his father had enjoyed the Emperor's favour and his elder brother had attained to the high rank of the Hanlin, although the family became relatively poor.

At present the son of the eldest brother, who is also a graduate of the Hanlin and has a red button, is in chief charge of the Lducational department here.

The original home of the family was at Whampoa. There are here left of his family, including sons, grandsons, great grandsons, nephews and their sons, forty-nine males; no account being given of the females in the funeral card.

His characteristics were in marked contrast to those of Pwan-Ting-qua, who had enjoyed the lavish use of a princely fortune, after attaining high literary rank at Peking; and whose decease we noticed in 1874. In short, King Qua was eminently a prudent, temperate man, who exercised a salutary influence upon his family and society in general.

SOOLOO.

A letter from this place says:—

The s.s. Pontianak, Far East, and the German schooner Minna, are here at present, and H.M. gunboat Curlew has left for Labuan, via Banma. Her visit here was to look after British interests in case of any molestation from the Spaniards. Mr. Treacher, Colonial Secretary of Labuan, was on board of her, and he paid a visit to the Sultan. The impression he has left with regard to the Spaniards is not very favourable, for I hear that he told the Sultan he need expect no help from the English. If the Sultan were to be the only sufferer, it would not matter so much; but he will not be the only sufferer, for whenever the Spaniards begin further conquest, British trade—which is very considerable—will cease. It is all very well for the Spaniards to give the English and German Governments protocols proclaiming free trade; that is all very fine in its way, but those who know Spaniards know that British trade will cease the moment the Spaniards are masters of the Sooloo Archipelago. Traders here prefer the rule of the Sultan, and it would be well of our Government if they would think a little of their own interest and the interest of the British Sooloo traders to put a stop at once to the intended occupying, by the Spaniards, of other Sooloo ports.

There is a party of some consequence sent specially by the Spanish Government to Banua (Soloo), to see whether or not Soloo is worth the lives of a few thousand Manila men, and he has come to the conclusion that it is, and has reported to his Government accordingly. It is a shame in this nineteenth century of ours that such piratical conquests should be allowed.

Trade is a little dull here at present, and, owing to the strong S.W. winds that have been blowing, shell is scarce.

The paddy is nearly ripe, so if the Spaniards do come suddenly they will find the Soloos well supplied with that commodity.

BORNEO.

SARAWAK.

A very interesting report on the state of the gambier plantations in Sarawak, by Mr. Oliver St. John, is published in the Gazette. There were, it appears, when first established, some twenty kangtchews. These finally settled down to seventeen groups of gardens, of which three have lately been abandoned, and there are now, therefore, fourteen under the management of three kongsis or companies. The size of the gardens varies from fifteen to forty acres, and their number and cost so far are as follow:—

No. 1 Company	170	gardens cost ...	...	$36,389.93
„ 3 do.	120	„ ...	...	23,515.24
Preliminary expenses		... ...	...	2,684.74
Making a total of		... ...	...	$79,818.52

of which $32,000 has been advanced by Government. The number of acres now under gambier cultivation is estimated at 10,000, with 800 to 900 men employed in the gardens, but when they commence to turn out gambier something like 4,000 men will be required. The present plantations are mere experiments, and should they be successful there is no reason to doubt that there will not be less than 2,000 to 3,000 gardens shortly planted in the Principality, employing 25,000 coolies. A difficulty may arise as to finding land sufficient and suitable. The immediate want is more coolies, none of the gardens having a sufficient supply; 1,500 more would be readily absorbed. The Towkays are about to commence the building of a new bazaar of substantial brick houses at an estimated cost of $45,000, thus showing that they are thoroughly in earnest in their endeavour to introduce the new cultivation into Sarawak. The probable out-turn of the present gardens cannot as yet be estimated.

The Gazette contains a comparative statement of the trade of the Principality, from which we take the following:—

	Foreign.	Coast.
Imports.
From Jan. 1 to June 30, 1877	... $424,482	... $299,250

The foreign imports and exports from Jan. 1 to June 30 this year were as follows:—

A general meeting of the shareholders of the Sarawak Steamship Company, Limited, was held at the offices of the Borneo Company, Limited, on the 21st August, when the directors' report and accounts for the half-year ending 30th June last were passed with a vote of thanks to the directors and agents for the satisfactory way in which the business of the company had been carried on. After writing off the usual depreciations and insurance reserves on the steamers Rajah Brooke and Royalist a dividend of 6 per cent. for the half-year was declared, making with an interim dividend of 2½ per cent. for the half-year ending 30th December, 1876, previously paid, 8½ per cent. for the year ending 30th June, 1877.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 15th September; the French mail from London, August 10, was received on the 9th September, and the following P. and O. mail of Aug. 17 arrived out on the 15th September. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times:—

We have much pleasure in testifying, from personal inspection of the Raffles Museum, to the interest which Dr. Dennys, the secretary, displays in his labour of restoring the Museum, or rather creating one out of an incongruous heap of specimens which hitherto lay in obscurity. Fourteen cases, clean and attractive in appearance, have been filled with specimens of all kinds, some most valuable and all more or less interesting. The improvements effected in the library itself strike a visitor prominently; a few coats of paint and whitewash have done wonders; and the careful classification of works under their various heads will render it an easy matter for the future reader who wishes to refer to any volume required. A very good bust of Sir Stamford Raffles is a happy addition to the furniture of the room, which altogether has undergone considerable renovation, under the superintendence of the new secretary, and when the second floor, which will be appropriated to Museum collections, shall have been furnished with its complement of cases a display will be made worthy of the Colony. It may interest subscribers to the Library to learn that the bound volumes on the shelves now amount to 7,648; namely—History, 1,172; Biography, 823; Travels, 1,221; Natural History, 136; Botany, 196; Geography, 129; Architecture and Mechanics, 26; Encyclopœdias, 66; Law and cognate subjects, 45; Essays, complete works, 527; Astronomy and Natural Philosophy, 51; Acoustics, Chemistry, &c., 34; Medicine, Surgery, &c., 21; Theology, 167; Works on Singapore and the Eastern Archipelago, 45; Philology, 69; Novels, &c., 2,058; Dramatic and Poetical Works, 243; Almanacks, Directories &c., 45; Mythology and Folk Lore, 21; Miscellaneous Works, 52; and Periodical Literature, 454. The following is a list of presentations to the Museum during last month:—Burmese passport, by Mr. H. J. Murton; 26 birds (mounted), a collection of shells, a collection of Hong Kong Ophidia, Curator of Hong Kong Museum; skin of a boa constrictor (21 ft.), Mr. Goodenough; 55 Malacca birds (unmounted), head of hog deer, Mr. R. Jamie; rhinoceros skeleton (and skin) in course of preparation, Australia ant-eater, Wedge-tailed eagle, Garden Committee, through Mr. H. J. Murton.

Mr. Douglas, our Colonial Secretary, whose experience of planting in Ceylon entitles his opinion to some weight, takes a much more cheerful view of the capabilities of the soil of Perak than the Resident, Mr. Low, did in the diary which he kept during his progress through the State. There are two hopeful signs which may be noted. One is that Mr. Tooth, the eminent sugar manufacturer of Queensland and Manila, is giving a practical proof of his opinion of the soil by erecting a large sugar-manufactory at the mouth of the Dinding river; and he has obtained a grant of a large tract of land in the interior upon which he intends to encourage and assist Chinese to settle and grow sugar for his manufactory. The other hopeful sign is the disposition manifested by the Natives. They one and all want British rule and protection, free from the tyranny and exactions of their Chiefs, and now that their dread of the return of the banished Chiefs are removed they are returning to their land and settling down to its cultivation with a feeling of confidence and security which cannot but have the best results.

The dread of the return of the Chiefs removed, one startling revelation was made to Mr. Douglas. This was nothing more nor less than that when Sir William Jervois made a tour of the State, in the beginning of September, 1875, a plot was organised by the Chiefs for the assassination of Sir William and the whole of the large party accompanying him at the great meeting of Sultan Abdullah, ex-Sultan Ismail, and all the Chiefs, which was to have been held at Blanja. A large collection of spears was made at the Balei or Audience Hall; the signal agreed upon was Sultan Abdullah's lifting his hand to his head, and Syed Mashor of Salangore was deputed specially, and undertook to despatch Sir William Jervois. This precious plot, of which all the Chiefs and nearly all the people seem to have been cognisant, did not come off, because Sultan Abdullah's nerve seems to have failed him, and he and his chiefs did not attend the meeting at Blanja. It might have been successful, for Sir William had but a slender guard, and he and his companions would be unarmed.

The finances of Salangore and Sunghie Ujong are in a much more satisfactory state, especially those of the latter. The debt of Salangore to the Colony on the 30th June last was $45,892.94, upon which it paid five per cent. interest, and at the same time the principal was slightly reduced. This state now possesses a small Legislative Council, under the Presidency of the Viceroy Tunku Dia Oodin, in which the Resident, Captain Douglas, and his assistant, Mr. Innes, have seats. The reduction of the duty on tin, the abolition of the duty on rice, and the reform of land regulations have lately occupied its attention. The debt of Sunghie Ujong to the Colony on the 30th June amounted to $29,399.46, which shows a reduction, after paying interest, of nearly $4,000, on the principal on 1st January last. This State appears to be in a very flourishing condition. The chiefs and people are quiet and contented, and, according to a diary of Captain Murray, R.N., the Resident, the best relations exist between him and the Datu Klana and the other Chiefs.

The British steamer Vidar, Captain R. Barrow, which has arrived from Sourabaya, brought thirty-seven deck passengers and six children, also the chief officer and sixteen men, the crew of the three-masted schooner Alice of Mauritius, Captain Estuber, from Sondalu, with horses for Mauritius, which was wrecked on an island on the 19th July, crew all saved, but Captain Estuber died the next day.

Rain has, we are informed, fallen plentifully all over Siam lately, and we learn, on good authority, that the prohibition of the exportation of rice which is to come into operation on the 27th inst. will be removed in the course of two months.

A contract for the erection of the New Exchange Buildings in Fort Fullerton, for $34,000, has been accepted by the Building Committee.

The Colonial Secretary has brought from Perak two mats worked with the most exquisite taste, which would do credit to the collection of a fancy mercer in Paris. Worked by hand, the display of colour in the silk facings is excellent, and, as the mats will both be sent to the forthcoming Paris Exhibition, some surprise will, no doubt, be created that only a half-civilised State should have developed such artistic taste.

From the Courrier de Saigon we learn that the departure of the French war steam transport, La Creuse, for Singapore and Toulon, with naval and military passengers, is fixed for the 20th Sept.

A correspondent writes:—

Our new judge (Woods) has arrived, and seems a very pleasant man. That is all we know of him at present, as he has not yet begun to sit in court. We are all anxiously expecting the new Governor, who will find quite as much on his hands to settle as he is likely to care for. The chief political question at present relates to the Muar state, which is at present without a master. The natives desire annexation and a Resident; but Colonel Anson seems to have put matters into the hands of the Maharajah of Johore, with (as his enemies assert) a view to the final absorption of Muar by its more prosperous neighbour. Whatever be the truth, a good deal of newspaper discussion has ensued, with the result of making people believe that something is wrong. Time will show.

As usual, our Municipal Council fails to please everybody Great complaints are made that the canals are permitted to be public nuisances, the stench from the mud at low water being overpowering. Flood-gates to be closed at half tides were proposed by some one in the daily paper, but for some unexplained cause nothing has been done; and fever and cholera are invited to do their worst. Altogether the Municipal idea is, as regards the busines quarter of the town, a failure. But then Singapore is patient, wonderfully so,—and such a trifle as an epidemic is not worth squabbling about, perhaps, after all.

Captain Walshe, our Inspector General of Police, leaves for home by this steamer, invalided, liver, I believe, being the cause. A police inspector at Penang has just been fined $100 and three months' imprisonment for accepting a bribe of twenty cents, so Captain Walshe has evidently woke up some of the force. The prisoner pleaded "an old and well-recognised custom" by way of excuse, but the magistrate did not see it. It is, however, worthy of more than passing notice that such an excuse should have been put forward—ay! and more than that, that it is actually recognised in some quarters as partially valid. The low pay given—far too little to secure the services of even moderately respectable people out here—of course accounts for the corruption which exists, but can hardly be said to justify it. A crusade is, it is said, being commenced against bribery, but unless the Government is both very strict and very determined, the attempt will be a failure.

Your influence would be exerted to a good end if you could contrive to impress upon the authorities the necessity for improvement in the interpreterial departments. Singapore is overrun with Tamils or Klings, yet there is not single official who can speak their language. So, too, with Chinese, who form nine-tenths of the community, and of whom but a small proportion speak English. Our energetic Inspector of Schools is very anxious to bring forward a good class of Chinese boys as interpreters but apparently meets with no encouragement. The cadets sent out in future should be required to learn either Tamil or a dialect of Chinese, so as to check the interpretation, which I suspect is anything but good, on account of the interpreters not knowing English. Everything is filtered through Malay, as everybody speaks it. But to make it the one serious study of all the cadet class is to throw away time. Why should Singapore in this respect be behind any Indian city? Oordu is not the only language studied by Indian officials by any means; of course they will have to pay for it, and pay well. But in this case the game is worth the candle. I hear that they offered the Protector of Chinese fifteen dollars a month for his performance of the duties of that office! He was interpreter, and as such has a defined position and pay, while the Government fancy that successors are to be had for the asking.

Speculation is agog as to who will succeed Captain Walshe as Inspector General of Police. Mr. Maxwell (now superintendent) certainly ought to have the acting appointment till Captain Danlop's return; but "oughts" sometimes turn to "crosses."

As a memo for the new Governor when he comes, I may add that a "Master and Servants' Act" is the most pressing domestic necessity at this moment. The proper policing of the settlement, the introduction of the captain system amongst the Chinese, and the divisions of the city into wards, a better fire brigade, a reconstructed municipal council and numerous other matters demand attention. Education too—secular education in its broadest sense—wants aid. I shall have something to say on these matters in my next.

PENANG.

The Penang Gazette has the following items:—

A Mr. M'Closky, late of Labuan, has, we see, been appointed to the Colonial Surgeoncy of Malacca; and rumour says Mr. Simon, the late incumbent of that appointment, is to go to Province Wellesley, vice Dr. Jackson, who has resigned the Straits Government service. If report speaks true, either the Secretary of State has acted in the most arbitrary manner in appointing an outsider, or both Sir William Jervois and Colonel Anson have not fulfilled their promises to the present "acting" incumbent. This, however, can scarcely be a matter for surprise, seeing the spirit of justice and refined sense of their respective obligations evinced by the actions of the above two high officials of late. There is this excuse for Sir William Jervois, he has left the colony; Colonel Anson has not! The former may possibly not have had an opportunity of fulfilling his promises; the latter has not this excuse to fall back on.

A gang of Teoh Chew Chinese, armed to the teeth, made a rush in at the Police-station at Pulo Teecoos, and after frightening and disabling the policemen in it they went across the road, broke and entered into a Chinaman's shop and carried away jewels and money to the amount of $2,000. When they were in the shop they met with some resistance, which they overcame, after inflicting serious wounds upon three of the male inmates, who are now lying in the General Hospital.

Mr. Justice Phillips will be relieved of his Penang duties by Mr. Justice Wood. The latter arrived in Singapore by the French mail.

From Perak we learn that H.M.S. Growler in going through the passage separating the island of Pangkore from the main land struck on a sandbank. The depth of water forward was five fathoms and aft three feet at low water. We are told that the position she at present lies in is a most perilous one. On the one side a dangerous reef stretches out, and on the other exists the sandbank on which the vessel now lies, the breadth of the fairway being no more than 100 yards, and the water shallows so suddenly on either side that soundings are of little avail, the sides of the bank and reef rising up so precipitously; and to add to the danger, the tides run during springs through this narrow channel at a tremendous rate. The Pyah Paket on her passage up from Singapore, having heard of the accident while in the Perak river, hurried to her assistance, and was requested to report her position to the authorities here, and obtain the assistance of lighters, &c., from Penang to relieve the vessel of her guns, &c.

It is gratifying to observe from our advertising columns that some of our Chinese residents have formed themselves into a Club, for mutual recreation, on principles and system quite European, and unlike their troublesome secret societies. To this club we learn the families of the members have been admitted to dinner parties and recreation, thus doing away with the cruel seclusion to which the women of other Chinamen are subjected. We hope the members of this club will yet introduce other reforms, and they certainly deserve to be encouraged; but in connection with the club we are assured they have yet more to do in order to bring it to a par with similar European institutions. We trust, however, that as the club grows older in a moral point of view it will be a benefit to its members. Our horse races also show that the Chinese are appreciating European sports. No doubt the more they come in contact with Europeans, the more they will learn to adopt their habits, and let us hope that the young Chinese will copy what is good in the institutions of the former while avoiding to imitate what is not.

Market Reports.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA.—During the interval that has elapsed since the 30th August, the market had become much quieter. Yarns were weaker, with the exception of medium spinnings of 16/24, which fairly maintained previous values. Grey Shirtings, in the absence of demand, quotations were nominal. The business done in Fancy Goods had been of a very trifling description, and Woollens still failed to attract much attention. There had been rather more doing in Metals, and sales of upwards of 300 tons of manufactured Iron are reported, chiefly assorted Bars.

TIENTSIN.—Business had been very quiet.

NEWCHWANG.—Owing to the panic consequent on the outbreak of cholera in the native city, business had been much neglected, but latterly, with a decline in the mortality, confidence had been restored. Quotations for Manufactured Goods were, however, but nominal, there having been scarcely any sales. Quotations:—Grey Shirtings, 8¼lbs. ordinary, Tls. 1.40; ditto, 10 lb. good, Tls. 2.3.5.; White Shirtings, 66-reed, Tls. 1.9.5 to 2.1.0; T-Cloths, 6lbs., Tls. 0.7.9 Lipali, sales; ditto 7lbs., to 8lbs., Tls 1.3.5 to 1.5.0; Sheetings, American, Tls. 2.6.3, sales; Drills, English, Dragon, Tls. 2.0.0; ditto, American, Tls. 3.0.5.

HANKOW.—There had been no business in Piece Goods. Cotton Goods—Grey Shirtings: The value of finest 8¼ lbs. Cloth was maintained, but for ordinary qualities, prices had declined 2 to 3 candareens. In Woollens, the value of Long Ells had advanced about 1 mace, Scarlet being worth Tls. 6.35 per piece. Camlets were also 1 to 2 mace higher. Metals—Lead: There had been a little more inquiry and stocks were small; value was quoted Tls. 5.60 to 5.70 per picul. Quicksilver was again rather higher, being worth Tls. 52 per picul. Tin: Nothing doing; price of "Foong Hing Chop" nominally Tls. 17.50 per picul.

SHANGHAI.—Piece Goods: General dulness had been the prevailing feature in the market. Privately it had been almost impossible to elicit an offer for plain Cotton fabrics, except Drills, which had been wanted and sold to the extent of 20,000 pieces at previous prices. Best 8-4 lbs. Grey Shirtings were quiet, and the only transaction reported is of 20,000 pieces Dewhurst's Eagle at Tls. 1.06 per piece. Common 7 lbs. had been asked for at low prices, and some sales effected at Tls. 1 to 1.05 per piece. At auction demand had gone on medium 8-4 lbs. Grey Shirtings, ranging in value from Tls. 1.50 to 1.60 per piece. T-Cloths were quiet, but importers were not pressing sales. In White Shirtings there had been a few sales of fine 72-reed at Tls. 2.40 per piece, but there had been little inquiry for other descriptions. Fancy Cottons without change in value; demand quiet. Woollens: Prices of Spanish Stripes and Camlets maintained. Assorted Long Ells firm and advancing. Metals: The sales of Nail Rods had been small, 6,000 Belgian rods changed hands at Tls. 1.70 per picul, and 4,000 at Tls. 67½ per picul; no sales of Dawes or Rogers, but the market closed firm. Lead: Hard cargo for immediate clearance had been sold at Tls. 5.50, and a sale at Tls. 5.60 for arrival is reported. Tin Plates, Quicksilver, and Copper: Almost nothing doing. Coals: There had been but few transactions, most of the arrivals having been to consumers. Cardiff: Sales in lots at Tls. 8 per ton from ship had been made.

FOOCHOW.—There had been a continued stagnant market for Cotton Goods. Lead had been disposed of to a fair extent at a decline upon last quotations of 25 cents per picul. The stock in foreigners' hands was estimated at 6,000 pigs. Sales reported: Lead 2,450 pigs at $8.25 to 8.50 per picul against Tea purchases; 300 pigs at $8.00 per picul cash.

FORMOSA.—Tamsui—Piece Goods were very dull and little was doing, quotations unaltered. Takao—But a trifling business doing at $2.50 to 2.55 for 8¼ lbs. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs. $1.80.

HONG KONG.—There is little of interest to report, quietness had been the prevailing tone of the market throughout the fortnight, partly induced by extraordinary wet weather. At the same time, importers were very firm, and showed no desire to force sales. In Grey staples inquiry had run principally upon T-Cloths and certain qualities of Mexicans, especially 8 lbs., which appeared to be scarce, while there was still a good demand for Drills. In Woollens there was a little inquiry for Spanish Stripes, and a good demand had existed for Long

Ells. Blankets were wanted, and the supply was not equal to the demand. Metals called for no special remarks. Coals: The market remained very depressed, and rates were weak. The arrivals had been 4,025 tons Australian and 1,000 tons Cardiff; the settlements, 1,751 tons Cardiff at $8.75 to $9.90, and 1,373 tons Australian (Greta mine) at $.5.50 to $6 per ton.

CANTON.—Lead: There had been little inquiry, and prices had fallen to $7.80 to $8 per picul for mixed brands and W.B. Quicksilver was without material change; quotations were nominally $75 to $76 per picul.

AMOY.—Yarns: But little had been effected towards clearing off the large stocks, and prices showed no improvement. In Grey Shirtings and T-Cloths there had been only a trifling business done. Metals.—Tin: 537 slabs had been placed at $22. Lead: Unchanged. Quicksilver: No sales, and rates unaltered.

MANILA.—The Piece Goods market had continued extremely quiet, and as importers were not inclined to accept the low prices offering, the business transacted during the fortnight had been very limited. Stocks of almost all descriptions were rapidly increasing and lower rates seemed inevitable.

SINGAPORE.—The market for CottonGoods had remained exceptionally dull, there had been no demand for any of the principal staples, business had been uninportant; stocks were increasing; there had been no change in values.

PENANG.—The market for Grey Goods generally had been very dull, transactions limited, and prices weak. There had been a good demand for 15-16's White Cambrics and the market had been cleared. Only a small business done in White Shirtings. Grey Shirtings: Small sales of 6 lbs at $27 to 27¾, 7 lbs. at $30, and different qualities of 8¼ lbs. from $34½ to 40. In 45-inch 9 lbs. a sale at $44. Grey T-Cloths: Limited sales of 6 lbs. at $22½ to 22¼, and 7 lbs. at $27½ to 27. Mexicans placed, 6 lbs. at $29½, and 7 lbs. at $32. Grey Yarns: Small sales of 30's at $90, and 40's at $100. White Shirtings: Small transactions from $42 to 76, according to quality. A sale of 40 inch at $66. White Cambrics: 15-16's sold at $24½—an inferior quality at $21¼. A sale of 50's at $22. No transactions in 24's.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—The same desultory kind of business previously reported had continued throughout the period under review, and settlements during the interval amounted to only 2,000 piculs, affording no feature for comment.

HANKOW.—The Chamber of Commerce Circular says:—Arrivals during the fortnight amount to 16,111 chests. Purchases have been small. Prices show no change, but taking quality into consideration, worse value has been obtained. Settlements for the fortnight are 6,168 chests. Shipments on native account 7,371. Quotations, at ex. 5s. 7½d., and freight £3 15s. per ton:—Oonfaas and Oonams: Common to fair, 10d. to 1s. 1½d. per lb.; Seang-tam, 8½d. to 9d. per lb. Oopacka: Common to fair, 11½d. to 1s. 0½d. per lb.

SHANGHAI.—Black: There had only been a trifling business during the week, settlements being:—Oopack, 1,500 chests at Tls. 12½ to 18; Oonam, 500 chests at Tls. 12; Ningchow, 2,000 chests at Tls. 14¼ to 37. Total, 4,000 chests, against 12,000 chests in corresponding period last season. The Celestial Empire says:—The position has changed very much for the worse. The stimulus given to production by the heavy settlements here and in Hankow in the early part of last month is shown in the fresh arrivals now coming in daily, in contradiction to the native assurances that there was nothing more being packed, and that the hongs in the country were positively closed for the season. Those who placed belief in such assurances would seem to ignore the fact that there is no such thing as a short crop of tea in China. The supply of leaf is practically inexhaustible, and the crop packed for foreign markets depends alone on the export demand. The leaf costs little to pick and still less to grow; hence anything over ten taels per picul in Shanghai will lead the countrymen to bring down common tea rather than sell it unpacked for native consumption at $3 per picul. Once packed, we know that it will be bought by shippers at some price, and go to swell the export. That the action of shippers in paying 10d. per lb. for teas only worth 8d. in London has led to this disappointment is not to be wondered at. From Foochow similar action has produced similar results, and the probable ten millions deficiency there has dwindled down to a possible five. Green: There had been a quieter business during the week, settlements being -Teenkai, 1,500 half-chests at Tls. 29 to 30; Pingsuey, 3,500 half-chests, at Tls. 13½ to 34. Business had been almost in abeyance, pending receipt of positive advices from the home markets as to what is really the consumption of green tea. It appeared to be so rapidly diminishing that, with the stocks on hand, only about half the quantity which the new season's yield will produce will be wanted in the consuming countries. Meanwhile the decline in this market from last year's quotations at this period was about ten per cent.

FOOCHOW.—Messrs. Westall, Galton and Co.'s Weekly Letter says:—Transactions have been on a much more limited scale, and the market closes quiet with a downward tendency. Arrivals and settlements during the week are:—Arrived: Congou, 17,100 chests; Souchong, 2,000 chests; Oolong, 500 half-chests; Flowery Pekoe, 200 chests; Scented Tea, 5,000 boxes; Settled: Congou, 11,912 chests; Souchong, 2,439 chests; Oolong, 720 half-chests; Flowery Pekoe, 122 chests; Scented Tea, 5,595 boxes. Congou: Teas with any pretensions to quality have been taken at fully late rates, especially the better kinds from the Sieu Mieu districts, which have realised extreme prices. The general firm feeling established by the large business last reported was maintained for the first few days of the week, but as buyers reduced their operations, teamen have become more anxious to realise their stocks. Without naming an actual decline, common to good common may be quoted much easier. Souchong: A large business has been passing in this description. Prices show great irregularity, but on the whole late rates are fully maintained. Oolongs: 720 half-chests have been taken for America. Flowery Pekoe: 122 chests of good to fine have found buyers at Tls. 32 to 15 per picul short. Scented Teas: About the usual amount of business has been done in these kinds, and quality considered, prices are extremely full. Quotations are: Congou: Medium, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 4¼d.; flavoury to medium, 11½d. to 1s. 1¾d.; common to good common, 8¾d. to 11d.; dust to common, 5¾d. to 8d.; Souchong: Fair to fine, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 6¾d.; broken leaf to fair, 8¾d. to 1s. 1¾d.; dust to broken leaf, 6¾d. to 8d.; Oolong: Fine, 1s. 5½d.; Flowery Pekoe: Good to fine, 1s. 9d. to 2s. 5d. Scented Orange Pekoe: Fair to fine, 1s. 3½d. to 1s. 7d. Scented Caper: Common, 1s.] 1d. to 1s. 1½d.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Circular says:—We have to advise a much more moderate business in Tea during the past fortnight, teamen have been fairly firm with their stock, though buyers have shown no eagerness to operate. Considerable shipments of Scented Teas have again gone forward; the export on comparison with that of last year, by steamers, to date, now shows an increase of 1,438,000 lbs. Scented Caper, 853,000 lbs. Scented Orange Pekoe. Congous: The business on this market has been small, and the few settlements show no change. From Macao a fair amount of shipments have been made, chiefly of contract teas. Scented Teas: There has been less demand, and a much smaller business has resulted. Common Capers have been in very short supply, and only a few hundred boxes are reported settled at Tls. 13¼, being at about previous rates; fair and medium grades have also been bought at former prices, but fine teas have ruled about one tael lower. In Pekoes small transactions have taken place; medium "long leaf" teas may be quoted Tls. 1 to 1½ lower, but in other kinds there is no alteration to notice; "new makes" have been taken at Tls. 15 to 16, and "long leaf" teas at Tls. 20 to 25. The following is a summary of the fortnight's business:—Congou, 1,050 boxes at Tls. 19 to 22 per picul; Scented Caper, 13,000 boxes at Tls. 13¼ to 26; Scented Orange Pekoe, 2,300 boxes at Tls. 15 to 25.

AMOY.—Advices from this port show no important change. Settlements of Amoy Oolongs had continued on about the same basis as last noted, and a moderate business had been transacted in these kinds. Tamsuis were still neglected, though in all some 6,000 packages had found purchasers at former prices. Formosa Oolongs: Settlements had amounted to 6,151 half-chests, at $27½ to $40 per picul duty paid. Tamsui packers were withholding further supplies until they can quit a proportion of the Teas on offer, but being still firm in their demands there seemed no immediate prospect of business resulting. Amoy Oolongs: Settlements 11,014 half-chests, at $16 to $22 per picul short, and the market closed weak. Amoy Congous: No transactions reported.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—For some time after the departure of last Pacific mail the business done was on a small scale, and further reductions of $20, and more, were obtained on Hanks; since the 1st Sept., large purchases had, however, been effected, and prices had rapidly risen to the quotations given below. The market closed very firm, and the stock of new Silk was reduced to about 150 bales. There had been a fair inquiry for Oshius at a small advance, and a few Filatures had been disposed of at quotations. The settlements from July 1 to date had been 3,500 bales, against 12,200 bales in corresponding period of last season; the stock was 600 bales, against 700 bales at the same date last year. Quotations were:—Hanks: Superior, Extra to No 1, 19s. 3d. to 20s.; Best, Nos. 1 and 2, 18s. 3d. to 19s.; Good, No. 2, 17s 3d. to 18s.; Good all round, No. 2½, 16s. 6d. to 17s.; Medium, No. 3, 15s. 6d. to 16s. 3d.; Oshiu: Good, 17s. 3d. to 18s. 3d.—Hamatski: Good to Best, 15s. 6d. to 16s.; Common to Medium, 21s. 9d. to 22s. 3d.; Kakeda: Extra, 20s. 3d. to 21s.; Best, 19s. 3d. to 20s.; Good, 18s. 3d. to 19s.; Common to Medium, 21s. to 26s. Silk Worm Eggs: Only a few thousand cards had arrived, and there had been no transactions.

SHANGHAI.—The North China Herald Report says:—Business for the outgoing steamer has taken place to the extent of nearly 1,000 bales, a part of which is for speculation amongst the silkmen; market chop No. 4 Tsatlees have been dealt in to a moderate extent on a basis of Tls. 360 (16s. 10d.) for Blue Elephant, and Nos. 4½ to 5 Tsatlees show a decline in some cases on last mail's rates of about Tls. 5 to 10 per picul; common has been fairly firmly held, very little Tsatlee has been parted with below Tls. 300, and the tendency of the market at present would seem to decide that rates have nearly touched the bottom; not a bale of coarse silk has changed hands this week. The M. B. M. s.s. Saikio Maru sailed on the 29th Aug. with 108 bales of re-reels for America, more than half of which went forward on native account. Quotations were Tls. 375 to 420 for medium to fair re-reeled Tsatlee (say, Worm and Leaf chop No. 1), and Tls. 390 to 440 for re-reeled Hainings, the latter being on Chinese account; with increasing stocks of these classes holders are getting very anxious to sell. Arrivals for the fortnight are very limited, and the unsold stock is estimated at 15,500 bales. The export figures remain comparatively insignificant.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Circular says:—Silk has been in moderate request—190 bales were bought in the early part of the fortnight, on a basis of $350 per picul for No. 4 classification, and 380 bales have since been added to settlements, at lower rates; current quotation for No. 4 Kowkong Tsatlee is $340 to $345 per picul. About three-fourths of fourth crop silk have now arrived in Canton, and the general quality is indifferent—fifth crop samples are expected in two weeks hence; the natives assert that so far the weather has been propitious for the growth of this yield. Long-reels: Only 30 piculs of different sorts are reported to have been bought by Parsees. Re-reels: Very considerable settlements have been made under contract at lower prices than current quotations, which, however, are the rates asked for standard qualities. Stock is estimated at 1,200 bales Tsatlees, 100 bales Cumchuck and Lucknow, 120 bales Kowkong, and 300 bales inferior.

MISCELLANEOUS.

YOKOHAMA.—Rice was quoted $2.15 to 2.20; 6,000 piculs had been exported to Europe, per Samantha. Camphor was quoted $19 to 19.50, Japanese Coal $4 to 8, Gall Nuts $8.50 to 9, Isinglass $24 to 25, Tobacco $7 to 9, and Wax $11.50 to 12.

Hankow.—China Grass: Fair business at Tls. 8.5 to 11 for Oopack White, and Tls. 8.3 to 8.4 for Szechuen Green. One box Yunan Mask quitted at Tls. 88 to 90 per catty. Hides in small supply and advancing, being quoted Tls. 7.8 to 8.

Hong Kong.—Sugar: Purchases had been on a very small scale during the interval, and in consequence of the continued falling off in the demand holders at the close were disposed to accept lower rates. Chin Chow white was quoted $7.40 to $7.80; Brown $4.60.; Shekloong white $7.50 to 7.75, and Brown $4.75. Other kinds, Brown $4.25 to $4.50 per picul. At Swatow, no business was doing. Camphor: There were only about 500 tubs of Japan in stock, for which $20.50 per picul was wanted. Gamboge continued scarce and was nominally unchanged in value. Vermillion was quoted at $40 per case.

Macao.—Cassia Oil had been dealt in to some extent at $91.50 per picul during the fortnight, and at the close there was none offering on the market. A small business in Aniseed Oil is reported at $178 per picul, and the holders of the remaining stock were asking $180 per picul. There was nothing doing in Aniseed Stars.

Canton.—Drugs and Spices: Cassia Lignea, was quoted for Loting $10.30 in mats, $10.60 in boxes, for Tai Wo $10.40 in mats, $10.70 in boxes. Sales 1.500 piculs. Stock 14.000 piculs. Star Aniseed, $24 to $25. Rhubarb, No. 2, $40 to $50. Alum, $1.80 to $1.90 per picul. Camphor, $20.50 to $21 per picul, packed. Sundries: Fire Crackers 73 to 77 cents per box, for Gowqua's No. 1, gold chop. Vermilion $39 to $40 per box. Matting, Fine contract, White 4s. 4d., 10¼ cents, 5s. 4d., 12¼ cents, 6s. 4d., 14¾ cents per yard; Red Check, 4s. 4d., 11¾ cents, 5s. 4d., 13¾ cents, 6s. 4d. 15¼ cents, Double Extra Imperial, white 4s. 4d., 13½ cents, 5s. 4d., 16 cents, 6s. 4d., 19 cents, Red Check, 4s. 4d., 15 cents, 5s. 4d., 17½ cents, 6s. 4d., 20½ cents per yard. Cargo Ginger, new, in syrup (chyloong) $3.80; Mandarin, $4.40, per box of 6 jars.

Manila.—Messrs. Smith, Bell and Co.'s Circular says:—We have had a very dull market for produce during the fortnight and Sugar now shows signs of giving way. Hemp is steady at a slight decline on last quotations, whilst Coffee still tends upwards. Freights and Exchange are again lower. Sugar: Buyers may literally be said to have disappeared from the market, but dealers are firm as they cannot replace their stocks on better terms, and consequently hold for about former prices. There have been no sales during the fortnight and quotations are purely nominal. Unclayed: The arrivals from Taal during the fortnight amounted to over 21,000 piculs, of which about 13,000 piculs were delivered under contracts previously entered into at about $3-81¼ per picul, and the balance is still unsold, not over $3-12½ per picul being offered for it, which is refused. Ilo Ilo and Cebu advices say that in both markets prices had become somewhat easier. Hemp: A few trifling parcels are obtainable at $5-75 per picul (£22 6s.), but stored parcels are pretty firmly held for $6 per picul (£23 3s. 2d.). In course of shipment there are now 6,000 bales going forward to Great Britain and 8,000 bales to the United States. Stocks, in Cebu, we estimate at 12,418 bales, but here they are 2,751 bales short of requirements. Coffee: There are buyers for small parcels at $22-50 per picul £79 14s. 6d.), but sellers are now demanding $23 per picul (£81 8s. 9d.), which they will probably soon get.

Singapore.—The dullness in the produce market lately noticeable had continued, business in the principal articles had been limited with the exception of considerable purchases of Gambier and Sago Flour at an advance in rates; generally values had been steady. Gambier opened with an active demand, and prices steadily advanced from $4.70 to 4.80 per picul, but subsequently the inquiry had been less active and the rate was rather easier; supplies had been coming in freely; the contracts reported amount to 1,900 tons. Cube Gambier had been very firm, and was difficult to procure. Tin had continued quiet; there was a limited demand for America, and a little inquiry at lower rates for China; supplies had been heavy (240 tons), part of which was still unsold.

Penang.—A good business had been done in Tin during the fortnight, principally for China, demand for India being small. Black Pepper had been in moderate request for England, China, and India, chiefly for the former. In other articles transactions had been very small. Tin: Prices had ranged between $18.70 to 18.40, and closed at $18.50—advancing. Holders of the stock (3,600 piculs) remaining asking an extreme price. Black Pepper: Purchases had amounted to 10,000 piculs, principally for England, at $6.87½ to 7 for West Coast and $6.64 to 6.80 Atchin—holders at the close were asking an advance upon these quotations. Stock 1,100 piculs Atchin, 3,500 piculs West Coast.

CHINA AND KASHGAR.

Official reports have been received at St. Petersburg from Tashkent to the effect that the capital of the Emir of Kashgaria has been captured by Khirghiz nomads. It appears that when Begh Kuli Beg marched against his rival Kakeein he withdrew so many of his forces from South Kashgaria to besiege the town of Akau that he left his capital entirely without protection. Taking advantage of this circumstance Sadyk Khan, a renowned Khirghiz adventurer, advanced upon the city with a swarm of Kara-Kirghiz and Kiptchack cavalry, and took the place without any resistance. The latest news from the Kashgarian frontier represented the Emir as marching to the relief of his capital, having been compelled for that purpose to relinquish the campaign against the Chinese. Begh Kuli has since informed the Government that he has completely vanquished his rival pretenders and crushed their revolt, and that having done so he intends at once to attack the Chinese forces occupying Urumzi and Turfan.

Mr. Purdy has favoured the Daily News with another communication upon his pet hobby of delay in the arrival of the Australian mails via Ceylon, but so little attention has he paid to the facts that he speaks on Oct. 19 of the steamer Ceylon as "now moving homewards with Elephantine certainty," when, as everybody else in the City knew, that vessel had arrived at Brindisi on the 18th at five P.M. The commercial editor of the Daily News, who backs up the letter, seems to be scarcely more happy than his protégé, and manages in the paragraph introducing the subject to state precisely the opposite to what by the context he evidently intends to convey. Let him try the effect of framing a Time Table, deferring the despatch of the outgoing Brindisi Mail until after the arrival of the Southampton Mail. The palpable result would be to put back the Brindisi Mail for a week, and what a happy effect this would have at the Australian end of the line!

The Portugese transport Africa sails from Lisbon this day, 22nd inst., with troops to relieve the garrison of Macao.

The Blue-book containing the commercial reports of H.M. Consuls in China for the past year have been issued, and will be noticed at length in our next.

The Foreign-office have permitted, at the request of the Kalahome of Siam, two drill and gunnery instructors to enter the service of the Siamese Government.

Naval and Military.

The Tamar, iron-screw troopship, Captain C. J. Brownrigg, sailed on Saturday (13th inst.) from Portsmouth for China, with crews for the Lapwing, Fly, Egeria, and Vigilant, and detachments. The following officers took passage to join their respective ships:—H.M.S. Fly: Commander Malcolm McNeil; Lieutenants George Drury and John C. Roughton (N); Surgeon John Jennings; Assistant Paymaster-in-Charge Samuel Crooke; Engineers Joseph T. B. Thompson and James F. Lewis; Boatswain Simon Hicks. H.M.S. Lapwing: Commander William G. Scott; Lieutenants Walter L. Bignold and Clayton R. E. Leslie; Staff Surgeon Thomas T. Riordan; Assistant Paymaster-in-Charge Robert T. M. McLeod; Engineers Arthur Shanks and William J. Pettit; Gunner James Hall. H.M.S. Vigilant: Lieutenant-Commander William M. Annesley; Lieutenant Thomas F. Thomas (N); Staff Surgeon George Robertson; Chief Engineer Charles Ware; Engineer William T. Galdie. H.M.S. Mosquito: Lieutenant-Commander George L. Poe. H.M.S. Audacious: Lieutenant Francis H. Davies; Assistant Paymaster John P. Pearce. H.M.S. Egeria: Navigating-Lieutenant B. Moody; Paymaster Horatio W. P. Kooystra; Engineers Peter Eckford and Henry Laughrin; Gunner John Kirby. The Tamar will return to England—arriving about March 21 next—with the relieved crews of the beforementioned vessels, naval and military invalids, time-expired men, and others. Captain William H. Liddell, of the Tamar, is too ill to proceed in her to sea. Captain C. J. Brownrigg, H.M.S. Indian troopship Jumna, has taken temporary command of the vessel for the voyage to China and back.

The fleet still remains in Besika Bay. By latest advices it consisted of Alexandra, Agincourt, Achilles, Swiftsure, Pallas, Hotspur, Raleigh, Devastation, Salamis, Condor, Flamingo, and Coquette. The officers of the squadron have bought a pack of beagles in England, which are expected out by the Téméraire, and with which they hope to have some pleasant amusement during the coming winter. The cold has already shown itself at Besika, with damp, windy, disagreeable days. The Commander-in-Chief left Besika Bay in the Salamis on the 17th ult. for Mitylene, surveying the gulfs of Jero and Segri, and returned on the evening of the 21st. During his absence Rear-Admiral Sir E. Commerell assumed command of the squadron. On the 25th and 26th ult. the whole fleet proceeded to sea for steam tactics, returning to anchorage in the evening.

The Chinese naval officers have removed from Southsea, where they have been studying under their naval instructor, Mr. W. D. Hay, R.N., and have occupied quarters at Greenwich, in proximity to the Royal Naval College, where they will complete their studies. On the 12th inst. they visited with their tutor many places of interest in London, and were entertained at luncheon at the Wanderers' Club, Pall-mall.

The Right Hon W. H. Smith, M.P., First Lord of the Admiralty, and his colleagues, paid an official visit to Sheerness Dockyard on the 17th inst.

The Thetis, screw corvette, is to be brought forward again for commission. She was at first destined to lie idle until next year, but by the amended Admiralty programme and supplementary estimates to the extent of £73,000, her necessary repairs will be completed by March.

Virginia Water is likely to lose one of its special features, that man-of-war the Royal Adelaide. By Admiralty orders a survey has been held as to the state and condition of the little vessel, and according to report she is quite worn out and not worth the cost of repair.

The Lords of the Admiralty have consented to the exhibition of the photographs brought back by Sir G. Nares from the Polar regions. The series has been entrusted to the care of the Photograph Society, at whose rooms in Pall-mall the photographs are to be seen.

The distinguished service reward vacant by the appointment of Lieutenant-General Lord Mark Kerr, C.B., to the colonelcy of the 54th Regiment, has been conferred on Colonel Francis Lockyer Whitmore, commandant of the School of Music at Kneller Hall.

The Right Hon. W. H. Smith, M.P., the First Lord of the Admiralty has been elected a member of the Athenæum Club under the rule which permits the election by the committee of distinguished persons without a ballot.

GERMANY.

Hamburg, Oct. 16.

The great questions of the day are the Parliamentary elections in France, and anyone here feels persuaded that the result of them, however it may turn out, will be of great influence upon the situation in the western part of Europe. Yesterday, already, it was visible from the arrived telegrams that the Republicans, although losing a good many seats, still would be victorious, and would command a strong majority, a fact which at least by our exchange is regarded as a favourable one, being welcomed by it with a "hausse." On the other side many politicians are of opinion that Mr. Macmahon is not at all the man to be easily subdued, and that the situation at present is still very far from being satisfactory.

The deputies to the German Reichstag and Prussian Landtag (Diet) hitherto have been elected for a period of three years; but now in Governmental circles it is intended to prepare a law according to which such an election shall be intended for a five years' period. As I hear this law may find great objection in the Reichstag, the members of which get no allowances, and the sacrifices which they have to bring during a three years' session are rather considerable enough to let arise the wish them not to be enlarged any more.

On the 10th of this month the outbreak of cattle plague has again been stated at Geisenheim, in the province Hessen Nassau. The authorities have immediately ordered the killing of the affected animals, and all necessary precautional measurements have been taken.

With regret I have to report the suspension of payment by the Ritterschaftliche Privat Bank at Stettin in Tommern. This establishment has been created in 1824, and the paid-up capital amounted to six millions of marks. The company held accepted bills to the amount of more than eighteen millions of marks, and out of this branch the difficulties are said to be arisen. The paid-up capital is considered as a total loss, and the creditors of the company may perhaps get 50 to 60 per cent., but only in long instalments. The collapse is a great misfortune to the whole province, as rather the whole population is suffering in a more or less degree.

The Congress for Social Politics has finished its session on the 10th of this month at Berlin, and a resolution of greatest importance is that passed regarding the commercial treaty between Austria and Germany, in spite of a great deal of protectionists present there the meaning was expressed that a new treaty can only have free-trading as a base, and you will conceive the importance of that resolution if I say that a great number of the majority are also members of the Reichstag, by which the future treaty has to be ratified. In regard to the recently reported sale of the Swedish possession in West India, the island of St. Barthelemy, to France, the Swedish Government has observed a manner of proceeding which ought to be adopted as an international law by all nations. To learn the real meaning of the islanders, the Swedish Government arranged a "plebiscite," in which every full grown islander had to declare either for France or Sweden. As all the votes except one were in favour of France, the little island no doubt will soon be handed over to the latter country.

On Monday, the 8th inst., a new corvette was launched at Stettin from the wharfs of the shipbuilding-yard Vulcan. The new vessel, which was christened Stosch, after the present German Minister of Marine, is an iron vessel of 2,800 tons deplacement, but no ironclad; she is full rigged, and provided with engines of 2,500-horse power, which though are to be regarded only as auxiliary ones, as the vessel is destined in general to be worked by sail, for which purpose her bottom has been provided with a sheeting of yellow metal upon a layer of teak. The armament of the new corvette consists of sixteen guns of fifteen centimetre, of which four are placed upon the upper deck and twelve in the battery below. Her destination is that of a cruizer in distant seas; the two-bladed propeller is to be hoisted if the corvette goes under sails; she is the seventh vessel launched in the present year for the Imperial navy. Another iron-covered corvette was launched on the 13th inst. at Danzig, which was christened after our great strategc, Count Moltke. She is a vessel for same destination as the Stosch, and consequently of same construction and dimensions; she is to take the place of the Aroona corvette, the first vessel ever built in a German navy-yard, which was launched in the spring of 1858. Her destination is also that of a cruizer upon more distant stations, such as Eastern Asia, &c.

The Seeschiffahrts Commission (Commission for Sea-faring Matters) has closed its sessions at Berlin on the 10th inst., after a strong activity of three weeks. The results of this first session have satisfied all concerned in it. Especially the means which are to be adopted against the British Mercantile Shipping Act of 1876 (Plimsoll Act) have been punctiliously deliberated, and a large memorial on the matter has been elaborated. It must be remembered that Mr. Hargreaves, the secretary of the Harbour Deputation at Hamburg, well known to many of the members of the Trinity House at London, is a member of this Commission.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Business on our Produce Markets has been of a limited extent during the past week, and rather of a consumptive character, chiefly in consequence of the value of money on rather all European markets.

COFFEE.—Transactions were of no importance, but as holders were very much reserved, occasional buyers had to make their offers, and thus it was possible to maintain current rates.

SUGAR was only moderately inquired for, and with more inclination to concede, values have been in buyers' favour. On the spot ca. 1,200 bags Zanzibar have changed owners. Quotations are :—Manila, brown, clayed, m.23 to 25¼; do. unclayed, m.18 to 20; Mauritius, brown, m.18 to 24; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.27 to 29½; do. brown, m.17¼ to 24½; Siam, Benares and China, white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.21 to 29½; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 28, per 100 lbs.

RICE—In dressed quality a regular business has been made at very firm prices; transactions of raw quality are not to be reported.

TEA.—Of first-hand parcels the following lots have changed owners, viz.:—115/4 boxes Java Boheo, 140/4 boxes Java Pecco, 465/4 boxes Java Souchong, and 83/16 boxes Mandarin Pecco.

COTTON in quiet tendency, and sales are only reported in American provenience.

SPICES.—Nutmegs are in more demand, at m.2.75 to 3.20; Mace, at m.2.20 to 2.30 per lb.; Cloves of Amboina are wanting, Zanzibar quality has been paid with higher rates, viz.:—m.140 to 141; do. stalks are also higher in value at m.38 to 39; Pepper quiet; Singapore m.37 to 37½, Batavia and Penang, m.34½ to 35, White, m.65 to 72.

EXCHANGE.—London, three months, money, m.20.19; account, m.20.25 per £.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

The collapse of the Ritterschaftliche Privat Bank at Stettin has become the cause of great distrust and caution on the Stock Exchange, and all values have given way, the more as the higher rates for money at London did not fail to have also an unfavourable influence. Yesterday the result of the French elections gave a little stimulus, and the closing tendency is rather a firm one. Latest quotations are :—

SHIPPING.

Fearful gales have been raging of late, and many disasters have taken place; the Spanish brig Saldanha, Marinha, was wrecked at the mouth of the river. The North Sea is reported to be full of wreck and abandoned vessels, and it is plainly visible that autumn has set in with full force. The arrivals and departures are still satisfactory, and keep a full and active harbour, and it appears that business in general is slowly recovering. Of arrivals from the Eastward we have to report the George Blohm, Captain Matfield, from Papeite; Thalassa, Breuss, from Fiji, and Sarah and Emma, Pritchard, from Rangoon. Of departures the August, Rus, for Yokohama; Civiale, Nissen, for Bangkok; Argo, Jaetje, for Rangoon, and Elise, Schmidt, for the South Sea Islands. At Bremen two arrivals have taken place, namely, the Alphea, Stone, and Imperatrice Elizabeth, Kreglich, both from Rangoon. Arrived in the river at Bremen Josefa, Hortsmann, and Carmel, Donald, both from Rangoon. The barque Anna Bertha, Krause, has just now left our port for Hong Kong, but will have to go to an anchor below, as the weather looks extremely bad and threatening.

HOLLAND.

AMSTERDAM, OCT. 17.

We hear nothing positive about the Ministerial crisis. The papers print more or less speculative suggestions as to the result of the conference which has been held between the King and Mr. Kappeyne Van de Coppello. In the meanwhile the routine business is being continued by the Chamber in the Sections, and several reports have been published with much haste. I scarcely need add that these documents have only a very minor importance in the present state of politicr matters. In your last issue you published the telegraphic outlines or the report upon the East Indian Budget, which I will now fill up. General complaints are made about the unsatisfactory statements of the financial position. The Minister of the Colonial Department estimated the expenses of the Atjeh war at 1½ millions per month, while in the year 1875 21½ millions were expended, and the Minister of the Financial Department estimated the outlay for 1876 at 26½ millions. A good administration ought not to make such blunders. Explanations were asked for respecting the unfavourable balance of 16½ millions. Some members were of opinion that there is much exaggeration in this estimate, which should be reduced to f.2,240,682. The plan to issue a loan in order to cover this deficit of 16 millions meets with general opposition. The proposal to tax the European residents in the East Indies is approved of. The proposition for the selling of coffee in Java is supported by most of the members. I repeat that these remarks have only a relative interest, because it is not very probable that the present Minister of the Colonial Department will have to defend his Budget.

I have already told you that some of our principal houses trading in coffee had addressed themselves to the Minister of the Colonial Department, stating the necessity for altering the system of holding public sales. They urge that the Trading Company ought to sell every week the quantity arrived, instead of accumulating a stock and selling only nine times a year. This scheme has met with opposition from other firms, who think that the present system is the best, and ought not to be altered; I believe Mr. Alting Meer is in favour of an alteration

Mr. J. J. Angelbeek has forwarded an address to the Ministerial Council to ask redress for certain grievances which he thinks he has suffered. You will remember that the Second Chamber, when dealing with these claims, passed to the order of the day.

I regret to record the death of Mr. Van Rappard. He served his country well, both in his judicial offices and in his Parliamentary capacity. His death is much deplored.

The University was inaugurated here the day before yesterday. The festivals were very meagre.

For some time past endeavours have been made to organise a new expedition to Nova Zembla. According to the Aardrykskundug Weekblad about f.23,000 have been received by the committee.

The King has taken up his residence at his seat, "Welgelegen," which was purchased by him some time ago.

The Bourse has remained very quiet, and business has been very limited. The Money Market is well provided, and the rate of discount has remained unaltered.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The market for Colonial Produce has been very quiet, but prices have been firm and remain unaltered.

COFFEE.—The market is rather dull, and no transactions of importance have taken place in either first or second hands. The offers have been very trifling. The Trading Company has announced its October sale, to be held on the 24th inst., when 102,287 bags will be brought under the hammer.

TEA is dull, but prices remain firm.

SUGAR.—The trade is very limited. Only about 2,000 mats changed hands at about previous prices. The stock in bond is 6,032,000 kilograms.

TOBACCO.—The public sales have had a very good result, very high prices being paid. No transactions have since taken place. The imports have been of no importance. The stock is—24,849 bales Java, 4,160 bales Sumatra, 3,375 bales Manila.

COTTON.—Prices have declined from 1c. to 1½c. The large receipts and the political state of affairs has influenced badly. The quotations are loco middling American 35c. to 35½c.; ditto Orleans, 35½c. to 36c.; ditto fair Oomra 29c.; American basis middling, 35c.

SPICES.—The Dutch India Trading Bank sold in auction 181 casks 269 chests Nutmegs and 45 casks and 126 chests Mace; prices went very high, and since a good demand has prevailed. Cloves are very quiet, but at the same time firm. Pepper: The lot of 2,034 bags, ex Noach IV., has been sold at high prices.

RATTANS.—The Dutch Trading Company has sold in public auction 60,200 bundles, at f.7.10 to 16.70. Very high prices were paid for the thin quality. Two lots of private import, viz., 250 piculs, ex Johannes, and 256 piculs, ex Madelene, changed hands.

RICE very quiet; but cleaned sorts, especially Java and Japan, have met with a good demand. The stock is rather large.

GUM DAMAR.—500 chests were sold at unaltered prices.

JAPAN WAX has met with a steady demand; prices are much higher.

JAVA INDIGO.—The trade is very limited. About 150 chests have changed hands. Within a very few days the 744 chests ex Conrad will be brought into the market.

HIDES dull. On the 24th inst. large lots will be brought under the hammer.

TIN has been in livelier demand. Some parcels were sold at f.42, and likewise some lots Billiton changed hands at f.41. Prices have subequently declined, and the current quotation is f.41½ to f.40½.

JAPAN CAMPHOR.—Some transactions have taken place at c.55.

MOTHER-O'-PEARL SHELLS have met with a good demand · about 200 piculs were sold at an average price of c.120.

LONDON: MONDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1877.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

The present mail does not bring any very important political news. Affairs seem to be going on as before in connection with the Convention; but there are already grave practical warnings as to the inadvisability of leaving the collection of lekin duties to the Chinese officials. The Shanghai papers express very great dissatisfaction at the regulations which, as recently noticed, have been promulgated at the new ports on the Yangtsze, and at Wenchow, with reference to this tax. At the latter place they are spoken of as being sufficient entirely to strangle the trade, and they have already caused large numbers of shipments from Shanghai to be countermanded. If this policy be adhered to, the "opening" of the new ports will be only an opening in name, and the restrictions hitherto existing upon trade will be in reality but little modified. General satisfaction is expressed at a statement which has gained currency, to the effect that Lord Derby has telegraphed to the British Legation at Peking to make a strong representation to the Tsungli-yamên about the proposed closure of the Woosung Railway; which, he is reported to say, would be regarded as a retrogade and unfriendly act. It is also understood that the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce purpose addressing the Foreign Ministers at Peking on the subject. The locusts have been less numerous, and the fears respecting them were subsiding. At Shanghai a meeting of the Trustees of the Sailors' Home has taken place.

The news which is brought by the present mail from Japan, though it has lost much of its importance in view of later telegraphic information, is of much interest. At the date of last advices the announcement was made of what then appeared to be the final collapse of the insurrection, and the flight of Saigo and Kirino at the head of a small band of devoted followers. Since then an entire change took place in the state of affairs, and troops, which had just returned from the war, were hurried back. After the departure of the rebels from Nobeoka they pushed to the south, and after meeting and defeating the troops under General Miyoshi, they, on August 31, entered and once again took possession of Kagoshima, which was only guarded by a few hundred policemen. The news, which was not received by the Government until August 2, caused great excitement. At the latest dates the rebels, despite the efforts of the men-of-war and troops, were still in possession of the town. The National Exhibition at Uyeno was opened on Sept. 1.

In our Singapore news it will be seen that Sir Wm. Jervois had a narrow escape of assassination at Perak. The comments we made lately on the injudicious conduct of Acting Governor Anson have a remarkable confirmation from this circumstance. In connection with Straits matters we may mention that Mr. Read, M.L.C., returned to Sinpore by last mail. Mr. J. G. Davidson returns next month, but not in Government service, of which he has experienced enough. The Moar State question is not yet settled; the natives are not averse to annexation. We consider this to be the best solution of the difficulty, aud we trust that Lord Carnarvon will see the wisdom of this course. We understand that Lord Carnarnon will shortly receive a deputation from the Straits Settlements Association, to represent certain matters connected with the conduct of public business in the colony.

THE CONSULAR SERVICE IN CHINA.

From various causes there appears to be a great want of organisation with respect to the Consular Service in China. Pressure of important European questions at the Foreign-office has doubtless left less leisure than under ordinary circumstances for the consideration of matters connected with distant places; but after making every allowance for this, there is still room for complaint at the manner in which the China Service has been neglected. There are at present a large number of vacancies in the service, which have been open for a long time past, but for the filling up of which no steps are taken. By the last mail we learn that Mr. Everard had been sent as Acting Consul to Chefoo, though there were at least three or four gentlemen who were better entitled to the post, both on account of their seniority and their attainments, especially with regard to the Chinese language, which it has been given out should be one of the leading points taken into account in regard to promotions. The delay in filling the various vacancies now open has resulted from the doubt as to what appointment would be made at Shanghai in view of the discussion which has been going on as to whether the offices of Judge and Consul should be united. This question has kept the post unfilled since the resignation of Sir Walter Medhurst, but now that the point is decided there is certainly no reason for the continuance of this block. The staff of Consular officers at present in China is by no means excessive, and it is certainly a matter of regret to see good men dropping off from it. The question arises how it is that in so many instances being in the Consular Service results either in men getting incapacitated by serious illness, or leaving it in disgust, and it is time that some more attention were paid to the manner in which it is managed. This year, for some reason, the usual notice of vacancies for student interpreters has not appeared, though it would seem that it would be likely to be required ere long, and altogether there is too much evidence that the Consular Service in China has been very cruelly neglected, while weightier questions have been pressing near home. If, however, the Foreign-office is prevented from attending to such details, might not the suggestion which was thrown out some time ago, that the China Consulates should be placed under the management of the Board of Trade, be advantageously acted upon? There are no doubt some objections to that step; but still it would be better that the service should be attended to by an office, in some respects less suited to its exigencies than continue under a Department which, though perhaps better fitted to manage it, simply neglects to do so.

THE CHINESE ENVOY ON OPIUM-SMOKING.

The memorial from the Chinese Envoys here to the Peking Government—of which a translation is given in another column — shows that the question is regarded by the Chinese officials themselves far more from its economical aspect than from general and moral considerations. The latter, in point of fact, are hardly entered upon, while it is very important to note that it is stated that the cultivation of the native drug is made a source of revenue to the local and Provincial officials. This has been surmised for many years past to be the fact, but it has not been before officially declared. Now, however, that this is the case, there can be no doubt that the opium question as raised by the Chinese Government is, in its most immediately practical form, merely the question whether the Provincial officials or the Imperial authorities shall obtain the squeezes raised upon it. If there is an increase in the duty on the foreign drug, the extra revenue will go into the Imperial treasury; while if the cultivation of the native drug increase, the imposts laid upon those connected with the cultivation will go to swell the incomes of Provincial officials. This consideration evidently has great weight with the Peking authorities, and it probably forms the key-note to their action as to the lekin. If that tax be levied, as is proposed by the Convention, it will probably go to the Imperial treasury; en revanche, the local mandarins will put on taxes which will reimburse them for the amount thus transferred. It is, however, clear that, whatever their general views as to the injuriousness or otherwise of opium-smoking, the point with which the Chinese Government are at the present moment most concerned is that connected with the duties, and this will have to be decided entirely upon its own merits; and we are confident that a more satisfactory settlement will be arrived at, and more substantial justice be done to the Chinese, by confining the discussion to the actual point at issue than by entering upon a wide question which, whatever its merits, is not that which our Government is called upon to decide in connection with the Chefoo Convention.

THE CHINA CUSTOMS' SERVICE.

NOT the least interesting among the publications which have been recently issued by order of the Inspector-General of Customs is the second volume of the "Service List" corrected to August 1st last year. To the now large number of persons both at home and in China who have friends engaged in the Imperial Maritime Customs the volume will naturally be of interest, while it is also worthy of notice as illustrating the manner in which a thoroughly organised service has been established from the comparatively small beginnings of the Foreign Inspectorate. Out of the arrangemcnt suggested originally by Sir JOHN BOWRING, whereby assistance was afforded to the Chinese authorities to collect their revenue, has sprung up the present service, which is as thoroughly organised in its various departments as any in Europe. Much of this is due to the pains which have been taken by the present Inspector-General, Mr. HART, who, with many difficulties to contend against, both from within and without, kept steadily before his mind the object of making the Customs a recognised service, and this end he has now fully attained. From the little volume before us we note that the service now numbers twenty-four Commissioners (including the Inspector-General), twelve Deputy-Commissioners, and eighty-nine assistants in its indoor staff, in addition to an out-door staff of 214 tide-waiters, examiners, &c. There are also the Harbour-Masters' Department at Shanghai numbering seventeen, the Light-house Department, numbering fifty-one. The Chinese staff consists of 218 clerks skilled employés, officials, servants, &c. Branches of the Customs Service are, as our readers are aware, now established at all the Treaty ports, and the system is found to work well and harmoniously, and to be to the benefit of trade as well as that of the Chinese revenue. Though at first opposed as an innovation upon the old easy system by which each merchant made through his compradore his own terms as to duties, and as entailing trouble in the entry and clearance both of goods and ships which had not before existed, it is now as much regarded as an element in business as the Custom Houses here, and the employés are generally recognised as efficient and courteous. The old feeling against the Customs has, in fact, quite become a thing of the past; it is felt to be as an institution which is necessary, legitimate, and well-conducted. Even those who differ with Mr. HART, the Inspector-General, as to some of his more ambitious actions, are willing to admit that he deserves much credit for having, against much opposition, succeeded in raising the China Customs Service to its present high position.

INDIAN TEAS.

NEVER in the history of the Tea trade has there been more distinct evidence of the extent to which Indian teas are competing with those from China than during the present season. Although those who have paid attention to the results which Indian teas would inevitably bring about have long foreseen the present state of affairs, the change has never before received so unmistakable and practical an illustration as is afforded by the fact that the established range for China teas has become something between 7d. to 1s. per lb. for the bulk of the imports. The import of Indian teas for the season 1877-78 is estimated at about 32,000,000 lbs., or, in other words, it will be close upon one-fifth of the entire supplies from China. Of the increased consumption of Indian teas even those who are not professional tea-tasters can form a very accurate idea by observing the peculiar piquancy, combined with a certain strength and absence of delicacy, which characterises the bulk of the black teas bought in the shops. The grocers are blending India teas with China more and more freely, in order to add strength to their mixtures; and there is no doubt that the public taste is steadily leaning towards "body" in tea as opposed to flavour, so that at present every advantage n the competition is on the side of the article from India. These facts go strongly in confirmation of the far-sighted view which was some time back expressed by Sir WALTER MEDHURST, H.M. Consul at Shanghai, and to which we called prominent attention at the time, to the effect, namely, that unless the tea growers in China employ more care in the manufacture of their black teas, they will in the course of time be entirely ousted by those from India. The increase in the production and export shows very clearly what may be expected from this quarter, and it is very important to bear in mind that as the cultivation increases it may not prove impossible to produce teas in India which will compete in flavour as well as strength with those from China. One satisfactory effect of the competition by the Indian teas is not to be overlooked. It will tend—combined with other causes which have of late influenced the markets—to bring the range of selling prices here into closer conformity with the cost of production, and this will cause the Chinese producers and dealers to be less disposed to stand out for exorbitant rates, seeing that an unwillingness on their part to meet purchasers may at any given moment result in loss to them—whereas with a wide margin between the prices here and those of production in China, the Chinese have only to consider a question of accepting a less profit. When, however, it becomes impossible for the growers and country dealers to bring the teas down without loss, they will limit the quantity, and thus a healthier state of things will be induced. With, however, these two facts staring them in the face, the Chinese, if they are wise, will introduce a little more care into the culture. On the other hand, there is no doubt that the reckless competition by foreign buyers has done much to mislead the natives; and that European buyers, no less than the Chinese dealers, are clearly called upon to remember that the market here cannot by any possibility be "made" by that in China, w hile year by year supplies, increasing both in quantity and quality, are freely arriving from our Indian possessions.

A CORRESPONDENT referring to the police case in which SHENG-KUEI, one of the servants of the Second Chinese Envoy, was charged with being disorderly, calls attention to a somewhat knotty point of international law connected with the subject. We can hardly undertake to decide a question which would probably puzzle even professional men; but we make no doubt that the members of the Chinese Legation will use due discretion in demanding Ambassadorial privileges. Perhaps the case was hardly important enough for so very large a question to be brought forward; and doing so was a little suggestive of the expressive, if slightly vulgar adage, of taking a scaffold pole to kill a very diminutive insect.

WE understand that Mr. H. O. BROWN, of the Chinese Customs' Service, has been appointed Secretary to the Chinese Legation at Berlin. H.E. LUI is still in London, and the delay in his departure seems somewhat noticeable, as it is now some months since he has been Minister designate. It is to be presumed that the first matter which will occupy H.E.'s attention will be the revision of the German treaty, and this will, of course, have an important bearing upon the negotiations now going on with reference to the Chefoo Convention, as by the most favoured nation clause we are entitled to any concessions that may be made to any other Power.

MR. C. W. HILLIER, of the Consular Service, who has for some time been attached to the Chinese Legation, returns to his duties in China by the French Mail of the 18th November. Mr. A. R. HEWLETT remains in England, attached to the Foreign Office. Mr. CLEMENTS ALLEN returns to China shortly. Mr. CARLES is now on his way home on leave; and we believe that leave has been granted to Mr. MAYERS, the Chinese Secretary at Peking, Mr. MONGAN, the Consul at Tientsin, and Mr. KING, Consul at I'chang. There is no truth in the rumour that Mr. KING had resigned.

AMBASSADORIAL PRIVILEGE.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

Sir,—I notice in the report of the proceedings before the Magistrate at the Marylebone Police-court, in regard to the servant of the Chinese Legation who was drunk and disorderly in Stanhope-street, that Dr. Macartney, the Secretary, said that "he presumed that, on his identifying the defendant as belonging to the Chinese Legation, and one of those whose names had been given to the Police and the Foreign-office, the man would be liberated to be dealt with by the Legation."

The Magistrate very adroitly avoided raising this interesting question by hearing the evidence first. It happened that it was such as justified the man's being discharged, and thus the knotty point was steered clear of.

Is it not, however, stretching the principle of Ambassadorial privilege too far to claim exemption from the ordinary laws of the country in such a case as this? Ambassadors are considered by international law free from the jurisdiction of the countries they are accredited to, and this privilege has been extended to those who are bonâ fide their suite, such as their secretaries, attachés, &c. but it seems out of all reason to claim the same privilege for a man who is merely in the position of a servant, and who is brought up for a breach of peace and good order, i.e., for a purely municipal offence. I very much doubt whether Ambassadorial privilege can be claimed to this extent; but it is satisfactory to find that the Chinese Envoys and their advisers have so good an appreciation of their rights.—Yours faithfully,

London, Oct. 16, 1877. Sam-shu.

THE GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS IN HONG KONG.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

Sir,—The attention which was called by one of your correspondents recently to the influence that may possibly be brought to bear upon the subject of public education at Hong Kong recalls a controversy which, at the time when I was resident in the Colony, was carried on with considerable warmth on this subject. One or two well-meaning, but scarcely far-sighted gentlemen—prominent among whom was the Rev. Dr. Eitel—were strongly in favour of the schools not being undenominational, but being made Christian. The commendable character of the feelings which influenced them nobody can fail to recognise; but how right Mr. Stewart, the Inspector of Schools, was in withstanding this suggestion, will, I should think, be fully recognised at the present time even by those who advocated it. If the schools were made denominational there is little doubt what denomination would be favoured by a Catholic governor, and the undesirability of public education being made a medium of proselytising the Chinese must be apparent, when this bearing of the subject is taken into consideration.—Your obedient servant,

Glasgow, Oct. 17. W.

THE ANTI-OPIUM SOCIETY AND THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

Sir,—The letter which has been written by the Secretary of the Anti-Opium Society to the Daily News upon the subject of likin on Opium has fairly taken away my breath. What, the Anti Opium Society advocating that the Chinese should obtain more revenue from a traffic which they have condemned in terms which would require qualification if applied to any crime short of deliberate murder! When I read the Rev. Mr. Turner's ingenious arguments in favour of our assisting China to "get" more than £10 a chest direct duty on the drug (irrespective of all transit-dues), I could hardly believe my own eyes. I was, however, less astonished than I should have been otherwise, from having seen the statement made by the Chinese Minister that his country only gets £1,000,000 a year out of the trade in Indian Opium. Let us know clearly what the discussions constantly going on are about. Are they directed against our sending Opium to China, or against our paying too little duty on it? Are they designed to do away with a great moral evil, an atrocious wrong, &c., &c., &c., or are they simply a trade squabble who is to get the most out of the business? They can, I submit, hardly be both, consistently with the theory that China utterly abominates opium-smoking, and is determined to put it down, though the Rev. Mr. Turner and the Chinese Envoy both seem to think the two positions by no means incompatible.—Yours truly, Chink in the Wall.

Manchester, Oct. 16.

Literature, Science, &c.

A work which will be welcomed by those who are interested in the antiquities of China has been issued by Mr. E. J. Brill, of Leiden, namely "Chinese Currency, Coin and Paper Money," by W. Vissering, L.L.D. It contains an elaborate historical review of the subject, chiefly from the Chinese "examination in currency," which appears in Mah-tuan-lin's Encyclopædia, described by M. Abel Remusat in the Biographie Universelle. The work contains illustrations of a large number of ancient coins and a fac-simile of a bank note of the Ming Dynasty. To readers in China desirous to inform themselves on the ideas of the Chinese relative to currency this work will be of very great value. It shows the difficulties which have from time to time arisen and have resulted in the anomaly of China, one of the greatest commercial countries, being to the present day without any other currency than the miserable copper cash of which a thousand go to the dollar. The chief obstacle has apparently been a fatal facility for coining, which always defeated the efforts of the Government to establish new coins. This might be removed in the present day by the coins being struck by some of the modern processes which would make them difficult of imitation by the Chinese; but experience shows that even foreign coins are often successfully imitated in China. One of the most curious facts noticed in the book is that China was at one time troubled with a "double standard" difficulty—the question, however, arising from the relative values not of silver and gold, but of the humbler metals, iron and copper, used for the production of "cash."

Among the novelties of the present season has been the publication in Lisbon of the tragedy of Hamlet in Portuguese, the translation being made by the King of Portugal. About 1,000 copies of the book have been struck off; it has been printed at the Imprensa Nacional, on very good paper, and got up in good style. The King does not offer the work for sale, and it is published anonymously, although all the world knows who is the author. The effort is considered very ambitious, and the execution is praiseworthy; but the text of Shakespeare presents many difficulties in the way of a fluent rendering into Portuguese.

The Geographical Magazine for this month contains notices of M. Dupuis's explorations in Yunnan; a paper on the Delta of the Yangtsze, by Mr. Samuel Mossman, and a description of Formosa, by Mr. James Morrison.

A First French Book, by Henri Bué (French Master at the Merchant Taylor's School). London: Hachette and Co., King William-street.—This is a very excellent little work, and will be welcomed both in schools and for private teaching. It bears the impress of an experienced teacher; and is marked with great care in pointing out the peculiarities of the language in construction, idiom and pronunciation. The printing also deserves a word of notice, the variations in termination, &c., to which it is desired to call attention being given in excellent bold type—so that the utmost use is made of the eye—probably the most powerful of all senses in assisting the memory, especially in the case of young people. There is no doubt that it will quite fulfil the author's wish, modestly expressed in the preface, of becoming "a useful and handy primer."

The announcement which appears in the weekly literary papers that Mr. Henry S. King has retired from the publishing business has excited some surprise. Mr. King commenced business on his own account about ten years ago, when he retired from the firm of Smith, Elder, and Co., and his career as a publisher, though short, has been one of great enterprise. Several new and successful authors have been introduced to the public through his house. The head of the firm which succeeds Mr. King is Mr. C. Kegan Paul, a clergyman of the Church of England, of very broad views. Mr. Paul was one of the early writers in the Contemporary Review, when that periodical was a Broad Church organ. Of late he has been a pretty constant contributor to the Unitarian Theological Review.

THE CHINESE ENVOYS.

During the past week the Chinese Envoys have visited Messrs. Silver and Co.'s India Rubber Works in Cannon-street, City, for the purpose of witnessing the working of the telephone, the wonderful sound-transmitting instrument which now is made to work effectually to a distance of not less than eighty miles. The experiments were conducted between the basement and the top story, one portion of the Chinese party going below while the Envoys and the remaining portion went above. The results were in the highest degree satisfactory, and their Excellencies expressed themselves both pleased and astonished at them. The working of this ingenious instrument is brought about by the vibrations of the air made by the voice connected with an electric wire which conducts it from one place to another, every single sound, even a breath or a faint whistle, being distinctly transmitted.

THE CHEFOO CONVENTION AND THE OPIUM TRADE.

The Secretary of the Anglo-Oriental Society for the Suppression of the Opium Trade addressed a letter on the 4th inst. to Lord Derby suggesting that China should be relieved from the Treaty obligation imposed on her by force to admit Indian opium into her ports, and urging his Lordship to ratify clause 3, section 3, of the Chefoo Convention as a step towards the removal of an international wrong. The letter also complained that a report from Sir Thomas Wade, supposed to be needful for the elucidation of the subject, was not presented in extenso along with other documents laid before Parliament last Session relating to this matter. The following reply to this communication has been sent from the Foreign-office :—

"Foreign-office, Oct. 12, 1877.—Sir,—I am directed by the Earl of Derby to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th inst. relative to the Chefoo Convention, and I am to inform you, in reply, that the observations of Sir Thomas Wade on trade will hereafter be presented to Parliament, together with any further papers which there may be upon the subject when the Convention in question has been finally considered. I am at the same time to express to you his Lordship's regret that he is unable to accede to your request to be furnished with Sir Thomas Wade's observations on trade, as it would be premature, and contrary to official usage to give papers to the society before they are officially published.—I am, Sir, your most obedient humble servant, "TENTERDEN."

MEMORIAL BY THE CHINESE ENVOY AND ASSISTANT ENVOY TO GREAT BRITAIN, RECOMMENDING THE GRADUAL SUPPRESSION OF OPIUM-SMOKING.

We extract from the North China Herald the full text of the translation of the memorial by the Chinese Envoys in London, of which we gave a résumé in our last issue :—

April, 1877.

Your servants reverently solicit that the Sacred Glance may be cast upon the memorial they herewith lay before the Throne, representing the injury which is caused by opium,—the fact that a public association has been formed in China and in Europe to agitate for prohibition against its importation—and the urgent necessity which exists for an endeavour on the part of China to take steps in the matter.

They humbly submit that trade has been carried on for upwards of a thousand years past between Europe (lit. the Western Ocean,—Si Yang) and Canton ; that during the period of the Ming dynasty, Matteo Ricci travelled in China, followed by Adam Schall and Ferdinand Verbiest under the reigns of sovereigns of our present ruling line ; and that at the audience to which Ma Keh-li (Lord Macartney) was summoned by his Majesty the Emperor Kao Tsung (K'ien Lung), permission was specially granted for the use of the European form of salutation, at all which successive periods [intercourse was held] without prejudice or ill-will. The breach of amicable relations which ensued, in the year 1840, in consequence of the resolution taken for the prohibition of opium, has been repeated at successive intervals, with the result which is seen at the present day. It may be asserted, therefore, as a fact, that the disastrous collisions between European nations (Si Yang) and China owe their origin to opium. When the evil is traced home to its source, and its injurious consequences are appreciated, little doubt can remain as to the anxious care (lit. scratching of the head and wrinkling of the brows) which should be devoted to their removal by precept and prohibition. Since the period (A.D. 1839) in the reign of Tao Kwang, when the use of opium was declared a criminal offence, and endeavours were made to impose a stringent interdict upon the practice, the official class has failed to carry out this enactment as the law requires ; and so far as concerns the persons holding official situations, candidates for the Government examinations, and the soldiery, who, on the resolution being taken in the year 1859 to rescind the interdict, were still forbidden to smoke the drug—the restriction has been regarded as a mere form of words, and a state of ignorance of any restriction being in force has continued to prevail. It is necessary to observe, therefore, that the interdict against opium was first imposed in the reign of Yung-Chêng (A.D. 1723-1735). In its earlier period the drug was used only in medicine, and trafficked within the limits of the Chinese Empire. Thanks to the vigour and wisdom of the administration, and the system of public instruction, together with the respect shown by the official class for the duties of their position, the laws were obeyed among the masses in fear and trembling, and none made bold to become smokers of the drug. The practice only became widely prevalent in the early years of the reign of Tao Kwang (beginning A.D. 1821), since when it has gone on increasingly. [Cultivation] having been introduced from India into Yunnan, the Nan T'u (Yunnan opium) came into use ; from this it extended into Sze-ch'wan, and the Ch'wan T'u (Sze-ch'wan opium) hence took its rise. A further step introduced it into Kansuh, upon which the Si T'u (Kansuh opium) became added to the list ; and by successive stages it spread into Kwei-chow, Shensi, and Shansi. For ten or twenty years past agriculture has been abandoned for the growth of the poppy-plant, in a yearly increasing degree, whilst the importation by Europeans into China has also gone on upon a progressive scale. It has been plainly evident that the larger the extent of the cultivation the greater is the number of those who indulge in the use of the drug ; so that it would seem as though the entire population of China were about to lose their accustomed ways of livelihood, and with shrivelled necks and sallow visages, gasping painfully for breath, to become no better than an utter wreck.

Men of the educated class in Europe, who have become aware of the extent to which the injurious consequences of the use of opium are felt, and of the degree to which China has suffered from its effects, have combined in establishing a public association to agitate for the suppression of the cultivation and trade in the drug. On the arrival of your servants at London, they have been approached with representations on the subject by a deputation of upwards of fifty persons, including a person of hereditary title (the Earl of Shaftesbury), a member of Parliament named —— ——(?), and a missionary named Likêtannapisi, who evinced in this outward manifestations the upright sentiments with which they were actuated.

Your servants would humbly submit that the way to effect the suppression of opium smoking is not to multiply prohibitive enactments. The first step which it calls for is to develop a feeling of honourable self-respect among the higher official classes ; and an even still more essential requisite is that supervision should be maintained on their own account and enforced in the case of others, by the superior authorities, in order that all latitude and sanction be withheld from the practice. The course it would be proper to pursue is to fix a term of three years' duration, requiring of the Governors-General and Governors of the provinces that they should direct the several district authorities under them to cause large quantities of anti-opium prescriptions to be made up and distributed, and to bring home the fact to the public mind that the period resolved upon will terminate at the completion of three full years. On the expiry of the period, such persons as shall fail to abstain from the further continuance of the practice to be dealt with as follows, viz., those holding official positions to be denounced and stripped of their rank ; graduates at the third and secondary examinations, to be deprived of their degrees ; and responsible authorities, who shall have failed to report offences within their ken, to undergo the like penalty. Moreover, as the law provides that in the case of all candidates for the primary civil and military examinations, the individuals coming forward shall be held mutually responsible for each other, by bond, in groups of five, the interdict against opium should be made a paramount consideration, and all who connive at a case of indulgence should be equally debarred, from the privilege of competition. In the case of the "student class"(*) all such as are addicted to opium-smoking should, in the first instance, be suspended from the privilege of examination ; and in the case of any such as may furtively gain entrance into the competition, the salaried licentiates who have given security on their behalf should be punished by deprivation together with the actual offender. Salaried licentiates who smoke opium should, as a preliminary measure, be deprived of the right of standing as security ; and if any, notwithstanding, should be found improperly exercising this function, the superintendents of instruction should pay the penalty by deprivation of their offices.

The object with which it is sought to secure that, within the term of three years, there shall be no opium smokers left within the educational associations of the country, is that of stimulating in a right direction the popular resolve, and inspiring a firm determination, which, after all, consists simply in appealing to the sentiment of self-respect.

With regard to the cultivation of the poppy in Sze-ch'wan, Yunnan, Kansuh, and Shensi, the matter of first importance is that an effective check be placed on the action of those in authority. Your servants have been informed that the produce yielded by a mow of land under poppy cultivation exceeds by several times [the value] of that derived from land under ordinary tillage, and this at a less expenditure of labour. The authorities, consequently, at the provincial capital, in the departments, and in the subordinate districts, have introduced additional levies of an illegal character, and collect an unauthorised duty upon the opium produced, whereby a revenue is obtained, itself larger by several times than the amount established by law for the regular taxation. Both officials and people having in this wise a source of profit open to them, the practice has spread far and wide this long time past, in every direction. The population which employs itself, moreover, in the cultivation of the poppy, including both the sexes, has become addicted to the practice of smoking, in the absence of means to place the population under a stringent prohibition, as is done in India, against the smoking of the opium which is there produced. As a result of this state of affairs, slothful and negligent habits are developed, and a wasteful system of expenditure becomes daily on the increase. It is impossible, consequently, in many cases, to meet the demands of the established system of taxation, and the evils of poverty make themselves felt. The supplies which are required for the food of the people are interfered with, and the stores which should fill the granaries become reduced to nought. In view of the boundless evils which must follow in the train of a wide extension of the poppy cultivation, it cannot be imagined that we can continue to hold our own.

The fact should be recalled that in the reign of Yung Chêng (A.D. 1723—1735) an Imperial edict forbade the cultivation of sugar-cane in the province of Kwangtung.† The motive of this earnest step was anxiety on behalf of the food supply of the people ; yet if, in the case of the sugar-cane, which itself produces an article of daily necessity in food, the heart of the Sacred one was disturbed with care, how much the more must this be the case in respect of opium, an actual source of injury to the State!

Prostrate, therefore, we would entreat your Majesty to adopt a policy, firm in principle although lenient in point of time. Within a period of three years, [we would have] the provincial Literary Chancellors throughout the Empire required to set matters right as regards the educational associations within their several jurisdictions, and the Governors-General and Governors required to effect such reform as is necessary among the ranks of their subordinates. As regards the cultivation of the poppy, it will be necessary, furthermore, that the high authorities should require the district and department magistrates to call upon the notables and people generally to set matters right in the localities respectively under their control, a change being thus gradually brought about by patient effort

* i.e. the persons who have not as yet gained the right to enter at the local literary competitions.—TRANS.

† In order that this statement should not appear incredible, it may be observed here that the Government of China, as at present constituted, is immutably based upon the theory that the mass of the population should be solely occupied with the production of a food supply.—TRANS.

and exhortation. Beyond all this, if within a period of twenty years the practice is to have been wholly given up by the entire people, and actual results are to be obtained, not mere idle words, it is indispensable that vigorous effect be given [to the resolution taken] without insisting upon immediate results. This being the case, it must follow as a matter of course that men will either not venture to refrain, or not endure the thought of refraining, from the suppression of the practice.

Your servants, bringing such knowledge as they are gifted with to bear on the subject, have set forth an outline of the course to be pursued with a view to achieving an advantageous result; and, overwhelmed with trepidation at the liberty they have permitted themselves, they, prostrate, entreat the Sacred Glance of Your Majesties (the Empresses) and Your Majesty (the Emperor) upon their humble representation.

THE WOOSUNG RAILWAY.

Mr. Richard C. Rapier writes as follows, from 5, Westminster-chambers:—

"I am sorry to say that latest advices fully confirm the conclusions of the leading article in The Times of October 13, as to the present prospects of the Woosung Railway. True, the 31st of October has not yet arrived, and the railway is not yet actually closed; true, also, that strenuous representations have been made by their Excellencies the Ambassadors here, and by other powers more or less influential, in favour of continuing the working of the line. There is, however, not much hope of these representations being successful. With reference to your suggestion that 'the proceedings of the promoters were not quite so frank as might have been desired,' I trust you will allow me to point out that it was always considered too much to expect that a Chinese Viceroy should publicly take the responsibility of approving so considerable an innovation, and thus no previous approval could reasonably be asked; the most that could be hoped for was that the railway might be let alone, and that this in time might lead to further steps. Moreover, it is not yet by any means clear whether the proposed closing of the line is the spontaneous act of the authorities or the result of other and competitive influences. The possibility of such being the case is supported by the rumours afloat as to a concession having been granted for the much-coveted line to Socchow. Evidences have not been wanting that others, besides the well-known China house which undertook the first experiment, are equally anxious to try their hand at the solution of the interesting problem of railways for China. Be this as it may, it may fairly be considered that the cause has at least made some progress. To make nine miles of railway in a populous part of an unwilling country is no small feat, and much credit is due to the skill and tact which achieved such a result. It is most satisfactory to know that those who risked their capital have a good prospect of receiving it back; and it is also pleasant to know that those (both here and in China) who have for so many years given time and energy to the work are not discouraged. The same energy which overcame the first difficulties may yet have opportunities for making itself again felt."

CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA, AND CHINA.

An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders in the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China was held at the Cannon-street Hotel on the 17th inst., for the purpose of declaring an ad interim dividend and electing a director. The chair was occupied by Mr. William Paterson. Mr. W. C. Mullins, the secretary, having read the notice calling the meeting,

The Chairman said it might be within the knowledge of the shareholders that the meeting that day was called for the simple purpose stated in the notice calling it, which had just been read by the secretary, and therefore the business to be transacted and the proceedings generally might appear somewhat tame. The simple fact was the directors had really nothing to say but that the bank's business was good and progressing most satisfactorily and safely. No doubt it would be gratifying to the shareholders, as it was to the directors, to know that from the accounts which had been received they were in a position to recommend a somewhat better dividend than that which they felt justified in proposing at the corresponding period of last year. (Hear, hear.) At that time the board were engaged in making provision for any deficiency which might arise consequent upon the depreciation in the value of silver, and at the last annual meeting he was enabled to inform the shareholders that the board had done so, and that the capital employed abroad had been so placed as to render it practically independent of another silver panic. Should such occur it would be easy to convert the capital into gold under the most adverse circumstances. Since that time there had been many fluctuations in the value of silver, and the board had guarded the bank by avoiding long forward purchases, such has some of their competitors made. He believed there was a prosperous future before the bank; the cost of imports and exports generally was now such as must, in his opinion, not only leave a fair margin of profit, but also render Indian banking safe; and when he had the pleasure of addressing the shareholders at the annual meeting he hoped to be able to give them a satisfactory account of the result of the year's operations. In conclusion he moved the following resolution:—"That an interim dividend for the half year ended 30th June last, at the rate of six per cent. per annum (free of income-tax), be now declared, payable on and after the 24th inst."

Mr. John Jones seconded the motion, which was put to the vote, and carried unanimously.

The Chairman reminded the shareholders that when last he had the pleasure of addressing them he was enabled to announce to the meeting that Mr. James Whittall, formerly of the firm of Jardine, Matheson and Co., of China, had joined the board. He did not think that he need say anything further in support of the proposition, especially in the presence of that gentleman, and he had, therefore, very great pleasure in proposing that Mr. James Whittall be elected a director of the bank.

Mr. William Macnaughtan having seconded the motion, it was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Morrison then proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman, directors, manager, sub-manager, secretary, and staff for their able and successful conduct of the Bank's business during the past half-year.

This having been seconded, was carried by acclamation.

The Chairman, in thanking the meeting for the compliment just passed, said that, however much the board might do, their efforts would be unavailing unless they were most ably and efficiently seconded by their managers and their subordinates. He could assure the shareholders that the Bank was greatly indebted to Mr. Gwyther, the manager, and staff for the zeal and ability with which they discharged the duties of their respective offices. (Cheers.)

Mr. Gwyther, the manager, thanked the meeting on behalf of his colleagues and himself for the compliment paid them, and the proceedings terminated.

CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA, LONDON, AND CHINA.

The half-yearly meeting of the shareholders in the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China was held on the 16th inst. at the offices, 65, Old Broad-street, for the purpose of receiving a report and statement of accounts from the directors. Mr. George G. Nicol occupied the chair. Mr. D. T. Robertson, the chief manager, having read the notice calling the meeting, and presented the report of the directors,

The Chairman said that under ordinary circumstances, as the present was an interim meeting, he would have nothing to say; but, following the opinions of the shareholders as expressed at the previous meeting, the board had given the shareholders a statement of accounts for the half-year. It was somewhat against the spirit of the charter, and the board did not think the shareholders would be greatly benefited, but as it was their wish the board had no hesitation in complying, the more especially as there was nothing expressly forbidding it in the charter. The accounts presented that day were, therefore, made up in a complete form, similar to that which would be presented for the year, but they only embraced six months, and the only difference between them and the accounts which could be presented for the whole year was that the balance of £34,000 remained as a balance, instead of being passed to reserve fund. The results of the half-year's operations, so far as it was possible to ascertain them, had been most favourable. The past half-year had been a trying one to most banks. They had to contend against the bad condition of trade, the adverse rate of exchange with India, and the great depression in the silver market; but notwithstanding all those drawbacks the accounts presented that day showed not only that the bank had been able to hold its own, but that the results achieved were highly creditable, and he believed and hoped that the shareholders would so consider them. So much for the past. As to the present, nothing could be more satisfactory. When they met at about this time last year some apprehension was felt; but that had all passed away, and all mistakes made had been rectified. There was only one other matter to which he need call attention, and be did so at the earliest moment in order to prevent gossip out-of-doors magnifying it. There had been a failure in Java by which the bank might suffer somewhat, but so cautious had the management been in obtaining security, he was happy to say that the loss, whatever it might be, would not in any material way affect the calculations of the directors or the prospects of the current half-year, which were exceedingly satisfactory. (Cheers.) As to the depreciation in silver, he could only repeat the opinion he had expressed before—namely, that when the supply from Germany was exhausted there would be a complete reaction, and the evils which the money market were at present, and had been for some time past suffering from, would be alleviated. The capacity of India for the absorption of silver was not only wonderful, but he believed almost unbounded. Formerly she only took five to six millions, but now absorbed from twelve to fifteen millions annually, and was likely to be able to take still more, so that when the supply of silver from Germany and other countries was exhausted there would be as great a scramble in the markets of the world for silver as there was at present for gold. (Hear, hear.) He could only say that he looked forward with every confidence to the future of the bank, and he doubted not that the results of the current half-year would be eminently satisfactory, not only to the directors, but to the shareholders generally. He was warranted in taking a sanguine view as to the future, as the exportations from India, stimulated by improved means of transport, must always afford a wide field for sound and legitimate banking enterprise. In conclusion, he had only to declare the dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, and say that if any shareholder desired further information he should be very happy to afford it.

No questions being asked,

The Chairman called upon the Chief Manager to read the notice calling the extraordinary meeting; and that having been done, he reminded the shareholders that the bank's charter expired within a year, and it was necessary that the board should have authority from the shareholders to petition the Treasury for a renewal, and accept such modifications as might be necessary or imposed. Being a chartered bank, he thought—and he believed the shareholders would agree with the board—that it was advisable to apply for a renewal. The present Government was averse to granting charters, but it had not refused to renew charters for a term to those banks which already possessed one. He therefore moved—"That the court of directors of this bank be, and they are hereby authorised, for and on behalf of, the company, to apply for and accept a renewed or supplemental charter for extending the existing charter of the company for a period of ten years from the expiration thereof or for such other period, and generally upon such terms and under such provisions and conditions as to the directors shall seem fit, and as they may be able to obtain the same." He might say that in applying for the new charter it was possible that one or two modifications would be made; as, for instance, with regard to the election of directors, it was not now necessary that six months' notice should be given, as formerly nine-tenths of the shareholders were in India; now, on the contrary, fully nine-tenths were this side. It was also probable that a clause might be introduced reducing the qualification of the directors; it was now a hundred shares, which was somewhat high. It was desirable to get good men, and it was not always possible to do so with such qualification.

Mr. J. Murray Robertson briefly seconded the motion.

Mr. Richardson thought that the present qualification of the directors—viz., 100 shares, which represented at the present price about £2,500—was not too much for a director of the bank to hold. He certainly thought that good men could easily be obtained who could find qualification to this extent.

Other Shareholders expressed similar views, and inquired what special object there was in bringing the subject forward.

The Chairman said he had only mentioned the matter because it had been mooted at former meetings by the shareholders, who thought it might be desirable to get first-class business men to join the board, who could not for the moment see their way clear to withdraw so much money from their private firms, but who might bring much strength to the bank. The expression of opinion given that day would, however, be attended to, and the qualification of the directors not reduced.

The motion was then put and carried, and the proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

ORIENTAL BANK CORPORATION.

The half-yearly ordinary meeting of the above Corporation took place on the 18th inst., at their offices; George Arbuthnot, Esq., in the chair. The notice convening the meeting and the balance sheet, which showed a profit for the half-year of £80,897 6s. 6d., out of which £75,000 was appropriated for the interim dividend, having been read,

The Chairman said that the business before the meeting was to declare an interim dividend of £1 5s. per share. As this was the sole object of the present meeting, he would probably not be expected to make any lengthened remarks. He had hoped that they would have been able to declare a better dividend—one in fact more like those they had until recently for some years been in the habit of receiving, but the circumstances had been against them. He had no doubt that the shareholders were mostly aware that there had been an unprecedented stagnation of business this year in all directions. The reports from their agents in all parts of the world were to the same effect—that there had been little doing either in exports or imports. With regard to exchange the fluctuations had not been so excessive as during the previous half-year, but they had been very embarrassing from the arbitrary manner in which they had risen and fallen, that is according to no rules by which a profit could be made—the variations sometimes being as much as ½ to 1 per cent. in a single day. The state of political affairs had also much affected trade. During the early part of the year there was great anxiety. Peace or war was in the balance, and later when war became declared it did not in any way tend to improve the state of affairs. In addition to this an unprecedented calamity had occurred in the South of India in the form of the dreadful famine of which all had heard. Taking all these into account, the shareholders would no doubt not be surprised that the Corporation had been less successful than it might otherwise have been. The amount of bills in circulation not bearing interest was £5,740,000, or just £1,000,000 less than the figure at the corresponding period last year. This showed how the adverse circumstances above mentioned had affected the Bank. With regard to the future, he was not prepared to make any prediction, but at the same time he was glad to say that they had begun this half-year fairly; but still he would not like to hold out the expectation of doing so much better as to be able to give a larger dividend for the next half-year. Still, better results might be expected than for the half at present brought before the meeting.

No remarks being made by the shareholders, the resolution declaring the dividend was passed unanimously, and the meeting separated after the usual compliment to the chair.

THE IRON TRADE.

The Civil Service Gazette says:—Have British manufactures touched the highest point of their destiny, and are they moving towards their decline and fall? Has British trade reached its greatest development, and is it doomed to a course of gradual contraction and decadence? We hope not: yet there are people of large practical experience, competent to judge the present and penetrate the future, who mournfully though unequivocally declare that the sun of England's commercial supremacy and industrial glory has set, and that henceforth they will have to struggle for bare existence in the shade, and languish in adversity as low as their former prosperity was high. Many who take this gloomy view of our manufacturing, mining and other native industries have given warnings more or less distinct, and expressed their sentiments in language more or less emphatic; but no one has spoken so plainly, so impressively, so despondingly as the great Welsh ironmaster who is known in Wales as the "Iron King." Mr. Robert Crawshay, of Cyfarthfa, having had a letter addressed to him by a workman, asking whether there were any hopes of a resumption of activity at the vast iron-works of Cyfarthfa, returned an answer which, coming from such a man, formerly the largest employer of labour in the Principality, is impressively sad and dispiriting. "Trade," writes Mr. Crawshay, "is worse than ever it was, and I see not the slightest chance of Cyfarthfa starting again; and I believe if it ever does start it will be under different circumstances to the present, as it will require a large sum to be laid out in improvements, such as making steel rails, &c. I am too near my grave to think of doing anything of the sort, and I think so badly of trade altogether that I have no wish to see my sons remain in it. I am feeling very poorly, and do not think I can possibly live very long, and, if I am able, I shall sell the works before I die. There is nothing now to bind me to them, for I have been estranged from them by the conduct of the men. I always hoped and expected to die with the works going, and the same feeling amongst the men for their employer; but things have changed and all is different, and I go my grave feeling I am a perfect stranger, as all my old men are gone, or nearly so." If standing alone this desponding letter would be sufficiently alarming; but, unfortunately, there are many other corroborations at home and abroad of the fact that our manufacturing industries, especially those in iron, are in a declining condition. We learn from a trade journal that two directors of an old Yorkshire firm, on visiting the Adirondac range in the vicinity of Lake Champlain, "found mountains of ironstone as fine as the Dannemora and Swedish brands. Under the primæval forests there are said to be stored inexhaustible supplies of rich black ore which cannot be equalled in this country, extending over a district as large as Yorkshire." The same gentlemen are also reported to have seen large bands of miners—including representatives of all nationalities—"tumbling down the mountain side masses of ironstone of the richest description." The result of this remarkable discovery is that the house above referred to has lately removed its headquarters to the United States. It is, moreover, the opinion of those familiar with steel manufactures as carried on in America that in this department English trade with the United States "is soon to be extinct." In truth, from various causes—new discoveries, unrestricted foreign competition, the suicidal insanity of employers and employed, &c.—our iron manufacture is in a deplorable state. But to despair would be un-English; a revival is not impossible, and while there is life there is hope.

Monetary and Commercial.

The following are the latest quotations of Banking and other Companies connected with the Far East:—Agra Bank, 10¾ to 11¼; Chartered Bank of India, 22 to 23; Chartered Mercantile Bank, 27½ to 28½; Comptoir D'Escompte, f.665; Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, 33 to 35; Oriental Bank, 45 to 46; P. and O. The half-yearly meeting of the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China was held on the 16th inst., and the proceedings are reported in another column. The statement of accounts presented to the meeting showed a net profit, after making provision for bad and doubtful debts, of £64,166. An interim dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum was declared, leaving a balance of £34,166 to be carried forward to next account. An extraordinary meeting will be held on the 26th February, to confirm the resolution passed in favour of an application for a supplemental charter. Subjoined are the accounts in detail:—

At the meeting of the shareholders in the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, held on the 17th inst., an interim dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum was declared, and the election of Mr. Whittall as a director was confirmed.

At the meeting of the Oriental Bank Corporation the 10 per cent. per annum dividend already announced was duly declared, absorbing £75,000 out of a half-year's profit of £80,897. The Chairman stated that the bank had to contend against unusual stagnation, augmented by the famine and the war.

During the week the chief feature in the Tea market is that Indian teas have taken up the attention of the trade in consequence of the quantity arrived and the low prices at which they have been selling. There is still great belief in diminished export from China, which, but for the increased supplies from India, would probably have had its effect upon prices, but it now seems likely that until the diminution begins to be actually felt here no advance can be expected in teas under 1s. The only China teas which now attract any attention from the trade are those from 1s. 4d. to 1s. 8d., even the finest teas having materially gone out of taste in favour of those from India, it being possible to buy Assam teas at 1s. 8d. which are as good as China teas at 2s. The sales of China teas have consequently been smaller than usual, though the demand for export still continues for teas up to 8d. The position of the statistics for Congous, however, gives room for some hope of a cessation of the steadily downward tendency, if indeed enhanced prices may not be ultimately attained.

The total quantity of tea delivered from the bonded warehouses in London for the week ended the 13th inst. was 4,189,338 lbs., or a decrease of about 10⅛ per cent. as compared with the preceding week. Of this total 2,470,356 lbs. was for home consumption, 746,407 lbs. was removed coastwise, 667,378 lbs. was exported, 300,606 lbs. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 4,591 lbs. was for ships' stores. The duty received amounted for the week to £61,759, or about 4½ per cent. in excess of the amount so paid in the previous week.

In Silk a large business has been done during the week at steadily advancing prices, but the last day or two the market has been quiet, owing most probably to the approaching public sales. The tone is, however, very firm, holders being strong, and unwilling to sell at present rates. The Swiss and Italian buyers entered the market, but it appears that the French buyers attempted to effect purchases at first by telegraphing to Shanghai, and this proving unsuccessful, they lost their chance, and had to come in at a disadvantage later.

In the Produce Markets a quiet tone continues to prevail for most of the leading articles, and quotations are unchanged. The Cotton market is quieter. Coffee has been inactive, and exhibits a further decline. There has been a continued active business in floating cargoes of Rice at advanced quotations, but a quieter tone prevails at the close. Sugar has been quiet, but some business has been done in lower qualities of Penang and China. Black Pepper has declined in value, but White is steady. Gambier is again lower. China Galls and Japan Wax have realised higher prices. Tin is steady at £68 10s. for Straits, and £70 to £71 for Banca.

The P. and O. Company's' steamer Pekin was despatched from Southampton Thursday, with the heavy portion of the next outward mail. She has on board £471,780 in specie for the East, the particulars of which are as follows:—For Alexandria, gold, £90,080; Bombay, gold, £5,000; ditto silver, £49,800; Galle, dollars, £19,100; Calcutta, bar silver, £299,600; and Shanghai, dollars, £8,200.

The market for Bar Silver continues very quiet, and there is but little business doing at present; quotations remain the same, 54¾d. per oz., and the arrivals have been placed at this rate. Mexican dollars have been sold for China at 53¾d. per oz., showing a slight further decline in value.

The directors of the Southampton Docks have finally decided on reducing the dues to one half the present charges.

The report of the West India and Panama Telegraph Company for the half-year ended June 30 has been issued. It shows a profit of £22,090 12s. 1d., out of which £5,000 is added to reserve, and the preference dividends absorb £11,769 12s., while £4,416 1s. is distributed as a 1 per cent. per annum dividend on the ordinary shares, and £904 19s. 6d. is carried forward. Three sections of the company's cable were broken during the half-year, but telegraphic communications were not interrupted.

The secretary of the Brazilian Submarine Telegraph Company (Limited) notifies that the accounts show a profit for the year ended June 30 sufficient to enable the directors to recommend a final dividend of 2s. 6d. per share, making with previous distributions 5 per cent. per annum, and carrying £40,000 to the reserve fund, increasing that fund to £120,000.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says:—Our market has been very quiet during the past week, the export demand, except for Teas at a low price, having been much less; whilst the trade continue to buy very sparingly, and only to supply immediate wants. Prices show no material alteration, but have rather a weak tendency. Congous.—Red-leaf kinds: Siftings have sold from 6¼d. to 6½d. per lb., being ¼d. to ½d. per lb. decline; common to good common with fair leaf have been steady, the exporters bidding for such kinds; fair kinds are dull of sale, except Saryunes with briskness; medium to good medium kinds meet with but little inquiry; fine to finest are also dull of sale. Pak Lin kinds: Fair to good are quiet, fine in fair request. Black-leaf kinds: Siftings are rather lower, common to good common have been taken for export at previous prices, fair kinds have not been so readily taken; in fair to good medium kinds but little has been done; fine to finest only meet with a moderate inquiry. New-make kinds: Common are without change, fair to good kinds are saleable at last week's prices. Oolongs: The sales of these are still at comparatively low rates, especially for the common to fair kinds. Fine Formosa kinds have been sold up to 1s. 9½d. per lb. Souchongs: Common are dull of sale, good qualities are without change in price, the demand being quiet. Scented Teas.—Canton Capers: A fair amount of business has been done at the decline quoted last week for common to fair kinds. Orange Pekoes are still heavy of sale. Foochow Capers are without demand. Orange Pekoes are without further change. Green Teas maintain the improved quotations of last week, but are chiefly sold at public auction. The public sales have comprised 13,397 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve. The deliveries for the week, as compared with last year, are as follows, viz.:—

	1877. lbs.	1876. lbs.
Coastwise	741,801	904,506
	4,112,620	4,009,287

The public sales of Thursday last are reported upon by Messrs. Layton and Co. as follows:—6,552 packages were sold "without reserve," 220 chests Congou, 8d. to 8¼d.; 3,424 half-chests ditto, 7½d. to 1s. 6½d.; 512 boxes ditto, 11½d. to 1s. 0½d.; 424 ditto Pecco Congou, 10¾d. to 1s. 1½d.; 93 ditto ditto buds, 9½d.; 667 ditto scented caper, 1s. 1d. to 1s. 2½d.; 138 packages gunpowder, 10½d. to 2s.; 31 half-chests imperial, 7d. to 1s. 0½d.; 142 ditto young Hyson, 7d. to 1s. 5d.; 65 packages Hyson, 5¾d. to 1s. 7½d.; 670 boxes Ping Suey gunpowder, 1s. 0½d. to 2s. 0¾d.; and 166 ditto young Hyson, at 1s. 1½d. per lb. Black leaf Congou showed little change, except for a chop of 855 half-chests, at 9½d. to 9½d., which were cheap. For red leaf the demand was sluggish, and prices obtained were not satisfactory, compared with private contract rates. 286 half-chests of Chinese Assam Pekoe only realised 1s. 8¾d.—a low quotation for such strong, pungent tea. 1,196 half-chests of old season's red leaf, printed for sale, "unless previously disposed of by private contract," were sold before the sale, the importers dreading the risk to be run at this unprotected auction, as a catalogue in last week's sale with a similar clause sold at lower prices than were refused privately beforehand. There continues a most irregular market for green tea, and both Moyune and Ping Suey went much under valuations, especially No. 1 gunpowder and young Hyson.

SILK.

The improvement noticed in our last has continued, and an active business has been done during the week. The deliveries from the 1st to the 17th October have been—China, 1,506; Japan, 278; Canton, 375. Quotations are:—

China: Tsatlee, common, 18s.; 4¼ to 4½, 1876, 19s.; 4, 19s. 6d. to 20s.

Canton: Tsatlee, No. 4. 13s.

Japan: Maibash, 2 to 2½, 19s. 6d. to 20s.; good, 20s. 6d. to 21s. 6d.

Coffee.—Owing to continued dulness, public sales have been light, both Plantation and Native Ceylon selling without competition at about 6d. to 1s. decline upon last week's prices; Plantation has sold, triage at 92s. 6d., middling 105s. to 105s. 6d., good middling at 110s. 6d., bold 119s., peaberry at 114s. 6d.; Ouvrah Native small at 77s. to 78s', good ordinary to real good ordinary at 86s. 6d. to 87s., bold at 90s. 6d. to 92s., pea-berry at 93s. 6d.

Cotton.—A quiet tone has prevailed, and only a limited business has been done, prices being unchanged. The sales for the week are about 8,000 bales. One the spot Tinnivelly 5 3-16d. to 6 1-16d., middling to good; Western Madras 4 15-16d. to 5¼d., middling fair to good fair; Coconada 5⅜d., good fair; Bengal 4⅝d. to 5⅛d., fair to good; and Rangoon 5d., good fair.

China Preserves.—The good supply of 1,964 cases Ginger met a fair demand, and about 1,050 cases found buyers at full to dearer rates, chiefly Mansing brand at 5d. to 5¼d., Manloong in small jars 7d. to 7¾d., with new Chyloong at 7½d. for large, and 8d. to 8¾d. for small jars, stem at 8d. to 9d., 40 casks old ditto partly sold at 4¾d. per lb., and 5 cases dry ditto at 25s. per case, 22 cases Chow Chow sold at 5¼d. to 6½d., 22 cases 20 casks Cumquats partly sold at 8¾d. to 9d. per lb.

Cocoanut Oil.—Sales have been limited. Cochin is quoted £43 10s., Ceylon in pipes £38 15s. to £39, while the nearest value for arrival is £39 10s.; 29 pipes Ceylon offered by auction were bought in at £39.

Cantharides.—8 cases China bought in at 2s. 3d.

Gambier.—A further decline of 3d. has been established for arrival, about 700 tons September-October-November shipment, having been sold at 19s. 6d. per cwt., ex ship all faults.

Galls.—With more inquiry sales of 200 cases China have been made at 54s. 6d. to 55s. per cwt.

Gum Benjamin.—Of 2 boxes Siam offered 1 box good bold and medium almond chiefly free, rather dusty sold at 20s. per lb.; the remainder, small and medium almond in block bought in at £95 per cwt. Of 27 cases Sumatra seconds 2 cases good rather mixed with dark sold at £8 12s. 6d., the remainder bought in at £9 down to £8 for greyish, also 36 cases common thirds at 60s. 1 case pale, small medium and bold almond free bought in at £50, and 1 case rather dark small almond at £14.

Hemp.—For arrival the following sales of Manila have been made: 500 bales fair current, distant shipment, at £26 10s., and 500 bales Cebu ditto at £27 per ton.

Hides.—At the periodical public sales East India in the hair were dull of sale, and the lowest grades were depressed. Those sold of the latter sorts were generally ¼d. per lb. lower. Singapore and Penang Ox and Cow brought fair prices for the quality. The bulk of the China offered were second-hand mixed and inferior. Barely late relative prices were obtained for these; but the others exhibited no material change.

Of 94,781 Singapore and Penang offered 49,242 sold as follows :—Light, average 6½ to 7 lbs. seconds 7½d., fourths 4½d.; extra unassorted 6½d. to 7d. Of 16,780 China offered, 10,229 sold : Light, average 9½ to 12⅜ lb., 6⅞d. to 7¼d.; heavy, average 15 to 17 lb. 6⅝d. to 7¼d.; extra heavy, average 23⅞ to 27½ lbs., 7¼d.; thirds 5d. to 5¼d. per lb. Buffalo : A liberal supply of Singapore, &c., brought late rates. Of 10,976 Singapore and Penang offered 5,326 sold : Fair to good, 1st heavy, average 28¼ to 34 lbs., 5¼d. to 5⅝d.; 2nd heavy, average 27⅞ to 30⅞ lbs., 4⅞d. to 5⅛d.; 1st light, average 12¼ lbs., 6¼d.; light, average 13¾ to 14⅝ lbs., 6d. to 6¼d.; fair, 1st heavy, average 32⅝ to 37 lbs., 5 1-16d. to 5¼d.; 2nd heavy, average 31⅝ to 34 lbs., 4⅞d. to 4⅞d.; light, average 11½ to 14¾ lbs., 5⅝d. to 6⅛d. per lb. 83 Batavia sold : Unshaved, 1st heavy, average 24 lbs. 6⅛d. per lb.

Isinglass.—At the periodical sales, the moderate quantity of Penang offered, was sold 2d. to 3d. dearer for both tongue and cake ; 29 cases mostly sold, fine tongue at 4s. 7d. to 4s. 8d., low to medium at 3s. 3d. to 4s., low to middling leaf at 3s. 1d. to 4s. 5d., cake at 2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. Of 4 bales manufactured Japan offered 1 bale sold at 1s. 4d. per lb. The next auctions are fixed for November 13.

Japan Wax.—500 boxes good squares and large saucers have been sold at 50s. to 51s., being again dearer. Of 255 cases at auction 5 cases good bold squares sold at 50s., and 24 cases good cakes partly stained at 48s., the remainder bought in, saucers at 50s., squares more or less stained yellowish to good at 48s. to 49s. per cwt.

Pepper.—Black: A total of 3,726 bags at the auctions met less demand, and as sales could only be effected on easier terms, the bulk was bought in. Of 2,862 bags Singapore, 650 bags sold, grey to fair at 3½d. to 3 9-16d., first-class sea-damaged at 3½d , the remainder bought in at 3⅝d. to 3¾d., also 864 bags Penang at 3¼d. to 3⅜d. White: Only a small part of the supply at auction was sold, but steady rates were obtained ; of 598 bags Singapore 200 bags sold, fair at 6¼d. to 6½d. ; 99 bags Penang bought in at 6¼d. to 6½d. Privately, 230 bags good bold Singapore have been sold at 6 7-16d. per lb.

Rice.—More decided activity has prevailed for floating cargoes, resulting in large sales at a further advance of 3d. per cwt., and in some instances rather more. The demand on the spot has also improved, and sales have been made at rather dearer rates. At the close the demand for cargoes having subsided, a quiet tone prevails, and the business has fallen off. The sales on the spot have been as follows :—10,000 bags Rangoon, per Hereford, at 10s. 9d., ex quay ; 6,000 bags Rangoon, per Middlesex, at 10s. 6d. ; 11,500 bags Necransie, per Alku, at 10s. 3d. ; 7,000 bags Ngakyouk Rangoon, per Ravenscraig, at 10s. 6d., and 5,000 bags Moulmein, per Pleiades, at 11s. ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

On the 17th and 18th inst. the demand for both yarns and goods was very languid. On the 19th the tone became exceedingly quiet, indeed dull, the over-estimated sales of cotton and flat feeling in Liverpool adding to the quietening effect of diminished inquiry. Producers have not altered their quotations, but have manifested a willingness for business on easier terms. Buyers, however, have held back, and the transactions are almost nominal.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

Current Rates of Freight for Vessels on the Berth.

Rates for steamers and sailing ships on the berth are firmer. Homeward chartering continues dull, although there is a little movement from some Eastern ports. The Council for India have recently been offering large contracts for railway material from England for Bombay, and one for 37,000 tons was concluded yesterday, which will require twenty steamers for conveyance by the Suez Canal during the next three months.

Per Steamers via Suez Canal.—To Yokohama: 30s. weight, 30s., meast. To Hiogo: 35s. weight, 35s. meast. To Nagasaki: 50s. weight, 50s. meast. To Shanghai: 27s. 6d. weight, 30s. meast. GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

Collision in the Mersey.—A collision has taken place between the steamer Menelaus, outward bound to China, and No. 11 pilot-boat. The latter was almost cut in two, and sank in five minutes afterwards. All on board scrambled up the side of the steamer and were saved. The steamer appeared to be undamaged, and proceeded on her voyage. The pilot-boat sank in about ten fathoms water.

The loss of the Merse, on a voyage from Hong Kong to Newchwang, is reported at Lloyds. The Merse was a ship of 689 tons, commanded by Captain Robertson, well-known in the China trade, and owned by Messrs. John Willis and Son. This is the third vessel in their employ lost this year—the Lammermuir, Lauderdale, and Merse.

The Pacific Steam Navigation Company's steamship Lusitania, running in Messrs. Anderson, Anderson, and Co.'s Orient Line, from Australia, reached Suez on the 17th inst., after a passage from Adelaide of twenty-six days twelve hours forty minutes. The Lusitania brings £200,000 in specie.

The Eliza Shaw, China trader, has been sold by Messrs. Charles Shaw and Co. for £4,750 to Messrs. John Willis and Son, who have renamed her the Fantaisie; she is now on the berth for Shanghai.

LAUNCHES.

On the 11th inst. there was launched from the yard of Messrs. Laird Brothers, Birkenhead, a powerful paddle steamer, named the Isabella, intended for the London and North-Western Railway Company's service on the Holyhead and Greenore station. She is built entirely of steel, which has been manufactured for the purpose at the railway company's works at Crewe. She is 253 feet 6 inches long and 30 feet beam, with a depth of hold of 14 feet 3 inches.

On the 9th inst. there was launched from the building yard of Messrs. C. Mitchell and Co., Low Walker, an iron screw steamer, to the order of Messrs. Hunting and Pattison, Newcastle. The vessel, which is named the Joseph Ferens, is 270 feet long between perpendiculars, 34 feet beam, and 24 feet 6 inches deep. She is built to the highest class at Lloyd's, with all latest improvements for economy in working. Her machinery will be of 160-horse power.

On the 10th inst. inst. Messrs. Dobie and Co. launched from their building yard, Govan, a finely-modelled iron sailing ship measuring about 1,450 tons, built to the order of Mr. John Smith, 125, Buchanan-street, Glasgow, to the highest class in Lloyd's registry, and intended for the South American trade. As the vessel left the ways she was named Nebo.

Messrs. Blackwood and Gordon, Port Glasgow, launched on the 11th inst. a paddle steam-tug named the Yatala, with engines of 150-horse power. She is built to the order of Captain H. Skelton, for the South Australian trade.

Messrs. Hamilton and Co. have launched an iron screw steamer of 1,354 tons and 150-horse power, named the Buteshire, for Messrs. Martin, Turnbull, and Co., Glasgow.

HYDROGRAPHICAL NOTIFICATIONS.

China Sea—Natuna Islands, sunken danger between Great Natuna Island and Pulo Laut.—Information has been received of the existence of a sunken danger five and-a-half miles south of Pulo Laut; about two miles north-westward of Louise reef (on which the French ship Louise et Marguerite struck in 1873), and with which it is probably connected:—This danger (Gloria reef), on which the Spanish steam vessel Gloria was wrecked in May 1877, is composed of coral and stones. From the wreck, lying in fifteen feet water, the west extreme of Pulo Laut bore N.N.W.; and the south extreme of Semione island W.S.W. North-eastward of this position, at the distance of half a mile, the depth of eight fathoms was found; Eastward, three, five, and seven fathoms, at half, one, and two miles respectively; nearly midway between it and Louise reef, twelve feet; on the south and south-west sides; seventeen fathoms at the distance of about a mile; and N.N.W. nine fathoms at the distance of two miles. Position as given, lat. 4 deg. 36 min. 15 secs. N., long. 107 deg. 58 min. 45 secs. E.

Yantse-Kiang—Chinkiang. Fixed Light near Mud Port Point.—The Chinese Government has given notice, that a light is now exhibited from a mast situated about forty yards from the bank and 500 yards westward of Mud Fort point (eastward of Tsaubai creek or Straw-shoe channel), north bank of Yangtse-Kiang:—The light is a fixed white light, elevated sixty-six feet above the level of the river in June, and should be visible in clear weather from a distance of seven miles. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the sixth order. [The bearings are magnetic. Variation 1¾ deg. Easterly in 1877.]

TONITE, OR COTTON POWDER.

THE SAFEST, STRONGEST, AND CHEAPEST OF ALL EXPLOSIVES.

Recommended to MINERS, PIT SINKERS, QUARRYMEN, and CONTRACTORS as the MOST EFFICIENT and ECONOMICAL BLASTING AGENT ever invented.

Results of practical experience show a saving of from 15 to 20 per cent. over the strongest explosives previously in use.

It saves labour in drilling holes, as a less number of holes are needed.

It does not require thawing, but is ready for use at all temperatures and in all climates.

It can also be advantageously used in breaking up boulders, extracting stumps, removing wrecks, exploding torpedoes, and for submarine purposes in general, as well as for signal lights and fog signals for ships.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.

ESTABLISHED 1859.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23 Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

CHINA.

PEKING.

The North China Daily News says:—

We learn from Peking that the mission to Japan, the appointment of two Envoys to which took place nearly a year ago, is at length about to set out for that country. The two Envoys, Ho Ju-chang and Chang Sze-kwei (the latter a well-known Ningpo shop-keeper and junk-owner), had audience on the 29th ult. This is, characteristically enough, described in the Peking Gazette of that date (in the "Court Circular" page) as an audience had by the two officials above-named "who are about to travel abroad." The Peking Court Circular of the 24th August mentions that Tseng Ki-tseh (eldest son of the late Tseng Kwo-fan) has paid his respects and had audience on the expiry of his double term of mourning for his deceased father and his mother.

TIENTSIN.

The Courier's correspondent writes:—

The Viceroy has been again praying for rain, if report be true, and the usual yellow papers have been everywhere hung out. A three days' interdiction of the killing of beef, mutton and pork has just closed, but all these extreme measures have been almost wholly ineffectual. No rain has fallen worth mentioning for more than three weeks, and there is no prospect of any at present, or before it is too late to be of any service. It is to be hoped that some efficient measures may be taken by the Government for the relief of the poor, but the hope is not a very lively one. Trade of all sorts is of course much depressed, and likely to be more so in the future.

Mr. Tong King-Sing, manager of the China Merchants' Company, arrived per Hae-an on the 25th, expecting to reside in Tientsin. Rev. S. R. Brown, D.D., of Yokohama, came on the same vessel, on his way to Peking. The former gentleman was a pupil many years since of the latter, at a mission school in one of the southern ports of China.

WUCHANG.

The Courier's correspondent writes under date of Aug. 27—

Some progress in the settlement of the affair which I have been reporting lately, the attack on the gentlemen of the Wesleyan Mission here. On Monday, the 13th inst., two companies of soldiers, five hundred men sent by the Chih Hsien, surrounded the military examiners, and captured some two hundred of them They were marched to the camp on the Parade Ground, and their names ascertained. Fifteen were wanted, and so the others were allowed to depart, scared or not, as the case might be, by their summary seizure. Of those who were detained two were certainly identified by the native Christian who stood so pluckily by his foreign pastor and friend. Another, the gentlemen were almost positive they saw among the ringleaders of the row. The sentences as so far ascertained are six hundred blows and five months' imprisonment (at first it was ten months) for the two men certainly identified. One hundred blows and three months in prison for two others, and one hundred blows and the cangue for two more. The man who snatched away the spectacles, and the one who gave the blow with the beam which did the most serious injury, breaking the shoulder blade and splitting three ribs, have not been arrested as yet; but I understand the Consular authorities demand their punishment in addition to what has been done. These men were not dummies, like the first lot pretended to have been taken, but which his Excellency was shy of showing for identification. The matter having been reported as unsettled to Peking has roused him to action. He has now to have extra guards, six hundred men at his Yamen at a cost of cash 20,000 per diem, so that he would like to see the end of it before long, though he will doubtless squeeze it out of some parties if he cannot make the offending students pay the bill.

SZECHUEN.

The North China Herald says :—

We have been favoured with perusal of a private letter from Mr. Baber, dated the 26th July, in which he describes himself as drifting down the Min River in delicious weather, winding among low hills covered with fir and insect wax trees.

To the South-west an enormous mass of rock thrusts its head and shoulders above the clouds. I first descried it from a distance of more than sixty miles, and knew it at once. It is the holy mountain of Omi, on the borders of Thibet, and the bourne to which I am journeying is its summit.

I am roughing it in a somewhat complete sense; no bed, no mattress, and Chinese food. The day after leaving Chung-king was so appallingly hot, and the inn we put up at so insectivorated, that I slept on a hill side with a coolie to fan the mosquitoes away. In a few days I shall be among mountain snows; and as my extra clothing consists of three pocket handkerchiefs, I fear I shall have to wear a blanket all day. I shall probably be back in Chung-king in about six weeks' time.

Mr. Gill, dating from Cheng-tu, 29th June, writes :—I have returned here again from a most delightful expedition, which took about a month, and which I thoroughly enjoyed. I left this with the intention of going to a place called Li Fan Fu, about six days' journey, but when two days out from this I found unexpected facilities for going to Sung Pau Ting, on the borders of the Koko Nor, which I determined to avail myself of. I was at this time at Kuan Hsien, just at the point where the (so-called) Min River debouches from the mountains into this beautiful plain; and I think the situation is one of the most picturesque I have ever seen. There are some exceedingly fine temples here, most gorgeously decorated, and the scrupulous cleanliness of everything, the perfect repair in which the places are kept, the beautifully paved courts, and fine flights of stone steps with never a weed between the flags, the freshness of the gilding and colouring on the decorations, present a remarkable contrast to the sort of thing I have been previously accustomed to in China. One of the temples is situated on a little headland over the river which rushes and boils beneath; and from a charming little pavilion in the grounds you look to the right up the beautifully green and well-wooded valley of the Min, while to the left the Ch'eng Tu plain—which from the number of trees planted along the roads and round the houses has all the appearance of being well wooded—is spread out.

WUHU.

A correspondent of the Celestial Empire writes as follows :—

The trade of the port has, since it was first opened, continued to increase both in importance and in value. Piece goods, sugar, opium, and sandalwood are the principal imports from Shanghai, and oil, paper and a few sundries those from Hankow.

The exports have been tea, medicine, hemp, and raw silk, but not in large quantities. Rice has also been exported to Hankow, but I do not know whether in settlement of accounts, or owing to any failure of the rice crop in Hupeh.

Some of the best informed native merchants here tell me that Wuhu is bound to be one of the great centres of trade, and that in a year or two a very large business will be done in both imports and exports.

It has been interesting to note how very careful our local merchants have been in opening up the business of the port. From the time the steamers began to bring cargo here first one would get sent up from Shanghai five bags of sugar, another a bale of piece goods, a couple of bundles of seaweed or a bag of pepper; gradually increasing the amounts, until now, when considerable quantities of the abovementioned articles are arriving by every steamer of the C.M.S.N. Co., and nearly all the principal merchants have consignments. In the same way the export of local produce began; a clerk, or someone belonging to a native hong would call at the Custom-house, it is said, and inquire what the duty would be on certain articles, and then after considering the matter for a few days, he would finally make a very small shipment. One man, I hear, asked, when told the duty, "Yes, but what will the squeezes be, besides!" and would hardly believe there would be none. It is only fair to say that the rapid development of the trade, and the confidence which the native merchants have so quickly gained, is due in a very great measure to the foreign Commissioner of Customs, who gave strict orders to all his employés to assist the merchants in every way in the shipment and discharge of their goods, and to afford them every information in learning the routine of his office; added to which his own suavity of manner has helped to place all of us foreigners in very pleasant relations with our Chinese neighbours. In addition, he has had the tariffs, both import and export, placed in glass frames, and so hung up that all wishing to read them may do so with ease—a plan that might be copied with advantage by other offices having business with Chinese.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 9th September; no later mail from London had been received.

The Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce has addressed a letter to the Foreign Ministers at Peking, in which he directs attention to the deterioration of the river Hwangpu. The despatch sets forth the general bearings of the subject, which are already known, and gives the subjoined quotation from a report on the subject by Mr. Escher :—

"Finally, we would offer a few remarks with regard to the management of the Wangpu generally, in the interest of a good fairway between Shanghai and the Yangtsze estuary.

"The great quantity of matter in suspension in the Wangpu water causes every projection in the river to make deposit.

"The manifold jetties and piers at and near Shanghai work in the same way as groins; the space between them fills with sediment, and they have already noticeably narrowed the river in front of the Settlements.

"Narrowing, at a point not abnormally wide, causes impediment to the tidal flow, and this again causes generally decrease of sectional area and depth.

"In order to maintain the river in a proper condition for navigation, a regular width should be kept in view, a trifle wider at the entrance than higher up, and with as few sharp curves as possible.

"Therefore it is desirable for that part of the river where there is a tidal flow to fix regular shore lines ('normal lines') on a correct chart, within which lines all kinds of hindrances to the tidal flow must be prohibited, and beyond which, as far as concerns the river part that is wanted to be deep, at some places protection of banks will prove necessary, in order to prevent the formation of a second 'Woosung Bar.'

"In the beginning of this report the benefit to the river has been pointed out, which is derived from the usual dredging or digging out of the creeks discharging into it. This good custom of dredging or digging out cannot be too highly recommended. Care must also be taken that the mouths of such creeks have a form favourable alike for discharge and entrance of water."

In conclusion the despatch states :—

"The committee do not consider it necessary on this occasion to enter upon the subject of the hindrance to navigation caused by the Woosung Bar or to discuss the best means of removing it. They are of opinion that this question is one among many concerning the waterways of Shanghai, the determination of which properly devolves upon special functionaries to be appointed by the Chinese Government, whose business it would be to decide upon and provide the most efficient means of protecting the navigable channels of the port and maintaining free access to it for vessels of all draughts."

At the date of the last mail's departure the telegraph cable between Amoy and Gutzlaff was broken, and as the H. C. Œrsted was away at Vladivostock some considerable time was expected to elapse before it could be repaired.

The returns given in the Customs Gazette for the quarter ending June 30 show that the import of grey shirtings into Shanghai was greater by 270,000 pieces than in the corresponding period of 1876; that of T-cloths 20,000 less; than of English drills and jeans 40,000 pieces less; that of American 15,000 more; and that of Dutch again nearly 40,000 less. There was a very large increase in the import of sheetings and handkerchiefs; but no material variation in other classes of cotton goods. The gross import of woollens was 5,000 pieces less than in the corresponding quarter, the total being kept up by an increase of 20,000 pieces in the import of figured lustres, while every other article except camlets show a decrease. Iron more than doubled; lead shows a falling off of about 30 per cent. Opium figures for 11,700 piculs, against 8,900.

From the North China Herald we take the following :—

Myriads of the insects, resembling small caterpillars, which have occasioned so much wonderment in the Settlement during the last week settled on Saturday on a camphor-wood chest of drawers in the bed-room of a resident in the Nanking-road. No sooner had they settled than they formed themselves into divisions, battalions, out-posts and pickets; and then, with the industry of ants, commenced to weave a web of considerable dimensions. The outer and main lines of the web were of astonishing strength, while the intervening lines were finer and more artistically executed. Their work was watched with great interest, and many opinions were expressed as to what it all was. Not the least amusing one was the suggestion of an engineer that the little creepers had been sent from above to weave a net to protect the Woosung Railway until further consideration had been given to the project. We fear the Chinese will not view them in this light.

The hearing of an action has been concluded in H.B.M.'s Supreme Court, before R. A. Mowat, Esq., Acting Assistant Judge, and a jury, in which Captain Lyell, of Chefoo, claimed Tls. 2,000 from Captain R. Paul, the commander of H.B.M.'s gunboat Mosquito, for false imprisonment. The case arose out of the wreck of the Annie Gray, about eight miles from Chefoo, in January last, when plaintiff, who was salving the cargo, was taken as a prisoner from the wreck to Chefoo in the Mosquito, and charged before the Consul with impeding the salving operations, and with threatening to throw the paymaster of the Mosquito overboard. For the two offences he was mulcted in fines amounting to £55. It was now claimed that his arrest was unjustifiable, and that he was accordingly entitled to damages. The jury gave a verdict in favour of the plaintiff, and assessed the damages at Tls. 300. Defendant has also to pay the costs.

The day of the small river gunboat, whose function was to lie within the mouth of creeks and beat periodically on the tom-tom to warn pirates to commit their depredations elsewhere, is evidently nearly over. We mentioned some time ago that the Governor of Chekeang was talking of having small steamers built to replace those in his jurisdiction; and we find from the Gazette of the 23rd August that the idea has been already put in practice in Kwang-tung. No less than sixteen small steam-launches have been introduced for police purposes on the three great rivers which intersect that province. Their total cost has been Tls. 96,860, and they cost per month Tls. 4,148 to maintain. The idea is an excellent one, and if honestly commanded and used they ought to be of great service in suppressing piracy in those much-vexed waters.

The great number of stray and diseased dogs prowling about is one of the most objectionable eyesores in the Settlement, and it is not one of the easiest duties the police have to perform to lessen the number as much as possible. For some months past it is well-known that they have been somewhat active in this respect, —a little too much so for the natives, who have complained that respectable dogs having homes and owners have been among those destroyed. No doubt mistakes are occasionally made; but the work is on the whole a useful use, and we much regret to hear that the vigilance of one policeman in attempting to capture a well-known pest to the Cathedral Compound has resulted in his death from hydrophobia. Deceased's name was John Luiech. Shortly before five o'clock on the morning of the 25th of last May, he was on duty in the Kiukiang-road, when he came across the dog described. In his endeavours to capture him, the brute bit him severely on the right hand, and likewise grazed the skin of both legs. He reported the occurrence at the Central Station, and Dr. Henderson attended to the wounds. For five days Luiech was off duty, but did not regard the injuries as anything serious; and to all appearances they got perfectly well. During the three months that have since elapsed he has performed his duty, and it was only on Thursday week that he complained of feeling unwell. He was requested to see Dr. Henderson, who at once ordered him to the hospital. The symptoms of hydrophobia rapidly developed; and his death was, as has been the result in the majority if not all of such cases, only a question of time. Occasionally he was conscious, and appeared to be quite himself, while at other times it was painful in the extreme to be near him. Gradually he got worse and worse, until death terminated his sufferings at a late hour on Saturday night.

FOOCHOW.

We take the following from the Foochow Herald:—

A courier service, under the auspices of the Commissioner of Customs, has been established between this port and Wenchow. A courier was despatched from this place on the 4th inst.

We understand that an effort is being made to wind up the Old Pilot Company, and we trust that the attempt will be successful, as the present state of affairs is neither conducive to the public interest nor beneficial to the men themselves.

A marked diminution in the death-rate has, we are happy to state, been established during the week in the city and suburbs. Although cholera is still in our midst, and extra attention to diet consequently imperative, there are no longer any apprehensions of panic, so perhaps it may be safely predicted that the fell disorder has done its worst—for a season at least.

There was a slight inaccuracy in our paragraph last week anent the steamship Calabar. That vessel was, we now learn, close to Sharp Peak, about a fortnight ago, disabled, and a delay of two days took place before a Chinese gunboat went to her assistance. When subsequently seen by the steamship Yesso, off Eckseu, the Calabar was slowly making her way under sail to Amoy, at which port she duly arrived, and is now undergoing heavy repairs, preparatory to resuming her voyage to Swatow.

With much regret we learn of the death, on the 1st instant, of Mr. John Gurney Fry, for many years resident partner in the firm of Messrs. Silverlock and Co., at this port. Latterly Mr. Fry had resided in England, where his premature death took place. The Foochow community are indebted to the deceased gentleman for his hearty assistance in several public undertakings, notably the Club, of which he was the principal promoter.

In regard to the Porter Case, allusion to which was made in our last issue, we understand that Messrs. Hannen and Ng-choy, barristers-at-law, have been retained by the Provincial Government. These gentleman arrived in Foochow a few days ago, and have since, we learn, had several conferences with the native officials. It is believed that a British subject by birth, though of Chinese parentage, is implicated, though to what extent we are not fully informed. The Cantonese tea-broker to whom we referred in our remarks last week is still in custody, and has been severely "examined," or, in other words, compelled to answer so-called legal interrogations to the satisfaction of the inquisitors. Our readers can guess how this triumph of justice has been accomplished.

HONG KONG.

Our advices by this mail extend to the 15th September; no later mail from London had arrived out.

The news from Hong Kong is not of a very important character, but the Legislative Council was appointed to meet on Monday, the 17th Sept., when it was expected some matters of importance would be brought forward. The Daily Press notices a rumour to the effect that some attempt had been made to institute a Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society in this Colony. A meeting of gentlemen requested by the Governor to consider the project was held, but was "strictly private." The above paper justly asks:—"Why strictly private? The matter is eminently one of public interest, and the proceedings ought undoubtedly to have been reported. Such societies at home generally court publicity in order to secure that support which is necessary to their existence, and what circumstances there are in Hong Kong to warrant a contrary course it is difficult to conceive. We see no reason why such a Society, if founded on a purely voluntary basis, should not try to do some good among discharged criminals, though we fear its efforts would be crowned with but a small measure of success. The impression of secrecy in the inception of the design is, however, likely to prove fatal to it. It can hardly be supposed for a moment that the adverse criticism to which most of the Governor's public acts have been subjected was the reason of the privacy. Mr. Hennessy has generally been looked upon as a gentleman who, like most of his countrymen, is willing to break a friendly lance with all comers, and as one not likely to object to criticism so long as it does not exceed the bounds of courtesy and fair play."

An extraordinary meeting of the shareholders in the China Traders' Insurance Company was held at the Offices in Queen's-road for the purpose of confirming the resolutions passed at the special general meeting held on August 21. There were present:—Messrs. H. Nelson (in the chair), A. Coxon, J. Fairbairn, T. C. Hayllar, Q.C., A. McHeaton, A. Lind, L. Mendel, H. Nicaise, L. Stael, and W. H. Ray, secretary. The Chairman proposed that the following resolutions, passed at the special general meeting held on the 21st ult., be confirmed:—

1. That Clause 5 of the Company's Memorandum of Association be altered by substituting for the words "Two hundred shares of five thousand dollars each," the words "Six hundred shares of sixteen hundred and sixty-six dollars sixty cents ($1,666.66) each."

2. That Article 31 of the Company's Articles of Association be altered by substituting for the words "Two hundred shares of five thousand dollars" the words "Six hundred shares of sixteen hundred and sixty-six dollars sixty-six cents, ($1,666.66)."

3. That Article 75 of the Company's Articles of Association be altered by substituting for the word "Five" the word "Fifteen," and for the word "Twenty" the word "Sixty."

The motion being seconded, was duly carried.

A horrible murder of a child has taken place. The victim was a China girl six years of age, who had been tied to a tree and strangled, and the evidence went to show that violence had been done to her. A Chinaman had been arrested on suspicion, and the matter was being investigated when the mail left.

From the Daily Press we take the following items:—

H.M.S. Curlew, Captain Church, left on the 17th July last for the Sulu Islands, to observe the execution of the protocol recently concluded between Great Britain, Germany, and Spain. It was found that the treaty was being duly observed, and the British vessels were able to trade freely between the Sultan's ports and the Spanish port of Sulu. We understand that the Curlew went round to the south side of the island of Sulu to communicate with the British vessels there, and while there Captain Church communicated with the Sultan. The British steamers Pontiniac and Far East were there, and found no obstacle in the way of trade on either side of the island. There was no fighting going on, and trade was unrestricted. The Curlew on her return called at Labuan and Manila.

Banks.	Average Amount.
Oriental Bank Corporation	$323,218
Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China	750,375
Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China ...	542,766
Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation ...	1,623,138
Total	$3,239,497

From the monthly returns of the Acting Collector of Stamp Revenue, published in the Gazette, it appears that the revenue collected during the past month was $11,821.13, and the total amount collected this year up to the 31st ult. was $78,245.46, as compared with $69,759.38 in the corresponding period of last year.

The Hong Kong Lodge of Good Templars held their anniversary tea and entertainment at the Temperance-hall. About sixty-five sat down to tea, after which the general public were admitted to the entertainment. The Rev. J. Henderson, seaman's chaplain, who took the chair, gave a short address, which was followed by musical performances, songs, &c., some of which were encored, and all of them much appreciated by the audience.

We learn by private advice from Shanghai that it has been definitely resolved to establish a Postal Department in connection with the Imperial Maritime Customs. It has not been ascertained whether they intend to join the Postal Union, but it is certain that the establishment of a Chinese Post-office would effect a great change in Shanghai by doing away with the local and national Post-offices. It would also be a great convenience at the outports.

Our readers will be interested to learn that the Emperor of China has sent a gold medal to Captain Vandel, master of the Danish barque Assens, now in this harbour, for having saved the crew of a Chinese junk and taken them to Amoy, about this time last year. The medal arrived here three days ago. This is a gratifying recognition of a foreigner's humanity, and the medal will no doubt be highly prized by Captain Vandel.

CANTON.

The Daily Press correspondent writes:—

On the 5th September there was an unusually heavy squall of wind and rain during the afternoon, and during its continuance a number of boats were capsized on the river. I hear that several lives were lost in consequence, but have received no particulars. A band of robbers took advantage of the storm to attack a house in the city, and carried off considerable booty. One of the rascals was captured, however, and handed over to the authorities.

On the morning of the 4th September the civil and military officials proceeded in the Viceregal Yamen to pay a visit of respect to his Excellency the Governor-General's mother, who celebrated her birthday on that date. On the following day the Governor-General returned the visits of the various officials. The above may not be of much interest to your readers, but it serves to show that women in China are not kept so much in the background as some imagine.

The river pirates keep moving. We are continually hearing of some of their doings. About a week ago a passenger and cargo-boat sailed from Canton to Sai Chew, a distance of thirty miles. When she had proceeded about half-way she met three piratical junks, who at once commenced an attack upon her. A stout resistance was offered for half-an-hour, but in the end the pirates succeeded in possessing themselves of the cargo, which was of a valuable description.

On the night of the 7th Sept. another encounter took place between a cargo-boat and two piratical junks, the result of which was opposite to that in the former case, the cargo-boat capturing the two attacking boats, and four of the pirates, the remainder jumping overboard.

The gambling-houses in the Western suburb are as flourishing as ever. The inhabitants of the neighbourhood have petitioned the authorities, but can obtain no relief. It is said the gamblers pay heavy black mail to the petty officers under whose jurisdiction they are, and are protected by them.

MACAO.

The correspondent of the Daily Press writes under date of Sept. 8:—

By the last mail Bishop Ennes received permission to go home on leave of absence on account of bad health.

H.E. Admiral Antonio Sergio de Souza, formerly Governor of Macao, is appointed Count of Varga and Governor-General of Goa, and his successor here, H.E. Jose Maria Lobo d'Avila, goes home to take the place of Count de Varga.

The Portuguese transport ship Africa is expected to leave in October with troops for the Macao station, and will probably arrive here in December. By the same ship is expected Mrs. Pedro Loureiro, late of Shanghai, who comes out to the East again to assume the functions of teacher in the Government school here. Mrs. Dr. Crespo, who has been residing in Lisbon for some time, is also expected to return to Macao by the Africa.

There has been some disturbance lately at Taipa, the Chinese complaining of the heavy taxation to which they were subjected. His Excellency the Governor, Senhor Carlos Eugenio da Silva, went over himself and settled everything peaceably. The taxes have been reduced, and the Chinese are now quite satisfied.

We have had very bad weather lately, but have hitherto escaped a typhoon, and now hope that the season will pass without a visitation of this scourge.

The lease of the gambling farm has not been settled yet, so far as I can learn. The old lease will expire on the 11th September, so that little time remains for making arrangements. I do not know what is likely to be done in the event of no further tender being made.

COCHIN CHINA.

SAIGON.

The China Mail of the 12th September comments upon a somewhat arbitrary act of authority by the Governor-General of Saigon towards the last homeward M.M. steamer, the Iraouaddy. Upon her arrival at Saigon the Company's launch came off with a message that a telegram had been received from home stating that the Anadyr had been quarantined seven days at Marseilles, on account of cholera in Saigon, and advising that in future vessels were to stop at Cape St. James. The captain of the Iraouaddy accordingly turned round to go back without communicating with the shore, when he was stopped by the Governor's launch and ordered into port. The captain at first refused, but was eventually compelled to give way. The China Mail justly remarks that whatever the Governor's powers may have been for ordering the vessel into port, his action in subjecting a large mail steamer with her passengers to quarantine possibly at more than one port on her voyage home was such as would have drawn upon him exceedingly severe criticism in other places, and possibly official censure from the Home Government.

JAVA AND SUMATRA.

The following intelligence is translated from the Java papers:

Captain Robertson, of the British barque Darmouth, bound from Cardiff to Hong Kong, which passed Anjer to-day, requests that it be reported to Lloyds that on August 28 last, in 42° S. and 28° E., he spoke the British ship Duchess of Argyle, 1,600 tons burthen, from London to Melbourne, under shortened sail, having rigging, tackle, &c., overboard, and the hull damaged on the starboard side. She showed blue lights at daybreak, which were answered in like manner. The captain of the Duchess rejected every offer of assistance, and requested it to be reported that "everything was in order."

From Padang we have recently received the following letter:—

I hasten to furnish you with news from Samalangan which is perhaps not known to you, and has reached me by letters. People there have been terribly on the stretch. Several chief officers have been wounded. Our troops had a strong fort before them, and just when this was found out the enemy attacked us vigorously in the rear. For a moment the troops wavered. Matters were in such a critical state that the coolies and convicts were armed with the muskets of the fallen and the sick; they bravely fought along with the troops. It is to be hoped that these men will obtain pardon. Colonel Van der Heijden ordered an assault, but the troops hesitated as to the advance. At that time the colonel, when busy directing the artillery, for which purpose he had dismounted from his horse, was struck by a fragment of metal in the left eye. His eye is gone. Notwithstanding this dreadful wound the brave man did not forget his duty for a moment. He cast one look at the hesitating troops, and severely wounded as he is, he mounts his horse again, has the assault made, and to set the example gallops himself towards the fort with his one eye. Deafening hurrahs followed. The troops were inspirited and the fort became ours, and in time, too, for there was hot work in our rear; not till then did the active colonel allow his wound to be looked to. As I have already stated, he has lost one eye, but is out of danger of his life.

Atchin news is that at Samalangan there has been hard fighting of late. Two forts and two fortified houses were taken. Yesterday our troops were before a main fort, and were heavily fired upon by the enemy. The colonel was wounded, but remained with the column. All at once he ordered the assault to be sounded, and, he himself riding in front, the troops stormed the fort at a run. A panic terror had laid hold of the enemy, and not one could save himself by flight, all of them being killed or made prisoners. The number of the enemy's dead and wounded is not stated, but it must have been considerable, if it be taken into account that we had two officers and ten privates killed, while five officers and fifty privates were wounded. Amongst the wounded officers is Major Palmer, of the British service. To day the white flag is flying everywhere in Samalangan, and the Samalangers wish now to treat.

SIAM.

—o—

BANGKOK.

The following news is taken from the Siam Advertiser :—

It is proposed to construct a railway to Korat. Good railways are much needed in Siam. If these are established, they will enrich vast regions that are now impoverished, because their produce cannot be economically brought to an available market. We learn that Capt. A. Loftus leaves Bangkok on the 13th inst. for Tá-ru'a, Saraburee, and Muang Bua Chum to examine the water level on the route which is most likely to be taken for the proposed railway to Korat. The Captain expects to be absent about fifteen days. At the close of the rainy season we hear that he is to proceed to Petchaburee, Rachaburee, Nacaunchaisee and on to Wat Chaang, Bangkok, where the telegraph survey will end. It is not yet certain whether a short cable across the head of the Gulf from Petchaburee would not be more advisable than a land wire from Petchaburee to Bangkok. This point it is thought will be proved very shortly after the survey has been completed. It is supposed that the survey will be completed in about one month hence.

During the absence of W. H. Senn van Basel, H.N.M.'s Consul for Siam, the U. S. Consul has charge of the Dutch interests in Siam. We learn that the U. S. Consul has been instructed by his Government to extend his good offices to all Swiss subjects who may be in the kingdom of Siam.

A launch took place at the Bangkok Dock of a new iron steamer built for his Royal Highness Thoon Kramom, the younger brother of the King. This vessel is of iron, sixty-six feet long, ten feet beam, and about six feet depth. The engines were constructed by Messrs. Cunliffe and Dunlap. This little steamer is beautifully modelled, with a long fine entrance and clean run aft, elliptic stern, flush deck, with a roomy cabin below. She is fore and aft schooner rigged, and under sail and steam it is believed will be remarkably fast.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

—o—

SINGAPORE.

The present French mail brings advices from this port to the 23rd September; the French mail from London, August 24, was received on the 22nd September. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times :—

A meeting of the Legislative Council was held on the 18th September at two o'clock. There were present, H.E. the Administrator, the Hon. John Douglas, C. M. G., Colonial Secretary; the Hon. E. A. Irving, Acting Auditor-General; the Hon. T. Braddell, Attorney-General ; the Hon. Colonel McLeod, the Hon. H. A. K. Whampao, C. M. G.; the Hon. J. R. McArthur, the Hon. W. Adamson, and the Hon. I. S. Bond.

Messrs. Irving, Bond and Adamson having been sworn in members of Council, and the minutes of the last meeting having been read, the Colonial Secretary laid on the table pro forma the Education report, the report of the Raffles Library and Museum, the Police report, the Superintendent of Prisons' report, the Post-office report, and the Blue-book for 1876 ; Lists of Jurors of Penang, Malacca and Singapore for 1876, and extracts from a despatch of Lord Carnarvon concerning the Perak convicts.

H.E. the Administrator stated that the question of a Master and Servant Act would be referred to a committee consisting of the Colonial Secretary and the unofficial members of Council, and its introduction would stand over until the arrival of Sir William Robinson.

The Colonial Secretary moved the first reading of a Bill to impose a water-rate in Singapore. The provisions of the Bill were taken almost verbatim from the objects and reasons for the Bill in Penang, and there, the hon. member stated on the authority of H.E. the Administrator, it has worked satisfactorily. The tariff was considered about a year ago, and he believed it was very fair. Both the engines will be in working order by the end of this week, and we shall at last arrive at the happy stage of the completion of the water-works. He proposed that the Bill be now read a first time. The motion was seconded by the Attorney-General. The Colonial Secretary moved the first reading of a Bill to provide for carrying into effect in the Colony the sentences of penal servitude for life, into which the sentence of death upon Che Ngah Jabbar, Kulup Ali, Si Tuah, and Panjang Buh of Perak for the murder of Mr. Birch had been commuted. The object of the Bill was to ensure their being kept in a safe place of confinement. The motion was seconded by the Attorney-General. The Colonial Secretary moved the first reading of Bill to amend the Steam Boilers Ordinance of 1876. It was found that a great many difficulties had arisen, in the working of the Bill of 1876, and there was no power to make any alteration. This was pointed out to the Board of Trade, and they advised that the Bill should be amended in regard to Clause II. by throwing the onus on owners. The Attorney-General seconded the motion.

The Council then adjourned.

Tunku Mahmood, the younger son of the late Sultan Alli, has been placed by H.H. the Maharajah of Johore under the care of Mr. A. Armstrong, M.A., of the Raffles Institution, to be educated in company with the two sons of ex-Sultan Abdullah. The latter are very intelligent boys, and under Mr. Armstrong's tuition are making considerable progress in the English language.

We regret to have to record a distressing accident which has occurred in the Hamburg Hotel. It appears that Mr. Neumann, the proprietor, was startled by hearing screams from his niece's bed-room, and on going to her assistance he found her dress was in flames, which, after some trouble, he succeeded in putting out. On examination, however, it was found that the lady, Miss Lutz, was very severely burnt, and Mr. Neumann had her removed to the Sepoy Lines Hospital, where she has since died. It is not known precisely how the dress of the deceased took fire, but as there was a paraffin lamp alight in the room at the time, it is probable it first caught the sleeve, and Miss Lutz, in her fright, may have fanned the flames by rushing about.

The great feast of the Mahommedans—the Courban Bairam —falls this year on Friday, the 14th December, and as Friday is the Mahommedan Sunday, the coincidence will in all probability lead to an extraordinary large immigration of pilgrims to Mecca, from east of the Red Sea, in spite of the war with Russia, which affects directly only the Mahommedans of Turkey Proper and Egypt. It would not be surprising indeed if the existence of the war should increase the number of the pilgrims, for, let home politicians say what they please, there is a solidarity pervading the Mahommedan world of which the Christian world as it does not exist among themselves, have not the faintest conception. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the port authorities of the Straits will exercise due vigilance to prevent overcrowding on board pilgrim transports.

Government have at last awakened to the necessity of taking measures to put an end to the system of bribery which is known to exist in the police force here. This course has not been adopted a moment too soon ; for not only are the badly paid Kling and Malay policemen corrupt, but, if all accounts be true, the infection has spread to the European inspectors and sub-inspectors.

Monsieur Scala, Director of the Royal and Imperial Museum, Vienna, is expected to arrive here by the next P. and O. or French mail, and H.E. the Administrator has directed Dr. Dennys, Acting Curator of the Raffles Museum, to place his services at M. Scala's disposal, for the purpose of enabling him to obtain any scientific information regarding this Colony which he may require.

Market Reports.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HANKOW.—The business for the week had amounted to about 2,000 chests, some 9,000 chests having been shipped to Shanghai on native account. The settlements were all in the first two days of the week, foreign buyers having subsequently held off the market altogether. The stock had been reduced to about 3,000 chests, and arrivals had become very few. The recent drop in prices in Shanghai may very probably stop the preparation of many common teas that had been induced by the higher rates that were being paid a fortnight ago, the difference being exactly enough to prevent a loss on first cost. Prices had been :—Oopack, Tls. 10½ to 12 ; Oanfa, Tls. 14½ ; Oonam, Tls. 8¾. Statistics to date were :—

	1877.	1876.
Total arrivals	617,000 chests	... 688,000 chests
Settlements and shipments	614,000 „	... 675,000 „
Stock	3,000 „	... 13,000

SHANGHAI.—Black: A moderate business had been done during the week, settlements being :— Oopack, 500 chests at Tls. 12 to 15½ ; Oanfa, 1,000 chests at Tls. 11½ to 18 ; Oonam, 1,500 chests at Tls. 10¾ to 11½ ; Ningchow, 3,500 chests at Tls. 15½ to 42 ; Hohow, 500 chests at Tls. 11½ to 26 ; total 7,000 chests, against 14,000 chests in the corresponding period last season. The Celestial Empire report says :—The chief feature in this week's business has been the large and sudden increase in our stock from 10,000 chests to 30,000. This has been caused by the arrival of 27,000 chests third-crop tea from Hankow and Kiukiang. These teas are the result of the orders sent up country during the excitement that ruled here some four weeks back, to re-open the firing hongs and buy as much leaf as they could get to lay down here at Tls. 10 per picul. The Hongmen had at that time already closed the packing hongs and left the country, and had this market remained quiet, we should then have had nothing else to arrive but a few trifling parcels packed by the growers themselves, and the deficiency from Hankow alone, instead of as now a possible five, would have been at least ten millions. Thus the bulk of the week's sales consists of these teas, which have realised Tls. 10¾ to 12½, giving good profits. We now hear that no large quantity of leaf could be obtained from the growers at these low prices ($4 to $5 per picul), as they prefer to store it away to mix with their next year's first crop. It is useless to point out to ignorant rustics the eventually suicidal policy of this course. It has paid them well so far and will continue to do so until tea-tasters are instructed to put their special knowledge to use and to reject teas mixed with the previous season's leaf. To expect this to be done, however, is to expect a reform in the trade, and the Chinese are doubtless right in continuing to make hay while the sun shines. Green: In these there had again been a moderate business, settlements being :—Moyune, 1,000 half-chests at Tls. 28½ to 29½ ; Fychow, 3,000 half-chests at Tls. 21 to 23 ; Pingsuey, 2,500 half-chests at Tls. 14½ to 33 ; Shanghai, 500 half-chests at Tls. 22. Total, 7,000 half-chests, against 14,000 half-chests for the same week last year. The Celestial Empire says :—The market has been quiet, and prices are nearly one tael lower all round. The fall would have been greater but for the fact that most teamen refuse to sell at even this reduction. The week's arrivals comprise 15,000 half-chests, and as the teamen are now daily bringing in their packings, with the present apathy of buyers it should not be long before the stock reaches 100,000, when we may except more anxiety to sell to be shown. As compared with last year prices are now about twenty per cent. lower for Pingsueys and barely ten per cent. lower for country teas. Against this we have to place a difference in exchange, in favour of last year of five per cent. The crop thus far is marked by an unusual absence of really fine tea and a superabundance of good medium chops ; while as yet the Chinese seem to have avoided packing very common teas altogether. We have now only one steamer actually on the berth for New York direct, the Loudoun Castle, advertised to load at £4. This vessel will however proceed to Japan to commence her loading, and is expected back in about three weeks' time to fill up in the China ports. The Glenartney is advertised for the same route, but has not yet arrived out.

FOOCHOW.—Messrs. Westall, Galton and Co.'s Weekly Letter says :—A further reduction has taken place in the amount of settlements as compared with previous weeks, and the market closes quiet, with a downward tendency. Latest advices from the North place the probable total yield at 50,000 chests short of last season ; at this port the deficit will probably reach 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 lbs., whilst Amoy and Canton will also send a smaller amount forward. Arrivals and settlements during the week are :—Arrived: Congou, 14,200 chests ; Souchong, 900 chests ; Oolong, 1,100 half-chests ; Flowery Pekoe, 10 chests ; Scented Teas, 3,000 boxes. Settled : Congou, 8,911 chests ; Souchong, 342 chests ; Oolong, 284 half-chests ; Flowery Pekoe, 113 chests ; Scented Teas, 1,921 boxes. Congou : Prices for all Teas except those possessing especial point have declined, and the basis of rates is fast approaching what it was before the rise, quoted in the last two reports, took place. Souchongs remain unchanged. Oolongs : Prices unaltered. Flowery Pekoes : A few chops have been taken for Bombay. Scented Teas show worse value, as teas now being purchased are of very poor quality. Quotations are :—Congou : Medium, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 4d. ; flavoury to medium, 11½d. to 1s. 1½d. ; common to good common, 8¾d. to 11d. ; dust to common, 5¾d. to 8¼d. Souchong : Fair to on fine, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 8d. ; broken leaf to fair, 8¾d. to 1s. 1¾d. ; dust to broken leaf, 6½d. to 8¼d. Oolong : Fair to choice, 1s. 1½d. to 2s. 2d. Flowery Pekoe : Good fair to good, 1s. 5¾d. to 1s. 11½d. Scented Orange Pekoe : Fair, 1s. 3¾d. ; dust, 6½d. Scented Caper : Common to fair, 1s. 0¾d. to 1s. 1¾d.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—Considerable transactions had taken place both on foreign and Chinese account at daily hardening rates, and closing prices showed an advance of fully Tls. 40 per picul during the week. Speculation accounted for a good deal of the advance, but continental buyers had been operating at quotations below. Buying was by no means general. THE DISMISSAL OF MR. ROMANO.

A correspondent at Lisbon writes as follows on the above subject:—

I am glad to see that you have called attention in your paper to the injustice which has been done to Mr. Romano, in dismissing him from the post he had so long and so creditably held. Nobody here seems exactly to know why he had the Consul-Generalship taken away from him, but it is strongly suspected that it was through the influence of Monseigneur Raimondi, the Catholic Bishop in Hong Kong. Unfortunately, no one here seems to care anything about either Hong Kong or Macao. The Government only try to get as much out of the gambling-houses at the latter place as they can, and the rest may take care of itself. In fact, it is more difficult by far to get up any interest here in the Far East than it is even in London, and, as you know, that is a difficult task enough. No wonder the coolie abuses in Macao had such a long run.

CHINESE LABOUR IN AMERICA.

Sir David Wedderburn has written the subjoined letter to the Scotsman on the above subject:—Throughout the United States generally the relations between capital and labour are now in a somewhat "strained" condition, but in the States lying west of the Rocky Mountains a peculiar element is introduced into the matter by the presence of a large Chinese population. In China and throughout Eastern Asia Chinese competition is formidable to the European capitalist and man of business. The Chinaman is contented with small profits, lives economically, and works with untiring diligence, so that in cities like Singapore and Hong Kong, where property is secure from official spoliation, he rapidly accumulates wealth, and the results are apparent in the gradual purchase by Chinese from Europeans of the best business and building sites in the place. It seems in Eastern Asia to be a mere question of time for the Chinese merchants and bankers to get all business into their own hands, by underselling and buying up their European competitors. In Western America the case is very different. Here also the Chinaman abounds, but he belongs to the labouring, not to the mercantile class, and comes into collision, not with the white capitalist, who eagerly welcomes his cheap industry, but with the white working man. In California, the hostility of the Caucasian towards the Mongolian has always mouldered, occasionally blazing forth from special circumstances, as at the present time, when things look particularly unpleasant for the Chinese—so much so, that of late the numbers crossing from China to America have not greatly exceeded those returning homewards to the Flowery Land. Californian politics turn to a large extent upon the question of Chinese immigration; goods are advertised for sale as "the product of white labour only," and strong appeals are made to the public not to take the bread out of the mouths of white women and children by the employment of "John Chinaman." Indeed, the strongest case against the Chinaman is that he makes it hard for a white woman to earn an honest livelihood as laundress or housemaid in California, and here a genuine grievance seems to exist, of which Californian chivalry is entitled to make the most. I regret to say, however, that in Ohio a short time ago all the men in a factory struck work, because the manufacturer refused to dismiss the female employés of his establishment. Dislike to cheap labour has in the minds of working men in America more to do with the Chinese difficulty than antagonism of race, or zeal for the industrial welfare of the weaker sex, and at the present time the question is one the interest and significance of which is by no means limited to the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

The Mails through Egypt.—In a telegram received from the British Postmaster at Alexandria, it is announced that the mails for India despatched from London, via Brindisi, on the 19th instant, and due at Alexandria yesterday, will, owing to the partial destruction of the Egyptian Railway by floods, be conveyed from Ismailia to Suez by Government steamer.

BRITISH SUBJECTS IN CHINA.—ORDER IN COUNCIL.

The subjoined Order in Council—extending the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, Hong Kong, over British subjects in China on the main land to within ten miles of that Colony, and concurrently with the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court for China—appears in the London Gazette of the 26th inst.:—

Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the 7th year of Her Majesty's reign, entitled "An Act for the Better Government of Her Majesty's Subjects resorting to China," it is (amongst other things) enacted that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by an Order or Orders made with the advice of Her Majesty's Privy Council, to ordain, for the Government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Emperor of China, or being within any ship or vessel at a distance of not more than one hundred miles from the coast of China, any law or ordinance which to Her Majesty may seem meet, as fully and effectually as any such law or ordinance could be made by Her Majesty in Council for the Government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the Island of Hong Kong. And whereas Her Majesty was pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, by Order in Council of the 9th day of March, 1865, to ordain (among other things) that all Her Majesty's jurisdiction exercisable in China or in Japan for the judicial hearing and determination of such matters as are by the 4th section of the said Order specified should be exercised according to the provisions of the said Order and not otherwise, and that, save as expressly provided by the said Order, all jurisdiction, power, and authority of the Supreme Court of Hong Kong exercisable in relation to British subjects resident in or resorting to China or Japan should absolutely cease. And whereas, by the Foreign Jurisdiction Amendment Act of 1866 it was enacted that it should be lawful for Her Majesty in Council, by Order in Council, under the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts, to confer upon any Court in Her Majesty's possessions out of the United Kingdom, any jurisdiction which Her Majesty in Council might lawfully by any such Order confer on any Court in any country or place out of Her Majesty's dominions within which Her Majesty has power or jurisdiction. And whereas Her Majesty was pleased by, and with the advice of Her Privy Council, by another Order in Council of the 28th day of March, 1868, to ordain (amongst other things) that in addition to the powers then vested in the Supreme Court of Hong Kong the said Supreme Court might have jurisdiction over and take cognisance of all crimes and offences committed by British subjects at any place on land being within six miles of any part of the Colony of Hong Kong, and not being on the mainland of China, and of and over all disputes and differences between British subjects being in any such place within such limit as aforesaid. And whereas, it has seemed to Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to be expedient to revoke the said last-mentioned Order in Council and to extend the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Hong Kong, in respect to matters arising in the neighbourhood of the Colony of Hong Kong. Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue of the powers in this behalf by the said recited Act, or otherwise vested in Her, is pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

I. In addition to the powers now vested in the said Supreme Court of Hong Kong, the said Supreme Court may have jurisdiction over and take cognisance of all crimes and offences committed by British subjects at any place on land, being within ten miles of any part of the colony of Hong Kong, and of and over all disputes and differences between British subjects, being in any such place within such limit as aforesaid. And the said Court shall and may deal with, try, hear and determine all such cases as fully and effectually as if such crimes or offences have been committed, or such disputes or differences had arisen by or between British subjects within the said colony of Hong Kong.

II. The said Order in Council of the 28th day of March, 1868, is hereby revoked, except for the purpose of completing any proceedings, criminal or civil, which may have been commenced thereunder, before this Order is published in the said Colony of Hong Kong, and any proceedings so commenced may be completed and any sentences and judgments given therein may be executed as fully and effectually as if this Order had not been made.

The jurisdiction hereby conferred upon the Supreme Court of Hong Kong shall be in addition to any concurrent with any power or jurisdiction now possessed by the Supreme Court for China or Japan, or any Provincial Court under the said Order in Council of the 9th of March, 1865, to deal with, try, hear and determine such cases as are herein-mentioned, and nothing in this Order contained shall affect the power of the said Supreme Court for China or Japan, or of any Provincial Court under the said last-mentioned Order in Council, to deal with, hear, try and determine such cases.

Literature, Science, &c.

The number of volumes which are announced for the Christmas book campaign show that there is no want of activity in the publishing world, but doubt is felt whether, with the numberless demands which have been made upon the British purse, the public will respond as well as usual. Among the publications forthcoming is an Imperial Gazetteer of India, by Dr. Hunter, a work destined to supply for the first time a systematic account of our Indian Empire. It will be arranged on an alphabetical principle, and will comprehend the entire peninsula, including the settlements of the French and Portuguese. A novel which has a direct bearing upon the Coolie question, namely, "Luchmee and Dilloo," by Mr. Edward Jenkins, has been published by Messrs. Mullan and Sons. The story is placed in British Guiana, but whenever Mr. Jenkins introduces any fact which bears on the treatment of coolies, but which did not happen in Guiana, he carefully states this in a note. The effect is bad in two ways,—it is felt to be unfair, and it is felt to be futile. When an author draws an elaborate picture of a brutal assault committed in full view of the club-house of the capital of a British colony, with the approval of the members, and then tells us at the foot of the page that the prototype occurred in another hemisphere, the reader feels that there is something wrong somewhere. Messrs. Brendon and Son, of Plymouth, publish "Niphon and its Antiquities," by Mr. Copeland Borlase. It is devoted to the ethnology, mythology, and religions of the Japanese, and the information which he supplies upon each subject is not only based upon a careful perusal of the best authorities, but upon his own knowledge and personal examination of the chief antiquities. The result of the whole is a book, or pamphlet rather, full of interest, especially now, when Japan has thrown off the old restrictions that surrounded her, and European trade has introduced with a marvellous rapidity all kinds of European fashions. Sir Rutherford Alcock is to contribute an article on Africa to an early number of Macmillan's Magazine. A French translation of Messrs. Audsley and Bowes's magnificent work on Japanese Ceramic has just been issued by the house of Firmin-Didot. It is to be completed in seven numbers.

The Quarterly Review for October contains a weighty and well-written article upon Confucian Cosmogony. It is written specially in connection with the life and doctrines of the Philosopher Choo-Foo Tsze, and is based upon Canon McClatchie's recent works, and the Rev. Dr. Eitel's pamphlet on Fung Shui. The controversy with reference to the Chinese ideas of God, and the meaning of the word Shangte is fully explained. The writer holds that it is not correct to imagine the Chinese are materialistic; but that they worship the heavens not as a vesture or the seat of Deity, but as a part of the great animated cosmos in which the spiritual Power, the beginning of everything and the ruler of everything, is inherent. He considers that beyond the sphere of missionary controversy Canon McClatchie's labours have a distinct scientific value, one point at least being ascertained from them, namely, that the Chinese system is material, like most other heathen systems, and that the great Monad of Confucius resembles the Monad of Pythagoras.

The Academny states that the unique collection of specimens of the ancient art of Cambodia brought by M. Louis Delaporte to France as the result of his expedition undertaken in 1873 has been arranged provisionally in the Château of Compiègne, there being no room for these gigantic relics of a past civilisation in the Louvre. They consist of seventy pieces of sculpture and architecture, including several remarkable statues of Buddha and a stone group of two giants, one of whom has five heads and ten arms. These remains were found in the midst of a dense growth of forest along the banks of the Tonking river in the kingdoms of Cambodia and Siam.

The Society of the Liverpool Art Club has recently opened an Exhibition of fans, which had been long announced and in preparation. Not far short of two hundred fans are exhibited, and though the collection is not equally rich in fans of all places and periods, no fan-producing country is altogether unrepresented. Mr. Audsley, who, we hear, has taken a great part in forming the present Exhibition, has put his name at the bottom of the readable account of the art and history of fan-making, which appears as preface to the descriptive catalogue. There are Indian and Chinese fans of much interest in the collection, though probably no Indian fan of the rare value of that reported to be in the collection of the Baroness Salomon de Rothschild—a fan with handle of jade enriched with rubies. The Japanese portion of the Exhibition is not numerically strong, and would, Mr. Audsley modestly avows, have been poor indeed had it not been for the loan of several very remarkable and highly interesting specimens from among the Japanese treasures carefully gathered-up by our colaborateur, M. Burty. The Chinese generally allow that the folding fan was a Japanese invention. Mr. Audsley refers to M. Burty's contribution of "fans of war and ceremony." But, in truth, as Mr. Audsley is himself perfectly aware, many fans were in some sense fans both of war and ceremony. They were mostly massive in Japan, and though the mounts of the Court fans were ornamented in the finest, freest, yet most careful, taste, they were also of sufficient strength to be somewhat formidable weapons ready for use, in ante-chambers of the Court, should occasion require their service.

Meetings of Societies.

At the New Shakspere, on October 12, F. J. Furnivall, Director, in the chair, Mr. Furnivall reviewed the work of the Society and its leading members during and since last Session, and then read the following papers:—1. By Mr. P. A. Daniel, "On the Mistakes in the late Mr. Halpin's Short-Time Analysis of the Merchant of Venice," showing that, instead of thirty-nine hours, eight days, with two intervals of days or weeks, were required by the words of the play. 2. By Mr. P. A. Daniel, showing that the meaning of Iago's squadron in Othello, I. i. 22, was "a corporal's guard of twenty or twenty-five men." 3. By Mr. Wilkins, "on As You Like It," III. iii. 3." 4. By Dr. Brinsley Nicholson, an illustration, in 1640, of the liar believing his lie by oft telling of it (Tempest,) and some mention of Shakspeare in George Wither's "Great Assizes holden in Parnassus," 1645. 5. By Mr. Furnivall, "A Confirmation of William Herbert being W. H. of the Sonnets," and sundry notes on various passages.

At the Entomological Society, on October 3, Professor J. O. Westwood, President, in the chair, Mr. W. L. Distant exhibited an example of the depredations of Dermestes vulpinus in a cargo of hides imported from China, which on arrival had been found to be swarming with the insect in all stages. Mr. McLachlan exhibited a portion of a wooden case, in which hides had been brought from Shanghai, and which was in like manner riddled with the borings of the larvæ.—Professor Westwood exhibited drawings of the pupa of a species of Phryganea which swam about in water like a Notonecta, only using its middle legs as swimming apparatus.

Naval and Military.

The Foreign-office have permitted, at the request of the Kalahome of Siam, two drill and gunnery instructors to enter the service of the Siamese Government.

Mr. Arthur Moreton, late engineer, R.N., has been selected for the appointment of Professor of Practical Marine Engineering at the Chinese Imperial Arsenal, Foochow.

Captain T. M. Jones, who has been appointed to the command of the Steam Reserve at Portsmouth, vice Captain G. H. Parker, appointed Superintendent of Pembroke Dockyard, was on the China Station during the war in 1858-59, serving in the expedition to Hankow. He received a medal for China and promotion to the rank of commander.

Lieutenant Ernest N. Rolfe, who has been appointed to the Royal yacht Victoria and Albert, was employed as acting sub-lieutenant in the Basilisk, 6, Captain W. N. W. Hewett, V.C., on the China Station from September, 1867, until April, 1869, when he returned to England, and was paid off. In November following he was appointed to the Donegal, 81, under his former captain, for passage to China, where in May, 1870, he removed into the Rinaldo, 7, and in January, 1871, was transferred to the Ocean, 24, again under Captain Hewett, and bearing the flag of Sir Henry Kellett, K.C.B., and returned in her to England, and was paid off in June, 1872. He again served under Captain Hewett in the Active, which during her commission of three years and a-half rendered a good deal of service, her officers and crew having furnished the greater part of the naval brigade during the Ashantee War, and also took part in the expedition up the Niger River.

Captain Samuel Brooking Dolling (Retired List) died at his residence, Bridgetown, Devon, on the 15th inst., aged sixty-six years. This officer entered the Navy in 1828, as first-class volunteer. During the first war in China Mr. Dolling was present at the occupation of Chusan, and in the two attacks on Canton; on the latter of which occasions he was spoken of in the highest terms for assistance he rendered at the destruction of a line of defence exterding about two miles from the British factory. He was also, at the same period, mentioned for his conduct at the destruction of a fleet of more than thirty war-junks and fishing-vessels. After the reduction of the batteries at Amoy, in 1841, he joined (having been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant (the Blonde). On March 10, 1842, he commanded the boats of that frigate, in conjunction with those of the Hyacinth, at the destruction of ten fire-vessels off Chinghae. He served afterwards on shore with a division of seamen in the hostilities against Tse-Kee; was employed at the taking of Chapoo and Woosung; succeeded Lieut. Crouch, who had been wounded, in command of the boats at Chin-Kiang; and finally, when in personal command of his former ship, the Algerine, received the thanks of Sir William Parker for his assistance in finishing the survey of the islands off the Yangtsze. He had received the China medal.

A large and commodious Soldiers' and Sailors' Home and Institute in the Military-road, Chatham, has been opened by Lieutenant-General Erskine, K.C.B., the general in command of the district, and there were present Vice-Admiral Sir W. King Hall, Rear-Admiral Charles Fellowes, Colonel Sir John Stokes, Colonel Pym, R.M., Colonel Cox, R.E., Major Keith, &c. The home has in it twenty-two rooms, including reading, bed, recreation, smoking, and refreshment rooms, a lecture hall capable of seating 200 persons, rooms for night school and science classes and for devotional purposes.

Lieutenant Digby, in command of the Jackal, not long since received the thanks of the Austrian Government for assistance rendered under considerable difficulties to the shipwrecked crew of an Austrian barque. Since then that Government has notified its desire of marking its sense of the value of the efforts of the Jackal by making some reward to the crew, and a sum of nearly £100 has been forwarded to the Admiralty through the Foreign-office for that purpose. The money will be distributed amongst the men alone, no officer of any grade whatever participating.

It is stated that Rear-Admiral G. O. Willes, C.B., at present Superintendent of Devonport Dockyard, will relieve Vice-Admiral Sir Beauchamp Seymour in the command of the Channel Squadron. Rear-Admiral William G. Luard, C.B., is named as the successor of Rear-Admiral Willes at Devonport, but it is believed that he will eventually proceed to Portsmouth Dockyard.

The Merlin, 4, composite gunboat, 430 tons, 428-horse power, at Devonport, has had her hull, both inside and outside, thoroughly repaired, bottom recoppered, new rigging rove, engines thoroughly repaired, and new boilers fitted at a cost of £8,762. The whole of the repairs have been effected while the vessel was on the docking tray.

A work is in hand, the want of which has been much felt throughout the Naval Service, and more or less so by all connected with it. This is a "Royal Navy List," which is to contain the name and services of every officer now serving or retired, and which it is intended shall be published quarterly, commencing on January 1 next.

Letters received from Her Majesty's ship Teazer, cruising in the Persian Gulf, bring news of an attack upon Muscat, the capital of the states of the Imaum of Muscat, by Bedaween Arabs.

COMMERCIAL FIRMS.

Mr. Richard Seyd has published the subjoined interesting statistics regarding the rise and fall of commercial firms in London during the years specified :—At the beginning of 1877 there existed in the City of London 11,449 firms engaged in wholesale business—i.e., in the banking, financial, insurance, &c., business, in international and local general wholesale trade—exclusive of Stock Exchange, publishing, retail, and small industrial trades, &c. The year of establishment of these firms may be summarised as follows :—

Year.	No.	Year.	No.
Before 1750	34	Before 1866	317
1800	238	1867	325
1820	467	1868	330
1830	406	1869	375
1840	699	1870	359
1850	911	1871	495
1860	1,699	1872	396
1861	188	1873	513
1862	234	1874	621
1863	260	1875	660
1864	303	1876	1,044
1865	275

In order to show the vicissitudes of business, it may be stated that in 1866, for instance, about 600 new firms established themselves, of which, in 1877, only 317 remained, and for the period from 1866 to 1877 the statement is :—

Year of Establishment.	No.	Still in existence in 1877. No.	Year of Establishment.	No.	Still in existence in 1877. No.
1867	554	325	1873	753	513
1868	603	330	1874	792	621
1869	702	375	1875	864	660
1870	653	359	1876	1,044
1871	798	495

It is a curious fact that, although since 1871 business has been far from good, yet the number of houses has increased at a greater ratio than before. The greater part by far of the increase consists of small firms in the commission trade, agents of manufacturers from the provinces and abroad. The net increase in all the trades from 1871 is about 2,000. In 1876 there were established 1,044 new firms, of which 550 are merchants (about 45 colonial houses), commission houses, and agents, 139 importers of foreign goods, warehousemen, furriers, manufacturers of trimming, &c., 75 wine merchants and agents, 63 ship and insurance brokers and agents, 32 in the tea trade, 18 colonial brokers, 18 cigar and tobacco merchants, 11 hop merchants ; the rest being divided among various branches. The increase in the commission and agency business for manufacturers abroad is strangely borne out by our imports. The total imports in 1871 amounted to £331,000,000 ; in 1876 to £375,000,000, an increase of £44,000,000. Out of the number of firms established in 1876 more than 200 at least are no longer in existence ; 38 have been officially reported as having failed.

THE WRECK REGISTER.

A perusal of the annual wreck register, recently issued for the year commencing on July 1, 1875, and ending on June 30, 1876, shows that the wrecks and casualties at sea have been more numerous than in any previous year since a record of these disasters has been systematically kept by the Marine department of the Board of Trade. It is only right, however, to point out here that this large increase is to some extent accounted for by the greater care now shown in furnishing and compiling these returns. For instance, the present register comprises about 850 minor casualties which formerly would not be considered of sufficient importance to be included. The number of wrecks, casualties, and collisions from all causes on and near the coasts of the United Kingdom, and in the surrounding seas, reported during the year 1875-6, is 3,757, being 167 in excess of the number reported in the previous year. Of this large number 502 cases involved total loss, against 472 and 408 respectively for the two previous years. Between 1861 and 1875-6 the number of vessels, British and foreign, which met with casualties attended with loss of life on the coasts and in the seas of the United Kingdom was 2,592, involving the drowning of 12,322 persons ; and that in the year 1875-6 loss of life occurred in one out of every twenty-two of the casualties. Of the 4,554 ships concerned in the casualties, 3,602 are known to have belonged to Great Britain and its dependencies ; and 152 (with a tonnage of 17,388 tons) were British vessels not registered under the Merchant Shipping Act. Five of her Majesty's ships, with a tonnage of 11,401 tons, that met with casualties, are included in this number ; 2,678 were employed in the British coasting trade, and 1,076 in the (over sea) foreign and home trade. The disasters are thus classified : 775 collisions, 2,982 wrecks and casualties other than collisions. Of these latter 425 were wrecks, &c., resulting in total loss ; 851 were casualties resulting in serious damage ; and 1,706 were minor accidents. Five hundred and twenty-five of the ships were steamers, 139 were rigged as ships, 497 barques, 533 brigs, 505 brigantines, 1,317 schooners, and 199 smacks. Of the 4,554 vessels meeting with disaster, 2,024 did not exceed 100 tons burden, and 1,561 were from 100 to 300 tons. Of the 502 vessels totally lost, 37 were known to have been built of iron, and of this number 31 were steamships and 6 sailing vessels. The localities of the wrecks are thus given ; East coast, 2,119 ; south coast, 427 ; west coast, 822 ; N. and W. coast of Scotland, 83 Irish coast, 275 ; Isle of Man, 12 ; Lundy Island, 12 ; and Scilly Isles, 7. Although the greatest number of wrecks happen on the east coast, the greatest loss of life occurs on the west.

The whole number of lives lost was 778, notwithstanding the determined and ceaseless efforts of the craft of the National Lifeboat Institution. This number is 148 less than those lost in the previous year. Of the 171 ships, 143 were British, involving the loss of 580 lives, and 28 were foreign, involving the loss of 198 lives. It is satisfactory to find that 4,358 lives were saved during the year 1875-6 by the lifeboats of the National Lifeboat Institution, the rocket apparatus of the Board of Trade, ships' boats, coastguard and fishing boats, harbour lifeboats and various other means, the great majority being rescued by the 267 boats of the National Institution.

THE SUPPLY OF GOLD.

The Times says :—Although the measures adopted by the directors of the Bank of England during this month to prevent the margin of gold which we require to keep in readiness for contingent export demands from leaving us have for the present been effectual, we think it will be useful, seeing that we are drifting back into the old position with a diminished Bank reserve, to examine, so far as we are able, the present position of the gold supply which performs the function of currency and which plays in an uncoined form so important a part in adjusting international debts. The circumstances in which we find ourselves as regards the altered position of a large part of the available supply of gold are peculiar, if not unprecedented, and it is important especially for this money market, which is so much more sensitive than any other owing to its greater economic development, to endeavour to ascertain beforehand whether we are likely in the future—that is, during the period in which we must pay for the American grain—to have to adopt strong measures to keep the gold we require for our own use. In order to approach the hypothetical necessity of adopting strong measures from the beginning we will suppose, with circumstances as they are, that the Bank is menaced with a severe drain of gold to New York, which in fact may, so far as we can see, be said to be the case. The argument would seem to be a reasonable one that since Germany commenced her currency reform, and Sweden has replaced paper with gold, while the metal is being held tenaciously by France in preparation for resumption of specie payments, and by other States under the impression that it may be advisable perhaps for them to adopt the gold standard, a smaller proportion of the metal is now available for commercial purposes than was the case prior to 1873, while this condition of things will be aggravated as soon as the United States Government begins actively to compete in the market as a buyer of gold with a view to resumption of specie payments also. As we remarked on a former occasion, gold can always be forced from a country's coin circulation ; but the settlement of international debts by such means is the most costly of all methods, and is only resorted to when all other means fail. The exportation and importation of bar gold are at best but clumsy expedients, but the exportation of coins is much worse. It is quite possible that unless new international facilities are devised for the settlement of trade debts a new difficulty will present itself when activity in commerce revives, owing to the floating supply of bar gold having been so largely transferred into fixed currency. Necessity, however, being the mother of invention, nothing will of course be done until the pressure is felt. The occurrence of the pressure will, perhaps, be the means of at last forcing upon Continental business people the advantages of the check system, which has played the part of currency for so many years in this country. If the supply of gold from the mines should increase in the future this fear need not, of course, be entertained, but so far as facts go they prove that for some years past the supply has decreased.

THE BLUE-BOOKS OF LAST SESSION.—The "Parliamentary Papers" of 1876 are now complete. The House of Commons fills no less than eighty-five volumes with its printed papers of that year. There are seven volumes of public Bills, many of which are reprinted in the course of their progress ; seven volumes of reports from Select Committees ; twenty-seven volumes of reports from Commissioners ; forty-three volumes of other papers ; and the last volume comprises the table of contents and index. The House of Lords has fewer papers laid before it, but fills fifty-nine volumes for 1876. The more important papers are the same in both Houses, but each has some which it jealously guards as its own, the House of Commons keeping the Estimates to itself, for instance, and the House of Lords peerage claims. These numerous volumes, though called "Parliamentary Papers," are, in fact, the annual collection of our public documents, the mode of issuing them being by presenting them to Parliament. In 1876 we find three volumes filled with papers relating to India, four volumes relating to the Colonies, and four volumes of reports from our Secretaries of Legation and Consuls in various parts of the world. There are reports from special Commissions, but the main body of "reports from Commissioners" comprises those which tell us what our public departments at home under their management are doing—the Local Government Board, the Inland Revenue Board, the Customs, the Department of Prisons, Police, Education, Lunacy, Factories, and the like. There are many returns and papers relating to the Army and Navy, but no general review of their condition and work during the year, and for this we must have recourse to reports of the extempore speech by the Minister in the House of Commons on opening the discussion on the Estimates for these departments of the public service. "State Papers," containing correspondence (directly or indirectly) with foreign Governments, filled but three volumes in 1876. The cloud in the East had risen, indeed, but as yet the "Correspondence respecting affairs in Turkey and the insurrection in Bosnia and Herzegovina" did not fill a single volume during the Session. The number of papers of all kinds presented to the House of Commons, either by command of Her Majesty or on motion made by a member, and printed in 1876, without including the private business, exceeded 1,000 in all.

CHINESE IN QUEENSLAND. -A despatch from Brisbane states that Warden Coward has reported from the Palmer Gold Field that the camp near Maytown has been "stuck up" and robbed by Chinese, and £200 taken out of the safe, which was smashed to atoms. The orderly in charge was nearly killed. The Chinese came prepared with ropes and tools, and the orderly's head was lashed to a post; his feet were also lashed, his hands tied behind his back, a rope was put round his neck, and his head put in a bag. Mr. Coward traced and arrested two Chinese.

THERE has lately returned to England a gentleman who has spent nearly half a century out of it, Sir Charles Peter Layard, K.C.M.G. He was educated at St. John's College, Cambridge, went to Ceylon in 1828 as a Civil servant, was appointed extra Assistant Colonial Secretary there in 1830, and after being promoted from one post to another, some eight in all, he was made Government Agent, and at the same time acted as Colonial Secretary. He was knighted last year. He is a cousin of Mr. Austin Layard, our ambassador at Constantinople.

THE P. and O. Company's steamer Peshawur brings the heavy portion of last inward mail, and £531,868 in specie, consisting of the following:—From Australia, 171,000 sovereigns and £85,921 in bar gold; from Yokohama, £58,902 in gold coin; from Hong Kong, 82,800 sovereigns; from Shanghai, £8,080 in gold coin; from Bombay, £121,040 in bar gold and £795 in silver coin; and from Alexandria, £3,330 in gold and silver.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, OCT. 23.

The great event here during the past week has been the unveiling and consecration of a grand monument, erected in memory of those whose fate it was in the war of 1870 to lose their lives in helping to cement the great union of the German nation and the re-erection of the Empire. The monument has been placed in one of the finest streets of Hamburg, the Esplanade, in the vicinity of the Alster Basin, and has been very tastefully ornamented with surrounding flowers, &c. At the unveiling, which took place on Thursday last, were present the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, the members of senate, the clergy, &c., and a great many citizens with their ladies, for whose accommodation large tribunes had been erected all round. Although the weather looked very sulky and threatening that day, still it kept dry during the ceremony.

The late gales have made fearful ravages in the North Sea, and the English steamship D'amietta, from Danzig to England with a full cargo of grain, has sunk, the crew being saved. The Norwegian barque Orpheus, with a cargo of deals for England, was picked up derelict and brought in here by the Hamburg steamship Uhlenhorst. Wreckage is driving about everywhere.

The great social difficulty which has prevailed here for some years past, has been the obtaining of residences suitable for the middle classes. This trouble has not only utterly disappeared, but the supply now exceeds the demand. Notwithstanding the decided falling off in the number of the inhabitants, especially in the city itself, the building of new houses has gone on increasing, and there are at present so many on hand that owners before long will either have to lower their rents or to see their property remain valueless.

The German squadron which, since the return of the four ironclads, Kaiser, Deutschland, Friedrich Carl and Preussen, under Rear-Admiral Batsch, will have to protect the German interests in the Mediterranean is now comparatively small, consisting only of the two corvettes, Hertha and Gazelle, the gunboats Albatross and Comet, and the despatch-boat Pommerania, under command of Captain Kinderling as commodore. The squadron is to be reinforced at the end of this or the commencement of next month by the corvette Freya.

On the 20th inst. the Hamburg American Packet Company held a second extraordinary meeting of shareholders in order to confirm the resolution brought forward at the former meeting, held on the 6th, by the terms of which the paid-up share capital of 22½ millions of marks is to be reduced to fifteen millions. In this second meeting the proposals of the directors were agreed to by 1,512 to 2, and by 1,528 to 2 votes. The shareholders may therefore look for a distribution of a dividend for the year 1878 early in 1879.

The underground or subterranean telegraphic communication between Berlin and Kiel, as well as between the metropolis and other centres, is now nearly complete, and a member of the British Telegraph Staff has arrived in the capital in order to be instructed by our officials in this new mode of transmission, which has already proved itself to be a considerable improvement.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Transactions on our Produce Markets have been influenced by the war and the high value of money; dealers are not inclined to enter into speculative operations, and as the demand has also diminished in consequence of the advancing season, there has been a want of animation, and sales have been only to a limited extent.

COFFEE.—Business during the past week has been very quiet, and only the arrivals of the new Brazil crop have met with any competition. the consumptive demand being of no importance. The market closes with a good tendency and firm values; Java quality is quoted m.1.05 to 1.50 per lb.

SUGAR.—No transactions in first hand parcels are reported. Quotations are:—Manila, brown, clayed, m.23 to 25½; do. unclayed, m.18 to 20; Mauritius, brown, m.18 to 24; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.27 to 29½; do. brown, m.17¼ to 24½; Siam, Benares and China, white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.21 to 29½; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 28 per 100 lbs.

RICE.—In consequence of the better tendency reported from the London market, holders of dressed quality are showing more reluctance, and are asking higher values, especially for inferior quality. Sales have been regular, and of an average extent. Of raw quality I have to report the arrival of 16,000 bags per Sarah and Emma, from Rangoon, and of 7,200 bags per Churchstow, from Bassein, which are gone direct to the mills.

TEA is quiet. Of first hand parcels 600/16 boxes Moning Congou have been sold.

COTTON shows continued quietness, and only some parcels of American provenience have changed owners.

SPICES.—Nutmegs are showing more animation, at m.2.80 to 3.20 per lb.; Mace is quoted m.2.20 to 2.30; Cloves: Amboina are scarce, Zanzibar in demand at m.140 to 141; do. Stalks firm, at m.38 to 39; Pepper quiet; Singapore, m.37 to 37½, Batavia and Penang, m.34½ to 35 White, m.65 to 72.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

The agitation of the previous week has been followed by a quieter and firmer tendency, the collapse of the Ritterschaftliche Private Bank at Stettin having had no direct influence here. Transactions, in spite of the better feeling, have been only of limited extent, although the Money Market has shown more easiness.

THE COAST OF SYRIA.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT.)

HAIFA, SYRIA, SEPT. 30, 1877.

Mr. W. J. Gale, son of the artist, Mr. Gale, of London, came to Haifa at the end of November, 1876, and stopped at the hotel of the German colony here for about a month, but subsequently resided in the town of Haifa, in order to become acquainted, as he said, with the language and manners of the Arabs, during his stay of three months among them. After this he returned to the colony, and took board and lodging with Mr. Ch. Oldorf, an American citizen of our colony, and went into partnership with him for carrying on the business of farming. The harvest was pretty good here, but Mr. Gale preferred to dissolve his contract with Mr. Oldorf, as he intended to go to Egypt, after having first made a tour to Nazareth and Tiberias.

In the beginning of this month he left here in company with Mr. Walker, of London, who is also stopping with Mr. Oldorf, on his journey to Nazareth by waggon. Mr. Walker returned the next day, but Mr. Gale rode on to Tiberias; he, however, soon returned from there, but made the fatal and incomprehensible mistake of coming back on foot, all alone from Nazareth to Haifa, contrary to all warning and advice not to do it, in a time when all roads here are unsafe from roving Bedouins.

On the 14th inst. Mr. Gale was seen at Medschedel, two English miles from Nazareth, at nine A.M., walking alone on the Haifa-road, and at noon he was seen at Samunich, two miles further, but after that nothing more was seen of him. But as he was expected here in Haifa, and as no news arrived from him, we became more anxious about him from day to day, until Messrs. Walker and Oldorf concluded on Friday, the 21st inst., to search for him; they rode to Nazareth on the same night, and returned on the following night with the above reports. Mr. Gale had disappeared. Immediately a telegram was sent to Mr. Eldridge, the British Consul-General at Beyreut, who directly sent orders to the Pacha at Acca, and so the investigation was commenced. On Tuesday, the 25th, an Arab found a fresh skull under a large tree, a little aside from the Haifa-Nazareth-road, at the end of a pretty large wood, two English miles from Samunich, and about six miles from Haifa, where also considerable traces of blood could be seen, but the skull was deprived of all flesh and hair; it had two large holes in it, that could only have been caused by a sharp instrument, and also a few remnants of the woollen shirt that Mr. Gale had worn here. Wednesday, the 26th, Mr. Oldorf rode to the spot, under native protection, and found a rib considerably gnawed, the lower jaw nearly deprived of teeth, a few remnants, of the woollen shirt, and the cane of Mr. Gale. On the same day an English man-of-war arrived here, sent by the Consul at Beirut, with the Secretary of the Consulate. Thursday and Friday further information and investigation were looked for on the spot where the murder was committed, by the Consulate, the officers of the ship and by the Government, but nothing more than a few bones and patches of the shirt could be found.

Seven suspicious men from a Fellahin village, which lies so near to the spot where the murder was committed that one can be easily heard from there, and in full view of the tree where Mr. Gale was murdered, have been arrested and put in prison in Acca; the further developments are still in the future, and will have to be awaited. The way in which the murder was committed is still in the dark, but that Mr. Gale was murdered there is no doubt. Of his other clothing and the revolver which he had with him no trace has yet been found. The inhabitants are considerably excited, and want is growing very large among the natives, so that murders happen often; if, therefore, the English Government does not carry this case through and strictly demand satisfaction, the result will be that all Christians will be so much more in danger, and particularly Europeans may have to lose their lives by the first opportunity. But we hope that the energetic action of the English Government will not be wanting in this matter, by which we would all derive a great benefit. The English man-of-war lying at anchor here already commands much respect from the natives.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

The present mail brings news that some steps have been taken by the Chinese authorities for the punishment of those concerned in the recent outrage at Wuchang. This is so far satisfactory, and it is to be hoped that in the present instance there may be an exception to the ordinary rule, and that the matter will be adjusted without the necessity of bringing pressure to bear upon the Government. The reports concerning the shortness of the crops are still most distressing. According to the correspondent of one of the Shanghai papers, the crops in the vicinity of Tientsin are bad, but they are still worse in the interior of the province, where there is said to be in many places only two-tenths of a crop, and in other places practically nothing. Persons from Shansi affirm that the condition of things in that once prosperous province is even worse. The great valley which constitutes the most fertile portion of Shansi is peculiarly dependent on irrigation from the mountains on either side, and for two years past the rain-fall has been insignificant. The suffering among the people has been very great, although comparatively unknown to foreigners in China. Poor country people, utterly without food, have already begun to flock to Tientsin from the cities on the line of the Canal, and there is only too much reason to fear that while the crops in Shantung are a great improvement on those of the last year, in Chihli the suffering will be greater than last winter. The Government is taking tardy notice of the distress—too late it is much to be feared to be of practical use, though it perhaps is satisfactory to find the Peking Government doing anything in such a case. A decree, however, in the Peking Gazette of the 24th August grants a request by the Viceroy of Nanking for a remission of taxation in certain districts near Nanking, "on the score of their prostrate condition, and their recent sufferings from locusts and drought," and a remission of three-tenths of the grain-tax is conceded in favour of five districts, while a decree to this effect is ordered to be publicly placarded and the proper steps taken to prevent official underlings extorting the sum thus surrendered. Some interesting letters are published from Messrs. Baber and Gill, who are pursuing their travels independently of one another in Szechuen. The deterioration of the River Hwangpu has again been the subject of notice, and the Chairman of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce has addressed a well-drawn-up despatch to the Foreign Ministers at Peking on the subject. It is to be hoped that the subject will at last be taken in hand by the Chinese Government, as there is no doubt it is one which calls for serious attention. A sad case of hydrophobia has attracted some attention in Shanghai, where for some time past the necessity of taking precautions in this matter has been recognised. The victim was one of the Municipal police, who was bitten while seizing a suspected dog. The Hong Kong Legislative Council was to meet on September 17, when it was anticipated that some matters of public interest would be brought forward for discussion. It was stated, upon apparently reliable authority, that the Governor had made some attempts to establish a Prisoners' Aid Society. Exception was taken to this having been done in a private manner.

The dates from Japan by the present mail have been anticipated vid America.

THE INDIA AND CHINA BANKS.

The statements which were made by the Chairmen of the various India and China Banks, which took place last week, are upon the whole encouraging as respects banking with the Far East. That business in those directions has been generally of a discouraging character is unfortunately too well known to need confirmation; but the fact that an institution like the Oriental Bank should, as its Chairman stated to the meeting, receive the same account from the agents of all its numerous branches, brings the fact home in a very forcible manner. "The reports," he said, "from "their agents in all parts of the world were to the same "effect, that there had been little doing either in exports "or imports;" and on the top of this there have been the Indian famine and the untoward state of business at home to militate against the business of the half-year. Under these circumstances the results which are set forth may be considered on the whole as highly satisfactory. The business transacted has generally been of a thoroughly sound and legitimate character, and has been productive, notwithstanding adverse influences, of dividends at the rate of from 6 to 10 per cent. per annum—a very good return for money in the present day, when sound and reliable means of investment are so much sought after. Taken altogether, the India and China Banks may be now looked upon as ranking very high as modes of investing capital. The days when operations of a speculative and dangerous character were common have passed away; and if the returns now made are not so large as formerly, the shareholders have the satisfaction of knowing that the whole nature of Banking business with the East is of a much sounder and more reliable character than was formerly the case. It is under these circumstances, perhaps, the more to be regretted that the Chairman of one of the Banks, the Mercantile, made a proposition which in the minds of most people unacquainted with the facts would lead to an opposite conclusion. He suggested that the qualification for Directors should be lowered from the present standard of a hundred shares or the equivalent of about £2,500. Such a proposition coming from the Chairman of a Bank of such high standing is little less than astounding, and the reason given for it, namely, that it was desirable to get good men, and it was not always possible to do so with the existing qualification, makes the matter appear only the more extraordinary. The argument would be an excellent one for raising the qualification—in fact, that which would naturally first occur to anyone advocating that measure; and we are almost disposed to think that Mr. Nicol was in the position of the learned counsel who, hurrying into court, began to argue for the defendant instead of the plaintiff, and put matters right by pointing out to the jury that what he had just said were the plausible but fallacious views which would no doubt be impressed upon them by the other side. Some of the shareholders at all events seemed to be alive to this bearing of the question, and soon drew their own conclusion from the premises advanced.

THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

We are glad to call attention to the following correspondence between Messrs. Matheson and Co. and other merchants in the China trade and the Foreign-office. We have already noticed the extraordinary omission in the Blue-book on the Chefoo Convention, and we regret to have now to characterise the reply of Lord Tenterden as very unsatisfactory. It is clear from this that no limit can be assigned to the delay in the ratification or rejection of the Convention, and we would therefore urge the merchants and others interested to form a deputation to Lord Derby and explain their views fully upon the subject.

London, Oct. 15, 1877.

My Lord,—As merchants interested in the trade with China we much regret to find that the long delayed papers on the late Convention with China, now they are published, strangely omit all the observations of Sir Thomas Wade on Section III. of the Convention, viz., that relating to trade.

As more than a year has elapsed since this Chefoo Convention was made, and no ratification has yet taken place, we trust your Lordship will not consider us unreasonable if we say that this unusual suspense, coupled with the marked excision in the Blue-book of that portion of the report of Sir Thomas Wade most nearly affecting us, is calculated to be prejudicial to mercantile interests.

Digitized by Google

We would, therefore, respectfully urge on your Lordship no longer to withhold publication of the omitted portion of the remarks of Sir Thomas Wade, in order to afford us an opportunity before the Convention is ratified or rejected of judging the arguments which weighed with the British Minister, and are now under the consideration of Her Majesty's Government before the final decision is arrived at, as without these it is impossible fairly to consider the matter in all its bearings.

We have the honour to be, My Lord,
Your Lordship's most obedient servants,

(Signed by) Matheson and Co.; T. A. Gibb and Co.; Adamson and Co.; Birley, Smith and Co.; Andrew A. Rankin and Co.; Reiss Bros. and Co.; C. P. Henderson and Co.; Robert Brand and Co.; Dent Palmer and Co.; Harvey, Brand and Co.; Dufour Bros. and Co.

The Right Hon. the Earl of Derby, Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, &c.

Foreign-office, Oct. 22, 1877.

Gentlemen,—I am directed by the Earl of Derby to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th inst. relative to the Chefoo Convention, and I am to inform you in reply that the observations of Sir T. Wade on Trade will hereafter be presented to Parliament, together with any other papers which there may be upon the subject, when the Convention in question has been fully considered.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient, humble servant,
(Signed) Tenterden.

The Foo-so, ironclad for the Japanese Government, lately noticed in our columns, has been finished by Messrs. Samuda Brothers, of Poplar, and now only waits for her guns, which are expected shortly. As soon as they are on board the date for the trial and delivery of the vessel will be fixed. Two other ironclad corvettes are in course of completion for the Japanese Government, one the Kongo, at Earle's Shipbuilding and Engineering Works, Hull, which will be completed by the end of the present month, and will probably leave for Japan about the end of the year. The third is at the works of the Milford Haven Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, which is expected to be completed early in December. Messrs. Vosper and Co., engineers of Portsmouth, have also been constructing some launch machinery for the Japanese Government.

In the present number we give a résumé of a valuable batch of Consular reports upon the trade of China for the year 1876, which has been recently issued. The remarks which are made with reference to the introduction of railways into Formosa are of interest, but, as we stated a short time back, there is, it is to be feared, but little chance of the brilliant prospects held out being realised. It is observable that the majority of the Consuls in their reports give valuable information with respect to opium. We again notice the absence of the report from Shanghai, and are at a loss to account for its being apparently a rule always to publish it at a later date than those from the other ports.

A Correspondent in Lisbon, whose letter we publish in another column, confirms the impression very generally prevalent with respect to the dismissal of Mr. Romano from the Consul Generalship in Hong Kong. Athough it was never stated in so many words, there could be little doubt that the comments which were made on the subject in the China papers pointed to Bishop Raimondi as the chief mover in the matter. We shall be very glad if it can be shown that the impression generally prevalent is erroneous; but however this may be, there is no doubt that Mr. Romano's removal was due to Ecclesiastical influence in one form or another.

We direct attention to a new Order in Council which appeared in Friday's Gazette, and which makes an alteration of some importance with respect to the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court at Hong Kong over British subjects on Chinese territory.

A private telegram has been received from Shanghai, dated the 23rd inst., announcing that the final instalment of the Woosung Railway has been paid by the Chinese Government, and that the line is closed.

We understand that Sir Brooke Robertson, C.B., has been selected to succeed Sir Walter Medhurst at Shanghai, with the rank of Consul General.

CONSULAR REPORTS ON THE CHINA TRADE.

The Reports on Trade with China by H.M. Consuls for the year 1876 have been issued, and contain a large amount of information which will be, on the present occasion, of much more practical value than would be the case had their publication been deferred.

The series of reports under notice commences with that of Sir Brooke Robertson, of Canton. He states that there has been a marked increase in the importation of grey shirtings, white shirtings, T-cloths, and drills, especially of English make, but in none of these to the extent that might be reasonably expected. He notes, however, that the manufacturers at home have themselves to blame. They found in China an unlimited field for the sale of Manchester goods, and they have done their best to destroy it; over-sizing, loose texture, and inferior qualities have done their work, until the article has become a bye-word, and the price fallen to an extent to be unremunerative. Meanwhile, it is said the Americans are trying what an honestly-made cloth will do in the market, and there are great hopes of a successful importation from India, where cotton and weaving mills have been erected, and are turning out a very superior kind of cloth. This circumstance is one to which we have repeatedly directed the attention of the Manchester manufacturers, and we can only trust that now that the information is coming forward in so definite a shape, and from so authoritative a source, some attention will be paid to it.

An important point is noticed by Sir Brooke Robertson with reference to opium. He states that the use of the native drug is decidedly on the increase, and that it is improving in quality. This latter point ought to be taken into careful consideration, as it has been the superiority of the quality of the Indian drug over the native upon which we have hitherto had to rely. Upon this subject the remarks of Sir Brooke Robertson deserve to be given at length. He says:—

The native opium used in Canton is the produce of the Sze-ch'uan, Kweichow, and Yunnan Provinces, and in small quantities from those of Shen-si and Honam; but of the eighteen provinces of the Empire eight may be said to grow it in larger or smaller quantities. Of the opium shops in Canton 80 per cent. deal in it, the remaining 20 confining their trade to the foreign product only. I have it on good authority that the preparation of native opium has greatly improved of late, both in flavour and consistency, and it is said that the production has doubled in the last ten years. For instance, on Chinese authority, the present outturn is from 25,000 to 32,000 piculs (133⅓ lbs. per picul) per annum, against from 15,000 to 18,000 piculs in 1864, 1865, and 1866. Native opium is, of course, taxed in transitu to Canton from the place of production. It is difficult to say what the various barrier and octroi duties amount to, but on an average every picul sold in the city has paid about Tls. 40 in duties and imposts, the selling price being about $480 per picul. It is used by the poorer classes, being cheaper than the foreign drug, and when a taste for it is acquired it is often preferred. Indian opium is often mixed with the latter to improve its strength and give it a flavour. So many exhaustive and valuable reports upon opium, foreign, and native have appeared in the Maritime Customs Reports that I do not attempt to treat the matter more than cursorily. This is no place to discuss its political and social bearings, and I shall leave it to those who know, or fancy they know, all about it to do so, merely observing, as I have before observed, that the Chinese Government does not see its way to the total suppression of its use, as urged by a section of the British public, for the simple reason that it has not the power, and probably considers that, by doing so, if it had it would lead to a renewal of the organised smuggling bands and boats which bade defiance to the Provincial Government and created a very dangerous class. Everyone who knows Canton previous to the signing of the Treaty of Tientsin can recall the constant fights on the river between boats—manned with from eighty to a hundred men, and pulling as many oars, armed and ready to engage whoever interfered with them—and the Chinese Imperial cruizers. Scarcely a day passed without loss of life, and the penalty for smugglers of opium when caught being death the execution ground was in constant requisition. Such was the state of affairs in regard to opium when the Treaty of Tientsin legalised the import, and the smuggler's occupation being gone he and his boats disappeared, and if morality is alleged to have been shocked by the act, humanity has been spared by it the scenes of bloodshed which prevailed, and society the existence of a desperate and vicious class.

Speaking of the rush made at the opening of the season to secure the first of the new teas, Sir Brooke expresses his opinion that so long as the spirit of competition prevails in the race for securing and shipping the first teas of the season, so long will the qualities and purity of the article deteriorate, and the prices given leave no margin for profit. Indeed, of late years China teas have been gradually deteriorating, both in strength and flavour, owing almost entirely to a too hasty preparation and a process of adulteration, and still the cause of this, the same reckless competition, prevails year after year, but the evil has now almost reached its tether. The Indian teas are becoming not only an established fact, but are competing with those of China, and the importers of the latter will have to look to it, or it will be out of the market. After reviewing the growth of the cultivation in India, he says there can be no doubt that the part of India, the Himalaya range, where the plantations are situated, possess every advantage of soil and climate for the growth of tea, and that India is capable of producing sufficient to satisfy not only the possible demands of England but the wants of all the world besides.

Mr. Consul Pedder gives only a brief report on the trade of Foochow. As compared with the returns of the previous year, the direct trade shows a decrease in the value of imports to the extent of more than £37,000 sterling, and of exports to the extent of more than £807,000 sterling; whilst the indirect trade shows an increase in imports and exports respectively to the value of £57,000 and £16,000 sterling. The direct trade of the port, however, has not suffered to the extent shown in the return, if at all. The decrease in the value given is owing in part to the depreciation in the value of silver causing a comparatively lower sterling valuation, and in part to the fact that the export of tea had not finished so nearly as usual by the end of the year, and that many millions of pounds weight remained to be shipped off in the early part of 1877 that properly belong to the trade of the year 1876. Mr. Pedder calls attention to a point of much importance now that Indian teas are so likely to compete with those from China. He notes that during the year the foreign merchants brought to the notice of the Consuls certain negligencies and malpractices on the part of the Chinese concerned in the tea trade, which, if not corrected, would seriously affect the character of Foochow teas and injure the trade of the port. The subject, he adds, was brought before the provincial authorities, and they have taken steps that are likely to bring about an improvement in the conduct of the trade, if the foreign buyers will support the action of the authorities.

Mr. P. J. Hughes, Consul at Hankow, referring to the purchase by the Chinese S.N. Company of the steamers of the S.S.N. Company, notes that the clearances under the British flag still continue greater than those of any other nation. He goes on to say that the effect of that step will be that the American flag will almost disappear from the waters of China. Mr. Hughes notices the very important fact that the employment of steamers has not diminished the number of junks.

Mr. Hughes, in noticing a falling off in the import of opium, attributes the fact to the increase in the production of native opium, which is said to be improving in quality—his opinion thus coinciding entirely with that expressed by Sir Brooke Robertson on the same subject, as noticed above. He says that certainly as much native drug finds its way from Hankow to Shanghai as Indian drug from that port to Hankow; and he goes on to say with reference to the native product:—

Meantime the production is likely to increase under the fostering care of the Chinese authorities. It is true that the growth of the poppy is nominally prohibited, but the chief, if not the only, result of this prohibition, is a slight addition to the cost of the opium, caused by the necessity of paying fees to the officials or their subordinates. Perhaps, too, something may be allowed for the narrowing of the field of poppy cultivation, owing to the occasional interference of a conscientious mandarin. On the other hand, the likin or inland revenue tax is much less than on Indian opium, and the duty which the Customs levy on the export of native opium is Tls. 15 a picul, or just half the import duty on the foreign article. Under these circumstances, even if the conditions remain as at present, it needs not the gift of prophecy to foretell the result, in the immediate future, of the competition between the native and foreign drug.

Mr. Hughes is of opinion that the importance of the position of Hankow as a trading mart will be fully continued, and that the port will not be injuriously affected by the opening of Ichang.

A very interesting report is given by Mr. Harvey, acting Vice-Consul at Kungchow on Hainan. The trade is so new that no very definite conclusions can be formed respecting it; but it appears that during its first year about 600 piculs of opium were imported, 23,000 pieces of shirtings, 21,000 pieces of T-cloth, and 7,000 pieces of drill. Foreign cottons are well suited for the clothing of the inhabitants, and an increase in importation may be looked for, but in a climate so warm the demand for woollens is likely to remain small. Sugar is the staple export, and about 120,000 piculs were exported. It is of a kind well suited for the London market, and there is good reason for supposing it will become an article of direct export to Great Britain and other foreign countries. In estimating the natural resources of the island, he says it should be borne in mind that the island has been for hundreds of years, until quite recently, in a chronic state of war within and without, savages from the interior harrying the Chinese settlements and interfering with agriculture, whilst pirates were the scourge of the coast, and often cut off trade with the mainland for months together. Finally, opium smuggling was another source of demoralisation until the traffic was regularised by the establishment of the foreign Custom-house. Piracy has been practically suppressed, and now that the eyes of foreigners are upon them the Chinese authorities, should there be any occasion for it, would probably make more than their hitherto half-hearted efforts to keep the Li in order.

Consul Adkins reports that the trade of Newchwang shows on the whole satisfactory results. Speaking of the famine, he says:—

The famine in Shantung has driven large numbers of starving people to the shores of this province. During the winter several hundreds were supported in this town by a dole from the Intendant, supplementing a charitable fund raised by wealthy Chinese merchants. Many hundreds were also provided with money to enable them to pursue their journey northwards, where they hoped to be able to find settlements in the still unopened tracts of country which abound there. They do not, however, apparently go to Northern Manchuria (Tsi Tsi Har), they stop in the most fertile districts of Feng-Teen and Kirin, which may be reached from this port in three weeks or a month. It is quite impossible to estimate the numbers that have arrived, but the immigration has become so large that the authorities would like to put a check upon it if they could. Many of the immigrants are well dressed, and appear to be possessed of means.

Mr. W. M. Cooper, Acting Consul at Ningpo, says that the most noticeable feature in the import trade is the large increase in opium, and adds that the causes of the healthy aspect of this trade must be sought in the growing prosperity of the people, and also in the comparatively small exactions levied on the drug by the authorities of this province, Tls. 32 per picul only being the amount levied for lekin. The last-named point is of much importance, both as showing the extent of the lekin levies and also the importance of their effect upon the trade. In cotton piece goods there has been an increase to the extent of some 143,224 pieces.

In his report on the trade of Swatow, Mr. Acting Consul Forrest notes a considerable increase in the trade, and states that in consequence of the incidence of a light lekin Swatow has hitherto been the port of supply for opium of a large part of the two adjacent provinces of Fokien and Kiangse, but the large import will continue only so long as the moderation of the tax enables the traders to supply drug at a cheaper rate than their rivals at Amoy or Foochow. He goes on to say that foreign residents have practically nothing to do with the import trade of Swatow. The impossibility of obtaining redress against creditors or defaulters, the universal system of long credits under which trade is conducted, and other local reasons, have caused them to relinquish it. The native traders are for the most part simply transit agents, who for a small consideration pass through the customs, and forward to their destination in the interior, goods and opium bought by their native correspondents in Hong Kong. Of the wealthier hongs, several are under the influence of, or owned by, the higher officials of the circuit, especially the brigadier-general. As junks coming from Hong Kong, where those hongs have agencies, only pay duties at the Chinese-managed customs, and most probably very little there, foreigners cannot compete with goods brought by them. The Swatow Guild, too, exercises a baleful influence on the expansion of trade, and on the share taken in it by foreigners. This institution can simply ruin any one offending against its policy or members, for by its fiat any foreign firm can be 'put into Coventry,' and not a native trader of any sort will go near the interdicted merchants until they have made their peace by copious presents and submission. Perhaps the improved Mixed Courts contemplated in the Chefoo Convention will prove a remedy against this growing and monstrous evil.

Mr. Consul Mongan's report on Tientsin shows that the trade of 1876 compares very favourably with that of 1865, its total value by sea and overland having reached the high figure of Tls. 25,611,437, equal, at 6s. per tael, to £7,683,431 2s., against Tls. 23,347,227, or £7,004,168 2s. in the preceding year; and similarly the gross value of the cargoes imported, and re-exported in 1876, and the net value of the imports and exports, were Tls. 22,329,778 and Tls. 18,741,493, against Tls. 20,324,180, and Tls. 17,058,711 respectively in 1875. Regarding opium, he says that the trade in Indian opium was not so much crippled last year by the competition of native opium as by the heavy lekin tax which is now levied at Tientsin, viz., Tls. 33 per chest, whilst at Chinkiang, the other chief port of supply for the inland markets of North China, this arbitrary exaction is much lighter, he believes only Tls. 18 per chest. For the last three years the imports of shirtings and T-cloths has been steadily falling off. Regarding the opening of the Kaiping mines, Mr. Mongan reports that there are indications of an intention on the part of the Governor-General to work with foreign appliances the coal mines in the Kaiping district to the north-east of Tientsin between the Pehtang and Lanho rivers. In October, 1876, his Excellency sent an English mining engineer with an interpreter to visit and report upon the producing capability of a coal basin which had formerly been worked there. Its area was found to be about seventy-eight square miles, and the engineer was told on the spot by workmen formerly employed in the mines that the coal seam was seven feet thick, which would give a total of about 60,000,000 tons of coal underlying the valley.

Mr. Acting Consul Playfair reports very hopefully of the trade of North Formosa. There has been continued increase both in exports and imports, the foreign trade of last year having been greater than that of 1875 by Tls. 571,792, and having exceeded that of 1874 by Tls. 886,809. In 1869 the value of the imports and exports amounted to £223,545, and the returns prove that the trade of the port has more than trebled itself in value since that year. Speaking of the future prospects of the Island, he says:—

Ting-Jih-ch'ang has shown himself to be a remarkable man, and, above all, a remarkable Chinaman, in many ways. The consistent crusade which, since his appointment to the governorship, he has waged against official corruption of every kind, has few parallels in the history of his country. In a memorial to the Throne, written some three or four years ago, he earnestly advocated the adoption of Western improvements to develop the country. Formosa would seem to have been chosen as a corpus vile on which to experiment in order to determine how far the Chinese lower orders are now prepared to submit to the introduction of the railway, the telegraph, and other innovations. The Governor is now on a visit to the island, and appreciating to how insignificant an extent its resources have as yet been worked, has apparently set his mind on doing his best to let Formosa lie no longer neglected. The fact that the name of the Viceroy of Chih-li is associated with that of Ting in the suggestion of some of the proposed improvements is evidence that the scheme is an Imperial, and not merely a provincial undertaking. In the North the coal mines of Kelung are being worked by European machinery, and with the aid of European skill. New roads to open up the country are being constructed, but the most advanced project of all is perhaps the proposal to connect North and South Formosa by a railway, in the working of which advantage will be taken of the late purchase by the Chinese Government of the Wusung line and plant. This project is as yet in its infancy, and it is hard to prophesy whether the idea will ever be realised, for owing to the peculiar character of the country (viz., a plain intersected by watercourses at times some miles in width, which during the rains become the beds of torrents fed from the mountains), the engineering difficulties will not be few, and the expense cannot fail to be considerable. Being a Government undertaking it will not, however, be open to the same objections on the score of Fêng-shui and kindred superstitions which the inhabitants would have opposed to an European project. In addition to a possible railway, Governor Ting has the intention of joining Foochow and North Formosa by a submarine telegraph cable, the wire to be continued overland to the south of the island, presumably along the line of rail, though it is probable that the telegraph will make its appearance before the railroad."

THE SUPPRESSION OF THE OPIUM TRADE.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

Sir,—Your correspondent "Chink in the Wall" must be rather a narrow chink. Could he not try to widen his view a little? The area of the opium question includes a good deal which he cannot or will not see. We of the Anti-Opium Society object to the use of opium except as medicine, and therefore to the production of opium except for medicine. If the trade were in private hands we should oppose it; but we have an additional objection to the trade being carried on by the Indian Government. Over and above this we are opposed to the course pursued by Great Britain in China in connection with this drug. I say we force opium into China. A small but indignant chorus of voices exclaims "No, no!" But we did in 1858 compel the Chinese to legalise the traffic. In 1869 they besought, and besought in vain, to have this obligation removed. If anyone chooses to assert that in 1877 their minds have changed let him bring proof. Kuo Tajen's memorial shows that their hostility to opium is as lively as ever. "Chink" exclaims against their taxing opium if they regard it as a poison. But let him remember who compelled them to tax it. Being so compelled it is not surprising if they should wish to tax it somewhat proportionably to the amount levied by the Indian Government. Let him tackle this dilemma. Either opium is frightfully injurious to China, or it is not. If it is, Great Britain ought not to compel China to admit it. If it is not, China may as lawfully raise revenue therefrom as ourselves. Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

We have no wish to see China depending upon opium for revenue as India does, and as we do here upon gin and beer. Far from it. But, looking at the case as it is, as we have very largely helped to make it, what is the Chinese Government to do? Since 1839 there has been progress even in China, and nobody proposes to revert to the barbarous methods, decapitation and strangling, by which Commissioner Lin strove to put down opium smoking. In any plan the Chinese Government may devise a gradually-increasing duty on opium will probably form a part. We do not want to help China to increased revenue; but we protest against the injustice of preventing China from getting the revenue if she wishes. We contend that China ought to be left perfectly free, to admit, to exclude, or to tax, opium at her own discretion. Instead of that we now confine China to a paltry £10 per chest, while India gets £60 in Bombay and £90 in Calcutta. Is that fair? We allow China to put an import duty of only 7 per cent. on opium, while we put 40 or 50 per cent. on tea. Is that fair? We are for justice to China, and for doing to others as we would be done by.—I am, &c., F. S. Turner, Secretary to the Anti-Opium Society.

THE AUSTRALIAN MAILS.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

Sir,—It is quite true that the soft impeachment of a "pet hobby" has to be charged against me; but I ride it with Shandean simplicity! Were I open to the good humoured attack you have directed against all that appeared in the Daily News, I should not attempt to defend the City Editor, but confine myself to the facts or statements supplied when drawing attention to the needless delay in Australian Mails. I repeat that the Ceylon was elephantine in slowness,—the letters were detained six days at Suez, and we, the men of Australian commerce or finance, were like the prisoners of old, tied to the chariot wheels of the victors.—I am, &c.,

William Purdy.

London, October 23.

SINGAPORE GAS COMPANY.

An extraordinary general meeting of the above-named company was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Tuesday, the 23rd inst.; Mr. H. P. Stephenson in the chair.

The Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting,

The Chairman stated that the directors regretted that they had not so favourable an account to present as for the previous half-year. The deficiency arose from several causes, one more particularly being the low rate of exchange they obtained for the last remittance, only 3s. 11¼d. per dollar instead of the usual 4s. 6d., which was of course a very heavy pull on the profits. Another cause of the diminished profits arose from the fact of a large fire at the Tanjong Paga Wharf at Singapore, at which 24,000 tons of coal were wholly or partially consumed, the result being that the insurers or other parties concerned determined to sell off the considerable quantity of cinders, coke, &c., by which purchasers laid in a very large stock, the average price realised being only about 4s. 6d. per ton; consequently the demand for the company's coke sensibly diminished; but that would right itself when the stocks were worked off. Another point was the increase in the amount of the general charges, which had arisen from two or three circumstances. In the first place, a fatal accident happened to one of their foremen to the machinery, but through no fault of that gentleman, and they had had to bear the expenses of the funeral and to make some provision for the widow. A further cause was the great drought and dry weather at Singapore, where the rainpour had been insufficient to fill their ponds, so that they had had to cart the water necessary for the carrying on of the works from a great distance at a considerable expense. Notwithstanding these unfavourable circumstances, however, the board were in the position of offering the shareholders the usual dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, after wiping off the usual 1 per cent. for the depreciation of works and plant, and the expense of first establishment, after which a small balance, though in excess of that brought forward, would remain to be carried forward. The shareholders would be pleased to hear that since the close of the half-year they had paid off £3,000 of the debenture bonds, so that in the next balance-sheet the amount under that head would stand at only £900, and he had little doubt but that as they became due they would be enabled to pay them off.

It was then proposed by the Chairman, seconded by R. Rice, and carried unanimously,—"That a dividend be declared to the ordinary and preference shareholders at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum less income-tax in both cases on amounts paid up on their shares from the respective dates of payment to June 30, 1877, such dividends to become payable on November 20 next."

It was proposed by Captain G. H. Reineeker, seconded by R. Wilkins, and carried unanimously.—"That the thanks of the meeting be given to the directors and local committee at Singapore for their attention to the business of the company."

It was proposed by the Chairman, seconded by Captain G. H. Reineeker, and carried unanimously,—"That Mr. Wells, the manager and engineer at Singapore be accorded the best thanks of the shareholders for his careful management and zeal and energy evinced by him in the business of the company."

It was proposed by R. Wilkins, seconded by Captain G. H. Reineeker, and carried unanimously,—"That Mr. King, the company's engineer and secretary, receive the best thanks of the shareholders for his attention to the duties of his office."

This concluded the proceedings and the meeting then separated.

JAPANESE NATIONAL BANKING.

We subjoin a résumé of a Statement on Banking, and the state of the currency in Japan, by Mr. Alexander Shand, late Secretary and Controller of Currency in the Finance Ministry of that country, which appeared in the Economist of the 13th inst. Mr. Shand commences by setting forth the main provisions of the Japanese Banking Act of August, 1876, which, he says,

Closely follows the United States Banking Act of 1864. In one respect it differs from that Act, namely, that no limit to the quantity of paper money that may be issued by virtue of it is given. As it now exists, it is similar to another Banking Act which came into force in Japan in 1873, with one important modification. Under the Act of 1873 payment of the notes was required to be made in gold coin, while under the present Act it is permitted to pay them in inconvertible paper. Under the former Act expansion of the currency by issues of paper money was controlled by the safeguard of convertibility into coin. In point of fact the banks established under it soon discovered that their power of issue was worthless, for merchants and others picked out and retained from the mass of paper money passing through their hands the notes issued by banks, and when gold was at a premium as compared with Government inconvertible paper—which it is usually, but not always—they presented these notes for payment. This effectually prevented inflation of the currency, as well as a sudden multiplication of banks. From the passing of the first Act down to the present year four banks only had established themselves, viz.:—

	Capital.—Yen.
The First National Bank	1,500,000
„ Second „	200,000
„ Third „ never established ...	—
„ Fourth „	250,000
„ Fifth „	500,000

Total capital of the four banks 2,450,000 yen, giving a power of issue amounting to 1,960,000 yen (£392,000).

Up to January, 1877, no banks had been established by virtue of the new Act; but they have been multiplying rapidly since, for in a letter lately received from an ex-official of the Treasury Department, dated Yokohama, July 3, 1877, he states that there were in existence at that date twenty banks, having a total capital, wholly or partially paid up, of 22,276,100 yen (£4,455,220), and a consequent power of issue, according to the Act, of 17,820,880 yen (£3,564,176). Of these banks

	Yen.
1 has a capital of	50,000
8 have a capital of ... ... yen 100,000 ...	800,000
2 „ ... ... 150,000 ...	300,000
2 „ ... ... 200,000 ...	400,000
2 „ ... ... 250,000 ...	500,000
3 „ ... ... 300,000 ...	900,000
1 has „	1,500,000
1 „	17,826,100
	22,276,100

And it is probable that the number continues to increase. It will be seen that one only of these banks has a large capital. This bank, called the Fifteenth National Bank, has been formed exclusively by nobles, under circumstances to be presently explained.

There is no preamble, or other prefatory matter, to the new Act, but in his conversations with the three officials of the Japanese Government, who are primarily responsible for it—namely, the Minister of Finance, the Vice-Minister of Finance, and the Comptroller of the Currency,—three main reasons for its introduction were given, and he sets these out briefly as follows :—

(1.) That there is not enough money in the country generally ; more especially in the country districts, where the want of it is so great that the farmers have much difficulty in paying their taxes.

(2.) That the rate of interest in the country districts is very high—sometimes as much as 40 or 50 per cent. per annum.

(3.) That it is necessary, having regard to the capitalisation of the pensions of the Daimiyos and their retainers, by the issue to them of Government bonds, to create a demand for these bonds with the view of supporting the price of them.

As to the want of money generally, he considers there is so much of truth in this very common complaint as regards Japan at the present moment, that if it cannot positively be affirmed that there is not enough money in the country, it certainly can be showing that the position of the metallic currency as regards foreign trade is such that no easy, rapid, and natural expansion of its volume can occur, even when circumstances are of such a nature as to require that it should occur. But there are obvious causes why, as they put it, there is a general want of money ; or, as we should put it, there is a general commercial distress. First,—the sudden abolition of feudalism. When the existing Government abolished feudalism, and took possession of the Daimiyos' fiefs, they also undertook to settle with their creditors, and the way in which they settled was this :—

(1.) All debts contracted prior to 1842 were repudiated.

(2.) All debts contracted between 1842 and 1868 were paid in full by bonds not bearing interest, redeemable in fifty years at 2 per cent. per annum. The present value of such bonds is about 18 yen for 100 yen.

(3.) All debts contracted subsequently to 1868 were paid in full by bonds redeemable within twenty-five years, and bearing interest at 4 per cent. per annum. The present value of such bonds is about 55 yen per 100 yen.

In this way the bankers referred to, and others, lost a large part of their loanable capital. The sum total of bonds issued of both kinds was about 25,000,000 yen (£5,000,000). The actual result has been that in Osaka the wealthy merchant bankers no longer exist, and in Yedo one only has survived. They have not in all cases been actually ruined, but where this has not happened they have preferred to retire and hoard what remains of their wealth.

The difficulty which farmers experience in getting money to pay their taxes is chiefly due to an ill-considered step taken by the Government two years ago. Until then the farmers had paid the land tax in kind to the governors of the provinces, who accounted for it to the central Government. But two years ago the Government suddenly ordered that the tax should be paid in money. Most of the tax is paid from rice land. The rice is harvested in November, and the tax is payable in December. Under these circumstances, an immense quantity of rice is suddenly thrust upon the market ; prices go down ; accommodation becomes costly. The tax, amounting to £7,000,000 or £8,000,000, used to be paid without the intervention of money, and now, suddenly, money is required for its payment.

What has already been said sufficiently explains the cause of the rate of interest being so high. It is nothing new, however, for the rate of interest to be high in Japan ; it always has been high. The rate in Osaka for loans was frequently 24 to 30 per cent. per annum, when commerce was considered to be flourishing.

Secondly, in 1869, the Japanese Government adopted the gold standard. The unit is the gold yen. The subsidiary coinage is silver and copper. Silver, as with us, is legal tender to a limited extent only, so also with copper. The coins are all excellent, and have been more than once favourably reported upon by the Deputy-master of the English Mint, in his annual statements. The Mint is admirably furnished, and is well organised and managed. A silver coin, called one yen, is struck at the Mint of the same weight and fineness as the Mexican Dollar, which latter coin forms the currency at the treaty ports of Japan, as is afterwards explained—at Hong Kong, Canton, Foochow, Singapore, Penang, &c. The silver yen is a much better coin than the Mexican dollar in point of execution and regularity. It has been declared legal tender at Canton and Foochow by the Viceroy of these places, and at Singapore and Penang by the Governor of the Straits Settlements ; so that, at these places, it circulates side by side with the Mexican dollar. In Japan itself it is merely like the other silver coins, used as subsidiary money—it is not legal tender.

Before the National Banking Act came into operation, all the paper money circulating in Japan was issued either by the Government or by the Daimiyos. It is all inconvertible. According to the last Budget, the sum total is 100,000,000 yen, equal to £20,000,000, but it is not accurately known what the total is. Out of the whole sum, the present Government issued in 1869-70 about 50,000,000 yen. This was to pay the expenses of the war which resulted in the restoration of the Emperor. Over and above this there was a considerable mass of paper money issued by the Daimiyos for local circulation. This is now being exchanged by the Government for Imperial paper money, and until the operation has been completed it will not be known what the grand total is, for some of the Daimiyos had no records at all, and others gave in records which have proved incorrect.

In transactions between Japanese and foreigners, and between one foreigner and another at the treaty ports, Japanese currency is not used. When a foreigner buys produce from a Japanese he pays him in Mexican dollars ; when a Japanese buys goods from a foreigner he likewise pays for them in Mexican dollars. This coin has no circulating power beyond these treaty ports—it is of no use to Japanese for transactions among themselves. Hence all Japanese merchants who may hold Mexican dollars must seek for other merchants, who, wishing to buy foreign goods, desire to exchange native money for dollars. But it is evident that the sellers of Mexican dollars, and the seekers of Mexican dollars, will not always wish to buy and sell the same quantity. Sometimes more dollars are offered than are wanted ; sometimes more dollars are wanted than are offered. It is at this point that the defects in the position of the Japanese metallic currency become apparent ; for it is evident that in cases where the payments to be made by foreigners are greater than the payments to be made to foreigners, the surplus must remain suspended at the treaty port—a local congestion of greater or less severity must occur. This would not occur if foreigners used Japanese metallic money, for in that case the surplus would simply be added to the ordinary currency of the country, and would freely pass away from the treaty port into circulation. All kinds of Japanese currency—paper yen, gold yen, silver yen—were in demand, and the price of Mexican dollars measured in silver yen—a coin of the same weight and fineness fell to 107 Mexican dollars for 100 silver yen. At this price it would have been most profitable to Mint them, if they had been legal tender, but they are not legal tender, and Mr. Shand could not find that more than $150,000, equal to £30,000, had been sent to the Mint, and thus added to the Japanese metallic currency.

In conclusion, Mr. Shand expresses his opinion that it is quite evident that the first step towards placing the currency of Japan upon a sound footing is to introduce the Japanese coins as legal tender at the treaty ports. Under such a rational and proper system the Government would have no plea upon which to justify further issues of inconvertible paper. It is true that a large number of foreigners are averse to such a change ; some because they believe (quite erroneously) that the treaties provide for the use of the Mexican dollar ; others because they fear the Japanese Government may not be careful to maintain the purity of their coins. In as far as the treaties touch upon the question, they contemplate the use of Japanese coins in payments by foreigners to Japanese. The objection that the Japanese Government may possibly at some future date fail to keep its coins up to the mark, although not perhaps unreasonable, cannot be allowed to have such weight as to require the Japanese Government to adhere to a system which entails severe annual loss upon the country, and which leads them to commit serious financial errors like this National Banking Act. It cannot for a moment be supposed that this Act will ameliorate the condition of the currency. On the contrary, it must inevitably add new evils to those which already exist.

Monetary and Commercial.

The Hong Kong Bank has announced the numbers of the bonds of the China Loan drawn for payment on 19th February amounting to £19,400. The particulars will be found in another column.

The Straits Sugar Company, Limited, has been formed, with a capital of £30,000, to cleanse and purify sugar on the Weinrich process, the patent for which has been purchased by the directors. A portion of the shares has been reserved for residents in the Straits, but the most of the capital has been already subscribed in London, where the head office will be established, the local branch being at Penang. The directors include J. C. Ker, merchant ; J. B. Macfarlane, engineer ; Joseph M. Purvis, merchant ; James Beattie, Walter Oldham, of Oldham ; and Mackie and Co., Penang. There is an excellent field for the operations, and a profitable result may be anticipated.

The Manila Yengarie Company, Limited, was established under the auspices of the Yengarie Sugar Company, Limited, which became the owners of valuable patents granted to Robert Tooth, Esq., after their merits had been tested and demonstrated during a period of four years in Yengarie, Queensland. The Directors having a personal knowledge of the advantages, as well as peculiar facilities to be obtained thereby, fixed upon the Philippine Islands as a good field for the enterprise of the Company, and there are now in the course of erection two works, each having the capacity of converting 100,000 gallons of juice per day ; and taking 120 days as the limit of the sugar season, there would be a total production (by the old process) of 5,352 tons of sugar, but by this Company's process the yield will be 8,028 tons, based upon an average density of 10 ceaumé. The capital of the Company is £250,000, fully subscribed.

We understand that the capital of the Hong Kong Sugar Refiners Company has been fully subscribed, and that Mr. McGregor Smith, the manager, proceeds to Hong Kong by the second mail of November.

Mr. William Bramsen has published two very useful tables, giving the various Japanese weights and measures, with their equivalents in English and French weights and measures respectively. It will be of much practical use to merchants and others engaged in the Japan trade.

In the Bankruptcy Court, before Mr. Registrar Brougham, an adjourned first meeting for the proof of debts and choice of trustee has been held under the bankruptcy of Henry Drakeford, silk dealer, of Great Winchester-street-buildings, who was adjudicated on September 14 last. The statement of affairs produced shows total debts £4,079 3s. 2d., and assets £212 10s. Debts to the amount of £3,744 were tendered and admitted, and resolutions were passed appointing Mr. W. O. Attree trustee of the estate, with a committee of inspection.

The Tea market has become even more depressed than we have had to advise for some time past for common kinds. Good Lylings first crop, ex Gordon Castle, were disposed of in sale this week at 8d. to 9d. per lb. This class of tea is far preferable to the Shan-tam district, which will show clearly the extraordinarily low point to which common teas have reached. Despite this we hear of shipments from Shanghai being made at many pence per lb. over these prices, a state of matters which seems quite unaccountable with the telegraph in constant work, and the buyers in China no doubt aware of the state of matters on this side. On the other hand, fine and finest teas are beginning to command increased attention, and dealers are already securing them quietly, evidently feeling assured that the time is favourable for purchases, seeing that we cannot possibly receive further supplies till next season. The facts above detailed go to confirm the opinion that much of the present bad business is due to the general inferiority of the teas (Indian not excluded), as where quality is found prices which compare favourably with those of many years past are readily obtainable.

The Silk sales have passed off without materially affecting the market, which remains much as reported by last mail. The tone is perhaps a shade easier, but holders continue firm. There has been some more demand for common Japans at 18s. to 18s. 6d. The unsettled state of matters in France, consequent upon the elections, has tended to keep back the market; but deliveries are on the increase.

In the Produce Markets no alteration from the quiet tone lately prevailing has occurred. There has been an entire absence of speculative inquiry, and as a feeling of caution is universally prevalent the general tendency is towards lower values. Coffee notwithstanding the favourable result of the Dutch sale, is inactive and declining. Sugar is also dull and lower. Floating cargoes of Rice have been purchased at reduced quotations. Tin has slightly advanced, Straits being quoted £68 10s. to £69, Banca £71 per ton. Other articles are without alteration.

The directors of the Colonial Trusts Corporation (Limited) have declared the usual interim dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum for the half-year ending June 30 last.

Bar silver, owing to the small supplies, has gradually improved in value, and 55⅜d. per oz. is the nearest quotation. No Mexican dollars have been sold.

TEA.

Messrs. Arthur Capel and Co.'s Circular says: — Our market is still in an unsatisfactory state, the arrivals continue on a large scale, and the quantity of samples daily offered is very large, whilst the public sales without reserve have also been larger this week. The more desirable parcels attract attention, and are saleable at fairly good prices, but for a large proportion of the teas offered it is not possible to get fair bids. Prices of fair black-leaf kinds at auction have gone lower, but generally prices remain much as before. Congous.—Red-leaf kinds: Siftings have been saleable at the decline last quoted; common to good common show no alteration; fair kinds, except those with point, have been difficult of sale; medium kinds show no change, the demand being limited. Good to fine Kaisows have been steady; finest only in moderate request. Pak Lin kinds are without alteration. Black-leaf kinds: Siftings remain as last week; common to good common show little change, the demand being good up to 8d. per lb.; fair kinds sold at 9d. to 9½d. per lb. at auction show a lower price; fair to good medium kinds are only in limited request; good to fine are firmly held, but there is not much doing in them; finest are without alteration. New-make kinds: Common have sold for export from 7½d. to 8d. per lb.; fair kinds are steady, good qualities being wanted. Oolongs: Fair to good Amoy kinds have been difficult of sale at rather lower prices. Fine to finest Formosa kinds have been saleable. Souchongs: Common remain without improvement; good qualities show no alteration in price. Scented Teas.—Canton Capers: A fair business has been done in common kinds at from 9d. to 9½d. per lb.; fair to good kinds show no change. Orange Pekoes: The short-leaf kinds at auction sold rather lower; the long leaf kinds are difficult of sale. Foochow Capers remain as before. Fair to good Orange Pekoes are rather lower; fine show no change. Green Teas.—The improvement in prices last quoted has been fairly maintained, the demand chiefly running on good Young Hysons and Gunpowders. The public sales have comprised 17,465 packages, the whole of which have been sold without reserve. The deliveries for the week, as compared with last year, are as follows, viz.:—

	1877. lbs.	1876. lbs.
Coastwise	825,339 ...	765,137
	3,891,127	3,628,061

Messrs. Layton and Co. report as follows on the Tea sales Thursday:—7,500 packages offered, without reserve, on the day of sale sold as under:—294 chests Congou at 6½d. to 9½d.; 3,144 half-chests ditto, 6¾d. to 1s. 2¾d.; 1,067 boxes ditto, 9¾d. to 1s. 4½d.; 199 half-chests Souchong, 11¾d. to 1s.; 286 boxes Scented Caper, 11¾d. to 1s. 2¾d.; 724 boxes Scented Orange Pekoe, 1s. 3½d. to 1s. 4d.; 78 half-chests and cases Gunpowder, 7d. to 2s. 8½d.; 107 half-chests imperial, 8½d. to 1s. 9½d.; 417 half-chests and cases Young Hyson, 8½d. to 1s. 8½d.; 126 half-chests Hyson, 6½d. to 1s. 4½d.; 829 boxes Ping Suey Gunpowder, 9d. to 1s. 11d.; 197 boxes Ping Suey Young Hyson, 8½d. to 1s. 2½d.; 32 half-chests Young Hyson, 6¾d. per lb. The favourable export figures from China have not benefited the market at present, and the dull weather which set in this morning had a depressing effect on this unprotected auction.

SILK.

Messrs. Durant and Co.'s Circular says:—The periodical public sales commenced on Wednesday, the 24th inst., and were concluded on the 25th. The quantity offered was smaller than usual,—say 1,700 bales China, 900 bales Japan, 750 bales Canton, with only 90 bales Bengal and Bokhara Silk; of this total quantity about one-third was printed to be sold "without reserve," as also was about 40,000 lbs. English Thrown Silk. The result was much as might have been anticipated, extreme prices were hardly maintained for China and Japan Silk, but in Canton Silk there was no weakness, and about 150 bales which were damaged induced active competition, and realised full prices. The general market has been quiet, but deliveries continue to show improved figures, and arrivals continue small, so that, as a whole, prices are fairly firm, at a trifle under the highest moment.

The deliveries from 1st to 24th inst. inclusive have been:—China, 1,991 bales; Canton, 523; Japan, 347; Bengal, 50; total 2,911 bales.

COFFEE.—The Dutch Trading Company's public sale of 100,594 bags Java, held on the 24th inst. in Rotterdam, went off with good spirit, although prices were irregular, good ordinary Java selling ½ to 1 cent. above valuations, at 52c. to 52½c., against 53 cents in September, and 53½ cents in August. Although the result of this sale is considered more favourable than expected, this market closes without improvement. The moderate quantities of Plantation Ceylon offered have gone off flatly throughout, prices gradually declining, and closing 1s. 6d. to 2s. lower. Native has also been in less request, but prices are unchanged. In other descriptions sales have been small, and prices are generally 1s. to 2s. cheaper. Closing prices are: Plantation, triage 78s. to 94s., ordinary to fine small 90s. to 99s., low middling 100s. to 103s. 6d., middling 104s. to 107s., good middling to fine middling 108s. to 112s. 6d., dull to fine coloury bold 114s. to 124s., pea-berry 109s. to 116s.; Native, small 77s. to 80s. 6d., good ordinary to fine ordinary 86s. 6d. to 87s. 6d., bold 90s. 6d. to 95s. 6d., pea-berry 92s. to 93s. 6d. The only sale of other East India has been 33 bags Java at 85s. per cwt.

COTTON.—The market remained in a dull state until towards the close, and only limited sales have been effected at a decline of 1-16d. per lb. in all positions. During the last few days, however, the demand has improved, and business shows a slight increase, prices of East India and American on the spot being rather dearer, but American future deliveries are again easier. The sales for the fortnight are about 16,000 bales. On the spot Tinnivelly 5 13-16d. to 6 1-16d., middling to good; Western Madras 4 15-16d. to 5¼d., middling fair to good fair; Coconada 5¼d. to 5⅜d., good fair; Bengal 4⅝d. to 5⅜d., fair to good; Rangoon 4⅝d. to 5d., good fair.

China Preserves.—Large supplies at public sale, comprising 1,617 cases Ginger, met a fair demand, and about one-half was disposed of at steady rates: Sansing brand (in large jars) 5d. to 5¼d., a few lots 5¼d., Mansing 5¼d. to 5½d., a few lots in small jars 7d., fresh Chyloong 7¼d. to 7½d.; 30 casks bought in at 5¼d. 86 cases Cumquats chiefly sold at 6¾d. 220 cases Chow Chow (Mansing) sold at 4½d. per lb.

China Straw Plait.—At auction 432 bales met a moderate demand, and only about 100 bales found buyers at unchanged rates; White, common £8 10s. to £10 5s., medium to good medium £10 5s. to £14 10s., good qualities £15 to £17 15s., with one lot cord edge at £18 15s., Mottled £8 10s. to £10 5s., Black and white (double) £13 15s. to £18 per bale.

Cocoanut Oil has attracted little attention. Cochin is quoted £43 10s., Ceylon in pipes £38 15s. to £39, and in puncheons £39 5s. to £39 10s.

China Grass.—An offer of 44 bales was bought in at £56.

Essential Oils.—Small sales of Aniseed at 6s. 3d.; Cassia dull of sale at 3s. 2d. to 3s. 3d.

Gamboge.—32 cases slightly country-damaged sold readily at full rates, at £11 10s. to £12 2s. 6d., chiefly the latter.

Galls.—156 cases China bought in at 56s. per cwt.

Hemp.—At the periodical public sales a rather large supply of Manila was offered, which went off flatly, and little more than one third sold, at a decline of 10s. to 20s. per ton. Of 3,178 bales offered, about 1,100 bales sold at and after the sale, brown and mixed at £24 5s. to £24 15s., fair to fully fair current £25 to £25 10s., good £26, the remainder being bought in or withdrawn.

Japan Wax.—120 cases bought in at 50s. to 53s.

Orchella.—31 bags Ceylon sold at 48s. to 48s. 6d.

Pepper.—Black: The market remains dull, and with little demand a total of 2,482 bags at auction was almost entirely bought in; 2,393 bags Penang were bought in at 3¼d. to 3⅜d., except 300 bags damaged, which sold at 3¼d., 33 bags Batavia bought in at 3¼d. Privately, 200 bags Penang have been sold at 3 5-16d. White: At public sale 997 bags Singapore were offered, and 710 bags sold at irregular prices, old import being cheaper, fair barely sustained, and fine bold dearer; import 1874 (274 bags) sold without reserve at 5⅞d., one lot 6d., fair of recent import 6¼d. to 6⅜d., chiefly the former price, good fair 6¼d., fine 6⅝d. to 6¾d., fine bold 7⅛d. to 7½d. per lb.

Plumbago.—At public sale of 433 barrels Ceylon offered about 170 barrels found buyers at steady rates for lump and chips, dust being dearer, middling to fine bright lump at 14s. to 15s., chiefly fair to good bright chips at 11s. 3d. to 11s. 9d., dust 9s. 3d. to 9s. 6d., low 7s. per cwt.

Rice.—A flat tone has prevailed, and prices for floating cargoes are lower, Bassein having been sold at 10s. 6d., or 9d. below sales effected a week ago. Five floating cargoes have been sold as follows:—The C. Boschetto, 969 tons Rangoon, off coast, at 10s. 6¼d. for Continent; the R. B. Fuller, 1,250 tons Necransie, off coast, at 10s. for Continent; the Nicolo Barabino, 916 tons Necransie, June sailing, at 10s. 3d. open charter; the Toronto, 1,144 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 9d. open charter; and the Beech Holm, 1,175 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 6d. Continent.

Rattans.—At auction about 130 tons met a limited demand, and barely 60 tons Singapore sold, the bulk on account of whom it may concern, at £22 to £29 5s., damaged from £9 5s. to £27 15s.

Sugar.—The market has exhibited a decidedly dull tone, there being little demand for any description, and at the public sales crystallised Demerara has sold at a decline of 6d. per cwt.; refining kinds only partly sold at an occasional decline of 6d.; common brown kinds have been quieter, but without change in value. The business in East Indian descriptions has been as follows:—On the 19th inst., in auction, 3,063 bags Native Penang were bought in, fair at 17s., fine 18s., except 250 bags washed which sold at 16s. to 16s. 3d. 1,409 baskets white crystallised Java were bought in at 30s. to 31s. 6d. 2,875 bags China were nearly all sold at easy rates, middling brown at 19s. to 19s. 3d., fine strong at 22s. to 22s. 6d., fine yellow at 24s. to 24s. 6d. Private sales were made of 3,500 bags unclayed Zebu Manila at 16s. 9d.; 8,500 bags brown China at 16s. 6d., and 1,000 bags China at 19s. 6d. On the 23rd, in auction of 2,519 bags crystallised Penang 814 bags sold, middling yellow at 29s., chiefly washed good pale at 28s. 6d., the remainder bought in at 30s. to 30s. 6d., 416 bags brown European sold at 20s. On the 24th privately 1,100 bags crystallised Penang ex the previous day's auction, sold at 29s. 6d. In auction 8,000 bags Siam just arrived per Olivet were all bought in, consisting almost entirely of middling to good soft yellow at 23s. to 24s., a few lots coloury 25s., grainy 28s., also 155 bags brown at 18s.

Spices.—Cloves: Of 23 cases Penang offered only 4 cases sold, fine bold at 2s. 1¼d. to 2s. 1⅜d., very low headless 1s. 2⅞d., the remainder fair bought in at 2s. 1d. Ginger: Of 140 cases Japan offered 17 cases lean flakes sold at 29s., the rest bought in at 32s., plump 37s. Nutmegs: Bold sizes again sold readily at very full rates, but small without change. 23 cases Penang nearly all sold, average 77 nuts to the lb. at 3s. 11d. to 4s., 95's at 3s. 2d., 120's at 2s. 4d., 122's at 2s. 3d. to 2s. 4d. Of 7 cases 40 boxes Java 7 cases 12 boxes sold, bold at 3s. 6d., 136's at 2s., wormy at 1s. 4d. Mace: Of 9 cases Penang offered 6 cases sold at previous rates; middling mixed at 2s. 4d., ordinary partly mouldy at 1s. 10d.

Sago.—Only 183 bags small pearl were offered, and chiefly sold, good at 17s. 6d., being steady.

Sago Flour.—In auction of 477 bags only about 100 bags sold at 18s. 6d. to 19s., the remainder bought in at 19s.

Sticklac.—At auction of 152 cases Siam 102 cases fair to good free, just arrived, sold at steady rates, at 49s. to 51s.

Soy.—49 casks China of fresh import sold at 2s. to 2s. 1d.

Tapioca.—Of 787 bags Singapore about 500 bags sold at steady rates, small at 2½d., middling to good white at 2⅝d. to 2⅞d. Pearl: Of 502 bags about 350 bags good medium sold at 21s. to 21s. 6d., chiefly the former price, being 6d. dearer, grey bullets bought in at 30s. Flour: 199 boxes (2 tins each) Singapore bought in at 3d.

Tin.—A firmer tone has characterised the market during the week, and values have exhibited an advancing tendency. Current quotations are:—Straits on the spot £68 10s. to £69, afloat £69, Banca £71, Billiton £69 to £69 10s. per ton.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

The Market opened with rather a steadier tone. A moderate amount of transactions has resulted in both Yarns and Goods at the rates current last week. The advance made in the quotations for Cotton has encouraged spinners and manufacturers to hold for full rates, but does not appear to stimulate buyers to increase their operations.

GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

THE CARDIFF COAL TRADE.—The export of coal from Cardiff has increased so much lately that repeated requests have been made to the Marquis of Bute, Lord Windsor, the Taff Vale Railway Company, and to capitalists, to construct new docks at that place. At a meeting of the directors of the Penarth and Taff Vale Railway Companies, held at Cardiff, it was resolved to apply jointly to Parliament for powers to construct, on land near Cardiff belonging to Lord Windsor, a dock capable of shipping four millions of tons of coal annually. The cost of the dock is estimated at half a million.

SCARLET FEVER has appeared on board the Queensland emigrant ship Gauntlet, which left London on the 12th inst. with 302 emigrants and crew. The ship, which bore up for Plymouth, was visited by the Board of Trade officials, and the medical officer ordered the two children affected, together with the families to which they belong, to be landed. The remainder of the passengers on board have been placed in a hulk while the Gauntlet is fumigated and disinfected. In the meantime no communication is allowed between the ship and the shore.

INFORMATION has been received that the Glasgow ship Inch Kenneth, Captain Hillman, foundered off Cape St. Francis on the 24th of September. The only eight survivors of the crew were conveyed to Capetown by the ship Liverpool. Captain Hillman died in the boat.

THE demolition of the wreck of the Forest, off Portland, is being proceeded with rapidly by the Trinity Board officials. About two-thirds have been removed. As the wreck is separated by the explosions the portions are towed ashore and sold by public auction.

IT has been decided that the American ship New World, on board which a mutiny took place last week, resulting in a man being shot dead, is out of English jurisdiction; consequently there will be no inquest or other official inquiry.

HYDROGRAPHICAL NOTIFICATION.

China Séa—Rock to the Eastward of Pootoo Island.—Notice is given that Captain Petersen, of the C. M. S. N. Company's steamer Hochung, has reported a rock, unmarked on the charts, to the eastward of Pootoo Island, and he gives the following magnetic bearings as determining its position:—West Nine Pin Rock, N. 33° E.; Half-tide Rock, N. 12° E.; N.W. point of Isthmus Island, N. 14° W.; Northern end of Pootoo E. bluff, N. 49° W. The Harbour-Master at Ningpo has verified the position of this pinnacle rock, and reported that there will probably be only six feet of water on it at low water spring tides, with from seven to thirteen fathoms around it.

LAUNCHES.

AN iron screw steamer, the largest hitherto built by Messrs. Richardson, Duck and Co., has been launched from their building-yard, South Stockton-on-Tees. The following are her dimensions, viz.:—Length over all, 325 feet 3 inches, ditto b.p. 316 feet 6 inches; breadth extreme 35 feet 3 inches, depth in hold to upper deck 25 feet 9 inches, ditto to maindeck 17 feet 11 inches, tonnage O.M. 1,952 tons, ditto gross N.M. about 2,260 tons. She is classed 100 A1 at Lloyd's as a three-decked ship, and has been built under special survey. She is rigged as a three-masted schooner, and has a full poop, bridge and topgallant forecastle, and has a double bottom capable of containing over 400 tons of water-ballast in different compartments. Her engines, on the compound direct-acting surface condensing principle, are of 220-horse power nominal. She has been built to the order of Messrs. H. Clarkson and Co., London, and is intended to trade through the Suez Canal to Calcutta and the Far East, and has been christened the Castello.

AN iron sailing vessel, which has been built to the order of Messrs. Ellis and Co., of Liverpool, by Messrs. Mounsey and Foster, has been launched by them from their shipbuilding yard at the South Dock, Sunderland, the following being her dimensions:—Length between perpendiculars, 197 feet; breadth, 34.4 feet; and depth of hold, 21 feet. Her gross register tonnage is about 1,100, and she will be barque-rigged, her lower masts and yards being of iron. The vessel is named the Henrietta.

TONITE, OR COTTON POWDER.

THE SAFEST, STRONGEST, AND CHEAPEST OF ALL EXPLOSIVES.

Recommended to MINERS, PIT SINKERS, QUARRYMEN, and CONTRACTORS as the MOST EFFICIENT and ECONOMICAL BLASTING AGENT ever invented.

Results of practical experience show a saving of from 15 to 20 per cent. over the strongest explosives previously in use.

It saves labour in drilling holes, as a less number of holes are needed.

It does not require thawing, but is ready for use at all temperatures and in all climates.

It can also be advantageously used in breaking up boulders, extracting stumps, removing wrecks, exploding torpedoes, and for submarine purposes in general, as well as for signal lights and fog signals for ships.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

NO. 76.

CHINA SEA.

NINGPO DISTRICT.

ROCK TO THE EASTWARD OF POOTOO ISLAND.

Notice is hereby given, that Captain Petersen, of the C.M.S.N. Company's steamer Ho-chung, has reported a Rock, unmarked on the Charts, to the Eastward of Pootoo Island, and he gives the following magnetic bearings as determining its position:—

West Nine Pin Rock ..... N. 33° E.
Half Tide Rock ..... N. 12° E.
N.W. Point of Isthmus Island ..... N. 14° W.
Northern end of Pootoo E. Bluff ..... N. 49° W.

The Harbour-Master at Ningpo has verified the position of this pinnacle rock, and reported that there will probably be only 6 feet of water on it at low water spring tides, with from 7 to 13 fathoms round it.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.
ESTABLISHED 1859.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.
THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England. For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result, however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23 Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

HOLLOWAYS OINTMENT
Mr. J. T. COOPER,
In his celebrated TRAVELS IN CHINA, published in 1871, says:—

"I had with me in my travels a quantity of "Holloway's Ointment. I gave some to the people, "and nothing could exceed their gratitude: and, in "consequence—milk, fowls, butter, and horse-feed "poured in upon us, until at last a teaspoonful of "Ointment was worth a fowl and any quantity of "peas, and the demand became so great that I was "obliged to lock up the small remaining stock."

This fine OINTMENT is invaluable in the cure of BAD LEGS, BAD BREASTS, OLD SORES, wounds, ulcers, gout, rheumatism, and all skin diseases.

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 12th September, and we have advices via San Francisco seventeen days later, viz., to the 29th September. The French mail from London, July 27, arrived out on the 11th Sept., the following P. and O. mail of Aug. 3 was received on the 15th Sept., and the French mail of Aug. 10 arrived out on the 27th Sept.

The papers by the present mail at last report the rebellion as at an end. The reports were almost up to the last conflicting, but it appears that on the 24th September at dawn a simultaneous attack was made by the whole of the Imperial forces, who, as previously stated, had completely surrounded the rebels, and in less than an hour's time the small band of rebels was totally overpowered and either killed or made prisoners of war. Saigo, Kirino and Murata (by other accounts Beppu), were among the fallen. Saigo's head was, however, missing, and the principal means of identification thus wanting, there were hopes that the body that was declared to be Saigo's was not in reality his, and that he had again escaped, while on the other hand there was nothing improbable in the supposition that one of his faithful retainers had after his fall cut off his head to save it from the ignominy of falling into the hands of the enemy. Ultimately, however, there seemed no doubt as to his having fallen; and there was no question that the Satsuma rebellion was, after seven months' hard struggle, hopelessly crushed. From this to conclude that the Empire will at once settle down to universal peace would perhaps be over sanguine; Kochi is in a state of disquiet, that any day may result in an outbreak; the farmers in some places have again assumed a threatening attitude, and as none of the causes of the widespread dissatisfaction with the present Government have been removed, it can scarcely be hoped that all attempts to overthrow the present ministry will at once cease. Much, however, must depend on the use which the Government shall make of its victory. There is now such an almost universal feeling throughout the country in favour of popular representation that any further attempt to crush it would probably only result in future troubles. Should, however, the present Ministers make use of their hour of victory to relax the bonds which now bind the people, to lay the foundation of liberty of the press, and to give the populace some share, however slight, in the government of the country, the late outbreak—much as it is to be deplored—will have worked for good, and the blood and treasure spent in its suppression will not have been wasted.

Cholera has made its appearance, and was causing some alarm. The foreign Consuls met to concert measures, and it was expected that some of the medical men would be requested to act as a Board of Health. The lower parts of the settlement were to be inspected and domiciliary visits made. The patients up to the time of the mail's leaving had been exclusively native.

A gentleman signing himself "H. A." writes to one of the Yokohama papers and states that he was detained as a prisoner at Vladivostock for five days on a false charge of having publicly threatened to box a Russian officer's ears.

Commenting upon the advent of cholera, the Japan Herald says :—

Official information has been given by the Japanese authorities of, we regret to say, the existence of cholera in Yokohama; though from whence the disease has arrived does not appear, nor is it of any very material consequence to be known. According to the Kencho, out of fifteen cases amongst the natives, ten have proved fatal. It has shown itself in Tobe-machi, near the gas works; in Miagaki-cho, just over the iron bridge; in Ishikawa, and in Takishima-cho. In the more violent cases death has resulted in six hours from the commencement of the attack; in other cases, after twenty-four hours. There has been as yet no case in the European settlement, either in town or on the Bluff. Medical men concur in opinion that there is scarcely any reason to doubt that it is really cholera that we have got to cope with, and it behoves every one, therefore,—whilst avoiding as far as may be the depressing and debilitating effects of alarm—to take such precautions as the advanced state of sanitary science offers against the spread of this dire disease. Dr. Eldridge has obligingly sent for publication such domestic hints as it will be both possible and prudent to act on to avoid risk, and to impose checks upon the spread of the complaint. At some of the outports of China we have learnt from the newspapers that there have been a number of fatal cases of Asiatic cholera; but happily they have not been very numerous, nor does the disease, in spite of the existence of famine favourable to its propagation, appear as yet to be spread over any considerable area, and we may hope that both in China and Japan it may soon be stamped out.

From the above-named paper we also take the following :—

According to the Choya Shimbun a great conspiracy has been discovered in Kochi ken, and documents have been seized containing the names of 6,000 of the members.

The Mikado, who was to have inspected some troops, has been prevented doing so by indisposition.

The funeral of the late Imperial Princess, Seikanin-no-Miya, the widow of the Shogun Iyemochi, who died in 1866, took place on the 13th inst. with great pomp.

The Government has issued a notice fixing the rate of legal interest at six per cent.

The amount to be expended by Japan in connection with the approaching French Exhibition is said to be 150,000 yen.

Large exports of rice are taking place from this port to the south of China.

Our columns have contained the translation of a new law, issued by the Prime Minister of Japan, by which the amount of interest that a creditor shall in future be allowed to charge for money lent has been fixed. This piece of legislation is rather of a disappointing nature to those who fondly hoped that the Japanese Government, in making new laws for the people, would profit by Western experience and science. The notion that a Government can any more regulate the price of money than it can regulate the price of any other commodity in which men trade is now quite exploded in every community of thinking men, and usury laws are now counted among the ignorant absurdities of the past, and where not actually repealed they have become obsolete. They have always been and will always be evaded, and their effect has invariably been exactly the opposite of the one that was intended; they make money scarcer and dearer for those who are in want of it, the inevitable result whenever artificial impediments are thrown in the way of free trade. The Japanese Government has a staff of foreign advisers, it has at hand foreign professors in political economy attached to the Tokio University, and it is therefore not to be presumed that the law referred to has been issued in ignorance of true economical principles; it is a fresh instance of that irrepressible meddlesomeness that is inherent in all despotic governments, and which, under the pretext of guiding the people and protecting their interests, hampers, and cripples the objects of its paternal care. Money is a commodity which, like everything else of value, may be bought and sold, and the Government might just as well try to fix the price of rice, tea, silk, or anything else that men buy and sell.

We have been favoured with a specimen of the paper money issued by the rebel commanders in Kiushiu. The one before us is a ten sen satsu. The material consists of two thicknesses of slate-coloured calico pasted on either side of a piece of Japanese paper. The note is as follows. On the front is, at the top, a picture of the Rising Sun, at the bottom a stamp bearing the words "Military Office," and the following inscriptions :—"Gold Ten Sen. Issued in June, 10th year of Meiji. Circulating Money within this jurisdiction," and on the back, "Those who counterfeit this money will surely be punished according to martial law." "The limit of circulation is three years." "It is permitted to use this paper money for any payment of taxes." There are also three stamps, which it is, however, impossible to decipher. The note in question appears to have undergone considerable wear and tear, as in addition to several of the stamps being semi-obliterated, the note itself is very much frayed and worn at the edges, and nearly split in half.

The Nobles' Bank in Tokio is rather an amusing institution in the way it is conducted. Its managers seem to be under the idea that proper banking consists in locking up nearly the whole of a bank's capital in one or two investments. The Nobles' Bank has lent nearly the whole of its entire funds after this fashion,—fifteen million yen to the Government, and two million yen to the Imperial Household, without security; which about disposes of nearly all it had. What there is, under these circumstances, for its numerous staff of clerks to do, is rather a mystery. The noble proprietors of this bank must be happy innocents in finance; but in time it is to be presumed that, in proportion as they will probably one day discover they have lost their money, they will have acquired a corresponding experience, which will then have cost them dear. A bank was quite a misnomer for such an institution, and as such it might shut up. According to a long article which was translated from the Nichi Nichi Shimbun the other day, this National Bank is not made to conform to the rules which the other National Banks are under obligation to observe.

An ambassador to Korea, Mr. Hanabusu, left this on the 26th Sept. en route for that country.

The National Exhibition is still open, and commands a considerable amount of interest, both amongst natives and foreigners.

In view of the depressed state of affairs, and the losses sustained by the original land-renters, the Japanese Government has agreed to reduce the annual ground rent in Tsokidji.

With a view of introducing the cultivation of foreign vegetables, &c., amongst the Japanese farmers and people to a greater extent than has hitherto been done, and to enable them to study their growth, &c., the Government has established a nursery garden, called Yukushi-jo, at Mita, Tokio, in which all sorts of European seeds are to be planted as an experiment.

The war now being ended, the Mitsu Bishi S. S. Company has received orders from the Government to send down steamers to remove the troops, policemen, and munitions of war from Kiushiu, and to distribute them where ordered.

HIOGO AND OSAKA.

The Hiogo News correspondent writes :—

The congregation attending the place of worship belonging to the Church of England Mission on Lot No. 3 having outgrown the very modest accommodation of the original building, the latter was removed bodily across the road to Lot 4, where it will in future probably do duty for a school-house. A much larger and handsomer edifice has since been erected upon the original site, and the opening service, in Japanese, was held on Thursday, the 23rd August; and on the evening of the following Sunday the first service in English was celebrated, at which, considering the reduced numbers of our foreign community, there was a very fair attendance. On both occasions the Rev. C. F. Warren, assisted by his colleague, the Rev. H. Evington, officiated.

The new building, although apparently of inexpensive construction, neat and unpretending, is yet, in its simple decorations, in the best of good taste. The walls, of a light sage green, harmonise admirably with the neat unstained hinoki benches, as also do the kiuki pulpit and altar furniture. The painted windows are filled chiefly with plain ground glass, relieved by coloured panes at the top. Behind the altar are two smaller lights, filled in wholly with coloured glass, the ground yellow glass of the lower one being particularly effective. There is a neat Gothic font of granite. For heating purposes earthenware pipes are carried under the floor; these will afterwards communicate with a furnace to be built outside. The building, as at present arranged, will seat about one hundred people, but can readily be made to hold fifty more.

The exterior dimensions of the new church are as follows :—Length, 46 feet; width, 24 feet; height to ridge of roof, 27 feet. From the length of the building some nine feet or so are taken off for a small room, at the back of the altar, which can be used as a school-room.

The premises so long occupied by the Netherlands Trading Company are now held by a detachment of the "ever victorious" (over commerce) Chinese army. By the way, I suppose you know that the Company aforesaid, having lost another hundred thousand Mexicans in Dai Nippon last year, have determined to close their branches at Kobe and Nagasaki, and just keep at Yokohama a staff sufficient to collect some of their outstanding accounts. 'Tis strange how its agencies have proved food to some and poison to others—how some have left them who have fattened and battened on their emoluments, whilst others left poorer than when they entered the service!

The City police are very strict on insisting that all foreign complainants shall get their complaints endorsed by their respective Consuls; but time, which both to the robber and robbed is alike so precious, may be saved by depositing at the chief depot a written assurance that a copy of the complaint has been forwarded to the Consul concerned. This little formality being complied with, I must confess that the tansaku, or detectives, go to work with a will. I think, however, that after discovering the missing property and capturing the thief there can be no valid reason for the Saibansho keeping possession of the former for more than ten days—how much more time alone will reveal. Neither do I believe it can conduce to the furtherance of the ends of justice that the unfortunate Japanese owner (in this instance a fellow-servant of the thief) and her witnesses should be kept from three to eight hours at a stretch after nightfall whilst their depositions are being taken and fair copies made at the former's expense. The latter, by the way, are written by a public scribe, who charges the complainant what for a Japanese must prove at a very heavy rate indeed. All this is not very encouraging for those who wish to induce us to come under Japanese laws, a call which for the present is likely to prove as ineffectual as the old one to the ducks—"Dilly, dilly, come and be killed."

In one of Sala's lively Russian sketches he tells us how the police of that country bleed the losers of property so heavily, that the latter actually bribe them to let the matter drop, when by chance it has leaked out that they have been robbed. 'Tis not quite so bad as that here, but until last week I had no idea that it was half so bad as it is.

NAGASAKI.

A letter published in the Hiogo News from Nagasaki says that after Nobeoka fell into Imperial hands the rebels lost a great deal of their power; and about 200 rebel leaders assembled in a temple near Nobeoka. Kirino, Beppu, Murata, Kijima, &c., discussed their battles since February. Then a minor rebel officer said that since the fall of Miyakonojo many of their parties had surrendered to the Eastern armies, which must therefore well know the rebel numbers, ammunition, provisions and situation; it was therefore impossible to defeat the Eastern Army on the Bungo roads or retake Nobeoka; it was useless now to talk of what they had done—they must talk of what they were going to do. He asked Kirino what he would do, who replied, smiling, that when the rebels fought at Yamaga and Uyeki the students of the Shigakko were many, but now many of them had been lost and few remain. The Imperialists have plenty of ammunition and the rebels have been defeated, but if they should be arrested they would be reproached, and therefore they wished to kill as many of the Imperialists as they could and then die; those who felt with him were to write. Some hours afterwards they sent in their opinions to Kirino, and afterwards broke through the Imperial lines and are between Hiuga and Higo.

CHINA.

TIENTSIN.

The Shanghai Courier's correspondent, writing under date of the 8th Sept., says:—

A rain fell on the evening and night of the 28th Aug., which, though too late to be of any service to this year's crops, is beneficial to the autumn wheat.

Two persons were executed outside the west gate on the 6th. One of them was a constable, and the other had been headman of a certain quarter. The former had incarcerated an innocent man, causing his death, thrusting him into the jail, unknown to the mandarin. The mother, wife, and sister of one of the criminals followed him to the place of execution, to take the body; and finding it headless, began to revile the magistrates, and went from yamen to yamen demanding it, cursing the powers that be as they went. They were, however, obliged to content themselves with the headless trunk, as the remainder of the body was wanted as an example to evil doers in the place where the crime was committed.

The Chih-hsien of Tientsin has been recently promoted to be Chih-chou of Yu-chen, a mountain city on the borders of Chihli, and due west of Peking. This man has been twice Chih-hsien of this city. The first time he enjoyed an excellent reputation, which, singularly enough, he has lost entirely on his second term.

Mr. Mongan, H.B.M. Consul, who has been identified with this port as Consul, almost since the port was opened, has received leave of absence for a year, and leaves for England in a month or so. His successor is reported to be Mr. Forrest.

Mr. Seward, U.S. Minister, and Hon. J. L. Cadwallader, arrived on the 7th per Haiting, and after calling on the Viceroy, left the next day for Peking.

The correspondent of the North China Daily News writes:—

There are frequent cases of cholera among the Chinese. These are promoted probably by the "rotting" of the coarse hemp or jute in the ponds of water, the stench from which is terrible. The rains have been withheld and the streams are low—the sun is hot in the middle of the day, while the nights are cold; all these are conditions not favourable to good health. Add the want of suitable food on the part of many, and the wonder is that so few die.

CHEFOO.

The correspondent of the Celestial Empire says:—

Our summer is virtually over, and the prevailing breezes being easterly, our evenings especially are most deliciously cool; in fact, blankets have been in requisition for at least a month, and at night the thermometer occasionally descends to 60 deg. Although the season has been a dull one, on account of the "scare" to which the usual visitors surrendered themselves, when the absurd reports anent the famine fever got abroad last spring, the current month bids fair to be a solatium to mine host of the Hotel-sur-mer. Numerous distinguished strangers daily promenade the beach, giving to Chefoo that air of a fashionable resort which is its distinguishing characteristic, and those who have come seeking rest, relaxation and health will doubtless benefit immensely by their visit.

The Races, which constitute the pleasantest deviation from the monotony and routine of the general programme, come off next week. The inducements offered by Shanghai and Tientsin turf men, when the Autumn Meeting was decided on, have been disappointing in the extreme, and the promised entries from those ports not having arrived, the forthcoming competition assumes, as of yore, the aspects of a civil war. The number of ponies is limited, and only about a dozen will participate in the events—only four stables being represented. As usual, the merits of the different steeds are kept profoundly dark, and it would take a very sage observer to dare to hazard a tip.

NEWCHWANG.

The Daily News correspondent states that the above port was visited by a heavy thunderstorm, which broke immediately over there on the 6th September. A ball of fire, shot from the inky clouds, struck the Harbour-master's house, shattering the chimney, and loosening the brick-work from roof to base. The electric fluid entered the room adjoining that in which Mr. and Mrs. Deighton-Braysher were seated at tiffin, splintering the ice-chest and smashing to atoms the glass-ware upon it, leaving a circular hole of five inches in diameter in one part of the wall and making an incision in another. After regaining their senses, they thought the house was on fire, and the strong sulphureous smell remained in it for hours. It was a most providential escape both for Mr. and Mrs. Deighton-Braysher and the servants, who were continually passing through that room.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 16th Sept.; the French mail from London, July 27, was received on the 8th Sept., and the following P. and O. mail of Aug. 3 arrived out on the 12th Sept.

The closure of the Woosung Railway has elicited a protest in a quarter where it is satisfactory to see the matter so sensibly treated. The Shunpao, a native newspaper of some standing, has taken the opportunity to give an exhaustive article on the subject of railways, which can hardly fail to be read with profit by every Chinaman whom that paper reaches. The figures relating to England—the immense capital invested in railways, the enormous number of passengers carried, and the great revenue annually earned by the railway companies—will seem almost fictitious to the Celestial mind. But the facts that the little Woosung Railway has already carried 161,331 passengers, and that instead of injuring it has rather increased the traffic of other wheeled vehicles, will come home to it more clearly, and will tend to show the error of the argument so often put forward, that railways will not suit China because they will upset other industries. The experience of England, on the contrary, is, that they infinitely stimulate other employments of what kind soever; and the experience of the Woosung Railway, so far, has been to the same effect. Yet, as is pointed out, this has not had a fair chance to prove its capabilities either by developing traffic or of earning revenue. It has been debarred from carrying goods altogether; and that it should have succeeded in paying its way and even earning a small profit out of passenger traffic alone, speaks wonders in its favour. It is certainly encouraging to find so sound a view of the subject in a Chinese paper.

Some difficulty has occurred with reference to the erection of the Margary Memorial. It appears that the Municipal Council have raised an objection to the proposed site on the grounds that it would encroach on the road and be an obstruction to the traffic at the corner of the Soochow-road and the Bund. A piece of progress in the general arrangements in settlement is noticeable in an application for permission to have stands of broughams on the Bund. In view of the presence of cholera, the Municipal Council very properly ask the co-operation of foreign and native residents in carrying out sanitary arrangements which, always desirable, become especially so when the season is unhealthy.

From the above-named paper we take the following :—

The news of the death of Mr. Thomas Dick will be learned by foreign residents in China with universal regret. During his long service as Commissioner of Customs at various ports Mr. Dick earned the esteem and regard of all who came in contact with him, either officially or in private life. The immediate cause of death was, we understand, abscess of the liver, brought on by a fever caught during his short stay at the new port of Ichang. Failing to derive the hoped-for benefit from his visit to Chefoo, his recovery has for some time been regarded as almost hopeless. His death, at the early age of thirty-eight, is the more sad that he had, we believe, made arrangements to retire altogether next year from the service and return to Europe. In him the Chinese Government lose an able officer, and those who knew him a valued friend.

Some hitch is said to have occurred in regard to the new Chinese loan, which rumour connects with the rate of exchange. It is said that the Peking Government decline to be bothered with exchange, which they do not understand, and borrow only so many million taels ; giving the Hang-chow banker Woo a rate of interest which enables him to take the risk of the exchange, and leaving him to fix the rate of repayment with the Bank. But the Bank wants the rate fixed and recognised by the Government. We repeat, however, that we are only repeating current rumour, and cannot in any way vouch for its accuracy.

The British schooner Airlie, while on passage to Hakodadi, on the 6th of August last, found in lat. 36° N., and long. 131° E., the lower half of a camphor-wood chest of drawers, containing shirts and collars, &c. One of the shirts was marked "J. Watts," and some of the collars were stamped "Watson and Co., Shanghai." The captain took all the articles forward with him, and on arriving at Hakodadi handed them over to the British Consul there. There is reason to believe that the wreckage belongs to the missing barque Eaglet, and, we understand, it is to be sent for from Hakodadi, with the view to see whether it can be identified by the agents here. The Airlie, on her return passage, picked up twelve Japanese sailors from a water-logged junk, in the Japanese sea, and brought them to Shanghai. They were handed over to the Japanese Consul.

A case of suicide, coloured with a spice of romance, occurred in Honkew a few days ago. A Chinese woman, it appears, died suddenly. In the same house resided an old Bombay man, or Bengalee, well-known in the locality. He took the woman's death so deeply to heart that he swallowed a quantity of opium, in the hope of rejoining her in "the land of the hereafter." It was some time afterwards ascertained what he had done, and he was removed to the Shantung-road Hospital ; but too late, for he died there soon after his arrival.

HONG KONG.

Dates by this mail extend to the 22nd September ; the French mail from London, Aug. 10, arrived out on the 18th September, and the following P. and O. mail of August 17 was received on the 21st September.

The questions of the treatment of Chinese prisoners and the administration of the flogging have been discussed at the meeting of the Legislative Council which took place on the 17th September. At that meeting his Excellency the Governor laid upon the table some correspondence on Prison Discipline in the colony, and made a speech of an hour's duration on the same subject. He pointed out that the first despatch was one from Lord Carnarvon, dated the 20th June, 1877, in which the noble lord instructed him to review the whole question of prison discipline in Hong Kong, and to make proposals for placing the system on a sound basis in future. The first despatch written by his Excellency was dated the 13th June, so that Lord Carnarvon's despatch must have had reference to something prior. Sir Arthur Kennedy, writing towards the close of last year, had reported a serious increase of crime, which was borne out by the returns. In 1874 the total number of serious offences was 1,165 ; in 1875, 1,395 ; and in 1876, 1,485. The annual average of serious crimes from the year 1867 to the year 1871 was 1,303, and from 1871 to 1876, 1,351 ; while the annual average of offences of all kinds during the latter five years was 7,124 as against 5,718 in the former period. There had also been a remarkable increase in the number of prison offences. In 1874 the number was 426 ; in 1875, 1,085 ; and in 1876, 2,726. The number of cases before the Police Magistrates in 1876 was over 10,000, and the number of persons convicted over 7,900. He ventured to assert that such a state of the criminal population and such an extraordinary growth of prison offences was without parallel in the British empire. The system of prison discipline, joined to efficiency in the administration of justice, is the great engine the Government is bound to use to repress crime and reduce the number of criminals. In the report of the Jail Committee the guiding principle upon which the prison here was administered. is laid down in these words :—"Owing to the peculiar circumstances of this colony, and the fact that by far the larger portion of the criminals confined in the jail are Chinese, whose language is but little known to those who have charge of them, whose characters and dispositions are imperfectly understood. and of whose previous history and lives it is almost impossible to obtain any knowledge, any attempt to cultivate their higher faculties and to improve their moral condition seems hopeless." Now, that was a very grave sentence for the committee to write. In every part of the British Empire Her Majesty's Government have laid down what the Government believe to be sound principles of prison discipline, namely, that it should consist of a due mixture of severity combined with efforts for amendment. It was also a rule laid down that a prisoner should undergo at least two-thirds of his sentence before being released, but in January last no less than fifty prisoners were branded and deported from Hong Kong, having served only one-third of their sentences, and some of them had been sentenced to eight years' penal servitude, and some only to three months' hard labour ; but they were all treated in the same way, irrespective of whether their conduct in jail had been good or bad. His Excellency animadverted on the system of passing repeated short sentences on old offenders, and went on to advocate the employment of Chinese turnkeys in the jail, the employment of Chinese in the Police Force having proved successful. He cited the Colonel-Surgeon's opinion as to the danger of flogging Orientals on the back with the cat, congestion of the lungs generally following the infliction of the punishment, and said the only flogging he could permit was the same as carried out in India on Orientals. He had approved of something over twenty floggings of this description, on the recommendation of the jail authorities. He said it with regret, and referred to his Governments in Labuan and the Bahamas, where not a single lash was applied during his administration, and where crime had diminished, as examples of the advisability of not flogging criminals. He also advocated giving the prisoners useful labour to perform, and letting them understand that upon the manner in which they conducted themselves depended their release from jail before the expiration of their sentences. He alluded to the fact of a number of Chinese prisoners sleeping in the same cell, with only an allowance of 190 cubic feet of air to each, and suggested the adoption of the separate system. which would probably entail some expense. He also questioned the policy of branding and deporting prisoners, and intimated his intention of submitting certain measures on the subject to the Council on an early day.

At the same meeting of Council the subject of the Praya was brought forward, when it was explained that the reconstruction was delayed through the Colonial Government having sent out a plan for the work, prepared by Sir James Coote ; this plan appears to have been prepared under a misconception of the circumstances of the place, and has been returned with the expression of a hope that the Surveyor General's scheme may be sanctioned at once. An important despatch from Earl Derby with reference to the status of naturalised British subjects of Chinese descent has been published in the local Gazette. It sets forth that under the Naturalisation Act of 1870 such persons are not entitled to British protection in China, even if naturalised in England, unless by their naturalisation they have ceased to be Chinese subjects, and that the same rule applies with still greater force to Chinese naturalised in the colonies, since colonial naturalisation only operates within the limits of the colony which grants the naturalisation. With regard to Chinese who are British subjects by birth, they can only claim British protection in China when they have complied with the regulations laid down in Sir R. Alcock's Circular of October 7, 1868.

Complaints are again made of the squeezes levied on the trade of the Colony by means of the two Chinese Customs stations at Capsingmoon and Cheung Chow. These were originally erected specially for the purpose of collecting opium duty from cargo-boats passing the stations. Now it is complained duties are being levied on other articles, such as cotton piece goods and provisions. This has already had the effect of causing the discontinuance of two trading junks hitherto plying between here and Heung Shan, and is a matter calling for official investigation, as great injury cannot fail to be inflicted on the trade of the colony by thus putting obstacles in the way of the circulation of goods.

Among the passengers by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer City of Tokio, which left on the 20th Sept., was Mr. D. H. Bailey, the United States Consul. Mr. Bailey has gone home on leave of absence, and will probably be appointed to some diplomatic post in Europe.

The China Mail says that there is a strong flavour of the old "robbery days" about the daily criminal reports of the colony, and we may have ere long to resume our standing column of "Last Night's Robberies," of which the vigorous measures of Sir Richard MacDonnell ultimately deprived us. Two distinct alarms of robbers were given on the night of the 12th. Both alarms were on the rise of the hill, and it is reported that revolvers are being cleaned and burnished for immediate use in case of need. If this species of annoyance continues, it will behove the police authorities to organise a more thorough system of prevention than has existed hitherto. His Excellency's new policy, it adds, appears to have painfully touched the members of the Racquet Court, that building having been twice forcibly entered of late by burglarious natives. On the second occasion the thieves tied up the coolies in charge, and after turning out the wardrobes of the members, carefully selected such shoes as appeared worth anything and decamped.

Another robbery of rather an extensive nature has also taken place. Five $100 notes were stolen from the Rev. Father B. Vigano on the 11th September. The rev. father was attending the Police Court on that day in reference to some property which was stolen from him on the 4th instant by his servant, and which had been traced to two pawnbrokers. During his absence on this prosecution the house was left in charge of his new servant, who, we understand, is a proselyte to the Roman Catholic faith. He took the opportunity to rob his master of his money, amounting to $500, and other things. It is needless to say that he has made himself scarce, and the police are after him.

The above paper has the following:—The compradore of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., at Foochow, has been released. His apprehension was, it understands, in connection with the failure of a contract for the loan of several million dollars by the Chinese Government in 1874, and the unfortunate compradore was thought to have contributed to its failure, and the consequent dispute that ensued between Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., and the Chinese Government.

In the Governor's remarks on prison discipline and the amount of crime in Hong Kong, his Excellency referred to the fact that the number of criminals in gaol at present was less than at the corresponding period last year. The actual figures are as follows:—Number of Chinese and coloured prisoners in Victoria Gaol (Weekly Report) 17th September, 1876, 430; ditto (Weekly Report) 17th September, 1877, 382.

SUMATRA.

ATCHIN.

The news from Samalangan is of a very favourable nature for the Dutch. The successes of their troops, which we reported in our last issues, have had decisive results. The Rajah of Samalangan has offered his submission, and sworn on the Koran to adhere to the terms stipulated by the Dutch Government. Merdoe, adjacent to Samalangan, has also submitted, so that now every State of any importance on the north, west, and east coast has acknowledged Netherlands supremacy. It is true that Gighen, one of the first States to submit, is again blockaded, owing to the duplicity of the Rajah in his dealings with the Dutch authorities; but we believe this is the only instance of the kind. It is the general opinion that the chief task of the military is now accomplished, and that it remains with the civil authorities to cement their relations with the Atchinese. In the meantime pretty strong garrisons will be kept at several places, but we are informed that a portion of the land and naval forces are about to be withdrawn.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

The present P. and O. mail brings advices from this port to the 29th September; the P. and O. mail from London Aug. 31, was received on the 29th September. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times:—

At the meeting of the Council the Water Rate Bill and Prisoners' Bill were read a second time. A rule or order of the Supreme Court, having for its object to facilitate the transaction of business on the Summary Side of the Court, was submitted and reserved for further consideration. The Auditor-General's financial statements for 1876 were laid on the table, and a Final Supply Bill for 1876 was read a first time. The Estimates for 1878, published the previous day in a Gazette Extraordinary, were laid on the table, and the Supply Bill for 1878 was read a first time; and, finally, Mr. MacArthur gave notice of a question at next meeting as to the constitution of the Courts of Justice in Perak and other Native States, and whether Government would furnish a record of their proceedings during the first quarter of the current year.

The Auditor General, in his Financial Report for 1876, gives the revenue for the year as $1,659,036 (estimated at $1,466,375); the expenditure as $1,499,051 (estimated at $1,467,658); and the Credit Balance of the Colony on 1st January, 1877, as $406,802. But this balance is more than locked up, and unavailable, in an asset under the heading of Native States, amounting to $580,111, three-fourths of which is of doubtful recovery, and that amount has since been increased.

In introducing the Supply Bill for 1878 the Colonial Secretary made an interesting speech, in which he took occasion to give information on a variety of topics of public interest, but which pressure of other matter has prevented our criticising. Mr. Douglas took a cheerful view of the financial position of the Colony and also of the Native States, even of Perak, notwithstanding this Colony has had to advance to that State over $50,000 during the first half of the current year, and it has paid no interest on previous advances.

The financial situation of the Colony may be considered highly satisfactory, so far as the revenue is concerned. The estimated revenue for the current year was $1,632,944. The revenue for the first eight months of the year shows an increase of $23,500 over the same period in 1876, and it is confidently expected that the actual revenue of the year will not be under $1,700,000.

The revenue for 1878 is estimated at $1,636,934, and the expenditure at $1,604,977. The revenue is palpably under-estimated, and the expenditure is the largest estimate ever contemplated, except in 1874, when the Surplus Fund was drawn upon for extraordinary public works. It is larger by $100,000 than the expenditure for 1875, when nearly $300,000 was spent of surplus funds, and it exceeds by $440,000 the expenditure of 1869. If, therefore, the revenue of the Colony is flourishing, the expenditure is no less so, and it would be hard to say what benefit the Colony derives from the large increase in its expenditure. Is there, for example, greater efficiency in the public service, or, let us say, in the administration of justice? For one thing, there is a lamentable lack of permanency in the public service, from the never-ending changes that are continuously made in appointments, as every Gazette shows.

There is no particular news with regard to the Native States. Extracts from diaries kept by the residents of Salangore and Sunghie Ujong have been furnished by Government. This publication of information from the Native States cannot but have a beneficial effect. It will be seen that the present high price of rice and the low price of tin, their staple export, combine to have a most injurious effect on the prosperity and progress of these States. With regard to Muar and the Maharajah of Johore not a syllable of information has been vouchsafed in the Legislative Council, in explanation of the Government's action in the matter of the succession to Sultan Ali. The natural inference is that it will bear neither defence nor discussion, but it is probable some unofficial member of Council will endeavour to elicit the facts of the case.

Tunku Mahmood, it may be noted, Sultan Ali's youngest son, has been placed in the Raffles' Institution to be educated. The eldest son and heir is left to shift for himself and family as best he may.

The Chinese Immigrants Ordinance, No. 2 of 1877, was brought into operation, by an Order in Council, on the 24th instant, but another Order in Council suspended Sections 6, 7, 8, and 10. How this Ordinance will be found to work remains to be proved

The U.S. man-of-war, of Alabama fame, the Kearsarge, Captain Macnair, arrived here from Hong Kong on the 26th Sept. en route to New York, viâ the Suez Canal.

The French war steam-transport La Creuse arrived at the Borneo Company's wharf from Saigon, and left for Toulon with 598 French naval and military passengers.

H.M.S. steamer Charybdis, Captain Hotham, returned to port from the Dindings, where she had been to render assistance to H.M.S. Growler, which had grounded there, but floated off before the arrival of the Charybdis.

Mr. J. C. Mitchell, the Deputy Registrar of the Supreme Court, left for Saigon, by the M.M. steamer Ava, to give evidence in the trial of P. J. Modelly, late a clerk in the Supreme Court here, who is charged with defrauding the Treasury by affixing stamps of less value than the amount paid him for plaint notes, and misappropriating the difference. The Colonial Government here applied to the French Government of Cochin China for his rendition, but the application has been refused on the ground that he is a French subject.

Captain Darke, of the Ban Fong Seng, was presented with a set of tea and coffee service by direction of H.E. Administrator, as well as with the thanks of H.M. Government, by order of the Secretary of State, for rescuing a portion of the crew of the steamer Eastern Isles, in December last, from the East Coast of the Malay Peninsula.

Some time last year Mr. Adamson moved in the Council that the dredging and deepening of Singapore river was a question that required the attention of Government. The consequence, it is said, has been that a wonderful plan has been submitted by Government to the Chamber of Commerce for making two channels in the river by erecting buildings in the centre of the bay formed by the river inside its mouth. It is, of course, to cost a lot of money, or it would not be a Government proposal.

The Penang Gazette says:—

Captain Fox has returned to Penang and taken over charge of the Harbour Master's Office from Captain Bradbery. The latter reverts to his former appointment in Singapore, and it is but justice to him as a public officer and a pleasure to us to be able to say, that during the time he has held the acting appointment in Penang he has always proved himself to be a most independent, efficient and obliging officer, and he leaves the settlement with the respect, esteem, and good wishes of the whole mercantile community as a body.

Market Reports.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 19.—Cotton Fabrics and Yarns: There had been a fair business in Yarns, but the medium qualities of 16/24 continued most in demand. For Shirtings the inquiry had been feeble, though 9 lbs. were rather more in favour. Velvets had continued fairly saleable. Drills and T-Cloths were almost nominal. Quotations were—Grey Shirtings: 7 lbs., 38½ yds. 39 in., $1.40 to 1.75; 8 lbs., 38½ yds. 44 in., $1.80 to 2.20; 8 lbs. 4 to 8½ lbs., 38½ yds. 39 in., $1.55 to 2.32½; 9 lbs., 38½ to 44 in., $2.00 to 2.60 per piece. T-Cloth 7 lbs., 24 yds. 32 in., $1.40 to 1.60; T-Cloth 6 lbs. 24 yds. 32 in., $1.10 to 1.25 per piece. White Shirtings: 60 to 64-reed 40 yds. 35 in., $2.20 to 2.40 per piece. Turkey Red 24 yds. 30 in. 2 to 3lb., $0.67½ to 0.85; Black Velvets, $7.25 to 8.35. English Drills 14 to 15 lbs. 40 yds. 30 in., $2.40 to 2.65; Taffachelass, 12 yds. 43 in., 2.00 to 2.35 per lb. Yarns: No. 16 to 24, $28.00 to 31.25; No. 28 to 32, $32.25 to 34.75; No. 38 to 42, $35.00 to 39.00 per picul. Woollens: The market had been a little more active. Shimagoro and Figured Orleans had found buyers at the low prices quoted, and Black Union Cloth was in demand, but without available stock. Mousselines de Laine remained quiet, and Blankets continued saleable at quotations which ruled as follows:—Figured Orleans, 29 to 30 yds. 31 in., $4.25 to 5.25; Shimagoro, 30 yds. 30 in., $3.75 to 5.25 per piece. Figured Mousselines de Laine, 30 yds. 30 in., 25c. to 28½; Union, 54 in. to 56 in., 60c. to 80c.; Blankets, scarlet and green, 6 to 8 lbs., 40c. to 45c. per lb.

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 29.—A good steady business had been transacted in Yarns at firmer rates, the improvement being most noticeable in medium spinnings of both 16/25 and 28/32. In Shirtings a little more activity was apparent at one time, but the market closed dull. Drills had been sold to a small extent, and 7 lb. T-Cloths were in rather better inquiry. Indigo Shirtings and Cotton Italians were quiet. Prints and Turkey Reds showed symptoms of improvement, and Velvets continued to be fairly saleable. As regards Woollens, more demand had been experienced for Plain and Figured Orleans and Camlet Cords, but Italian Cloth was difficult of sale at lower rates. Mousselines had been in demand at a reduction. There had been a moderate business in Metals. Good brand Nail Rods had been sold at a slight advance; quotations for other descriptions of iron were unchanged.

 A private telegram dated this day (5th November) says:—"There is a very limited demand for all imports. Market overstocked."

HIOGO-OSAKA.—The Chamber of Commerce Circular says:—The tone of the market has been quiet throughout, and a slight advance may be quoted for some goods, deliveries of which have likewise improved. Cottons: Settlements of Grey Shirtings are rather smaller, and prices appear to be somewhat weak at the close. A fair demand exists for Chintz, and a further improvement may be noticed in Turkey Reds. Black Velvets are again weaker, and Victoria Lawns are almost unsaleable. Woollens and Worsteds: Black Lastings continue firm, and there is a better feeling in Figured Orleans, whilst Black Orleans are in less demand. Considerable sales of Checked and Striped Lustres are reported at the low prices current. Deliveries of Mousselines de Laine are larger, at somewhat lower rates for Plain Goods, Figured and Printed being slightly higher. A fair business has been done in Union and Pilot Cloth and in Blankets. Iron of all descriptions is dull.

NAGASAKI.—Messrs. Holme, Ringer and Co.'s Report says:—In Piece Goods we have no alteration to report, with the exception of Velvet and Lastings, which show a slight advance in value. Kerosine Oil has experienced a heavy drop, and is difficult of sale. Pea Oil has also declined. Sugar: Moderate sales have been effected at about former quotations. Cotton remains without alteration. Blankets are in fair request, and any on the spot would meet with a ready sale. Quotations:—Cotton Yarn, 16/18 $88 to 90; Grey Shirtings, 7 lb. $1.38; 8½ lb. $1.70; T-Cloths, 7 lb. $1.20; Turkey Reds, 3½ lb. $1.70; Black Velvets, 22-inch $7.70; Lawns, $0.80; Drills, 14 lb. $2.40; Plain Black Orleans, 30 yards $4.50; Black Lastings, $12.20.

TIENTSIN.—Trade remained very dull.

NEWCHWANG.—American Drills were in considerable demand at good prices. English Drills in moderate request.

HANKOW.—There had been a little more doing in Piece Goods. Cotton Goods.—Grey Shirtings: Sales for the fortnight only 3,750 pieces, "Lion and Horse" chop 8½lbs. at Tls. 1.60, and 10lbs. "Eagles" at Tls. 2.26 per piece. White Shirtings. A sale of 750 pieces 66-reed "Eagles" reported at Tls. 2.06 per piece. Woollens: Values of all kinds unchanged. Metals: Lead very little in stock, and sales of retail nature made at rather firmer sates. Tin and Quicksilver: No business doing in these, and quotations unchanged.

SHANGHAI.—There had been little change from the extreme dulness in trade lately prevailing. Grey Shirtings at auction had been sold at 1 or 2 candareens lower all round, while private transactions, except in a few special chops, had become almost impracticable. In T-Cloths a small business is reported at about previous quotations; 8 lbs. were wanted at Tls. 1.40 to 1.41 per piece, 7 lbs. good common Mexicans being still quoted Tls. 1.20 to 1.22, and Dewhurst's MT quality worth Tls. 1.38 per piece. Drills had continued in active request, prices hardening at the close; 14 lbs. common English makes worth Tls. 1.85 and 15 lbs. Tls. 1.88 to 1.90 per piece. American Drills had been sold freely at Tls. 2.85 to 2.97 per piece. Woollens—Camlets in better demand at improving prices, and for suitable assortments the market closed firm and advancing; CPH sold at Tls 12.82 per piece. Long Ells lower, CPH Scarlet selling by auction at Tls. 6.58½ per piece. Spanish Stripes Tls. 0.56½ per yard, HH assortments. Metals: There had been nothing done in Iron. Lead had been sold at Tls. 5.45 to 5.47½ for LB. Coals: There had been a downward movement in the market for all descriptions, and the inquiry was languid.

FOOCHOW.—There had been no business in the Cotton Goods market during the fortnight. Lead.—A fair quantity had changed hands at $8.00 to 8.25 per picul against tea purchases, and $8.00 per picul cash. The stock in foreigners' hands was estimated at 7,250 pigs. Sales reported are:—Lead 1,280 pigs at $8.00 to 8.25 per picul, against tea; 1,450 pigs at $8.00 per picul cash.

AMOY.—Yarns: Barely anything had been done, and arrivals had considerably increased the stock of English Yarn. Grey Shirtings and T-Cloths together with other Piece Goods had been dealt in to a very small extent. Metals.—Tin: No transactions. Lead: Sales of 900 pigs quoted, but prices had not transpired. Quicksilver: Unchanged.

HONG KONG.—The state of the market had been very unsatisfactory during the fortnight, and the business done upon a very limited scale. Advices from the interior were very unfavourable as regards prospects of the coming Rice crops, and as a consequence local dealers only bought to meet actual requirements, or when prices were more than usually tempting, as for example in 6 lbs. and 7 lbs. common T-Cloths. In the meantime, importers still adhered to their former policy of holding off until buyers should be prepared to meet their views. Quotations were unchanged, and in many cases quite nominal. 8.4 lb. Grey Shirtings had been inquired for, and a moderate business had resulted. Other weights had met with little or no attention. English Drills and White Shirtings had been neglected. T-Cloths had been in demand, and business had been done at about previous quotations. American Cotton Goods out of stock. Coals: No change in the market, which continued very depressed. The arrivals had been 1,584 tons Cardiff and 1,808 tons Australian; the settlements 2,010 tons Cardiff at $9.00 to $9.75 and 1,200 tons Australian at $7.25 per ton. Metals—Iron: Nail Rod had been in some request for the Tientsin market; other kinds continued quiet. Wire: Unchanged. Steel: Steady. Lead: Market very weak; 550 tons "Hole" chop had changed hands under $7 per picul cash. L.B. offering at $7 to arrive and Enthoren at $6.90. Tin Plates difficult to move. Quicksilver had steadily declined until the close, when a slight reaction was noticeable.

CANTON.—But little business had been done in Lead, which was again quoted lower; common $7.60 to $7.65; W.B. $7.70 to $7.75 per picul. Stock 700 piculs. Quicksilver: Prices had declined to $69 to $70 per picul.

FORMOSA.—At Tamsui good 8¼ lbs. Grey Shirtings were worth $2.55, 7 lbs. T-Cloths $1.85. From Takao no transactions are reported; quotations were nominally unchanged.

MANILLA.—There had been little alteration in the market during the interval, but prices showed a continued weakening tendency.

SINGAPORE.—The stagnation in the market for the principal Cotton staples had continued. There had been very little demand, and the business done had been with few exceptions trifling; values were mostly unchanged. The principal sales reported are 8,000 pieces Grey Shirtings, 4,000 pieces Grey Supers, 23,000 pieces T-Cloths, 9,000 pieces White Shirtings, 90 cases White Cambrics, 77 bales Grey Yarn, 160 bales T. Red Yarn, 75 bales Coloured Yarns, and 40 cases T. R. Cambrics.

PENANG.—The demand for Cotton Goods generally had been small, stocks were increasing, and prices were weak. Grey Shirtings: Small transactions in 6 lbs. at $27, and 8¼ lbs. at $32 to 42 according to quality; no sales of 7 lbs.; a sale of 45-inch 9 lbs. at $43¾. Grey Supers: Limited sales of 5 lbs. at $34 to 35, 5¼ lbs. at $36, 5½ lbs. at $37, and 6 lbs. at $37¾. Grey Madapollams: No transactions. Grey T-Cloths: Moderate sales of 5 lbs. at $20, 6 lbs. at $22 to 24, and 7 lbs. at $27 to 28½; Small sales of 6 lbs. Mexicans at $29½, and 7 lbs. at $32. Grey Yarns dull; small sales of 40's at $100.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 19.—A large business done, settlements amounting to fully 3,200 piculs. Operations had been mostly confined to low grades, for which liberal prices had been paid, far higher, some considered, than the slight recovery on the New York Tea market warranted, considering the depreciation in quality which had been more than usually early this present season. Arrivals having been limited, stocks on hand were not much over 11,000 piculs. Rates closed as under, teas from good medium downwards showing an advance of about $1.50 to $2.00 per picul:—Common, $9.00 to 13.00; good common, $14.00 to 15.00; medium, $16.00 to 18.00; good medium, $19.00 to 22.00; fine, $23.00 to 27.00; finest, $28.00 to 32.00; choice, $34.00 nominal. The Etta Loring had sailed with 700,000 lbs., for New York.

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 29.—A stronger feeling had sprung up in the market, and prices, especially in lower grades, showed a decided advance. Settlements amounted to 10,000 piculs, being comprised, almost without exception, of Teas under $15 per picul. Arrivals had been very limited, and stocks were only moderate. Prices closed firm, especially for Teas "for price." Quotations: Common, $9 to 10; good common, $11 to 14; medium, $15 to 17; good medium, $18 to 21; fine, $22 to 24 per picul. Export from 1st May, 8,261,894 lbs., against 8,947,212 in corresponding period last season.

HIOGO-OSAKA.—A large business had been done during the interval, and more particularly within the closing week, the demand extending to all descriptions of Teas. Prices had ruled very irregularly, but closed considerably firmer. Settlements since the 27th August had been 5,000 piculs, making 46,000 piculs for the season to date, against 40,000 piculs last year.

NAGASAKI.—The market had been extremely quiet, owing to the firmness of merchants, and the difficulty in getting the produce to market. Settlements had been 733 bales from $6.00 upwards, 777 bales from $3.00 to $6.00. Stocks, 3,300 bales. Quotations: Common to medium, $2.50 to $7.00; medium to fine, $8 to $13.

HANKOW.—Arrivals during the fortnight had amounted to 14,940 chests. A very small business had been done, there being little inquiry on this market. Prices showed a decline of Tls. 1.00 to 1.50 per picul. Settlements for the fortnight had been 1,985 chests. Shipments on native account 13,227 chests. Prices paid had been:—Oonfaas and Oonams, common to fair, 8½d. to 1s. 0½d. per lb.; Seangtam, 7½d. per lb.; Oopacks, common to fair, 8¾d. to 1s. 0½d. The Celestial Empire says:—The market has been checked by the continued depression at home for low cost teas, and the uncertainty as to the total yield; but teamen, who have lately been shipping to Shanghai, without offering their teas at Hankow, would now be glad to accept a considerable reduction on the spot. As will be seen below, the total arrivals to date are more than 6,000,000lbs. below last year's, while the export only shows a deficiency of 3,000,000lbs.

SHANGHAI.—Black: There had been a moderate business done during the week, settlements being:— Oopack, 1,000 chests at Tls. 14 to 19; Oanfa, 1,000 chests at Tls. 12 to 16¾; Oonam, 1,000 chests at Tls. 10½ to 12; Ningchow, 2,000 chests at Tls. 14 to 42½; Hohow, 1,000 chests at Tls. 11 to 22; total, 6,000 chests, against 16,000 chests in the corresponding week last season. The Celestial Empire says:—This small business is distributed amongst no less than fifteen buyers, showing that if teamen give way in price our stock will be quickly shipped off. On comparing prices with those of the previous week we find a rise of five per cent. in commonest and finest teas and a decline of fully ten per cent. in all the grades between. A marked feature has been the competition for teas for America, to which the rise in this class is chiefly due. That this rise is affecting the future supply is plainly evident, but we think notwithstanding that the present deficiency of about 5,000,000 lbs. will be maintained to the close of the season. The arrivals during the week have slightly exceeded the sales and the unsold stock is increased to 28,000 chests. Green: There had been a moderate business during the week, settlements being:—Teenkai, 1,000 half-chests at Tls. 25 to 25½; Moyune, 1,000 half-chests at Tls. 25 to 31; Fychow, 1,000 half-chests at Tls. 19 to 21; Pingsuey, 7,000 half-chests at Tls. 12 to 30; total 10,000 half-chests, against 12,000 half-chests in the same week last year. There had been a small but steady business doing in Pingsueys, the demand for country teas being almost nil. The few settlements of the latter show Tls. 1 to 2 decline, prices for the former being unchanged. Pingsueys had attracted by their appearance and cheapness, while the bulk of the country teas are wanting in both liquor and style. The very few really choice Moyunes as yet received had been sold readily at Tls. 29 to 31, but inferior chops are offering at Tls. 25 without finding buyers. The Celestial Empire says:—Seeing that home valuations average nearly Tls. 5 per picul all round below China cost, and that our export to America is more than double last year's, a further heavy fall here seems inevitable. The total export of new season's tea to America from all China and Japan is 17,000,000lbs. against 13,000,000lbs. at the same date last year.

FOOCHOW.—Messrs. Westall, Galton and Co.'s Weekly Letter of 15th September, says:—Although buying during the past week has not been at all general, still the total shows a larger business than last reported, 13,284 chests of Congou having changed hands. It is rumoured, that further extensive purchases are in course of settlement. Arrivals and settlements during the week are:—Arrived: Congou, 14,400 chests; Souchong, 1,200 chests; Oolong, 500 half-chests; Flowery Pekoe, 200 chests; Scented Teas, 5,000 boxes. Settled: Congou, 13,284 chests; Souchong, 534 chests; Flowery Pekoe, 50 chests; Scented Teas, 4,130 boxes. Congou: Prices show no quotable change, and holders continue to be willing sellers at former rates. Arrivals from the country are on a fair scale for the time of year. Souchong: Only a small business has been transacted at irregular rates. Oolong: No transactions to report. Flowery Pekoe: One chop only has found a buyer. Scented Teas: One chop of 2,000 boxes of finest has been taken at Tls. 36 short, being an extreme price. The balance of the settlements have been of Teas of poor quality, at the high rates last quoted. Quotations are:—Congou, medium 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 4d.; flavoury to medium, 11½d. to 1s. 1¾d.; common to good common, 8¾d. to 11d.; dust to common, 6d. to 8½d.; Souchong: finest, 2s. 3½d.; fair, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 5¾d.; broken leaf to fair, 8¾d. to 1s. 1¾d.; Flowery Pekoe: good, 2s. 1½d. Scented Teas:—Scented Orange Pekoe: fair to finest, 1s. 2½d. to 1s. 11¾d.; Scented Caper, common, 1s. to 1s. 1½d.

AMOY.—Messrs. Olyphant and Co's. Circular says:—Settlements of Formosa Oolongs during the interval amount to some 11,000 half-chests, at a further decline of about $2 per picul. Stocks continue heavy and a large autumn crop is looked for. Holders evince more anxiety to realize and at the close rates are weak. We quote good cargo, duty paid, $22 to 23; superior, $24 to 27; fine, $28 to 30; finest, $32 to 34; and choice, $36 to 38. Amoy Oolongs have been in good request at a nominal decline of about $1, compensated for by some falling off in quality. We quote:—Common, $14; good, $18 to 19; superior, $20 to 21; and fine, $22 to 24 short price.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Report says:—There has been rather more activity in our market, and a fair business has resulted. Congous: One small parcel is reported settled at former rates. Common Teas have been in demand in Macao, and a fair amount of shipments have been made thence. Scented Teas: In the first week of the past fortnight buyers showed little disposition to operate, but latterly more desire has been displayed, though business has not been general. Medium Capers have been chiefly in demand at a decline of Tls. ½ to 1; common grades have also been inquired for, and teamen have been able to obtain full prices for these Teas; fine and finest Teas have only found buyers to a small extent, and prices for these are unaltered. Fourth crop Teas are now arriving in some quantity; the quality of the leaf appears to be fair. Pekoes have been dealt in to a moderate extent; "short leaf" Teas form the bulk of the settlements, and they have been taken at full rates; prices for these have ruled from Tls. 13 to 16, and for "long leaf" Teas from Tls. 20 to 26. Our Export figures of Scented Teas still show a large increase on those of last season, but the total shipments for the season do not promise to show any material excess. The following is a summary of the fortnight's business:—Congou, 400 boxes at Tls. 24 per picul; Scented Caper, 24,300 boxes at Tls. 13½ to 26; Scented Orange Pekoe, 6,750 boxes at Tls. 13 to 26.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 19.—Business had fallen off. After the date of last report, a further advance of $30 to 40 per picul was paid for several parcels, but rates could not be maintained, and in the face of large arrivals, dealers were most anxious at the close to sell at quotations, which show a fall of $40 on the highest prices paid. Settlements had been 300 bales of Hanks, and 25 bales of other sorts, making a total of 325 bales. Arrivals 1,000 bales, and stocks 1,200 bales. The total export from 1st of July to date was 3,636 bales, against 10,506 bales for same period last year. Quotations:—Hanks, best No. 1 and 2, 18s. 5d. to 19s. 1d.; good No. 2, 17s. 9d. to 18s. 1d.; good all round No. 2½, 16s. 9d. to 17s. 5d.; medium No. 3, 15s. 9d. to 16s. 5d.; common to inferior No. 4 and 5, 14s. 9d. to 15s. 5d.; Oshius, good to medium, 16s. 5d. to 17s. 5d.; Kakeda, 18s. 1d. to 21s. 5d.; Hamatski, 15s. 1d. to 16s. 5d.; Filature Silk, 21s. 5d. to 26s. 5d.

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 29.—A good business had been done at slightly weaker prices. On the whole sellers had been unwilling to do business at further decline, which buyers looked for, and purchases were consequently somewhat restricted at the close. High prices were maintained in the interior. The demand had chiefly run upon the better classes of silks. Stocks had increased, and the total was 1,500 bales, against 600 bales at same date last year. Settlements from 1st July, 4,850 bales, against 13,701 bales in corresponding period last season. Silk Worm Eggs: Arrivals about 190,000 cards. Sellers were demanding higher prices than buyers were willing to pay, and only a few thousand cards had been quitted at 60c. to 80c.

SHANGHAI.—The North China Herald Report says:—Considerable excitement amongst natives was the result of a wired advance in London last week. Rumours of a sale of Blue Elephant at 15s. 6d. per lb. some ten days since, having been succeeded on the 10th Sept. by quotations on a basis of 17s. to 17s. 3d. for the same chop, caused the Chinamen to believe that a rise was commencing similar to that experienced last season. Blue Elephant was sold for the P. and O. mail of the 2nd Sept. at Tls. 360 per picul (=16s. 10d. per lb.,) and has since been taken at Tls. 400 (=18s. 8d.) on foreign account, and Tls. 407½ (=19s.) for native speculation, with other Tsatlees in proportion. Everything is quiet this week; re-reels to the extent of nearly 250 bales were shipped by the American mail a few days since, quotations being Tls. 375 to 420 for middling to fair middling silks, and Tls. 490 to 505 for best chops; some 250 bales of coarse silk have changed hands at Tls. 300 (14s.) to 370 (17s. 3d.) for market Kahings, and Tls. 240 (11s. 3d.) to 260 (12s. 3d.) for 9 × 12 Moss., and about 50 bales of Tsatlees for the Continent (whether purchase or consignment seems uncertain) at Tls. 415 (19s. 3d.) and 405 (18s. 10d.) for Gold Lion chop Nos. 3 and 4, and Tls. 395 (18s. 5d.) for Mountain chop No. 1. Settlements for shipment for the fortnight are about 2,500 bales, making total for the season to date 7,500 bales, against 47,000 bales at the same date last year. Country prices have risen in unison with this market, but only a fair business seems to have taken place; we must, however, look for comparatively important arrivals within the coming week. Native interest continues high, but holders at present are fairly firm at the quotations given above. The unsold stock is about 14,500 bales. The export figures add up to 6,657 bales, and the outgoing mail has about 600 bales engaged, thus bringing shipments to date up to 7,300 bales, against 42,350 in 1876, 32,470 in 1875, and 38,2?0 in 1874.

CANTON.—Messrs. Deacon and Co.'s Circular says:—The receipt of news advising a rather improved tone in the London market has imparted a stimulus to business here, and the result has been a very fairly active fortnight. 900 bales were taken in the first week, and 500 bales are since reported to have changed hands; all classes of Tsatlee reel have shared in the general inquiry - No. 4 has been bought at $352½ and $360 per picul—$355 to $360 per picul is now the quotation for good silk of that class. If the few musters of fifth-crop silk which have been shown are a fair sample of the yield, it appears preferable to previous crops of this season. The outturn is not likely to be so large as was expected. Long-reels: Settlements for India are 70 bales of different sorts. Re-reels: 500 boxes are reported contracted for, including best and Nos. 1, 2, and 3 qualities of Cumchuck and Lucklow. Stock is computed at 1,000 bales Tsatlee, 100 to 150 bales Cumchuck and Lucklow, 50 bales Kowkong, and 200 to 300 bales of inferior descriptions.

MISCELLANEOUS.

YOKOHAMA.—Rice was quoted $2.17½ to $2.58, Camphor, $18½ to $19, Isinglass, $24 to $25, Wax, $11½ to $12, Tobacco, $7.25 to $9.25.

HIOGO-OSAKA.—Copper: Transactions for the month amounted to 1,100 piculs, and although stocks had greatly increased, prices remained nominally unchanged. Camphor: No purchases in the open market had been made, but deliveries on account of old contracts were reported to the extent of 1,200 piculs. Wax: Nothing doing. Tobacco: The smallness of stocks, together with the paucity of arrivals, had curtailed business. The few remaining parcels on offer had been eagerly taken at higher rates. Large contracts for early delivery had been effected.

NAGASAKI.—Tobacco: The market had been opened by the settlement of a few trial parcels at extreme rates. The crop was reported as being about equal to last season's, whilst the average quality was decidedly better. Settlements, 1,026 bales, at $7.75 to $8.00. Stocks, 1,300 bales, chiefly medium. Wax: The only transaction reported is the settlement of a parcel of 167 boxes, at the high rate of $14.28, for shipment to Hong Kong. Stocks, 300 boxes. Camphor unaltered. Settlements, 250 tubs, at $15.25. Stocks, nil. Rice had again declined, owing to the rains, and the prospect of an abundant harvest; Cleaned, $2.70; Uncleaned, $2.10.

HONG KONG.—Sugar: The demand for shipment on foreign account had entirely ceased, while the native dealers had withdrawn from the market, owing to the unfavourable results of late shipments to the Northern ports. The new crop was expected to arrive in November. Quotations: Chui Chow white $7 to 7.40, Brown $4 to 4.20; Shekloong white $7.20 to 7.50 and Brown $4.35; other kinds $3.90 to 4.30 per picul. Camphor continued in small supply at previous quotations. Gamboge was scarce, and the few lots on offer were held at $53 to 55 per picul. Vermillion quoted at $38 per picul.

CANTON.—Cassia was quoted 10.40 to 10.50 for cases and $10.10 to 10.20 for bales per picul; sales, 1,000 piculs; stock 16,000 piculs. Buds: $17.75 per picul; stock, 50 piculs. Aniseed Star: $26.00 to 27.00 per picul; stock, 110 piculs. Galangal Root: $3.00 to 3.20 per piculs; no stock. China Root: $3.80 to 4.00 per picul; stock, 200 piculs. China Galls: $12.25 to 12.50 per picul; stock, 300 piculs. Turmeric: $5.40 to 5.50 per picul; stock, 200 piculs. Rhubarb: Without change. Cantharides: $65.00 to 70.00 per picul; moderate sales; stock very small. Musk: $120 to 130 per catty; one small chop on offer. Fire Crackers: 71 to 72 cents for short and 75 to 76 cents for full count per box. Matting: No change.

MACAO.—A small lot of Aniseed Oil had been sold at $1.80 per picul, at which figure the remaining stock was firmly held in view of an anticipated small supply from the interior. Cassia Oil was quoted at $91 to 92 per picul. Aniseed Stars were still out of stock.

MANILA.—Great dulness had prevailed throughout the interval business having been rendered impracticable by the high prices asked for the principal staples. There had not been a single transaction in dry Sugars. About 7,000 piculs unclayed had been sold at $3.18¾, and a re-sale of 3,000 piculs, ex godown, had been effected at $3.31¼. At Cebu and Ilo Ilo a marked decline in Sugar had occurred, but buyers were still holding off. Sales of Hemp had been made at $5.81¼ to $6, equal to £22 10s. 3d. to £23 3s. 2d., but the market showed a strong declining tendency at the close. Coffee: There had been sales of Batangas at from $22.50 to 23 per picul (£79 14s. 6d. to £81 8s. 9d.), and some 1,700 piculs Indan, a portion of which was of last year's crop, were held for $24 per picul ($84 17s. 2d.).

SINGAPORE.—The market had continued quiet, business in some of the principal articles having been restricted by the shortness of supplies; a fair business had been done in Tin and Gambier; there was not much change in quotations, but the tendency of rates had been weaker. The contracts for Gambier during the fortnight amounted to 1,200 tons; at the close of the last mail $4.77½ per picul was paid, but the price had since gradually declined to $4.70; supplies were coming in freely.

PENANG.—A fair business had been done in Tin and Pepper. In other articles there had been very little change. Tin: In the early part of the fortnight there was a good demand, and prices advanced to $19. This being satisfied, prices became weaker, and closed steady at $18.75 to 18.80. Sales 4.250 piculs. Stock, 3,400 piculs. Black Pepper: Demand had been entirely for China. Prices had ranged at $7 to 7.04 for West Coast, and $6.85 to 6.95 for Acheen. Stock 2,300 piculs Acheen. No stock of West Coast. White Pepper: Small purchases at $12.50.

COMMERCIAL POSTSCRIPT.

The steamers of the Steamship Company Nederland (under contract with the Dutch Government), instead of touching at Padang on their homeward voyage from Java to Holland, will call at Penang regularly every three weeks from the 1st January next, landing mails and passengers at Naples.

Messrs. Arles, Dufour & Co.'s Silk Circular, dated Lyons, 3rd inst., says:—

From the 5th ultimo to the 14th our market was active and rising all classes of silk sharing equally in the demand; Asiatic sorts, however, rising the more rapidly. The French elections of the 14th changed the tone of the market, and the activity was replaced by a small daily business. This change is explained by the fact that buyers, having supplied their immediate wants during the previous fortnight, preferred before again purchasing to see what change in politics the elections would bring. Prices were at first firmly held, but arrivals from the East becoming freer, holders of Asiatic sorts were in some cases inclined to accept slight concessions to keep their stock moving. In European silk no decline in values can be noted. The future now depends upon the settlement of French politics and the importance of orders in silk goods, which are likely to be placed in the course of November.

THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

The Daily News has the following on the above subject :—

We have on a previous occasion adverted to the publication, in a mutilated form, of Sir Thomas Wade's Report on the Chefoo Convention. As we then pointed out, the most important section of the Report—that relating to trade—had been omitted without a word of explanation from the correspondence laid before Parliament some time ago. Lord Derby was asked, in respectful terms, to make good the deficiency, but he declined, on the ground that the Report had been forwarded to the Government of India for their consideration. He, however, promised that at a future period the suppressed section should be laid before Parliament. No doubt it is desirable that the Indian Government should be in full possession of Sir T. Wade's views before the Foreign-office makes up its mind with respect to the ratification of the Treaty; but surely it is of equal importance that merchants who have a large stake in the trade with China should be allowed an opportunity of obtaining similar information. The conviction that they were not being fairly treated in a matter which vitally affected their interests has apparently induced many of the principal firms to address to Lord Derby a collective expression of their opinion on the subject, but we learn that their request that the public should be put in possession of the full text of the Report has been unsuccessful. Such an application of a secret system of diplomacy to important questions of trade is hardly calculated to meet with the general approval of the commercial classes. The Chefoo Convention was concluded in September of last year, and Sir T. Wade arrived in London on the 4th of January last. On February 16th the Under-Secretary promised Mr. Mark Stewart that the correspondence relating to the Yunnan expedition and the Chefoo Convention should be laid before Parliament in a few days. Similar promises were repeated by Mr. Bourke in April and May; and yet when, at the close of the Session, the Blue-book, which ought long before to have been the subject of Parliamentary discussion, is at last issued, it is discovered that the most important passages in the most important document contained in it are deliberately withheld from publication. No good reason for these omissions has been vouchsafed by the Foreign-office; and it is unfortunate that the merchants are unable to induce Lord Derby to alter his decision not to publish them.

To the above article Sir Thomas Wade has written the following reply :—

SIR,—An article in the Daily News of this morning adverts to the Blue-book containing my later correspondence upon the subject of the Yun Nan Expedition and of the agreement signed by me at Chefoo, as having been frequently promised in Parliament, long withheld, and finally published without that portion of my Report which relates to the commercial section of the agreement. I feel bound to request your attention to the fact that the promises so frequently repeated in Parliament last session were based upon assurances received from me that my Report would be shortly completed, and that the non-fulfilment of those promises was due to the delay of my Report, and to no other cause. Why the Report was so long forthcoming is explained in the Report itself. Had it been sooner submitted to the Secretary of State, or had such portions of its matter as it was natural that the Government of India would require to consider been directly communicated by me to the Government of India, further reference to India would have been in all probability unnecessary, and the public would not have had to wait for the information that has now been temporarily kept back from it. I have neither the right nor the desire to put myself forward as the champion of Her Majesty's Government, but as it appears to me that in your article of to-day you are casting upon the Government blame which, if to any one, belongs to me, I shall allow myself to observe that, so far as the publication of my Report is concerned, it was impossible, in my opinion, for the Government to pursue any course but that which has been followed. For the delay which rendered that course inevitable, and its consequences, no one but myself, I think, can be held responsible.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, THOMAS FRANCIS WADE.

The Rev. Mr. Turner has replied to the above letter as follows :—

SIR,—Sir Thomas Wade's letter, published in your columns this morning, attempts to shield the Foreign Office from your criticisms. The attempt seems far from successful. In the Blue-book it is stated that Sir Thomas Wade's report was handed in on July 14. The Blue-book was published about August 14, and then the report only in part. For this delay until after Parliament dispersed and for this excision, the Foreign Office is responsible. Two questions arise out of this proceeding—Why was the report not ready before July 14? Having got the report, why was it not printed in full? Sir T. Wade explains his share of the delay thus :—"This brings me at length to the close of my report, for the long delay of which I must still ask leave to add a word of explanation. When I asked your lordship's permission to prepare it, six months ago, I contemplated nothing more than a despatch of ordinary dimensions. I was anxious to avoid resuscitation of details, the review of which, as I have said on the first page of this long paper, was something more than disagreeable. I soon found that it would be impossible to avoid recurrence to them, and I was eventually committed to a reperusal of every paper bearing on the case that has been written during the last two years, with some of earlier date. The result is a very bulky document, the elaboration of which, however, would not have occupied the time over which it has been spread had I been in better condition for work. With little of physical indisposition to complain of, I have found myself, after the strain of the last few years, more or less unfit for mental labour of any kind. This I trust, will be accepted as my excuse both for the lateness of my report's appearance and for the imperfections with which its composition is chargeable." While according our full sympathy to an eminent public servant returning to this country exhausted by arduous negotiations in an enervating climate, it is plain that we have here only an incomplete explanation of the delay. Why was it needful for Sir T. Wade to abandon his original design in February, and to spend six months in elaborating this painful defence of his policy? Clearly, he must have been put upon his defence by somebody; and unless we can imagine him taking all this trouble to refute a few unkind observations of the Shanghai newspapers, which have hardly been noticed in this country, we cannot avoid the suspicion that his unseen assailant was within the Foreign-office itself. In that case, the mental strain is accounted for. If between March, 1875, and September, 1876, the Foreign-office neglected to furnish the British Minister at Peking with sufficient instructions, and then in 1877 the British Minister finds his superiors dissatisfied with the arrangements to which he has committed them, one cannot wonder that the preparation of this report should have been a task of difficulty.

In regard to the second question, I doubt whether Sir Thomas Wade's assurance that the suppression of a portion of his report was under the circumstances inevitable will satisfy the public. The history of the negotiations is already before us. The Convention is an accomplished fact. Nothing that this report contains can alter the fact that the Convention is already signed, sealed, and in part executed. But if it is so important that the Indian Government should have the opportunity of expressing an opinion upon it, are not the Chambers of Commerce of this country at least equally interested and equally entitled to form and give an opinion? This reference of the Convention to the India-office opens up a most interesting and important constitutional question. When Her Majesty, as Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, enters into a contract, is it not binding until as Empress of India she has reconsidered it? In that case, in justice to China or any other Power with which we have dealings, this fact ought to be made known beforehand, and possibly it may become necessary to have two Ministers in Peking—one from this country and one from India.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant. F. S. TURNER, Secretary.

THE LATE MR. R. SWINHOE, F.R.S.

Many of our readers both at home and in China will join with us in the regret which we feel in announcing the death of the above gentleman, who has been long connected with H.M. Consular Service in China. Mr. Swinhoe returned home with failing health some four or five years ago; and not recovering his strength, finally retired from the service in August, 1875. His death took place on Sunday, Oct. 28, at his residence in Carlyle-square, London. Mr. Swinhoe's first appointment was as a supernumerary interpreter at Hong Kong; the since then has continuously served the Crown in that capacity, and as consul in various parts of China. Mr. Swinhoe belonged to several learned societies. He was appointed a fellow of the Asiatic Society of China in 1860, was a fellow of the Royal Society, was a fellow and corresponding member of the Royal Zoological Society, a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, a corresponding member of the Ethnological Society since 1863, a member of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, and of the North China Branch of the Asiatic Society. Many of the papers which he drew up from time to time will be remembered as of a most valuable character, while, as an individual, Mr. Swinhoe will be lamented by a large circle of personal friends.

TELEGRAPH LINES IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.—A duplicate telegraph cable has been successfully submerged between Malta and Bona, by the steamer Kangaroo, for the Telegraph Construction Company. This cable, which is in connection with another new duplicate cable from Bona to Marseilles, has been laid as a security against interruption of communication in case of any mishap that might occur to the existing lines to England, and also a means of facilitating rapid delivery. The chairman and directors of the Eastern Telegraph Company, with the Lord Chief Justice of England, are visiting the stations of the company in the Mediterranean and the Levant, in their new cable-ship the John Pender.

THE CONGRESS OF ORIENTALISTS.—Prince Humbert has accepted the title of Protector of the Congress of Orientalists which is to be held at Rome in September, 1878, Senator Michele Armari presiding. The Minister of Public Instruction has allowed a sum of 5,000f. in gold to be given as a prize to the Italian who shall present the best essay on the history of the East. The Minister of Commerce has, on his side, decided on giving 1,000f. towards the expenses of the meeting.

CAPTAIN WALSHE.—We regret to record the death of Captain Walshe, police magistrate in Singapore, which took place at Suez on his way home. No gentleman in the public service of that Colony has been more highly spoken of. His death will be much lamented, and his services much missed by the Government.

THE Oriental and Occidental Company's steamers Oceanic and Gaelic have arrived at San Francisco from Hong Kong and Yokohama, the former on the 27th ult., the last named on the 2nd inst.

Literature, Science, &c.

A work which will be of value to those who desire to form accurate ideas of the inner springs of Eastern life has been published by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge from the pen of Mr. T. W. Rhys Davids, under the title of "Buddhism; a Sketch of the Life and Teachings of Gautama, the Buddha." The work gives a good description of the general nature of Buddhism; but, as a reviewer in the Athenæum justly remarks, it is impossible to convey to persons who have not visited Buddhist countries a clear notion of Buddhism as it exists and affects the society among which it flourishes. The real secret lies in the immensity of the contrast which outward and visible Buddhism offers to all the accepted notions and usages of Western civilisation. Costly temples falling slowly into disrepair, and altars grimy with accumulated dust, practically illustrate the principle that devotees ought not to cumber their minds with mundane trifles; and what the traveller sees in a priestly community is a body of men whom the love of money never excites, who make themselves ugly, preferring ugliness to adornment, who hold dreamy idleness more worthy than industry, and whose countenances, when they meet a stranger, betray almost ludicrous efforts to appear insensible to curiosity or any other human emotion. We do not, however, see any incongruity (such as the writer above noticed hints at) in works such as the present being published by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, as nothing can be of more importance to missionaries and others than an accurate acquaintance with the tenets of those whom they hope to convert.

Confucianism in Relation to Christianity. A Paper read before the Missionary Conference in Shanghai, on May 11th, 1877. By Rev. James Legge, D.D., L.L.D. Professor of the Chinese Language and Literature, Oxford University. London: Trübner and Co.

In this, the latest printed production of the Oxford Professor's pen, we have a brief but comprehensive essay, which, as the prefatory note implies—is calculated to be "most helpful to missionaries, and to students of the Confucian teachings generally. Other teachers may have spoken and written more profoundly on human nature, may have declaimed more vigorously on the social and political relations of society, may have discoursed more eloquently on the duties and amenities of life; but it is doubtful if any of the great masters of human thought—speaking of mere men- has exercised such a widespread and far-reaching influence on his fellow creatures as Confucius. For nearly two millenia the greatest nation of the east has bowed in reverence before the dicta of the sage, and untold myriads still accept with unquestioning docility, the time-honoured teachings of the Master. There can be little doubt that China at the present day is to a great extent what Confucius has made it; and considering the extent of our relations, religious, commercial, and political, with China—it is not to the honour of England that our national literature has so little to say about Confucius as a man and a teacher; and that hitherto we have had no formulated account of his accepted doctrines. It is a step in the right direction, that one of our universities has established a chair of Chinese Literature. Scarcely could a better incumbent than the present have been appointed. Forty years given to the study of a language is surely sufficient to impart confidence in the attainments of a man of a far lower standard of training than Dr. Legge; and when we know that the Confucian Classics have been a speciality with him, we may well listen to his voice as an authority. The detailed and critical translations of the Classics, on which he has for many years been occupied, has given him such a mastery of the Confucian system that it would imply no small amount of assurance rudely to assail the views at which he has conscientiously arrived.

We hail with satisfaction the appearance of the brochure before us, by way of introduction to a more ample essay on Confucian ethics, which we sincerely hope the Professor may feel prompted to give to the world. Without trenching on polemics, the author has given us in a few plain words probably as candid and lucid a synopsis of the tenets of the Confucian school as could well be given in the space; and—what must be considered of the first importance, as it is the main object of the essay—the peculiar aspect in which we must look at it in the light of Christian teaching.

Confucius came into the world in an era of vigorous thought; and if not a profound philosopher himself, he had those qualifications which enabled him to utter truths destined to supersede and outlive the speculations of far more accomplished thinkers. Primeval traditions which had once been the property of the human race, still lingered to some extent in his native land—and among them the belief in one universal Lord God. We perhaps owe it to Confucius that this tenet has been preserved; but we owe it also to him that it has not been more distinctly enunciated in after ages. It may, however, be a question whether we should blame him in this matter; for he acted up to the light that was given him; and it would have been little short of a miracle if he could have spoken of the Supreme in such terms as we can under the brighter rays of Christian revelation. Confucius looked back to a time of clearer light and knowledge when he seems to have felt that men were purer in their lives, and less bedimmed in their intellects, and he spoke of the ancients as the model he ever aspired to attain to. He deplored the depravity of his age, but never professed to originate a thought for improving the condition of society. His aim ever was to transmit untainted the instruction which had come down to him from the ancients.

The problem of human nature is one which has baffled the acutest of intellects—as may be seen by the history of philosophy in all ages. With characteristic caution Confucius evaded the question; but his disciples in later ages keenly debated the subject; holding theories the most diverse, resulting from special and partial views of the phenomena of life, and issuing in long and wearisome logomachies. It would be hazardous to say that one or other fully established the point at issue; but the faith of the nation ultimately settled on Mencius, whose writings have become incorporated as an integral portion of the Confucian ethics, to the exclusion of Seun-tsze, Kaow-tsze, Mih-tsze, Yang-tsze, and many others. The view of Mencius is pithily embodied in the first line of the Trimetrical Classic, a most popular school-book in universal use, which declares that "Man at his birth is endowed with a virtuous nature." This has now passed into an axiom with the nation, and it must be admitted the question is a delicate one for discussion. Dr Legge does not think the dictum of Mencius conflicts with Christian teaching; and it is eminently satisfactory to find so able a Chinese scholar, and so sound a divine, stating his opinion thus unequivocally.

As to the ethics of Confucianism, they are in the main unobjectionable: and it is really in many cases energy misapplied for missionaries to spend their strength in drawing comparisons between Christian and Confucian ethics. It is placing Christianity on a low platform. Perfect as is the moral system taught by our Saviour, we err grievously if we make that the object of his advent. His was a higher mission. He came—not merely as a Teacher, but—to seek and to save the lost. This Confucius could not do; and by giving the due meed of praise to what is commendable there is no fear of our placing him on a level with the Saviour of men. We recommend the pamphlet to all, assured that it will amply repay perusal, and we cannot refrain from retrospectively congratulating the Shanghai Conference; for as suredly the papers read there must be of a first-rate order, if they could afford, in placing them on record, to reject such an essay as the one we have been noticing.

The Church Missionary Intelligencer for November continues Bishop Burdon's account of his visitation tour in Fuhkien last year. It gives some further interesting particulars of his ministrations in the various villages through which he passed. The subjoined account of the manner in which, by the aid of Christianity, many have been rescued from vicious indulgence in opium concludes the paper:—

We have succeeded in rescuing a great many from this fearful habit. Our plan is a very simple one, and, if faithfully carried out, generally proves successful. We tell the poor victim plainly that nothing but the power and grace of Jesus can enable him, successfully and permanently, to break off the habit. We then gradually reduce the amount of his daily consumption: at the same time we get him to attend regularly the various services on Sundays and week-days, and continually pray with him and for him. At the end of five or six weeks, if the man is really anxious to be delivered, he gives up smoking altogether; then we give him the ordinary opium medicine pill for another week or fortnight. He is then exhorted to pray most earnestly and constantly to Jesus for help to keep him from the evil. Very few who have been cured in this way have left us altogether. The great majority have remained, and many of them have been, and still are among the best and brightest of our Christians."

The Bulletin de la Société de Geographie for September contains a paper by Dr. Harmand on his recent travels in Cambodia. He states that the difficulties spoken of by M. Garnier are put in a somewhat startling form, and are a little exaggerated. Of the River Se-Moun, Dr. Harmand says that he has little to add that is new. The Mekong Mission passed over it in December and he in January. The rapids are described as being somewhat difficult at the latter period.

The Westminster Review for October contains a well written review of the recently published Auto-Biographical recollections of Sir John Bowring. This notice is peculiarly interesting in the Quarterly of which Sir John was one of the earliest editors, and the article will be perused with pleasure by many China residents who remember him as Governor of Hong Kong.

The November number of Mr. Thomson's "Street Life in London" contains "November Effigies (alias Guy Fawkeses)"; "Hookey Alf of Whitechapel" and "The Crawlers." The last are some of the most abject of the poor who "beg of beggars," and the history which is given of them affords a startling insight into the misery which exists in this great metropolis.

The Friend of China (organ of the Anti-Opium Society) for this month contains an elaborate article advocating the ratification of the Chefoo convention. It is evident that the Anti-Opiumists see great advantage to their cause in this being done.

LONDON: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1877.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

THERE is very little news of a purely Chinese character by the present mail. Affairs at Peking seem to be going on with the quiet which has for some time past characterised them; and at the other ports, beyond further somewhat alarming news with reference to famine and locusts, there is little of general interest. At Tientsin, however, grave apprehensions are again entertained. The weather continued very dry, and in ordinary years the time for rain in quantities to wet the ground to a depth sufficient for planting was past. Hence the Chinese were feeling great anxiety in regard to the wheat for next year, which could not be sown in the condition the ground was in. From different directions, and for a distance of 200 or more miles, the report was that, with a few exceptions of small tracts a few li in extent, the small millet crop was almost nil, while the large millet would yield only three or fourth tenths of an ordinary crop. The general verdict was, indeed, that the suffering would be much greater this year than last. A heavy thunderstorm had visited New chwang, and a meteor struck the house of the Harbour-master, doing much damage, but fortunately not injuring anyone. It is reported that the British Consulate will be withdrawn from Ichang during the winter, as it is useless to keep an establishment there when the waters of the Yangtsze are low; but a Consular officer will be sent there in the spring. From Shanghai the most interesting news is that one of the native papers speaks strongly against the closing of the Woosung Railway. Some difficulty has arisen with the Municipal Council with reference to the site of the Margary memorial. It is reported that some hitch has occurred with reference to the Chinese loan. The prejudice which has existed for some time against Chefoo seems to have passed away, and a number of residents were about to take their departure thither to be present at the races.

At Hong Kong the Legislative Council met on the 17th September, when the subjects of prison discipline and flogging were brought before their notice by H.E. the Governor, who laid before them the correspondence which is noticed editorially further on. He spoke in defence of his policy for the space of an hour. From the manner in which the subject is treated in the local papers there seems to be something under the surface which does not appear officially. The old grievance of the squeezes levied on the trade of the colony at the Barriers at the Lyeemoon and Capsingmoon passes has revived. Robberies are reported to be seriously on the increase.

By the mail from Japan via San Francisco details are brought concerning the termination of the rebellion, which confirm the telegrams which we have already published. On the 24th September an assault was made, and was entirely successful, the rebel positions being all taken, their principal leaders—including Saigo, Murata and Kirino—killed, and the remainder made prisoners of war. The news of Saigo's death is said to have cast a gloom over Japan. Some anxiety had been caused by the appearance of cholera in Yokohama, but up to the date of the mail's departure only one foreign resident had suffered. It is satisfactory to note that, notwithstanding the troubles from which Japan has suffered, the crop of rice has been so good that there have been not only large exports to Europe, but also a considerable amount to the South of China.

From the Straits we have advices that meetings of the Legislative Council had been held, and the estimates for 1878 produced by the Government. At the opening of 1877 the balance of revenue was over $400,000, but against this the debts of the native states amount to over $500,000. The debentures authorised to be issued in London have not yet appeared. No settlement as to the Government of the Moar State had been announced. The accounts from Atchin are favourable to the Dutch forces, but there is no indication of the termination of the miserable struggle.

CHINESE CRIMINALS IN HONG KONG.

THE correspondence which has been laid before the Legislative Council of Hong Kong with reference to the subject of flogging, which recently attracted so much attention, places the matter in a very different light to that in which it appeared at the time in Hong Kong, and in which in consequence it came before the public here. It seemed that the new Governor, Mr. HENNESSY, had, entirely of his own motion and from mere preconceived opinions of his own, decided to abolish what very well-informed persons regarded as a punishment necessary for the security of the Colony; and upon this assumption the matter was—as would have been justifiable had the idea been well founded—commented upon with no little severity. It now, however, appears that the subject forced itself upon the notice of the Governor in a manner such that it was impossible to ignore it. Under instructions from the Secretary of State to inquire into the jail discipline of the Colony, Mr. HENNESSY took steps to ascertain the nature and effect of the flogging inflicted, and it was reported by the Colonial Surgeon that it was of so severe a character as at times to inflict permanent injury upon the criminals, and that even where this was not the case it caused prolonged and agonising suffering, such as no humane government could upon any pretext desire to inflict. Under the circumstances, the Governor was no doubt justified in hesitating to continue such a system. The report of the Colonial Surgeon was clear and emphatic as to the injurious and cruel nature of the punishment, and it happened that on visiting the jail, Mr. HENNESSY had striking ocular demonstration of its effects. Whether upon the whole H.E. acted wisely in refusing to carry out in any form a sentence which had been passed by the Supreme Court is a matter open to question, as it might have been possible to have saved the point by inflicting the punishment which had been awarded in a modified form. But that there were strong grounds for exceptional action cannot be doubted, though there seems reason to believe that Dr. AYRES, the Colonial Surgeon, generalised too much in giving his opinion that flogging Chinese on the back was productive of permanent injury in all cases. In this view the Chief Justice, Sir JOHN SMALE, a gentleman noted for his humaneness, and Mr. Justice SNOWDEN, whose opinion is equally entitled to respect, agree; and few will doubt that the former is right in concluding that in a Colony such as Hong Kong flogging is practically useful—indeed, we should say, absolutely necessary. The report of the Colonial Surgeon was, however, enough to cause the Governor to feel that he could not hesitate in the matter; but we certainly attach much weight to Sir JOHN SMALE'S argument, that it was "morally impossible that two Colonial Surgeons, both "humane and medically skilful, could have failed to have "noticed such a result—congestion of the lungs, as stated "by Dr. AYRES—if it had been universal as Dr. AYRES "states it to be." This opinion was expressed to the Governor by the Chief Justice on the 26th July, and on the 30th the Acting Colonial Secretary, under instructions from Mr. HENNESSY, addresses a despatch to him, stating that "pending further consideration "the Governor cannot allow any flogging to take place "except in the mode sanctioned by the Colonial Surgeon "and within the precincts of the jail." This mode of dealing with the subject seems somewhat arbitrary, and hardly respectful to the Judge or to the law. That the regulation of such a matter was, under the circumstances, within the power of the Governor, will be admitted; but still, while adhering, as he was justified in doing, firmly to the principle of not permitting any punishment to be inflicted in a way that he regarded as wrong and cruel, it would have been possible to maintain this ground without putting himself above the law, as he clearly does in altering the place where the flogging is to be administered. It would have been quite sufficient to have said that after Dr. AYRES'S report it was deemed necessary that flogging should be carried out with special precautions. It is not with the Governor to allow or disallow flogging in public, if the law orders it, though he was called upon to see that when it took place it should not be inflicted in a way to be cruel or permanently injurious. This was the obvious middle course to adopt, and it is to be regretted Mr. HENNESY did not see the wisdom of following it. The above is, in point of fact, the simple issue which has still to be decided, and this seems to have become clear to his Excellency on calmer reflection, as in his despatch to the Colonial-office he refrains from proposing an abolition of the punishment, and confines himself to suggesting an alteration in some of its details. With regard to the question of abolishing night-passes, we are glad to be able to exonerate H.E., Mr. HENNESSY, from the adverse criticism which was passed upon him. We are able to state on authority that the subject was dealt with in a despatch to Lord CARNARVON which reached Downing-street about the middle of July, in which the Governor reported that the general system of night passes in Hong Kong for the Chinese was a police regulation which had worked well, and which he saw no necessity for disturbing.

THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

WE publish elsewhere a short article which has appeared on the subject of the Chefoo Convention in the Daily News, and also the reply which it has elicited from Sir THOMAS WADE. With the remarks in the article we need not say we entirely agree, as we have more than once called attention to the delay in the ratification of the Convention and to the unaccountable withholding of a portion of Sir THOMAS WADE'S memorandum. With regard, however, to Sir THOMAS WADE'S letter, it hardly mends matters very much, either as respects the Government or himself. The former ought to have explained, if Sir THOMAS should not have understood it without explanation, that what was wanted was a succinct summary of the Convention, and a concise history of the negotiations, and not a lengthened disquisition upon both, making obscurity still more obscure. As we stated at the time of its appearance, Sir THOMAS WADE'S memorandum was a useless expenditure of thought and labour; and, while admiring his chivalry in taking the blame of the delay upon himself, we can scarcely think that his letter very greatly improves his own position, or that of the Government. The fact of the unreasonable delay remains, and so far as any explanation of it is given at all, it would appear that it was really needless, and that a very little more management would have enabled the Home Government to obtain the views of that of India before instead of after the conclusion of the negotiations with the Chinese.

A memorial, which has been drawn up by those in favour of the adoption of the Treaty, and which has been signed by a number of persons who take a philanthropic and general interest in China, will, it is understood, be shortly presented, by a deputation, to the Government; and, on the other hand, we learn that the London Committee of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce are taking steps to bring the views of that body on the more practical and commercial aspect of the subject to the cognisance of the Government, before final action is taken in the matter. The Rev. F. S. TURNER, Secretary to the Anti-Opium Society, has addressed a letter to the Daily News, in reply to the note of Sir THOMAS WADE, which we publish elsewhere, and urging that the Convention is already "signed, sealed, and in part executed," and should, therefore, be ratified.

THE SUPREME COURT OF HONG KONG.

THE new Order in Council, which appeared in the Gazette of the 26th Oct., will, doubtless, prove of value in connection with offences and disputes which may be committed or may arise in the vicinity of Hong Kong. Its effect is to extend the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court there over all crimes and offences committed by British subjects, and over all disputes and differences which may arise between British subjects on land within ten miles of Hong Kong, in place of, as hitherto, only over offences within six miles, and not on the mainland of China. Its main design is with regard to criminal matters, and we believe it has been passed in consequence of an occurrence a short time back. A few British soldiers from the barracks at Hong Kong went across to the Kowloong side of the harbour (that is, on to the mainland), and after proceeding beyond the British boundary there committed some offence, and being brought before the Supreme Court they were discharged for want of jurisdiction. Hence it was thought desirable to provide against a repetition of such a state of things. Jurisdiction in such cases hitherto has vested in the Supreme Court of China and Japan, and has been exercised in the first instance by the Provincial Court under H.M. Consul at Canton. At present it will be possible to bring the offender or defendant before the Supreme Court at Hong Kong, which will secure without delay the best legal talent nearest to the place where the offence is committed or the cause of action arises. It is noticeable that the Order does not apply to disputes arising between Chinese and British subjects, but it is to be presumed that any Chinese plaintiff bringing a case in the Supreme Court, Hong Kong, when more convenient to do so, would be allowed a locus standi on giving the necessary security for costs. The omission is probably made on account of the Consuls or Quasi-Consular Courts being those alone which are recognised by the Treaty with China; but the difference is purely technical, and could be got over by a local Ordinance in Hong Kong, or even by a special Rule of Court; but of course it would be always optional with the Chinaman whether he would avail himself of the Supreme Court, Hong Kong, or the nearest Provincial Court under the Supreme Court for China and Japan, at Shanghai. As, however, the jurisdiction of the latter tribunal is not curtailed, but is made concurrent with the new jurisdiction now conferred on the Hong Kong Court, a Chinese plaintiff's rights as already existing are not in any way diminished; while he has the option, where more convenient, of selecting the Court at Hong Kong. In its bearing upon criminal cases the new Order will doubtless prove of value in the case of fugitives from Hong Kong, and in cases arising in its neighbourhood, in regard to which it might be difficult to get the evidence to Canton.

CHINA AND SIAM.

UNDER the above heading The Times announced, on the authority of "the American papers," that a war is possible between Siam and China. "For twenty years past Siam "has refused to send messengers to China with tribute and "acknowledgment of submission to the latter country. "China now demands a settlement." There are many considerations which render the rumour altogether improbable, and it is surprising that The Times should have made it public without taking some steps to test its accuracy. There are very large numbers of Chinese spread all over Siam; the Siamese look upon them with great respect, because of their superior industry, enterprise, and intelligence. The trade of Siam is to a very great extent in Chinese hands; and even allowing for the value of the rice exported from Siam to Chinese ports, considerable sums of money must annually pass from Siam to China. Most of the foreign goods in use among the Siamese, as, for example, silk wearing apparel, &c., have for generations back been supplied from manufacturers in China; in fact, China has very complete control over the Siamese market. Now the Government at Peking at least knows its own interests, and the facts we have mentioned furnish very clear grounds for maintaining friendly relations, China having a large pecuniary interest in her trade with Siam. If China really claimed that Siam was a tributary State she would maintain official agents at the Siamese Court, just as she jealously maintains such agents in Korea and Thibet, which countries are really her tributaries. There are no such Chinese officials at Bangkok, nor was there even a Representative sent from Peking to attend the coronation some years ago. It is, however, true that in former times an Embassy from Siam was despatched occasionally with presents to the Court of China. The object of this was to maintain friendly relations between the two countries, for the nobles in Siam, who have always exported their rice to the Celestial Empire, were thus able to carry on their trade without the hostility of the local authorities, of which Europeans to this day complain. The Siamese are large ship-owners, and their ships can enter Chinese ports, from which our vessels are excluded, and this because of the amicable relations which have always subsisted between Siam and China.

The Embassy to Peking was always popular among the Siamese, for the nobles who were despatched on it with presents from the Siamese Government to the Emperor of CHINA were conveyed from Canton in great state, free of expense, and were able to enrich themselves by the presents made to them, and in other ways. No such Embassy has been despatched for many years, and this because on the last occasion—we believe it was during the Taiping rebellion,—the ambassadors on their return journey were plundered or in some way maltreated, owing to the disturbed state of the country.

There are other good reasons why China could not—for so insignificant a matter as a few presents—undertake a war against Siam. The cost and risk to so unwieldy a Power of invading Siam from the sea-board would be enormous, for the Siamese have a navy, and the Chinese would be operating at a great distance from their own base. Again, if China were to attempt a descent on Siam by land from the north, setting aside the difficulties which the mountains and jungles of Further Laos present —we believe that there is no part of the Siamese dominions which touches the Chinese frontier: Birmah and Cochin China close that in on every side, and if a Chinese army deliberately prepared to march through Cochin China or Birmah we should like to know what France and England would have to say on the subject. The Ministers of France or England would never consent, for how could the Powers approve a war of this sort about a mere trumpery formality, which would in many ways disturb the trade and progress of our friend the King of SIAM? In saying this we must remind our readers that not only does the British Government maintain very close and influential treaty relations with the King of BIRMAH, but the French have paramount influence over the Court at Tonquin, and also, in the year 1870 or thereabouts, concluded a Treaty with the Monarch of BIRMAH, in the nature of an offensive and defensive alliance. Hence we do not see how a Chinese army is to get down into Siam without the assent of France and England. We lately saw the strenuous and successful efforts made by Sir THOMAS WADE to quickly close up the hostilities on the Formosa question, where Japan had a real grievance to allege, and where the difficulties of stopping the war by mere friendly intervention were really considerable. Surely, then, England would at once adopt a very decisive attitude in a case where there is no genuine ground for a quarrel, and where our own facilities for checking the outbreak are as ready to our hands as they would be effectual.

JAPAN AND THE KOREA.

A STATEMENT—which we give in extenso under Telegrams — appears in the New York papers with reference to the Korea, to the effect that England has made a demand upon Japan to share the advantages she enjoys from her recent treaty with that country. It is evident that the statement is founded upon some misapprehension, as such a demand as that indicated would have to be made upon the Korea and not upon Japan. Some foundation for the statement may, however, probably be found in the fact that the subject of opening up trade with the Korea has, as was to be presumed would be the case, occupied the attention of Sir HARRY PARKES, as will be seen by a despatch which appears in the last Blue-book issued, and which is noticed in the present number of this Paper. Sir HARRY, writing under date of the 8th May this year, reports to the Foreign-office that the trade was improving, the barriers being removed and a better feeling springing up between the Koreans and the Japanese. With this knowledge in his possession it was scarcely likely a man of Sir HARRY PARKES'S energy and address would not make some attempt to obtain from the Korean Government the same privileges for Great Britain which they have accorded to Japan.

WE have already announced that Sir BROOKE ROBERTSON, C.B., has been selected to succeed Sir WALTER MEDHURST at Shanghai, with the rank of Consul General. While we are glad to find that the claims which Sir BROOKE has to this promotion, in consequence of his long service, have not been overlooked, we cannot but regret that he should be removed from Canton, the requirements of which post he so fully understands. It may also be doubted whether it is quite wise to select for a newly-made office a gentleman to whom arduous work will probably prove trying; and on the other hand the position of Consul at Canton is one where, though the work is not hard, an official of tried experience is required, so that it was eminently suited to Sir BROOKE. We trust that the Government may not fall into the error of imagining that on account of the falling off of trade a junior officer may be sufficient for Canton. On account of its being the nearest Consular port to Hong Kong, it has an importance of its own, and it should consequently be always placed in the hands of a tried and reliable officer. We believe that leave of absence has been granted to Sir BROOKE, and that he will not assume his duties at Shanghai for some time.

WE understand that Sir T. DOUGLAS FORSYTH has been appointed to the vacant seat in the Council of India. Sir D. FORSYTH entered the Bengal Civil Service in 1848, and soon distinguished himself as a revenue officer in the North-West Provinces and the Punjab. His most recent services were prominently connected with the mission to the Amir of Yarkand, and with an Embassy to the King of BURMAH after the murder of Mr. MARGARY. The last office which Sir DOUGLAS held in India before his return on furlough was that of a Commissioner in Oudh.

WE are glad to notice from the China papers that the report which has been made by H.M. gunboat Curlew with reference to the execution of the provisions of the recent treaty concerning Sulu is satisfactory. The Government have shown commendable care in taking steps to ascertain this fact, and from the peculiar nature of the matter it may perhaps be desirable, for some little time at least, to continue this vigilance.

THE TRADE OF JAPAN.

We have received the volume of the Reports on Trade for the year 1876, issued by Her Majesty's Consuls in Japan. The majority of these reports have appeared in the Japan papers at the time they were issued, and have already been noticed in these columns. The present batch of papers is one of much value, and the sketch map showing the products of the districts around Niigata which accompanies Mr. Troup's report on that port is especially interesting. Mr. Annesley's report on the trade of Hiogo and Osaka is most carefully and elaborately drawn up, and gives a great amount of information of an entirely new character, not the least curious among which are his remarks with reference to the manufacture of bird-lime, which it seems is used in Japan, not only for snaring birds, but animals even as large as monkeys. Mr. Russell Robertson's report on the trade of Kanagawa is also very exhaustive and elaborate.

The most important portion of the Blue-book under notice is, however, probably the remarks made by Sir Harry Parkes in a despatch to Lord Derby, dated April 2nd this year, in which he refers to the trading relations recently established between Japan and Korea. He says:—

The trade between Japan and Korea under the new Treaty may be said to have commenced in November last, and I now beg to inclose two returns, one giving full particulars of the goods imported into Korea from Japan, and the other detailing the goods exported from Korea during the months of November and December.

The total value of the imports into Korea for the two months amount to 37,832 yen (or dollars), and the exports from Korea to 32,049 yen. Of the merchandise sent from Japan to Korea one-half consists of foreign manufactures, such as calicoes, shirtings, lustrings, &c., while rice and wheat form the principal products furnished by Japan herself. The exports from Korea consist chiefly of ox-hides, Korean cotton cloth, which is in request among the Japanese, gold ore, ginseng, and other trifles.

The development of this incipient trade seems to have been to some extent obstructed by the famine with which Korea, like the north of China, is at present afflicted. I inclose a description, furnished by a Japanese, of the dreadful distress occasioned by this calamity, as witnessed at the port of Fusan.

I also add a translation of another Japanese letter, describing a visit to the city of Torai, which is near to Fusan. It shows that the Koreans are disposed to treat their foreign visitors with rudeness, even when these are Japanese; but the writer naively remarks that the "scurrilous language" of which he complains "is in no degree different to that used (by Japanese) when foreigners first came to our land."

Writing under date of May 8, Sir Harry Parkes says on the same subject:—

With reference to my despatch of the 2nd ult., relative to the trade of Japan with Korea, I have now the honour to forward a translation of a Japanese letter, giving a favourable description of the state of affairs at Fusan, where that trade is carried on. According to this account, the barriers to intercourse between the Japanese and Koreans are being gradually removed, an improved feeling is springing up, and trade is more prosperous than it has yet been. "The goods," says the writer, "brought from Japan, of whatever kind, meet with a good market, the commodity of first importance being rice; next to that comes long-cloth, and then lastings," the two latter being of British manufacture. Gold and silver specie is allowed to be exported in exchange for rice, which is at present so much needed.

LAUNCH OF A YACHT FOR THE KING OF SIAM.

On the 27th ult. there was launched from the yard of Messrs. Day, Summers, & Co., at Southampton, a yacht for his Majesty the King of Siam. On leaving the ways she was named the Vesatri,* by Mr. D. K. Mason, Consul in London for Siam. The Vesatri, which has been built under the supervision of Mr. Phillips, Lloyd's agent at Southampton, by Messrs. Day, Summers and Co., is an iron vessel of 275 tons. Her length over all is 144ft., breadth 22 ft.. and drawing 11ft. of water aft and 8ft. forward. She is built with a flying angle figure and semi-elliptic stern, and is fore and aft schooner rigged. She has double bulkheads to the engine and boiler room, and the space filled with charcoal to keep the heat of the machinery from the cabins. The saloons for his Majesty's use are very handsome, being of decorated polished woods, and the whole of the fittings of Elkington's best electro plate. The awning stanchions and top-gallant rail are also electro plate. The engines of the Vesatri are 45 h.p. nominal, on the compound principle, with cylinders 17 and 32 inches diameter and 18 inches stroke. The indicated horse power will probably be about 250. The steam power is only auxiliary, as the vessel has a hoisting propeller and full sail power. It would seem that this class of yacht is to be the yacht of the future, as by means of the hoisting propeller it enables the owner to use sail or steam at will.

After inspecting the workshops, &c., the company sat down to a luncheon, Mr. Mason occupying the head of the table, Mr. Summers, of the firm, the vice-chair, and among others present were Mr. J. G. Caswell (late H. B. M. Consul at Saigon, French Cochin China), Dr. Lempriere, Lieutenant-Colonel Lacy, Messrs. Charles and Arthur Day, members of the firm, and Messrs. H. M. Dunphy, H. Williams, Thompson, &c. The Chairman proposed the health of "The King of Siam," and success to his Majesty's new yacht, a toast which was heartily received by all present. Mr. Summers gave the health of the Consul of Siam, and hoped they would be favoured by Mr. Mason's company at their works on many occasions such as the present. On behalf of the firm he would say regarding the yacht that they had spared neither expense nor trouble to procure the best materials and workmanship, and confidently expressed the opinion that she would be unequalled for her dimensions. Mr. Mason was a gentleman of great experience in these matters, inasmuch as a large number of orders had passed through his hands, and they highly appreciated the compliments he had been pleased to pay them on the result of their work. The Chairman replied, and in turn gave the health of the builders, and hoped they might have many such successful launches as they had just witnessed. Mr. Arthur Day replied, saying he hoped the next order they received from his Majesty the King of Siam would be for a yacht of a thousand tons—for when he saw the yacht they were now building, and which he hoped would meet his wishes in every respect, he would consider that he must have a larger one.

TEA v. OPIUM.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—I have read with much interest your remarks with reference to the increase in the consumption of Indian Tea, and it has occurred to me to inquire whether the Indian Government would not at once consult the interests of morality and those of its revenue by encouraging the growth of tea instead of that of opium. All teas from China pay a heavy export duty to the Government of that country. Could not an export duty be placed on Indian teas, which would yield a revenue to the Government without interfering with the consumption; and, further, might it not be possible for the Government to subsidise tea-cultivation in such a way that its production would be reduced sufficiently in cost to enable a revenue which, unlike that from opium, would be thoroughly reliable, to be derived from it? —Yours truly, ANTI-OPIUM.

SHAKY TEA-CHESTS.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—In the interests of shipowners connected with the China trade may we be allowed to point out through you to the merchants in China a matter which deserves serious attention? For the last few years we have noticed that the insufficient strength of tea-packages has been gradually becoming a most serious question, and scarcely a ship now arrives in port which delivers her cargo in what could be called as good order and well-conditioned. The root of the evil is not far to seek. Chests increase in size yearly without an equivalent increase in stability; and, instead of being nailed, the wood, which is of the thinnest description, is simply fastened by paltry clasps and canes, samples of which we enclose for your inspection.

We have lately watched the landing of cargoes from Hankow and Shanghai, and could not but notice that in spite of the most careful handling these clasps broke off, while in many instances they had apparently given way in the loading. And this is not the end of the matter; for the tea merchants turn round on the shipowner and say, because you have not delivered your cargo in like good order and condition as you received it, you must bear the expense of repair. Anything more unjust could not be; for, as you are aware, these packages reach the ship in China showily covered with paper, and presenting such a fair appearance that no captain could refuse them, because of their condition, without practically withdrawing his ship from the berth. But sooner or later shipowners will have to take a stand, for it is no small matter to repair thousands of packages. At present chests contain 110 to 115 lbs. each, and we feel confident that no merchant who has seen the packages will deny that they are quite insufficient for such a weight, and that the matter requires attention.—Your obedient servants,

JAMIESON, GRIEVE AND CO.

P.S.—It has always been customary for the importer to incur a certain expense on the repair of tea-chests when landed, but even this they are now trying to avoid, and throwing all on the shipowner.

* A Pali word, meaning Most Excellent.

OPIUM AND THE CHEFOO CONVENTION.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—Does the Rev. Mr. Turner, Secretary to the Anti-Opium Society, understand a syllogism? In reply to my recent letter he writes:—

We do not want to help China to increased revenue; but we protest against the injustice of preventing China from getting the revenue if she wishes.

There is NO DOUBT she wishes.

Therefore,

The Anti-Opium Society protest against the injustice of preventing China getting revenue out of opium.

Q. E. D.

Yours faithfully,

THE CONSULAR SERVICE.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—I fully endorse the view which you set forth in your recent article concerning the Consular Service in China and Japan. It decidedly requires some better organisation than it has at present; and I am sure that much of the ill-health from which those in it suffer and many other evils and inconveniencies attaching to it, result in a great measure from a want of knowledge on the part of the Government here of the special requirements of a Service in the East. If would take too long to enter upon all the points that might with advantage be noticed; but I may allude to one element which must have struck all who like myself have had opportunity of becoming personally acquainted with the workings of the various consulates. I allude to the very unequal incidence of the work to be performed. In some cases we find the Consul overworked and his subordinates amusing themselves; in others, just the reverse, the Consul constantly away and his deputy performing all the duties. The only rule as to work which I have ever seen in force in China is the well-known one about the willing horse; and I have certainly often regretted to observe how little thanks and how little credit those who have borne the burden in the heat of the day have often reaped. A man like Sir Harry Parkes, who performed more consular and judicial work in a day when last in Shanghai than most officials do in a week, was noticed and promoted because he was already well-known; but the industry, talent and conscientiousness of subordinate members are too often destined to blush unseen till, worn out with hard labour and disappointment, "poor so and so" dies; his friends say, "Who would have thought it?" and some well-connected junior is promoted to the vacant post to undo the good that has resulted from the patient toil of years. It is useless to expect that people will be promoted strictly by merit in a large public service, or indeed, perhaps, anywhere; but much is in the power of the Minister in China, who should make it his business as Superintendent of Trade to visit the Consulates from time to time; ascertain something as to how they are being conducted endeavour as far as is possible to parcel out the work evenly, and—last, but not least or easiest—recommend for promotion those who deserve it.—Yours faithfully, OLD CATHAY.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, OCT. 31.

The events on the theatre of war during the last week have excited a great degree of interest in Germany, public feeling being less in favour of the Russians, for whom sympathy is fading away as the war is prolonged. Everyone had hoped to see the campaign quickly finished and peace restored; but this hope has not been realised, and the only desire now entertained is that both adversaries will soon come to that point of exhaustion which will render them inclined for mediation.

At Munich, the capital of Bavaria, the aged Bishop of Muenchen-Freisingen, Gregor von Scherr, died on the 24th inst. His loss, will be felt far beyond the boundaries of Bavaria, as he belonged to that small number of Catholic clergymen in Germany who have kept themselves free from the agitation caused by the immense pretensions of the Roman Catholic Church during the last quarter of a century, without at the same time coming into decided opposition to the Pope and his new doctrines.

The negotiations between Austro-Hungary and Germany for the renewal of a commercial treaty are now at an end, and have had no result at all, the German Plenipotentiaries having already returned to Berlin; neither is there any chance of the existing treaty being prolonged for a year. No one knows, therefore, what is to be the end of the affair.

The Ironclad Squadron, under the command of Rear-Admiral Batsch, has returned to Wilhelmshafen. The squadron consisted of the frigates Kaiser (flagship), Deutschland, Friedrich Carl and Preussen, and has visited all the chief ports in the Mediterranean. The voyage home was commenced at the beginning of the present month, the vessels leaving Malta on the 4th inst., and all went on well until the Bay of Biscay was reached, when a fearful gale set in, which obliged the Deutschland to lay-to, as her steam-steering apparatus failed. The Minister of Marine, Admiral von Stosch, met the squadron at Plymouth, and arrived at Wilhelmshafen in the Kaiser. When the squadron was off Lisbon a frigate was seen coming down under full sail before the wind, and, notwithstanding that she passed close to the squadron, did not show her colours. Upon this Admiral Batsch went down full speed upon her. When coming close the French flag was hoisted, and the usual salute to the admiral was given. Courtesy at sea appears not to be much cultivated by the French.

The public debt of the Kingdom of Prussia, according to official report, is at present as follows (made up for March 31, next year): Total m.1,097,322,279.23, which require m.48,762,978.55 of interest, and m.17,472,617.71 for amortisation. In the above sum is included m.600,938,341.8 railroad debts, which is fully covered by the value of the existing railways, and m.93,107,143.16 for those provinces of Prussia which have been annexed since 1866. The above sums certainly are not large in comparison to those of other countries, but it must be remembered that Prussia is neither a very large nor a wealthy kingdom, and is not possessed of valuable transatlantic possessions and colonies, such as England or France.

A summary report upon the grain harvest on the Continent for the present year gives the following proportions, the cipher 100 representing an average harvest: Prussia, wheat 95, rye 99, barley 84, oats 83; Mecklenberg resp., 100, 100, 80, and 75; Baden resp., 85, 95, 85 and 100; Wurtemberg resp., 95, 105, 75 and 90; Bavaria resp., 105, 96, 75 and 99; Saxony resp., 105, 100, 90 and 90; France resp., 70, 70, 80 and 105; Austro-Hungary resp., 112, 105, 100, 102; South Russia resp., 125, 85, 80 and 100; Middle Russia resp., 115, 80, 75 and 75; North Russia resp., 100, 100, 75 and 75; Russian Poland resp., 87, 92 —, and 100; Roumania resp., 100, 100, 100 and —; Switzerland resp., 100, 50, 50 and 50; Sweden and Norway resp., 100, 100 80 and 95; Denmark resp., 110, 100, 75 and 70; Italy resp., 98, 95, 100 and 90; Bessarabia resp., 115, 105, 100; Belgium resp., 90, 95, 90 and 100; Netherlands resp., 100, 100, 90 and 100. In the eastern, south-eastern, and central countries of Europe the quality is mostly excellent, while the western and north-western countries have only yielded grain of inferior value. It appears from the above that the harvest of Austria is far above that of all other countries.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The demand in our Produce Markets has been rather of a consumptive character during the past week; nevertheless more confidence is apparent, probably as a consequence of the cheaper money and the fact that apprehensions of a further advance in the rates of discount have disappeared.

COFFEE.—In the early part of the past week the tendency was quiet, buyers awaiting the result of the public sales in Holland on the 24th inst. The good result of these sales in connection with more favourable reports from the Brazils gave a stimulus to the market, and the tendency at the close is firm, buyers showing greater confidence and more inclination to operate, while holders are reluctant. Quotation for Java quality m.1.05 to 1.50.

SUGAR has been very little inquired for, but values are unchanged. In addition to some parcels of American, 700 bags East India have been sold for delivery. Quotations are:—Manila, brown, clayed, m.23 to 25½; do. unclayed, m.18 to 20; Mauritius, brown, m.18 to 24; do. yellow, m.26 to 28; Batavia, white, m.31 to 32½; do. yellow and grey, m.26½ to 29½; do. brown, m.18 to 24½; Siam, Benares and China, white, m.29 to 31; Zanzibar, brown and yellow, m.20½ to 29½; China, brown and yellow, m.19 to 28 per 100 lbs.

RICE.—Business in dressed quality has been quiet, as buyers of large quantities will not pay the rates demanded. Of raw quality 12,667 bags have arrived per Carmelina, from Rangoon.

COTTON has been in better demand, and in consequence of the reduced stock, larger transactions have taken place. In addition to several parcels of American, 60 bales Rangoon have changed owners at m.0.45½ to 0.46½.

SPICES.—Nutmegs are inquired for, at m.2.80 to 3.20; Mace at m.2.20 to 2.30; Cloves; Amboina are scarce, and wanted. Zanzibar have found ready buyers at m.140 to 141; Pepper is ffatter; Singapore, m.36½ to 37; Batavia and Penang, m.34 to 34½, White, m.65 to 72.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

Business has been very much restricted during the past week, and it is only the settlement that has caused any animation. The value of Russian bonds has been enhanced by the apparent success of the Russians before Plevna and in Asia Minor, but, taken in general, the tendency has been a very quiet one. SHIPPING.

During the first week of the past fortnight much activity prevailed on the river, but during the last week there has been rather less movement. In regard to the Far East the shipping trade has been but small. Only one arrival is to be reported, namely, the Carmelina, from Rangoon; of departures are recorded the Anna Bertha, Krause, and Oscar, Windhorst, both for Hong Kong, with general merchandise. At Bremerhaven there have arrived, Bootle, Williams, from Bombay, and San Bartolomeo, Basso, from Akyab; sailed from Bremen the Smidt, Nobbe, for East India. The vessels on the berth here for the East are the following:—A. H. Wille, Haeveker, for Rangoon; Galatea, s.s., Boehme, for the usual route to Penang, Singapore, and China (to sail on November 15); Indra, Wilder, for Penang and Singapore; Pandur, ——, for Manila (first voyage); Elizabeth Childs, Lindberg, and Otto, Brolin, both for Hong Kong; Bonito, Wesenberg, for Chefoo. The English steamer J. H. Stephenson, Huggit, from Newcastle, got aground last night on the river, and has thrown part of her cargo overboard, but got off this morning with the aid of tugs.

HOLLAND.

AMSTERDAM, OCT. 31.

The Ministerial crisis is still unsolved. Weeks have elapsed, and Mr. Kappeyne Van de Coppello, the leader of the Liberal party, has not succeeded in finding colleagues. I need not add that this causes much surprise. The general opinion is that the attack on the late Cabinet was somewhat over hasty, inasmuch that their successors were not ready to accept the reins of Government. Some papers demonstrate that the new Premier experiences an embarras du choix, but I do'nt think that this can be the case. It is said that Mr. Van de Putte is seriously ill, and is consequently unable to accept the portfolio of the Colonial Department. And where can another be found, if Mr. Alting Mees declines to remain in office? The Foreign Department is, it is reported, going begging. It is thus evident that the task of constructing a Liberal Cabinet will be a very difficult one. The grande utilités are wanting a financial man, who knows how to keep balance between receipts and expenditure; a Minister for the Colonial Department who will be able to arrange the disordered condition of affairs in Java; and a Minister of War, who can bring forward a satisfactory scheme for the completion of our means of defence. Such cap-a-pie men must be found before the Liberal Ministry can commence the business of Government with any chance of success.

There is a schism in our Protestant Church. Two clergymen of the Liberal party have resigned, because they cannot agree with the last decisions of the Synod. About one hundred members of the Church have decided to form a free religious community.

At Rotterdam a meeting has been held of those interested in the coffee trade. The present system of conducting sales was generally condemned, and it was demonstrated that weekly auctions ought to be introduced.

The King is still residing at his newly-bought seat "Welgelegen," in the neighbourhood of Ryswyk. It seems that he will not again visit "het Loo." Nothing further has transpired about his marriage with Mdlle. d'Ambre, who, however, now resides openly with the King. The Prince of Orange, who has for some time resided in Wurtemberg, has returned to Paris.

Most distressing news has been received from Curaçao. A storm has done enormous damage, and a fund is being collected in order to give assistance to the sufferers.

On the Bourse affairs have looked very dull, and scarcely any business has been done. Some demand has prevailed for shares of the Dutch India Trading Bank, and those of the Trading Company. The shares of the Java Company have also met with a good inquiry, and the quotations are improving. Money is somewhat dearer, 3½ per cent. having been paid, at which price, however, any sum is obtainable.

Mr. G. Schlegel has inaugurated his professorship at the Leyden University with a speech, in which he demonstrated the advantages of a study of the Chinese language.

On the 27th of November the anniversary of the birthday, three hundred years ago, of Admiral Piet Heim will be commemorated at Delftshaven, where his statue has been erected.

It is with much regret that I have to record the death of Mr. J. W. H. Werlemann, who was one of the three founders of our beautiful Zoological Gardens. He died at the age of seventy years.

Mr. H. Goeman Borgesius, editor of the Liberal paper Het Vaderland, has been elected a member of the Second Chamber.

(BY TELEGRAM.)

The new Cabinet has been formed, and is composed as follows:—M. Van Heeckeren Vankell, Chief of the King's Cabinet, Minister for Foreign Affairs; Deputy Smidt, Minister of Justice; M. Kappeyne, Minister of the Interior; M. Wichess (naval officer), Minister of Marine; M. Gleichman (Secretary to the Bank of the Netherlands), Minister of Finance; Deputy Deroo, Minister for War; M. Van Bosse, Colonial Minister. A new Ministerial Department of Industry and Public Works will be created subsequently and placed under the direction of M. Tak Vanpoortvliet.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The market for Colonial Produce has been much more animated. The public sales have had a very good result, and very high prices have been paid.

COFFEE.—The result of the last sale by the Trading Company was most satisfactory, and a favourable opinion prevails about the future of the market for this article.

TEA firm, but very quiet.

SUGAR.—A good demand has prevailed for home consumption and for export. From f.1½ to f.2 has been paid above the October prices; but holders decline to operate without a further advance, so that the business doing is very limited. About 6,000 mats have changed hands.

TOBACCO.—The public sales have had a very good result, especially for the fine qualities, which realised very high prices; the inferior kinds, however, did not obtain the average prices. The market is dull, even for the Sumatra sorts, and it seems that the latest crop does not turn out so well as was expected. The imports have been small, and the stock is only 23,106 bs. Java, 1,530 bs. Sumatra, and 1,259 bs. Manila.

COTTON.—A good demand prevails both for consumption and speculation. Prices are somewhat higher.

SPICES.—Nutmegs and Mace are very high. The last parcels offered in public sale realised a good deal above the brokers' valuation. Cloves are dull. Pepper is firm.

RICE meets with a steady demand, especially for cleaned qualities.

MOTHER O'PEARL SHELLS.—The whole stock is exhausted.

JAVA INDIGO.—About 200 chests changed hands at prices that did not transpire, but which are thought to be near the former value.

HIDES are rather dull. The lots offered by private tender were only partly sold.

TIN.—Prices are higher; Banca is quoted f.12¼, Billiton, f.41¼. Holders decline to operate at these quotations.

Monetary and Commercial.

The stagnant condition of the China rates of exchange is significant. While in India exchange has risen in response to the increased value of silver here, it has not affected rates in China. The amount of silver sent out by the banks for the season's operations in tea and silk has, it appears, been largely in excess of requirements. This is partly owing to the very reduced scale of silk shipments; consequently the banks are keenly competing for the merchants' bills, which has kept the rates down, notwithstanding the rise in silver. The result will of course be unprofitable to banking operations during the current half-year.

The following are the latest quotations of Banking and other Companies connected with the Far East:—Agra Bank, 10½ to 11; Chartered Bank of India, 21½ to 22½; Chartered Mercantile Bank, 27½ to 28½; Comptoir D'Escompte, f.665; Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, 35 to 37; Oriental Bank, 43½ to 44½; P. and O. Company, 38 to 40; Messageries Maritimes, f.620; Suez Canal, f.700; Japan Loan 9 per cent., 110 to 112; ditto, 7 per cent., 102 to 104; China Loan, 102 to 104.

The Tea market during the past few days has been in a state of semi-panic, as regards common to medium Congou, a large holder having been forcing sales. Teas worth 1s. to 1s. 1d. per lb. a month ago have been sold at 9d. to 10d., at which price teas which in a strong liquor would be characterised as "a little on Pekoe flavour" are offering in quantities at the above rate. This state of the market results, no doubt, in some degree, from great disappointment at the continued large shipments from China, the figures being 128,000,000 lbs., against 132,000,000 lbs., whereas the general idea was that we should by now be some 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 lbs. short, with the prospect of an ultimate deficiency for the season of at least 20,000,000. Some such falling off is required to bring the import trade out of the chaos so long existing, mainly through over production in China of inferior tea, combined with the large supplies from India—which latter element appears to be quite ignored in China.

For the week ended the 27th ult. the total quantity of tea delivered from the bonded warehouses in London was 3,997,993 lbs., or an increase of about 1¼ per cent. as compared with the preceding week. Of the total deliveries 2,399,656 lbs. was for home consumption, 762,758 lbs. was exported, 700,602 lbs. was removed coastwise, 131,475 lbs. was sent coastwise for exportation, and 3,502 lbs. was for ship's stores. In the amount received as duty there was a decrease of £30, the respective totals being £59,991 and £60,021.

Messrs. Jamieson, Grieve and Co. address us a letter upon the defective manner in which China tea is packed. The matter undoubtedly deserves attention, and we trust some remedy for the evil may be found. It might naturally be said that it rests with the ship-masters to be careful not to receive defective packages; but it is justly pointed out that on account of the chests being covered with paper it is impossible on their receipt to discover which are good and which bad.

During the present week there has been a reaction from the rise in Silk which has been recorded for the past fortnight. The market has in consequence been dull, and but little has been doing. Prices, so far as a quotation can be given, may be taken as over 1s. lower than a fortnight ago. There has not, however, been any special cause to influence the market, and the dulness appears only to be one of those reactions which generally follow any special activity. In such circumstances there are, as is at present the case, usually some who are anxious to get quit of stock and who lower the quoted rates accordingly.

In the Produce Markets the unfavourable influence exercised by the depressed condition of trade generally still exists. Coffee has been dealt in during the week to only a very small extent, public sales having been suspended for four days; prices are steady at the recent decline. Sugar has been in limited demand at a further slight fall in value. Cotton has been dull. Rice slightly advanced early in the week, but is quiet at the close. More business has been done in Black Pepper, but White is dull. Manila Hemp has been in somewhat better demand at the low values current. Gambier, Sago, Spices and Tapioca are inactive Tin exhibits further improvement, Straits being quoted £69 10s. to £70, Banca £71 to £71 10s. per ton.

Early in the week the market for Bar Silver became weaker, and the amount by the Pacific steamer was sold at 54¾d. per oz. There has since been a better inquiry for Spain and the East, and the Silver by the West India steamer has been placed at 55d. per oz. Mexican dollars have slightly varied in price from 53¼d. per oz to 53⅜d. per oz., the latest price realised.

The Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company give notice that the fifth distribution at the rate of 1s. 11d. per £5 Certificate of the Second Bonus and Trust is now being paid by Messrs. Barclay, Bevan, and Co.

The New York Shipping and Commercial List has the following on gambling operations in produce:—

The practice of gambling in produce has grown up here and in some of the other large centres of trade to alarming proportions. It is in every way pernicious, and merits the severest condemnation. Every now and then there is a "corner" in some commodity, the law of supply and demand is for a time set aside, and the ordinary course of trade is interrupted, in order that one combination of sharp operators may overreach and get the better of another. This is commonly termed speculation, but it cannot be regarded as legitimate. The actual purchase of any commodity which the seller undertakes to deliver at a certain price at some future day is perfectly legitimate, provided the transaction is carried out in good faith, but a large proportion of such sales are merely simulated, and are in reality a wager as to what the market price of a certain article will be some time in the future. It is not easy to estimate the growing dimensions of this fictitious or illegitimate trade, and impossible to distinguish the few genuine contracts from the multitude of mere gambling operations. The injurious influence of such transactions among speculators, both upon regular dealers in good faith and upon producers and handlers, is one of wide extent. But there seems to be no remedy—at least, none which legislation can supply—unless it be to put produce gambling in the same category with "policy," "faro," and other games of chance. This would probably prove unwise, and become an impediment instead of a help to legitimate business. There is a surer remedy than any law of prevention by legislative enactment. It is for honest men to do their business only through legitimate channels and responsible parties. This illegitimate species of speculation may be said to be an outgrowth of the war and inflation period, which turned a good many heads. It was, at first, frowned upon by prominent business-men, but in time the great majority of leading operators have been drawn into the whirlpool. Speculations in stocks have become so well understood that everybody knows the difference between buying as an investment and buying on a margin. The same thing bids fair to become true of grain also, the sharpers having made this species of speculation almost as common as stock gambling. The relations between the legitimate dealers and the gamblers in the produce markets ought to become as well understood as they are in Wall-street, and the remedy be found in giving the speculative firms their true business position.

TEA.

Mr. D. D. Lewin's Market Résumé says:—There is no particular change to note in the general aspect of our market during the past month. The public sales are large in both China and Indian Teas, and prices, though occasionally going irregularly, have ruled throughout in favour of the buyer, more especially for all common class descriptions, viz., low Old and New Black and Red Leaf Congous, which have constituted the bulk of recent sales. Privately business has been exceedingly difficult in the face of the extreme caution of the dealers, arising from the continuously heavy and over supply. The clearances are good, both for Home Use and Export, the latter showing improving figures. Quotations: Congou: Siftings, 6d. to 7½d.; Old: Black and Red Leaf, 6d. to 8½d.; New Black: Common to Fair, 7d. to 10d.; Good Common to Medium, 10½d. to 1s. 2d.; Good Medium Scented Capers.—Canton: Rather more doing in common kinds at 9d. to 10d.; Fair to medium to fine, 11d. to 1s. 6d., are without much change. Foochows quiet. Scented Orange Pekoes are difficult to move. Siftings have sold at 5¾d. Canton kinds: Common to fair, 9½d. to 1s. 1d.; medium to fine, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 6d. Foochows: fine to finest, 1s. 6d. to 2s. nominal. Greens: fine lines in Gunpowders and Hysons have commanded full prices; other kinds no change. Gunpowder, 6d. to 3s. for finest; Imperial, 5d. to 1s. 2d.; Hyson, 5d. to 2s. 2d.; Young Hyson, 5d. to 1s. 9d.

SILK.

Messrs. John Kershaw, Kilburn and Co.'s Circular says:—There was a large business doing in China and Japan Silks during the first three weeks of October, and prices gradually advanced until a rise of 3s. to 3s. 6d. per lb. from the lowest point was established; the public sales then approached, and the market was slightly weaker, and in the sale week business in Tsatlees and Japans showed a decline in price from 6d. to 1s., principally owing to the desire of some operators to realise the profit which their purchases at the beginning of the month then showed. Cantons were at first neglected, but after a while they met with attention, and a good deal of business was done on a basis of 13s. for No. 4 Tsatlee Reel. The month opens with very little inquiry, but prices are fairly well maintained. The deliveries in October were better than they have been during the year.

COFFEE.—At the close of last week the market continued dull, and the supplies at auction went off without competition, at a further decline of 6d. to 1s. for Plantation Ceylon. For the week Plantation showed a decline of 1s. to 1s. 6d. per cwt. No further public sales were held until the 1st inst. (yesterday), when there was a moderate demand for Plantation, and only about one-half the quantity offered was sold at previous rates, viz., triage at 76s. to 93s., common to fine small at 90s. to 97s. 6d., low middling at 102s., middling at 103s. to 106s., good middling to fine middling at 107s. to 113s., bold at 120s., pea-berry at 108s. to 113s. No Native Ceylon or other East India has been sold; 801 bags Manila offered, were bought in, pale at 90s., pale greenish Indan at 90s. per cwt.

COTTON.—A decidedly flat tone has prevailed throughout, and the scanty business effected shows a slight decline upon last quotations. The sales for the week are about 11,500 bales. On the spot Tinnevelly 5 13-16d. to 6¼d., fair to good; Western Madras 5⅛d. to 5⅝d., fair to good; Scinde 5¼d., good; Bengal 4⅞d. to 5 5-16d., fair to fine; Rangoon 4 15-16d. to 5⅛d., fair to good.

CANTHARIDES.—Two cases China have been sold at 2s. 3d.

COCOANUT OIL has moved off slowly, Cochin at £43 10s., Ceylon in pipes at £38 15s. to £39.

COIR.—The public sales offered a moderate supply of Yarn, which sold slowly at irregular rates. Fibre dull. Rope steady. Of Yarn 21 bales Ceylon common red sold at £22 10s. to £23 10s., 68 tons ditto chiefly sold, low red and ordinary coarse £21 10s. to £23 10s., middling to good £24 to £28, fine pale even (in ballots) £30 10s. to £38 15s. Of 22 bales 8 tons Ceylon Fibre the former sold at £17. Four tons Ceylon Bristle were withdrawn.

CHINA PRESERVES.—50 cases Ginger (Mansing) sold at 5d. for large to 6d. for small jars, and 10 cases Chow Chow at 4½d. per lb.

CUTCH.—203 boxes Flag BB bought in at 25s. 6d.; 53 boxes freshwater damaged sold at 24s. 3d. per cwt.

CANES.—47,280 Midgen, &c., sold at 1⅝d., to 2½d., 8,900 Borneo partly sold at 1⅞d., 71,000 mouldy black Bamboo sold at ¼d. to 3d., 13,500 yellow ditto at ¾d., mouldy 1⅝d. each.

GAMBIER.—The market continues quiet. For arrival 50 tons October-November shipment have been sold at 19s. 6d. ex ship. At auction 944 bales bought in at 19s. 9d.—170 bags Cube sold, rather blocky pale at 29s., damaged, &c., 26s. to 26s. 6d., and 35 broken bales and 1 ton loose block at 18s. 6d. to 19s. per cwt.

GALLS.—At auction 113 cases China were bought in at 54s. to 55s. per cwt.

GUM BENJAMIN.—3 packages Siam small to medium almond in solid block bought in at £80 to £95. Of 19 cases Sumatra seconds 7 cases sold, dark to good mixed with dark at £6 to £8 7s. 6d.

HEMP.—There has been more inquiry for Manila at the recent reduction in value, but business is not important; about 600 bales barely fair to fully fair have been sold at £25 10s. to £26.

HIDES.—At the periodical sales there was little done in Singapore or Penang Ox and Cow. The few Rangoon offered were disposed of at an average of late rates. China consisted of remnants and an ordinary parcel, for which there were no offers. Of 5,758 China offered, 486 sold: Skins inferior, average 2⅝ lb. 3¼d. per lb. Buffalo: A parcel of Java, which were sound, though mixed with Singapore, brought fair prices. Penang and Singapore were in fair supply. Slaughtered Penang realised ¼d. per lb. advance, and Singapore brought full prices on the average. 702 Java sold: Unshaved, mixed 1st light, average 11¾ lb. 6¾d.; 1st heavy, average 23⅝ lb. 5⅞d; seconds, average 23½ lb. 5¼d. per lb. Of 7,772 Singapore and Penang 5,375 sold. Penang, slaughtered good, 1st heavy, average 46⅛ lb. 6⅝d.; 2nd heavy, average 43⅜ lb. 6d.; inferior, 1st heavy, average 39¼ lb. 5⅞d.; 2nd heavy, average 39⅝ lb., 5¼d. Singapore, fair to good, 1st heavy, average 26¾ to 30½ lb. 5½d. to 5⅝d.; 2nd heavy, average, 25⅜ lb. 5½d.; light, average 10 lb. 6d.; fair, 1st heavy, average 30⅝ lb. 5⅞d.; 2nd heavy, average 30⅞ to 33¾ lb. 4⅞d. to 4⅝d.; thirds, 4d.; ordinary, best heavy, average 37⅞ to 44 lb. 4⅞d. to 4⅝d.; 2nd heavy, average 30¼ to 32½ lb. 4⅜d. to 4½d.; heavy, average 35⅛ lb. 4⅝d.; light, average 14⅜ lb. 5¼d., per lb. 509 Manila sold: Heavy, average 25½ lb. 4⅜d. per lb. 577 Siam withdrawn. 81 China sold: Wormed 4⅜d. per lb.

JAPAN WAX.—At auction 134 cases good bold squares sold steadily at 50s. to 50s. 6d. 200 cases were bought in, saucers and squares at 52s.

JAPAN TALLOW.—Of 593 packages offered 463 packages sold, dark to good yellow 37s. 3d. to 39s. 6d., and inferior dreggy 36s. to 36s. 9d.

MUSK.—Of 35 tins Tonquin offered, 30 tins sold, pile 1 good-shaped with some skinny at 52s. to 50s. 6d., fair shaped shinny 45s., ditto and rather rough 43s. 6d. to 41s. 6d., pile 2 genuine but hard 28s. to 28s. 6d., rather rough and rather skinny 23s. to 24s., pile 3 mixed partly doubtful, &c., 12s. 6d. to 14s. Of 15 caddies Yunan 5 caddies fair with a few rather damp sold at 31s. to 31s. 6d., and 1 tin grain and 1 pod 42s. 6d. 10 tins Cabardine not landed, 6 tins grain withdrawn, 1 tin Nepaul bought in at 65s., 1 bottle sold at 48s.

PEPPER.—Black: More business has been done at about previous rates, including 450 bags Penang at 3¼d. to 3 5-16d., 300 bags West Coast at 3 5-16d., and 200 bags Singapore at 3 9-16d.—Moderate supplies at auction, amounting to 2,403 bags, were partly sold at steady rates for Singapore, but Penang was bought in: 789 bags Singapore sold, chiefly at 3¼d. to 3⅝d., good at 3⅝d., and one lot fine at 3¾d. 1,414 bags Penang bought in at 3¼d. to 3⅜d.; of 200 bags Tellicherry 80 bags sold at 4⅛d. White: At auction 996 bags Singapore went off slowly, and only about 120 bags found buyers at previous rates, good fair at 6⅜d., fine bold at 6⅝d., one lot very fine 7d., the remainder bought in at 6⅛d. to 6¾d., and import 1874 at 6d. to 6⅛d.

RHUBARB.—Of 163 cases 131 sold, ordinary dark fracture partly wormy to fair rather mixed at 1s. to 2s. 3d.

RICE.—Early in the week a floating cargo of Rangoon was sold at 10s. 9d., being a further recovery, and dearer rates were paid on the spot. At the close, however, floating cargoes are in limited demand, and previous rates are not readily obtainable. On the spot 12,000 bags good Ngatsein Rangoon have been sold at 10s. 3d. cash. 6,000 bags Ngatsein Rangoon per Matador at 10s. 3d., and 3,000 bags Ngakyouk per Ravenscraig, also at 10s. 3d. In auction 1,092 bags good white table Bengal were sold at 12s. 3d. For arrival 200 tons Raree Ballam, October-November, Canal, have been sold at 9s. 9d. ex quay. The floating cargo per Querolo, 877 tons Rangoon, off coast, has been sold at 10s. 9d. for Bremen, the cargo per Nelson, 1,600 tons Bassein, off coast, at 10s. 6d. for the Continent, and the cargo per Eleanor, 571 tons Moulmain, off coast, at 10s. 7½d. for the Continent.

SAGO.—In auction 500 bags fine bright small pearl sold at 18s.

SAGO FLOUR.—About 200 bags have been sold at 19s.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea: In auction of 2,250 boxes unworked about 800 boxes sold at the previous value, sound at 45s. to 45s. 6d., first-class sea-damaged at 43s. 6d. to 44s. 6d. Cloves: No sales of Penang. Nutmegs: 21 cases went off slowly, and only 4 cases sold, average 113 nuts to the lb. at 2s. 5d. to 2s. 6d., the rest bought in, 115 to 120's at 2s. 4d. to 2s. 5d. Mace quiet, and in auction of 8 cases middling dull Penang 4 cases sold at 2s. 4d. per lb.

STICKLAC.—48 cases fair Siam rather small partly sold at 49s. per cwt.

SUGAR.—A depressed tone has prevailed during the week, and with little inquiry business has been almost entirely suspended. At the close, owing to a fall in the value of Beetroot, holders of Cane have shown more desire to meet the market, a decline of fully 1s. from the previous value being accepted for West India, and 6d. for low brown, resulting in larger sales. In auction 14,164 bags unclayed Cebu have been bought in at 16s. 9d., also 600 bags brown Native Penang at 16s. 6d. By private contract 4,500 bags Hainan China have been sold at 16s., and 100 tons do. at 15s. 6d., also 300 tons unclayed Cebu Manila at 16s., and the floating cargo per Westwater, 1,250 tons good brown Jaca syrups, at 16s. 6d. for the Clyde.

TAPIOCA.—The large supply of 2,109 bags good Alma Penang was all bought in at 2⅝d., but 684 bags Singapore were sold at easier rates, chiefly middling to fair at 2½d. to 2 9-16d., good white at 2¾d.; 10 barrels Rio bought in at 7d. Pearl Tapioca: 350 bags medium were sold at steady rates, middling to good at 20s. 6d. to 21s. 6d.; 50 bags bullets were withdrawn.

TIN.—Messrs. French and Smith's Circular says:—The market has been active at advancing prices, and considerable quantities of Straits and Australian must have changed hands. The chief feature of interest is the continued small shipments from the Straits, that source of supply apparently being monopolised by China. This stoppage of supply, together with moderate shipments from Australia, as is usual in the autumn months, has caused an improvement in the statistical position, and created a good deal of buying in this favourite article of speculation. The future must greatly depend on the ability of China to absorb this Straits' supply, and on the amount of profit or loss which prices ruling here brings to the Australian producer. Quotations are, Straits on the spot £69 10s. to £70, Banca £71 to £71 10s., Billiton £69 10s., Straits afloat £70 per ton.

VERMILLION.—Of 10 boxes China offered 2 boxes were sold at 2s. 2d.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

On the 29th ult. there was decidedly less strength in the tone of the market, but no alterations were made in the quotations either of yarns or goods. On the 30th the continued dulness of Cotton caused further quietness, and though quotations have as a rule not been changed a tendency to slight weakness has been apparent. For yarns there are buyers to some extent at reduced prices, but the offers are too much below current values to admit of business. For goods the inquiry has been very slow. Some small pressing orders have been placed, but buyers, as a rule, are holding off or putting forward offers only at limits generally too low to admit of business. Where there has been great desire to sell, some concessions have been made, but this has not extended far. At the close the quiet feeling still prevails, though with just a slight tendency towards steadiness in prices. There has been a moderate inquiry from Calcutta buyers, but the result has been small, the offers made being for the most part declined, owing to their being at too low figures.

IRON FLOATING DOCK FOR BATAVIA.

The Dutch Government being now engaged in very extensive operations in forming a harbour near Batavia found it necessary to find a means for docking the dredging vessels, hopper-barges, and other craft employed on the works. The kind of dock to be constructed was an important consideration, as the choice appeared to lie between sending materials out to Java, for re-erection there at great expense and loss of time, or in navigating the complete dock to its destination in the same manner as was done at great expense by the British Government when they sent a floating dock to Bermuda some years ago. The dock now constructed was designed by Messrs. C. Mitchell and Co., of Newcastle-on-Tyne, to meet the difficulty. It consists of a number of parts, almost complete in themselves, which can be readily shipped in an ordinary vessel, and which can be connected together by means of a few bolts only, thereby forming the complete dock. The system also embraces the important condition that every part is available for examination, painting, &c.; and in case any one of the cylinders (which form the dock platform) be damaged, it can immediately be detached and repaired. The dock in question has been entirely completed on the stocks in Messrs. C. Mitchell and Co.'s building yard, has been launched with all its machinery in place, and tested in the fullest manner by docking vessels; and its practicability and success in all respects having been established, it will now be taken to pieces and shipped on board a steamer to Java, where one intelligent engineer, with the aid only of a few assistants, will be able to erect it; and it is also important to observe that this operation can be carried out afloat, so that no establishment is required for its re-erection, and the necessity of again launching it is entirely obviated. As this is the first dock of its kind ever constructed, a short description of it may be interesting. The entire structure is composed of a large number of wrought iron cylinders placed horizontally, forming the platform on which vessels are to be carried, and similar cylinders, placed vertically, forming the side walls necessary to give the required stability to the platform when being sunk in deep water to receive a vessel. The cylinders forming the platform are about 6 feet in diameter, and those of the sides are 5 feet in diameter. The cylinders are water tight, and each is connected to its neighbour by bolts and nuts. The nature of the union is such that great longitudinal strength is obtained; and by the introduction of internal lattice work in the cylinders the entire dock forms an immense wrought iron girder. On the upper surface of the platform cylinders two massive keelsons are built, in suitable position to receive the dredgers and other special vessels on the harbour works. The machinery for filling and emptying the dock of water is composed of two steam engines, boilers, and pumps placed on the top of vertical cylinders, one set being placed on each side. The dock is sunk by simply admitting water into the horizontal cylinders, when the whole fabric sinks to a fixed maximum depth, leaving a few feet only of the side walls above water, and the buoyancy and sinking power are so distributed that it is impossible entirely to sink the dock even if the whole of the valves were inadvertently left open. When the vessel which is to be docked has been floated into position, the water is expelled from the cylinders and the dock gradually rises to the surface, bringing the docked vessel completely out of the water, when it can at once be examined or repaired. The official trial of the dock took place on the Tyne last week, in the presence of Mr. J. de Hoog, representing the Dutch Government.

GENERAL SHIPPING NEWS.

THE UNION STEAMSHIP COMPANY'S FLEET.—The Union Steamship Company (Limited) have just added another vessel to their fleet engaged in the conveyance of mails to the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, and Zanzibar. The vessel in question is the Durban, built by Mr. James Laing, of Sunderland, and engined by Messrs. Hawthorn and Co., of Newcastle. The leading dimensions of the Durban are:—Length, 360 feet; breadth, 38 feet; depth, 31 feet; with a nominal horse-power of 550. The Durban is expected to attain a high rate of speed, and this anticipation has been verified in the result of her trials at Sunderland, when she attained a mean speed of 14¼ knots. The Durban will be despatched from Southampton with the outward Cape of Good Hope mails of the 22nd inst.

CLYDE SHIPBUILDING.—The returns of the Clyde shipbuilding trade for the month of October show that a considerable amount of work has been completed, and that the amount of tonnage put into the water is in excess of the previous month, and nearly equal to the corresponding period last year. This state of matters is mainly owing to the resumption of work by the shipwrights. In the upper district, sixteen vessels representing an aggregate tonnage of 11,154 tons were launched during the month; while in the lower district three vessels of an aggregate tonnage of 3,564 tons were put into the water.

RAPID PASSAGE ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.—One of the quickest passages ever made by a sailing ship has just been accomplished by the Katie Mellick, of St. John, timber laden, and carrying a deck-load. The run is worthy of notice for the fine qualities of the vessel, as well as the skill of her commander, Captain William Fraser. The Katie Mellick left Shediac, N.B., on the evening of the 14th, and hove to off Point Lynas for a pilot on the evening of the 27th ult., making the entire passage in thirteen days. She was only nine and a-half days from Canso to the Fastnet, Cape Clear.

MARITIME LAW.—The captain of a French vessel has been prosecuted at Dundalk for having, in order to punish one of his crew, of whose desertion he was apprehensive, chained him to a post for five days. His defence was justification by French maritime law. Captain Keogh, one of the magistrates before whom the case was heard, said every captain of a foreign ship in a British port was responsible to British law, but concurred with the other magistrates in dismissing the case, on the ground that the captain had acted in misconception of the law.

ACCIDENT TO THE STEAMER CELEBES.—The steamer Celebes, from Batavia and Naples, with mails and a general cargo, bound to Amsterdam, put into Gibraltar on the 18th ult., with damage to boilers, the furnace top-plates of one of the boilers on the starboard and one on the port side having collapsed. The necessary repairs would, it was expected, detain her until the end of the month. The mails from Java were forwarded on to England by the P. and O. Company's steamer Peshawur, on their way to Holland.

THE demolition of the wreck of the Forest has been completed. Exactly seven weeks have elapsed since the collision which rendered these operations necessary. The work has been accomplished by Captain Nisbet, R.N., and has cost the Trinity House about £1,000.

LAUNCHES.

A large steamer has been launched from the building-yard of Messrs. Hall, Russell, and Co., Aberdeen, in the presence of a large number of spectators. The weather was fine. She is 225 feet in length, 31 feet 6 inches beam, 21 feet 6 inches deep, and 1,080 tons gross register. The vessel has been built under special survey of Lloyd's, and is to be fitted up with compound surface condensing engines of 180-horse power, iron masts, steam winches, patent windlass, and all the most approved plans for facilitating a quick discharge of cargo. The Kwangtung, which is the name of the steamer, has accommodation for fifty first-class European passengers and about 300 steerage Chinese passengers. She has been built to the order of Messrs. Douglas, Lapraik, and Co., of Hong Kong, and is intended for the China coasting trade, and will be commanded by Captain Westoby, late of the Namoa, belonging to the same firm. The Kwangtung is the ninth vessel which has been built by Messrs. Hall, Russell, and Co., for Messrs. Douglas, Lapraik, and Co. Mrs. Russell performed the christening ceremony as the vessel took the water, and she was towed to the shear poles for the purpose of receiving the machinery. After the launch a few friends adjourned to the office, where the usual toasts were given.

Messrs. John Elder and Co., Govan, launched on the 24th ult. an iron paddle-steamer of 1,052 tons gross register. The dimensions of the vessel are as follow; Length between perpendiculars, 278 feet; breadth of beam, 35 feet; depth moulded, 24.3 feet. The engines will be 600-horse power nominal. The steamer—the first of two which Messrs. Elder are constructing for the company—has been designed and constructed for the mail and passenger service of the Stoomvaart Maatschappy Zeeland, Amsterdam, the line between Flushing and Queensborough. She has been named the Prinses Marie.

On the 20th ult. there was launched from the Wear Shipbuilding-yard, by Messrs. S. P. Austin and Hunter, an iron sailing barque of the following dimensions:—Length 187 feet, breadth extreme 31 feet 6 inches, depth of hold 18 feet 6 inches; tonnage, gross 775, net 750; built to the order of Mr. Thomas Morris, of Aberystwith. She is fitted with iron fore and main masts, bowsprit, lower and lower-topsail yards, and East India outfit, and is named the General Nott. She will be employed in the East India trade.

On the 24th ult. Messrs. Barclay, Curle, and Co., Whiteinch, launched an iron sailing ship of 1,170 tons register, and of the highest class at Lloyd's, which was named Samarkand. The vessel, which has been built to the order of Messrs. W. and G. Crawford, Greenock, is to be employed in the East India trade.

TONITE, OR COTTON POWDER.

THE SAFEST, STRONGEST, AND CHEAPEST OF ALL EXPLOSIVES.

Recommended to MINERS, PIT SINKERS, QUARRYMEN, and CONTRACTORS as the MOST EFFICIENT and ECONOMICAL BLASTING AGENT ever invented.

Results of practical experience show a saving of from 15 to 20 per cent. over the strongest explosives previously in use.

It saves labour in drilling holes, as a less number of holes are needed.

It does not require thawing, but is ready for use at all temperatures and in all climates.

It can also be advantageously used in breaking up boulders, extracting stumps, removing wrecks, exploding torpedoes, and for submarine purposes in general, as well as for signal lights and fog signals for ships.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

Sir SAMUEL BAKER,

In his work on the Sources of the Nile, says:—

"I ordered my dragoman Mahomet to inform the "Faky that I was a doctor, and that I had the best "medicines at the service of the sick, with advice "gratis. In a short time I had many applicants, to "whom I served out a quantity of Holloway's Pills. "These are most useful to an explorer, as, possessing "unmistakable purgative properties, they create an "undeniable effect upon the patient, which satisfies "him of their value."

This fine Medicine cures all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Bowels, is a Great PURIFIER of the BLOOD, and wonderfully efficacious in all ailments incidental to Females—young or aged.

BANK BUILDINGS, HONG KONG.

ESTABLISHED 1859.

THE MISSIONARY SCHOOL BLACKHEATH.

THE foundation stone was laid in 1856 by the Earl of Shaftesbury. The building was intended to accommodate seventy-five pupils, and was opened in 1857. The cost was £7,000. The Institution became a decided success; the number of boys rapidly rose to seventy-five, and in addition to these there were in attendance as day pupils twenty of the sons of gentlemen of the neighbourhood, it being thought advantageous that the missionaries' children should mix freely with boys born and brought up in England For some years past there has been a growing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient income to keep the Institution in working order (probably in consequence of a very general impression that one or two of the Missionary Societies supported the School), so that it has been found needful to reduce the number of pupils to fifty. A meeting of subscribers was lately called to consider the expediency of closing the School. The result however, was a vigorous effort to raise the necessary funds to carry it on efficiently. The appeal was warmly responded to, and £1,000 was obtained. The debt has been paid off, some necessary repairs effected, and the hope is that the Home and School, so valued by our noble band of missionaries, will be raised to a state of efficiency equal to that of its best days.

The Committee is happy to have as the present Head Master the Rev. Edward Waite, M.A., a gentleman of high literary qualifications, while Mrs. Waite is a true mother to the boys. There is an efficient staff of masters assisting Mr. Waite, and every confidence is felt that such an education is being given as will afford entire satisfaction both to the parents and the subscribers. The Institution is wholly unsectarian in its character. The total number of boys received since 1852 is 307. Of these 176 were the sons of missionaries of the London Missionary Society; Baptist, 75; Presbyterian, 23 Wesleyan, Episcopalian, and others, 23.

The School is not intended for merely secular instruction; the spiritual interests of the boys are carefully attended to; they are diligently instructed in the truths of Holy Scripture, their conduct constantly watched over, and the whole of their school life pervaded by Christian influence. The Committee are aware that the character of education in general has been much improved in recent years, and being anxious not to fall behind any similar institution, have tested the progress of the boys periodically by Cambridge University Examiners and otherwise, with very satisfactory results. They desire to stimulate the diligence of the boys by offering for competition at least one scholarship—or by what shall be equivalent to a scholarship. Some of the lads show excellent capacities, which would justify the highest opportunities of culture.

The terms on which pupils were originally received were £15 per annum. The charge is now £18, which, considering the increased cost of provisions, &c., barely equal to the £15 of former times.

The Committee respectfully and urgently solicit the annual assistance of all friends who are able to help the Institution by their contributions. They cordially thank the liberal contributors to the Special Fund above referred to, and beg again to remind them and other friends of the School that it is entirely dependent upon the payments of the parents, and upon voluntary subscriptions, there being no endowment of any kind, or any other source of income, with the exception of an Annual Donation from the executors of a deceased friend to which, however, there is no legal claim.

Subscriptions received by Dr. Mullens, London Missionary Society; Rev. Joseph Beazley, 13, Paragon, Blackheath; A. H. Bateman, Esq., Devonshire House, Blackheath, S.E.; or by the Agents of this Paper at the ports of the Far East.

(LIMITED).

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all description of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.
NO. 76.

CHINA SEA.

NINGPO DISTRICT.

ROCK TO THE EASTWARD OF POOTOO ISLAND.

Notice is hereby given, that Captain Petersen, of the C.M.S.N. Company's steamer Ho-chung, has reported a Rock, unmarked on the Charts, to the Eastward of Pootoo Island, and he gives the following magnetic bearings as determining its position :—

West Nine Pin Rock ..... N. 33° E.
Half Tide Rock ..... N. 12° E.
N.W. Point of Isthmus Island ..... N. 14° W.
Northern end of Pootoo E. Bluff ..... N. 49° W.

The Harbour-Master at Ningpo has verified the position of this pinnacle rock, and reported that there will probably be only 6 feet of water on it at low water spring tides, with from 7 to 13 fathoms round it.

See Admiralty Charts Nos. 1,199 and 1,969.

* Via San Francisco, received Nov. 5

THE MAILS, &c.

The French mail, with the advices dated as above, from China and the Straits Settlements, was delivered, via Marseilles, on the 6th inst. There are no later Japan advices than those which reached London, per Pacific Mail Company's steamer City of Tokio, via San Francisco, on the 5th inst., and which were published in our last issue. The next inward (P. and O.) mail, from Yokohama 2nd, Shanghai 5th, Hong Kong 11th, Singapore 18th Oct., which is due in London on Monday next, the 19th inst., left Galle on the 25th ult., two days early.

The Eastern Extension Telegraph Company's Singapore-Penang cable has been repaired, and communication with China by this route, and also by the Great Northern Telegraph Company's line, is working satisfactorily. The line to Java is interrupted.

List of Passengers.

PASSENGERS INWARD.

Summary of News from the Far East.

CHINA.

PEKING.

The correspondent of the Shanghai Courier gives the following account of affairs at the capital, under date of Sept. 12:—

Nearly all the foreign inhabitants of Peking have left the places of summer resort, and returned to the dusty city. The nights are getting so cool that a stay on the hills has become unpleasant, even though the days are all that can be desired. The American Minister and Mrs. Seward have returned from Chefoo, and we hear that others are on their way from that place, so that Peking will soon offer all its usual attractions to visitors from the outside world. The dry summer which has done so much harm to the country has been a very healthy one, both for the natives and foreigners. One of the usual results of hard times is seen here in an unusual amount of robberies. Sometime ago two men were carrying 500 taels of silver in a secluded part of the Chinese city, when five men with official hats stopped them, accused them of smuggling, insisted on searching their bag, and then of course carried off the contents. The Gazette warns travellers against a mounted robber wearing a blue button and having an extensive following. This man does not attack single carts, but when he sees sees a number together he condescends to relieve them of their silver. If such things are taking place in the neighbourhood of the capital, and even in the city itself, we may expect to hear of a much worse state of things in the distant provinces; especially in those afflicted with drought or floods or locusts, which I am told are thirteen out of the eighteen.

The Peking Gazette of the 1st September says the North China Daily News makes amusing reference to derelictions of duty on the part of the late Acting Governor-General of Yunnan and Kweichow, and of Tso Tsung-tang, the Governor-General of Kansuh. Certain censors seem to constitute a special Board at Peking, to secure exact adherence to official routine and name penalties when faults are detected. But the absurdity of making these punishments real, in the case of high officials, seems to have been so self-evident that certain nominal salaries (which are never drawn), and nominal honours (which are conferred only as food for penalties), have been instituted for the said Board to play with. Accordingly, if ever Tsen Yuying is re-appointed to office, he is to be docked one year of this salary, for some technical error, and Tso Tsung-tang is degraded one step of honorary rank for some other equally flagrant wrong. And both culprits, we presume, will grunt and smile on receipt of the news, and feel very much as though the formality had been left out.

TIENTSIN.

The Courier's correspondent writes :—

The Asiatic cholera, which has been making such ravages at Newchwang and other ports, has reached Tientsin. It is reported that within a few days several hundred troops at Hsin-Ch'eng between here and Taku have died of this disease. Not to speak, however, of these remoter events which cannot be verified, it is certain that a considerable number of people have been attacked within the past three days, and some have died. A very general alarm prevails, and charms of all sorts are posted over the door. Sundry prescriptions are posted on the walls, and the variety of treatment recommended is very nearly as great as that which obtains in western medical practice under the same circumstances. Acupuncture is recommended by some, but forbidden by others, and amid many wild theories there appears to be a general agreement that cucumbers and water-melons in overdoses—say more than half a-dozen in a day—are contra-indicated, as having a tendency to assist the cold principle, already too much in the ascendant. The fifteenth of the ninth month (Oct. 21) is regarded by some as the earliest date at which the disease is likely to be stayed. The last time it was violently epidemic is said to have been about seventeen years ago, when its ravages were truly appalling. At that time the coffin shops could come nowhere near supplying the demand.

WUCHANG.

The Daily News correspondent writes :—

As you recently devoted a leading article to the outrage which occurred here about two months ago, you may be interested to learn the subsequent proceedings in the case. There is very little satisfactory information to relate, as notwithstanding the capture and imprisonment of eight students, nothing has been done, except under pressure from the British authorities, and no decision has yet been given, or punishment inflicted.

The mandarins allowed a whole month to pass before they bestirred themselves at all in the matter. Possibly fear of arousing the hostility of the body of students may have prevented them from taking any decided step during the early part of the military examinations. It is certain, however, that during this time they endeavoured, in the most culpable manner, to make light of the offence ; and the natural result was that the students openly boasted of their impunity, and were congratulating each other on how well they had thrashed the foreign devils.

Their triumph was only short-lived after all, and retribution came at last from a quarter whence they least expected it. Suddenly waking up to the real gravity of the situation, and most probably fearing the result of an appeal to Peking, the mandarins, without any warning, called out during the night a body of foreign-armed troops, and seized twenty-nine men, supposed to be concerned in the riot. These were afterwards reduced to eight, three of whom admitted their guilt, and the other five were proved guilty. A subsequent examination took place at the District Magistrate's yamen, in the presence of Her Majesty's representative and one of the gentlemen injured, along with the latter's Chinese servant. The prisoners were brought out in couples, and must have been impressed by the unusual sight of a guard of soldiers lining the inner and outer courts of the tribunal. This precaution against a possible surprise and attempt at rescue was deemed necessary while the examinations were still in progress. When these were over and the students had dispersed, which they did in hot haste on this occasion, the guard was withdrawn.

Of the eight prisoners, two were clearly identified as having taken part in the attack ; other two were recognised, but with less certainty, and the remaining four passed unrecognised. It is singular that, notwithstanding the energy displayed by the officials in capturing twenty-nine men, they should nevertheless profess their inability to discover and produce the real ringleaders of the riot, and specially the man who struck the deadliest blow, as also the man who coolly stole the spectacles from the foreigner's face.

Another remarkable circumstance that transpired during the public examination was that each of the prisoners belonged to the same part of this province, namely, Hing Kwoh, about 150 miles from Hankow. It is a part of the country noted for the rude and lawless character of its population, and it may throw some light on this affair if we mention that an outbreak against the Roman Catholics of that region, in which a foreign priest was grossly insulted and a chapel destroyed, was reported only two years ago. The French imposed a humiliating punishment upon the gentry of the district concerned, and it is quite open to conjecture whether the present attack may not in some way be connected with the settlement of the previous offence. A feeling of revenge, which is by no means a subordinate feature of the Chinese character, as well as the general unreasoning hatred of all foreigners, may have inspired these men to attack the first unoffending victim who chanced to come in their way.

No further progress in the case is likely to be made till orders are received from Peking. Meanwhile it is almost a sufficient punishment that the offenders have already endured all the indignities and horrors of a Chinese prison, or else have had to pay dearly for any alleviation of their sufferings. Chinese jailors, attorneys and magistrates are not easily appeased. They live by bribery and extortion, and once a man is in their hands he does not readily escape.

SOOCHOW.

A correspondent of the Celestial Empire at the above place gives some very interesting particulars with reference to the system of letter carriage in force among the Chinese. He says :—

One of the pleasing features of a foreigner's life in Soochow is the regularity of communication between this city and Shanghai. There are several Express companies, who make it a business to forward letters and parcels to any city in this region. These companies have each a stamped license issued by the local magistrate, and when the fee for obtaining the license has been paid the company that pays it is secure from interference on the part of the meddlesome yamen-runners. The main principle that guides these Express companies is not "competition the life of trade," but "combination is safety." A few years ago seven of these companies united to form a guild ; they prepared a tariff which stated the rates of charges which they all intended to make for carrying letters and parcels. One peculiar feature of this tariff is that no difference is made between the charge for carrying a letter weighing half an ounce and a parcel which weighs a catty. The charge upon all small things weighing less than a catty is fifty cash. If a parcel weighs five or six catties the letter carrier demands an addition to the fifty cash of thirty or forty cash more. Nor is any difference made between the charges for letters and parcels carried eighty miles to Shanghai, and those carried a hundred and twenty miles to Hangchow. There is no extensive agency for carrying letters to any part of the empire ; if there were, the rates of charges would doubtless vary in proportion to the number of miles of road over which the letters were carried. If I wished to send a letter to Ningpo, the agent of the company that I patronise would receive my fifty cash and carry the letter to Hangchow : there it would pass into the hands of another company, who would forward it to Ningpo, and, on delivery of the letter, collect freight. The companies carry a great deal of specie from city to city. If the number of dollars is less than twenty, the charge is seven cash for each dollar : more than twenty and less than fifty, five cash for each dollar : more than fifty, three cash for each dollar. The company will give a receipt for a hundred dollars and forward them from Soochow to Shanghai for three hundred cash, or twenty-five cents !

HANKOW.

The Autumn Race Meeting is to be held on the 6th and 7th November ; six races are set down for each day.

The Futai of Hupeh has died very suddenly. He went out on the 11th September to pay his respects to the Commander-in-Chief of the forces in Hupeh and Hunan, who was passing through on his way to Peking, and died on the 13th. A fabulous sum, according to popular report, has been paid for his coffin, and priests are now engaged in the yamen offering up prayers for the repose of his soul. The funeral obsequies are likely to be conducted on a magnificent scale. The mandarins will escort his remains on foot to the river, whence they will be borne to his native province of Kiangsu.

SHANGHAI.

The present mail brings advices from this port to the 23rd September ; no later mail from London had been received.

The news from Shanghai by the present mail is of a somewhat meagre character—the most interesting item probably being the arrival of the fourth engine for the Woosung railway which has made its trial trip on the line. The name of the new addition to the rolling-stock of the line is appropriately The Viceroy, and, it is supposed in view of the approaching change of ownership, has its name also in gilt Chinese characters. The new engine performed its work satisfactorily in every particular. It was built by Messrs. Ransomes and Rapier, and is much more powerful than the three former, being especially intended for holiday and excursion traffic. Although much longer and heavier than the previous engines, it is so arranged as to have but little extra length of wheel space, and can be readily turned on the present turn-tables.

A curious reversal of a decision has been made at the Mixed Court in connection with the celebrated case of the C. N. Company v. Ho Chutsai, tried some time back. The Court has reconsidered that portion of its judgment in which $200 compensation for loss of time was awarded to the defendant. It is admitted that though the plaintiffs were unable to produce sufficient evidence to convict the defendant, they had good grounds for bringing the action, and the defendant, "though not proven guilty, left the Court with grave suspicions attached to his character. The Court, therefore, on reconsideration, relieves the plaintiff from paying the costs, and orders the cancellation of the undertaking they entered into"—to pay compensation.

The North China Herald has an article of much significance under the heading of "The Future of Shanghai," in which it points out that unless some steps be taken the port may be reduced by the narrowing of the Hwanpoo to utter insignificance. It says:—The appeals to Peking to get the Woosung Bar dredged have hitherto been regarded as idle fancies, and a deaf ear has been turned to the careful and urgent memorials that have been from time to time addressed to the representatives of Foreign Powers. All we can do is to hope that the last letter of the Chamber of Commerce on this subject may meet with more acceptance than its predecessors, and will not be pigeon-holed as so many former memorials have been. If energetic action succeeds in inducing the Ministers to press this vital point on the Imperial Government, however, and our continuance is secured, we must be prepared for existence under changed conditions. The Chinese are rapidly taking possession of some of our most eligible situations, and are swarming thick and fast in our streets. It is too late to say they never should have been allowed to come in. They are here, in ever-increasing numbers. This is an accomplished fact. What will be the result? Some prophets of ill say that the place is ruined. We cannot endorse this gloomy and hopeless view. The ports opened so ominously on the first of April will not, in all likelihood, as we have previously shown, become great and thriving settlements in a few months. It is obvious that there is not now sufficient capital or sufficient élan in the foreign merchant to induce him to repeat the experiment made at Hankow, and to erect vast hongs at Ichang, Wuhu, or Wenchow. To do so, indeed, would be extremely foolish. But these towns, outlets and ports of supply for extensive and rich districts, will all conduce to the prosperity of Shanghai. Tea will still be brought here, just as cotton is brought for shipment to New York, because of the facilities for export which this large and wealthy emporium presents, and will continue to present.

From the above-named paper we take the following:—

A correspondent complains of the late hour to which the market people are allowed to remain in the Maloo, and of the danger which is thus incurred of accidents from the traps of country residents who are driving to their offices. That a market should be held at all in the chief thoroughfare of the Settlement is an anomaly which can, however, scarcely be remedied except by the erection of a public market-house somewhere in the neighbourhood. This has been often advocated, but has never been taken up in earnest, and the subject has as often dropped after a few weeks' discussion.

The Chinese have a very indistinct report of a powder magazine having been plundered somewhere in Chekeang, and of the Futai ordering out troops—all of which they interpret to mean a rebel movement; but we must await further particulars before we can make anything comprehensible out of the rumour.

The only news in the Municipal minutes is that the Council have agreed to purchase a strip of land to widen the Szechuen-road between the Canton-road and the Yangking-pang. They have refused an offer to round the corner of Kiukiang and Szechuen-roads, because the price asked is in excess of the assessed value. It seems to us that, in laying down this as the only basis on which they are prepared to treat, the Council practically shut themselves out of the market. It does not at all follow because a certain value has been placed upon land for convenience of assessment, that that is the value at which it is to stand indefinitely in the market. To show the absurdity of the position, the Council declined recently to treat, except at the assessed rate of Tls. 1,500 a mow, for the surrender of a corner off a piece of land in Hongkew for which they had themselves offered Tls. 2,500 a mow as a site for a police station! Besides, the portions which the Council require—frontages and corners for the purpose of widening roads—are the very choicest of the plot, and not to be acquired at the average assessed rate of the block, even if this did represent the real market value.

The difficulties which are every year encountered by the grain junks in entering the Northern section of the Canal must afford the partisans of the C.M.S.N. Company strong arguments in favour of increasing the shipment of grain by native steamers. In fact, it may be taken as tolerably certain that, unless the advocates for the Yellow River and Canal route can succeed in getting this properly repaired, the steamers will altogether supersede the junks before many years more are over. The Director-General of the Yellow River reports that only half of the squadron succeeded in getting into the Canal during the usual rise of the 25th-27th July. The water then began suddenly to fall, and the remainder were shut out. "The officials proceeded forthwith to construct another dam, and to dredge the Canal mouth to a greater depth, trusting to a later rise in the river to enable the remaining junks to enter."

WENCHOW.

The North China Herald correspondent writes:—

Matters are pretty well in statu quo, the officials mildly demanding lekin at whatever rates they can get, and taking promises to pay in lieu of money. In some instances (where the victim is supposed to be insignificant) a show of forcing the tax is made. Demands are also freely made for a payment of back lekin, i.e., that due on goods imported since the opening of the port. It is important to note that only a very nominal rate of lekin was levied in a few instances prior to the arrival of foreigners; and in a great many cases none at all. All this zeal in imposing the "military tax," and the sudden discovery of the necessity for it, has sprung into existence [contemporaneously with foreign advent. The officials, however, seem to have been a little scared—thanks to the energy of our Consul—and have called in all the pamphlets previously circulated, torn out those precious rules, and now simply content themselves with issuing the bare tariff. An original book cannot be got at present for love or money, and I have no doubt but that even the condensed translation, which appeared in your late issue, caused much timorous regret in the official breast. A foreigner who sold some goods to a native the other day, finding that the purchaser was thought to belong to the class available for pressure, volunteered to pay the lekin himself, and include it in the price, but he was most anxiously and repeatedly informed by the officials that they "would on no account take a single cent from a foreigner until the power to enforce payment arrived from Peking." They eventually squeezed the buyer, however.

Meantime we are without steamers, why, we know not; the Chinese here declare that they have no end of cargo in Shanghai waiting for conveyance. The U.S.S. Palos came in to-day, and brought us some news of the outer world; when we shall next hear, goodness, or rather badness, only knows. Cholera has appeared to a limited extent, but the sanitary advantages of this place—its perfect drainage and unusual cleanliness—lead us to hope this dread disease may not become epidemic. We have had incessant rain for the last ten days, and the natives say we may expect a continuation of the same pleasant condition until the end of the month. I am obliged now to fall back on the usual feminine excuse for concluding an uninteresting letter, by stating (what in this case is a fact) that "we positively have no news, it is quite too awfully dull."

HONG KONG.

Our advices by this mail extend to the 29th September; no later mail from London had arrived out.

The ever recurring blockade question, to which some attention was directed in the papers by last mail, has since that time assumed a more serious appearance. It is now that all merchandise and provisions, including cattle, hitherto exempted from duty, are subjected to heavy taxation at the Cap-sing-moon and the Cheung-chau stations on their way to Hong Kong and Macao, and what made the matter more serious was the fact that the junk people dared not make complaint to the Hong Kong Government, for fear of being molested in Canton. It is asserted that a tax of 30 cents is levied upon every head of cattle exported from the mainland to the Colony. A correspondent of one of the papers suggests that some arrangement might be come to by which the difficulty could be got over, and the revenue of the Chinese Government saved. He suggests that the opium imported into the colony could easily be registered either by Stamp Ordinance or otherwise, of course at the expense of the Chinese authorities, and if necessary, an opium farmer or registrar might be empowered (acting under the supervision of the colonial authorities) to issue permits freeing all opium exported from taxation until it reaches its destination. Or, as in the case of tobacco at Gibraltar, all opium exported from Hong Kong should be exported under bond (similar to that given in the northern ports on exporting grain) returnable when the opium reaches its destination. He adds his opinion that it appears only possible by some such arrangement to discourage the illicit trade, which is detrimental to the true interests of the colony, is the cause of ill-feeling engendered, and contributes in no mean degree to the augmentation of crime.

The fourth ordinary meeting of the shareholders in the Union Insurance Society of Canton took place on the 26th September, Mr. H. Lowcock in the chair, when the report and accounts were duly passed. In laying them before the meeting, the Chairman said that the business for the year 1876 had been very good indeed. The net profits amounted to over $300,000, out of a net income of nearly $900,000, and of these profits, $104,000, as shown in the report, had already been divided by interim bonuses of five and eight per cent. among the contributing shareholders, while there would be available for further distribution another five per cent. The position of the Society was of course very much strengthened by the reserve fund being made up to $250,000, as they would be able in future to divide 66.66 per cent., or two thirds of the profits, amongst contributors, instead of, as during the previous three years, 50 per cent., to which attention ought to be drawn with the view of increasing the business of the office;

The employment of Chinese in the police force has been again discussed in consequence of the new Governor's proclivities in favour of the natives. The Daily Press in commenting on the subject says :—

They (the Chinese police) are undoubtedly useful in detecting smaller offences, and can often render valuable assistance in tracking criminals. But in cases of serious crime they are of little use, and in the event of any riot in the streets by sailors or others they are altogether unable to restore order. One European or American tar could safely engage three or four of these Chinese constables, and put the lot hors de combat. The Chinese police, it is true, generally manage to keep out of way when there is any great row on ; they have no stomach for such encounters, and prefer to employ their time in hunting up petty offenders. In almost all serious cases they have been found miserably wanting. As will be remembered, in the case of the Ice House Lane stabbing affair last year, a Chinese constable quietly allowed a prisoner to walk off out of his custody, probably through fear of the consequences of detaining him. Only the other day a little girl was violated and murdered, but the Chinese police have utterly failed to trace home the crime to the authors. They are, as a rule, sadly deficient in personal courage, and not to be depended upon in any case of emergency. This is strongly felt both by the European and native communities, neither of whom place any confidence in them.

From the above-named paper we take the following :—

A case of the application of lynch law to a Chinaman by some of his fellow countrymen occurred on the Praya in front of the Central Market. A large number of coolies were, as usual, engaged in carrying vegetables and other produce into the market, when a Chinaman thrust himself in among them and dexterously endeavoured to appropriate some of the vegetables to his own use. This design was discovered, however, before it could be carried out, and the market coolies set upon the miserable peculator in a body, knocked him down and administered a fearful thrashing with their bamboos and carrying poles. This punishment continued unchecked for some time, until the arrival of a foreigner on the scene. The police were conspicuous by their absence.

Mr. Russell, the presiding magistrate at the police-court, has mentioned on the bench that a Chinese merchant has sent him a $25 note for the poor-box, and he thought that it was nothing but fair and right that it should be publicly acknowledged.

We have received the first number of a small fortnightly magazine, entitled the Hong Kong Catholic Register. It contains Church notices, calendar for the fortnight, extracts from the Tablet, an introductory article, an extract from the report of the proceedings of the Westminster Diocesan Education Fund, and a local paragraph in laudation of the Governor's recent speech on Crime and Prison Discipline. It is very well printed by the boys at the Catholic Reformatory, but that, we are bound to say, is the best feature of the publication, which is scarcely likely to make a constituency for itself in this Colony.

A new feature appears in the Gazette of Saturday, his Excellency's speech at the Legislative Council on Monday last being fully reproduced, after having been first carefully revised. The Gazette report contains one or two passages that our reporter fails to discover on his shorthand notes.

The subjoined reports of the steamships Taiwan and Swatow give full particulars of the typhoon in the Formosa Channel, which occurred during the night of the 21st September. The steamship Taiwan left Foochow on the 21st inst. at nine A.M., and had moderate N.E. winds and fine weather to Ockseu, which was passed at nine P.M. At ten P.M. the weather began to look threatening, and a heavy sea getting up from the south, barometer falling rapidly, the wind increasing and being towards the S.E., with every appearance of a typhoon, put double lashings on every thing movable on deck. At eleven P.M., wind still rising and glass falling, wind veered to the eastward and then to the S. eastward. At midnight it had increased to a violent gale, and the sea breaking on board amidships and aft, the vessel rolling very heavily, almost unmanageable, and making great leeway. At one A.M., 22nd, gale increased to a hurricane, starboard boats filling at every lurch ; endeavoured to secure them, but could not ; whilst trying to secure the starboard lifeboat she filled and broke away from the davits, and two minutes later the port lifeboat broke away in the same manner. Wind now increased to typhoon violence, and the ship fell off before the wind and sea ; tried all that could be done to get her to the wind and sea again, but of no avail, every sail aft blew away in the attempt to do so. At two A.M. ship still refused to come to the wind, and, as she was heading straight for the land, deemed it advisible to cut away the foremast. At 2.10 A.M. the foremast fell to the starboard side, and at 2.15, the vessel being eased considerably, stopped engines to clear away the wreck from propeller ; at this time the wind lulled, but a tremendous sea catching the vessel on the starboard tack laid her over on her beam ends, with the water up to the hatches and putting the top-gallant rail under water. She shortly righted herself and came to the wind, and behaved much better than before the mast was cut away. The vessel now headed S.E., but still shipped heavy seas aft, which washed away things movable from the deck. At 3.30 the glass began to rise, but there was no alteration in the weather, and the cutter and gig went away piecemeal, the wind and sea preventing every effort to secure them. At 4 A.M. the glass was still rising, but wind and sea still doing much damage to ship, though she was behaving admirably. At 6 A.M. wind decreasing and ship answering per helm. At 6.30 A.M. wind had decreased and sea fallen.

CANTON.

The Daily Press correspondent writes :—

The people of the eighteen villages lying outside the western suburb of this city have entered into a league for mutual defence against the robbers abounding in the district. Every member of the league is bound to turn out to fight the banditti on hearing a summons, or incur a heavy fine. Robberies are, if anything, more prevalent than ever, and the action taken by the villagers is very sensible, seeing that they need not look for efficient protection from the authorities.

Accidents frequently happen through the careless manner in which the natives use kerosine. Only a few nights back a kerosine lamp was capsized in a chandler's shop, and nearly resulted in the complete destruction of the premises, the fire being put out with difficulty. A meeting was held at the temple in the street, at which the advisability of stopping the use of kerosine oil on account of its dangerous character was discussed.

A serious fracas occurred on the evening of the 21st September at Kok Foo, in the Western suburb, between the hardwood workmen and the servants belonging to the flower boats. It appears that some musical performance was going on in the boats, and, as usual on such occasions, people had gathered on the bank to enjoy the music gratis. From some cause or other a dispute arose between the shore audience and the boat people, and from words they soon got to blows, or rather to the use of missiles. Heavy stones were flying about in all directions, and one of the workmen was killed on the spot by one of them.

The Governor of Canton having addressed a communication to the Futai of Kwangsi on the subject, that functionary has agreed that the lekin duties on rice shall be reduced to one-half for two months, in consequence of the badness of the crops in this province.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT.)

CANTON, SEPT. 28, 1877.

During the current month all the civil and military officers serving in this city have been much engaged in celebrating the customary autumnal festivals in honour of the following State deities, namely, Confucius, sage and philosopher ; Luung-Wong, the Dragon King ; Maan Chaong, a God of Learning ; Kwan-taai, the God of War ; and Tien Hau, the Queen of Heaven. The fête in honour of Confucius was held on the 11th instant, and was, perhaps, the most imposing of all these singular State ceremonies. A brief account of it may probably interest your readers. The officials who were present on the occasion, each of whom was attired in his Court dress, were arranged in order by a master of ceremonies in the great quadrangle of the Namhoi Confucian Temple, with their faces looking towards the altar of the sage. The civil officers were placed on the east, and the military officers on the west side of the quadrangle in question. The Viceroy, who at such times is the pontifex maximus, or high priest, approached the altar, upon which were placed expiatory sacrifices of sheep, swine, and a bullock, and eucharistical offerings, also, of fruits, flowers, cakes, and wine, not less than nine times. In front of this altar, he, on each of these occasions, not only presented the offerings, but also, at a word of command given by the master of ceremonies, prostrated himself on the ground, and performed the "Kow-tow." On one side of the altar there was an orchestra, in which stood several musicians, some of whom sang, while others played upon ancient musical instruments pæans of praise in honour of Confucius. This religious ceremony was brought to a close by a herald, who stood on the left of the Viceroy, reading in a loud tone of voice a prayer to the sage. This prayer, which had been previously written on a sheet of yellow paper by a caligraphist, was then cast into a sacred furnace, with a view to its being conveyed by the action of fire to the world of spirits.

The mid-autumn festival or fête in honour of the harvest moon was also duly observed on the 21st inst., not only by the officials, but by the people in general. This ceremony, which takes place at the full moon of the eighth month of the Chinese year, is not unfrequently styled the "Feast of Lanterns," in consequence of the many-lighted lamps, which, as offerings to the great orb of night, are displayed on the tops of the houses. This universal illumination commences at the rising of the moon, and is continued until midnight. Cakes, too, of various sizes, and which are termed moon-cakes, are presented on this joyous occasion, as eucharistical offerings to Cynthia, fair goddess of the night. The streets were crowded throughout the festival by pleasure-seekers of all kinds, some of whom, I regret to say, were so foolish as to break the peace. This will appear when I state that about two hundred artificers, chiefly lapidaries and carvers in wood, intruded themselves into the flower boats, or fashionable floating restaurants, which are anchored in close proximity to the Yau-laan-moon, or "Oil Market Gate" of the city. On being politely requested to withdraw, they not only refused to do so, but, at the same time, declared that it was their intention to resist any attempt that might be made to eject them. A general fight at length ensued, and which did not terminate until several heads had been broken, and one man—a boatman—had been killed. All the carved wood, stained glass windows, furniture, and chandeliers of the flower boats were literally demolished by the fury of the aggressors.

MACAO.

To the great delight of the Portuguese, a college for boys, a sort of collegiate school, is shortly to be opened. Two Jesuit professors were expected in November, and the Rev. Fathers Stockman and Debuck, also members of the Society of Jesus, who were formerly stationed at Macao, but have been in Calcutta for some time, also return to join the staff of the college. Facilities for a good education will be provided for all the youngsters, and a long felt want supplied by the institution.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

MANILA.

The Straits Times has the following :—

From Manila papers the following information is translated :—

"Sooloo.—We understand that the Government and the Captain-General have received official intelligence of the Moros having, on the 9th inst., made a sudden attack on the forts of the town of Sooloo with about 800 men, armed with muskets, without there being any loss from it on our side. Their fire was answered by our garrison, the soldiers of which had on that account a day as it were of military festivity; they put the Moros to flight, thanks to the deadly effects of the Remington rifles and rifled cannon. There are no other private details of these events, news of which reached Samboanga shortly before the Pasig left, other than that the Moros who made the attack having been assembled days beforehand at Liang, by Datus Assibi and Pula who were the chiefs who headed the expedition, the attack being made at the same time on land and by sea, in prahus which were battered with cannon and pursued by the schooner and gunboats stationed at Sooloo. Both those who attempted the attack by land and those who did so in prahus suffered dreadful losses, which were extraordinarily increased by their persistence and bravery. The news obtained, more from passengers than from letters, represents the affair as a sort of spectacle which the Moros afforded our few soldiers, who, from superiority of position and weapons, were safe from that cloud of fanatics, whom perhaps it may be necessary to seek out in their lurking-places as has been done by the Dutch in Atchin, and was done by the British in Perak last year."—Oceani, Sept. 19.

The same correspondent says that building operations at Sooloo were going on slowly from scarcity of materials and workmen. Brigadier Gamir left for Manila, after thoroughly inspecting the new Settlement at Sooloo and ordering the adoption of several efficient measures there.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

The present French mail brings advices from this port to the 7th October; no later mail from London had been received. We take the following items of intelligence from the Straits Times:—

It has been found that the reports of the Chinese rioting in Malacca had been much exaggerated, and we are now glad to announce, authoritatively, that so far from any one being killed, no one was seriously hurt, and the riot did not really last for more than ten minutes. Those who, no doubt in a moment of unnecessary excitement, first apprised the Government, and excited it into a temporary state of uneasiness, are blamable, and trouble, time, money and anxiety would have been spared had they only confined themselves to the truth.

If the realisable value of shop property in any town may be accepted as a proof of the increasing wealth of its mercantile community, we have every reason to congratulate ourselves in Singapore on that ground. Mr. Angus, the auctioneer, has lately sold five shops at the corner of Amoy-street and Japan-street for $4,500, and the same grant was purchased in December, 1850, for $1,100; the same gentleman sold four shops at the corner of South Bridge-road and Upper Nankin-street, which were purchased in December, 1850, for $700, at the extraordinary price of $6,700; and one shop opposite the Ellenborough market, which was bought in 1850 for $350, fetched at the same sale the sum of $4,250. Such an increase in the value of property has scarcely been surpassed anywhere, and, we need not remark, the purchasers in all cases were Chinese traders.

Two small pieces of land situate in South Canal-road, one of the busy thoroughfares of the town, was sold by auction, by Messrs. Powell and Co., for the aggregate sum of $21,300. The first lot comprised an area of 5,131 square feet, the building on which is occupied by the Opium Farm at a rental of $80 per month, and was knocked down for $17,300. The second lot containing an area of 906 square feet, with a shop-house, let as a monthly rental of $18, realised $4,000. Ten years ago thit property fetched only a third of these prices.

Mr. Murton, Superintendent of the Botanical Gardens, has been commissioned to proceed to the Native States, for the purpose of examining the botany of the countries and reporting upon their productiveness.

Mr. Superintendent Maxwell has been appointed to succeed Captain Walshe as Acting Inspector General of Police.

Mr. H. T. Ussher, Governor of Labuan, has been granted leave to return home, owing to ill-health. It has not transpired who will perform his duties in his absence.

Cholera has broken out in some of the Chinese immigrant depôts, and one death from that disease has been reported. Now is the time for the Protectors of Chinese to begin to exercise the energies expected of them.

CHINESE CRIMINALS IN HONG KONG.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—I am very glad to notice that you have put the real question involved in the dispute (for I can scarcely call it by any more dignified name) which has arisen in Hong Kong in its true light. It must be evident to anyone reading the extracts which you have culled from the Hong Kong papers on the subject, that the Governor has taken a very extreme course, and the summary of the correspondence in your article fully confirms this view. Upon the top of the actual question (which is a comparatively narrow one) of the manner in which flogging should be inflicted, Mr. Hennessy has contrived to raise one of grand importance, namely, the degree to which a governor is justified in interfering with the independence of the judges in the administration of the law as it actually exists. It seems to me that you have hit the exact point at issue, and that it is clear the Governor has exceeded the limits of his authority. As head of the Executive he might justifiably take any precautions he thought necessary to prevent flogging being inflicted in a cruel way; but he cannot be considered justified in ordering that it shall be within the precincts of the jail, when the law says that it shall be in public. One of the most important uses of such a punishment is as an example to other evil-disposed persons, and this effect must be materially weakened by its being inflicted out of sight. Whatever individual views the Governor or even the judges themselves might entertain on the subject, so long as the law says that the flogging shall be public, neither governor nor judge has power to alter it. Laws even in Hong Kong are not promulgated by the ipse dixit of a governor; and if an alteration in this respect be desirable it must be made after the matter has been brought in regular form before the Legislative Council and a new Ordinance passed by them.

I think that under all the circumstances Chief Justice Smale has acted with commendable temperance and judgment in the course which he has adopted, and I trust that he will receive full support in the matter. Old Hong Kong residents will remember the contretemps which occurred between Sir John Davis and Judge Hulme, and the course which was pursued by the latter gentleman; who, to avoid any controversy with the Governor, put himself in the English mail steamer, and in due course returned to the colony reinstated. This is a very practical proof that the powers of the Governor are not arbitrary even in Crown colonies; and I trust that Mr. Hennessy will recognise this fact.

It may be argued in his defence that public flogging is a demoralising exhibition; and I am not prepared (nor to my certain knowledge is Judge Smale) to deny that in its general application there is much truth in this statement. But even considered generally it is an open question, and totally distinct from such a question as whether a criminal should be cruelly flogged, upon which, on the principle necessitas summa lex, the Governor was not only justified in acting, but was clearly called upon to act. There are, however, special reasons why public flogging is needful in Hong Kong. These reasons influenced the Legislature in framing the law, and the Governor had no right to ignore the existing law in favour of his own preconceived opinions.

It is worthy of note that Sir John Smale was opposed to the introduction of flogging upon such grounds of humanity as would naturally at first influence all enlightened persons; but his practical experience of the nature of the Chinese criminal classes has led him to recognise the necessity of the measure, however repulsive it may be to him on general grounds. The opinion of one whose position and experience so well qualify him to judge, formed after such careful consideration, should have been treated with more respect than was shown to it by the Governor, even if the grave reasons for not interfering with judicial matters, above detailed, were not in themselves sufficient to make him hesitate before going counter to the law.—Your obedient servant,

AN OLD HONG KONG RESIDENT.

LONDON: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1877.

THIS MAIL'S NEWS.

The steps which have been taken by the Chinese authorities for the punishment of the offenders in the Wuchang outrage appear to have been sufficiently energetic. Although only eight men could, it appears, be implicated, no less than twenty-nine were arrested and were since kept in prison. Up to the date of the latest advices no sentence had been passed; but the mere imprisonment in a Chinese jail was no slight punishment, and there seems reason to believe that in this instance the Chinese officials have acted bonâ fide and with due diligence. From Wenchow the satisfactory news is brought that the officials seem to be relaxing their demands for lekin, and have withdrawn the objectionable rules recently published from circulation, having persuaded themselves, apparently, that their action was likely to bring them to trouble. The tax, however, was still claimed in a mild way, though the tone of the collectors is altered. The non-arrival of any steamer was bitterly complained of; and the consequent dulness spoken of as something that might be "felt." Some cases of cholera had occurred, but the exceptional cleanliness of the city, it is hoped, would prevent a severe outbreak. The probability of famine in the North is attracting serious attention. It is stated by good authorities that this disaster is almost certain to come, and that it is equally certain that things will be allowed to drift on, and no measures dictated by reason and forecast will be attempted, to check the progress of the evil or to preserve the lives of people. The Futai of Hupeh has died suddenly, and it is stated that fabulous sums will be spent upon his funeral. Severe punishment has befallen the Lieutenant-Governor and Financial Commissioner of the province of Shansi, for the offence with which he was lately charged by Tso Tsung-t'wang, viz., holding back a large portion of the monthly remittances due to the latter's military chest. The offending functionary has been stripped of his rank and removed from official employ. At Shanghai the fourth engine for the Woosung Railway had arrived and had made its trial trip. It would seem, therefore, there is still some chance of the line being kept open. Serious attention is again called to the necessity of some measures being adpoted for dredging the Hwangpo river.

At Hong Kong the blockade question was again being discussed, and had assumed a somewhat serious aspect. The Union Insurance Society of Canton held their annual meeting on the 26th Sept. The question of the employment of Chinese in the police force was again attracting attention. A small Catholic newspaper has been established. At Canton robberies were again becoming prevalent. A serious fracas had occurred in the Western suburb. The lekin duties on rice had been reduced by one-half, in consequence of the bad crop. At Macao a collegiate establishment has been set on foot, much to the delight of the residents, the want of means of education for the rising generation being much felt.

The news from Japan brought by the present mail has been anticipated via America.
